FRENCH VOTE TO PAY AMERICA

$5,565,000 FOR SURFACE LINE BONDHOLDERS

Payment Comprises 10% of Principal.

BY O. A. MATHER.

The Chicago Railways company, the largest unit in Chicago's traction system, will begin paying off its $55,655,000 first mortgage bonds next week. On or about Aug. 1, the bondholders will receive about $5,565,000 as a ten per cent payment on the bonds, which have been in default since Feb. 1, 1927, when the traction ordinances expired and the bonds matured.

This will be the first payment the bondholders have received on the principal in two and a half years, during which time the company has been in receivership. However, the semi-annual interest payments, at the rate of 5 per cent, have been kept up under order of Federal Judge Wilkerson. So the bondholders also will receive an additional $1,390,000 as interest due Aug. 1, making the total payment about $6,950,000.

The Chicago Railways company comprises the north and west side surface lines. Operating over 597 miles of track, it includes 60 per cent of the Chicago Surface lines transportation system.

Harris Announces Payment.

Notice of the big payment was sent out yesterday to the bondholders by Albert W. Harris, chairman of the bondholders' protective committee and also chairman of the Harris Trust and Savings bank. Mr. Harris also appealed to holders who have not yet deposited their bonds with the committee to do so in view of the prospective reorganization of all of the Chicago traction lines into a comprehensive system.

"The receivers of the Chicago Railways company have been ordered to pay to the Harris Trust & Savings bank, trustee, on or before Aug. 1, 1929, funds for the payment of the interest accruing on the bonds and, in addition, funds for the payment of 10 per cent of the principal," the letter says. "In order to receive the payment on principal, it is necessary that certificates of deposit be presented to the bank for endorsement thereon of notation of such principal payment.

Tells How to Get Interest.

"In order to receive the interest, holders of certificates of deposit who have not already done so, should file with the depository ownership certificates, as required by the federal revenue act, or power of attorney authorizing the depositary to execute said certificates. Interest will be sent to holders of certificates registered at the close of business July 31, 1929.

"Gov. Emmerson on June 19 signed the transportation bills. This legislation makes it possible for the companies to consolidate and for the city to grant a franchise under which the necessary financing can be done. This legislation is the most important step taken so far toward a solution of Chicago's transportation problem. Preliminary work is now being done by the city transportation committee, in conjunction with the citizens' traction settlement committee, in preparation therefore, and faster progress should be made from now on toward a final settlement, provided the committees have the full coöperation of those interested.

Asks Bondholders' Help.

"Another step will be the forming of a company to which a franchise can be granted. The protective committee has had the support of the majority of the first mortgage bondholders, which has enabled it to protect the rights of all the first mortgage bondholders in connection with payment of interest and part of the principal. However, to secure a final settlement, a prompt deposit by all nondepositing bondholders should now be made and we are attempting to reach them with this information in order to promote a speedy settlement as soon as these preliminaries which are under way are arranged."

ORDINANCE BY SEPT. 1

BY OSCAR HEWITT.

It was agreed yesterday by all concerned that a serious effort will be made to draft a transit ordinance franchise, to be submitted to the voters at the judicial election in November. Bondholders, interested bankers, the elevated roads and the surface lines, as well as members of the council local transportation committee, agreed to work diligently to turn out

Measure Now Goes to Paris Senate.

PARIS, July 21 [Sunday.]—(AP)—The president of France early today was authorized by the chamber of deputies to ratify the agreement for payment of war debts to the United States.

The ratification vote was carried by the slim margin of eight votes. The count was 300 in favor and 292 against.

The measure must now come before the senate but the majority of the government has generally been much stronger in that body. It thus appeared certain that the agreement concluded in Washington in July, 1926, would take effect.

Text of Bill.

The text of the bill, which the government of Premier Poincare had made a question of confidence, read:

"The president of the republic is authorized to ratify the agreement concluded at Washington on July 29, 1926, between the government of the United States of America and the government of the French republic for the consolidation and repayment in sixty-two annuities of the debts contracted by France with the United States of America."

The balloting brought to an end eleven days of stormy discussion in the chamber, in the course of which the premier himself, until completely exhausted, had spoken for a total of 37 hours.

Briand Takes Up Challenge.

Foreign Minister Briand had picked up the challenge of the opposition where the premier had dropped it. He argued that America, because she was an ally, should not receive less consideration than any creditor of France.

The government had won a major skirmish preceding the final battle for ratification earlier in the evening. By a vote of 301 to 275 the chamber agreed that any reservations it might have to the ratification bill would be limited to mere suggestions from the chamber to the government.

The chamber went into its final session at 10 p. m., faced with the determination of the government that in that session it should make known its will. Premier Poincare was still without the strength to appear again in favor of the measure. He has weathered many political storms, but never felt the strain so much, his government often close to defeat as sudden waves of emotion swept parliament. The final vote was taken at about 1 a. m.

Vote to Pay England Also.

No such difficulty was encountered in obtaining a vote for ratification of the Caillaux-Churchill agreement for the payment to Great Britain over a period of 62 years of £653,127,900. A similar bill was voted by the deputies by show of hands after the American agreement had been disposed of.

Although three years have elapsed without ratification since Ambassador Berenger concluded with Secretary of the Treasury Mellon an adjustment of the French war debt, France had paid the United States "on account" up to Nov. 15, 1928, $82,851,171. A total of £18,000,000 had been paid to England on the same basis.

Under the Mellon-Berenger agreement, France agreed to pay $4,025,000,000, of which $685,000,000 is accrued interest. The first two annuities were to be of $30,000,000, increasing to $125,000,000 in the 17th year and continuing until the last payment in the 62d year of $117,675,000.

Linked With War Stocks Debt.

The American congress had approved a measure whereby if the war debts settlement was ratified by Aug. 1, payment of the bill for surplus war stocks purchased by France might come under its funding provisions. If not, the sum of about $400,000,0000 was due the United States on Aug. 1, 1929.

Some advocates of ratification had held this as a club over the heads of the opposition. It will probably be several days next week before the upper house goes through the motion of expressing its sentiments, which are generally regarded as emphatically in favor of ratification, but the Aug. 1 bugaboo ceased this morning to disturb the government financiers.

Foreign Minister Briand took the helm when the final issue came and made ratification a matter of confidence in the government. Earlier when the reservations question was voted he told the chamber plainly that the time had come for them to take full responsibility for their actions.

"If the reservations are put in the

POPE PUNISHES HIS NIECE FOR IMMODEST DRESS

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

ROME, July 19.—In the aristocratic circles of Rome there is much talk of an incident involving the pope's niece, Marchesa Ratti-Persichetti-Ugotini, wife of Marchesi Persichetti-Ugotini, who is councilor of the Nicaraguan legation to the Holy See.

Marchesa Ratti is fond of Paris fashions, with their tendency to short skirts and decolleté dresses. Sometime ago the Marchesa's photograph in an ultra modern toilette apeared in an Italian magazine devoted to society doings and high life. The picture was taken in her drawing room where there also hung a big portrait of her uncle, Pope Pius. This provoked a small scandal in Vatican circles and naturally reached the ears of the pope.

There were ironic comments made that while the pope and the bishops were making a campaign against the skirts fashion and décolleté immorality, on the other hand the niece of the pope was not setting a good example. The pope accordingly called the marchesa's husband and gave him a long lecture, saying that the first duty of a husband is to look after the morality of his wife. At the same time the pontiff advised his niece that for punishment he would not see her for a long time.

ACCUSES COP OF MAKING HIM SIGN NOTE FOR EX-WIFE

Charges that Policeman Mathias Rauan of the Summerdale station aided an ex-wife to obtain her former husband's signature to a promissory note at the point of a pistol were under investigation last night by Deputy Commissioner Stege.

R. J. A. McLaughlin, an advertising man with offices at 360 North Michigan avenue, identified Rauan after causing his former wife's arrest on a warrant charging disorderly conduct. Since her divorce she has used her maiden name, Virginia Marvill, and lives at 4439 North Lamon avenue.

McLaughlin said he was entertaining a young woman in his apartment at 1369 Greenleaf avenue on July 14 when Miss Marvill and Rauan entered. She sat down and wrote out a promissory note for $500, he said, and Rauan held a revolver to his side while he affixed his signature.

Miss Marvill was released on bond pending a hearing tomorrow in South State street court. McLaughlin promised to produce his guest as well as other witnesses who, he said, can testify to transactions between his former wife and the policeman. Rauan denied knowing McLaughlin or Miss Marvill.

240 Stranded on Mountain by Rail Accident

Bretton Woods, N. H., July 20.—[Special.]—"Old Peppersass," famous as the first mountain climbing locomotive, plunged off a high trestle far up the side of Mount Washington and blew up this evening at the end of ceremonies rededicating it as a historic relic.

One man was killed, three others injured, and the lives of half a dozen governors and many other persons of prominence who were in trains following the "Peppersass" down the mountainside were imperiled. Daniel Bossiter, publicity man for the Boston and Maine railroad, was the man killed. The injured were: Winston Cote of Swampscott, Mass.; E. C. "Jack" Frost of Concord, N. H., veteran engineer, and W. I. Newsham of Concord, fireman.

The wreck tore up the track and blocked the six trains which had carried the spectators to the ceremonies. As a result 240 persons, including the governors and other dignitaries, were stranded on the mountain. A call was sent to towns at the base of the mountain for autos to bring down the marooned party.

The Peppersass was one of the famous old locomotives of American railroad history and was especially built in 1869 to climb Mount Washington from its base here.

It was in service on Mount Washington for a number of years. In 1893 it was taken to the world's fair at Chicago and after that it was on view in the Field museum in Chicago. At last it was acquired by the Baltimore and Ohio railroad.

Notable Gathering Present.

Today's ceremonies were to mark the presentation of "Old Peppersass" by the Baltimore and Ohio to the Boston and Maine railroad. A notable gathering was present for the ceremony on the mountain top. It included Governors John Hammill of Iowa, Theodore Christianson of Minnesota, Henry C. Caulfield of Missouri, George H. Dern of Utah, John E. Weeks of Vermont and W. G. Conley of West Virgina. United States Senator George H. Moses of New Hampshire was one of the representatives of the New Hampshire delegation.

After the ceremony "Old Peppersass," with Engineer Frost, who took it up the mountain for the first time in 1869, started the descent. Something broke and the engine began to gather speed. As it left the rails those aboard it jumped. The old engine, after plunging off the trestle, exploded.

DRY VICTORIES CELEBRATED BY LIQUOR TO GIRLS

Miller, S. D., July 20.—(AP)—Two dry agents from Sioux City, Ia., who went out to "celebrate" their success in rounding up liquor law violators in this vicinity, were in jail here today on charges of giving liquor to minor girls.

The agents, Joseph Wilshire and C. L. Marlette, are held in default of $1,000 bonds each following their arraignment. Their arrest followed the filing of complaints against them by the mother of one of the girls.

The agents caused the arrest of seven persons in this vicinity. Two pleaded guilty and paid fines while the others were put under bonds. Then the agents decided to "celebrate."

According to the complaint, the agents went riding with two young girls and induced them to drink beer and alcohol. It is alleged they kept the girls out until the early morning hours.

China Orders All Its Envoys Out of Russia

NANKING, China, July 19.—[Delayed.]—(AP)—The state council of the Nationalist government tonight decided to sever all relations with Russia. Soviet diplomatic officials will be requested to leave China. The Nationalist government has requested Germany to take over direction of Chinese affairs in Russia, since all Chinese diplomatic officials will be withdrawn from that country.

The council drew up a proclamation explaining the position of China in the present crisis. It will be made public after signature by the presidents of the five yuans.

It was understood that the proclamation would say that since China and Russia signed the Kellogg pact for outlawry of war, China had been forced to take peaceful means to terminate Russian propaganda in Manchuria. It was expected also to say that Russia had moved to interrupt international communications between the two countries and that if war becomes inevitable the responsibility can rest solely on the Russians, despite their signifying their agreement with the Kellogg pact.

Chiang Sounds War Cry.

President Chiang Kai Shek, in his capacity of commander in chief of China's military forces, tonight appealed by telegraph to the country's military leaders and to the public to "stand united against the menace of soviet Russia."

Gen. Chiang branded Russia's actions in the recent crisis as "contemptuous toward China." China's revolutionary army, he declared, has never adopted an aggressive attitude.

"Despite the actions of the soviet representatives, we continue to hope that war will be avoided," said the appeal. "However, when national rights, independence, and equality are endangered the entire nation must rise united to fight foreign aggression."

In a separate dispatch addressed to the military leaders along the northwest frontiers of China, Gen. Chiang exhorted them to act "as a united safeguard of the border against red imperialists seeking to penetrate China."

WAR MOVES CONTINUE

BY ST. CLAIR M'KELWAY.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

TOKIO, July 20.—Soviet and Chinese troops continued their warlike preparatory movements along the border all last night, and it was confirmed yesterday that Japan's war office has ordered Manchurian troops to mobilize and be ready for action any time.

A further troublesome fact is the sudden arrest of Boris Melnikov, soviet consul general at Harbin, by the Chinese and the forcible detainment of several score of other soviet officials, commercial, consular, and diplomatic. No explanation of this action has been forthcoming.

Previous reports that Manchouli had been invaded were denied later by the same Harbin correspondent, although other dispatches today said that Russian troops at Manchouli and Pogranitchaya did fire and the Chinese declined to return it.

Wait for Each Other to Start.

According to all indications this morning, both sides were rushing cavalry, artillery and planes along the front, each expecting the other to start firing. It has been generally agreed that neither really wants war but the fear here of guerrilla warfare is still strong. Some even declare that the eventual declaration of war is inevitable.

LINE UP BEHIND KELLOGG PACT IN CHINA CRISIS

Washington Hopes to Avert War.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, July 20.—The British foreign office officially announced today that it had informed the United States and France that Great Britain entirely associated itself with their efforts to avert a clash in Manchuria between Russia and China.

It is felt here that the league of nations may take a hand and force both sides to submit the matter to arbitration.

Washington, D. C., July 20.—[Special.]—Backed actively by France, the United States today renewed its efforts to stave off war in Manchuria between China and Russia.

Following a protracted conference with Paul Claudel, the French ambassador, during which the envoy outlined the steps being taken by his government to avert overt acts by Russia, Secretary of State Henry L. Stimson tonight conferred with Dr. C. C. Wu, the Chinese minister, regarding the Nanking government's failure thus far to answer this country's appeal for Chinese observance of it's Kellogg anti-war pact pledges.

Secretary Stimson declined to comment either on his discussions with the two envoys or on the contents of a formal note, indorsing the Stimson peace move, received from the French government during the day.

Officials Are Hopeful.

But there was an optimistic feeling at the state department, indicating that this country believes amicable settlement of the trouble over the Chinese Eastern railway is probable. Although neither China nor Russia has formally replied to Mr. Stimson's suggestion of Thursday, that they remember their obligations under the Kellogg anti-war treaties, unofficial advices reaching the state department indicate both countries will forward favorable replies soon.

Developments today disclosed that while Great Britain, Japan, and Italy are supporting the peace move initiated by Stimson, the real work is being done by the United States and France.

As the matter now stands France, at the request of the United States, has communicated with the soviet government, which this country does not recognize, and is directing her efforts toward obtaining a favorable reply to the suggestion that the railway dispute be submitted to arbitration if other peace means fail.

Stimson Working on China.

Mr. Stimson is relying largely for success on the moral pressure he is exerting on the Chinese government through Minister Wu.

Mr. Stimson apparently has urged the Chinese government to refrain from taking any action which might be regarded as an act of war by the soviet. The secretary on several occasions has discussed the Manchurian situation with Minister Wu and has taken care to impress upon him the interest felt by this government in the present crisis and its sincere desire that war be averted.

The French communication to the state department today, besides indorsing the step taken by Mr. Stimson to avert war, outlined the efforts which France is making to keep the Kellogg anti-war treaty from being violated by the Russian government. Although it is believed the French note indicated the Russian reaction to Stimson's peace move favorable, it was said it did not contain an official answer from the soviet government.

Stimson Gives Up Outing.

Secretary Stimson hurried back to Washington from the President's fishing camp in Virginia to handle the situation created by the arrival of the French note. When he left Mr. Stimson, M. Claudel told newspaper men that he thought the situation should be viewed with optimism.

The confidence of the administration in the efficacy of the Kellogg anti-war treaty was indicated today in the announcement, in the midst of the Russo-Chinese crisis, of elaborate ceremonies in the White House next Wednesday noon when deposit of the Japanese ratification of the treaty will make the anti-war pact effective.

Former President Coolidge and former Secretary of State Kellogg will be present when Ambassador Debuchi of Japan deposits his government's ratification with President Hoover, who will formally proclaim that fifteen nations having ratified the pact, it is now operative.

The ceremony will be witnessed by members of the President's cabinet, representatives of all the governments who have ratified or signified their intention of adhering to the treaty, and Senators W. E. Borah [Rep., Idaho], chairman of the senate foreign relations committee, and Claude P. Swanson [Democrat], ranking minority member of the committee.

It is considered probable that if warlike preparations continue another meeting of the Pacific treaty powers will be held which will result in a joint plea to the soviets and China. The Pacific treaty provides:

"In the event their interests in China are threatened by the action of an outside power, they, the treaty powers, will exchange views in an effort to determine the course of action."

RUSSIA "WANTS NO WAR."

MOSCOW, July 20.—(AP)—Jan E. Rudzutak, acting head of the soviet government, told the Associated Press today it was not necessary for Secretary Stimson to remind the Moscow government of its duties as a signatory of the Kellogg anti-war pact.

"Unless the Chinese government commits a warlike act we shall stand loyally by the pact," he said. "Despite China's present provocative attitude, her violation of the treaty vesting equal control of the Chinese Eastern railway in us, and her repeated invasions of the rights of soviet citizens we shall not take any military action against her unless China invades our territory and forces us to take defensive measures.

"When we solemnly signed the Kellogg pact it was not a gesture. We believe intensely in peace. The Kellogg pact is one of the best means of enforcing it."

China Is Hopeful.

SHANGHAI, July 20.—(AP)—China has not forgotten the Kellogg anti-war pact, to which it is signatory, C. T. Wang, foreign minister of the Chinese republic, said today. He added, however, "Any move on the part of the soviet to place troops within Manchuria will be viewed by the Chinese people and government as an act of war."

The foreign minister declared:

"The situation is serious, however. We have not abandoned hope for a peaceful settlement."

LEAGUE MARKS TIME.

[Copyright: 1929: By the New York Times.]

GENEVA, July 20.—The news that Washington has formally called the attention of Russia and China to the fact that they are signatories to the Kellogg pact was received here with great satisfaction.

League circles are pleased because of the immediate effects such action may have in checking the development of the Sino-Russian dispute. It is held likely to facilitate the eventual intervention of the league of nations. League officials are awaiting the effects of the Washington step with a feeling it is more prudent for the league to wait until China and Russia answer the United States before making any move toward setting in motion the covenant's machinery.

Soundings are being taken in the meanwhile, with the view of finding some member of the league who will be willing if necessary to accept the responsibility of asking Geneva's intervention.

The states being considered are several in Latin-America, among which Venezuela is specifically mentioned, and Denmark.

cause of the encouraging signs. The public is somewhat confused, as the vernacular papers translated the United State's attitude as one of intervention instead of moral advice, but government circles generally consider it was a wise and timely step.

A news agency report says that all Japanese have evacuated Pogranitchaya on a special train.

Since early yesterday morning no detailed reports of any sort have come reliably from the border towns, and this is taken in some circles as meaning there is something much amiss. Censorship is understood to be in fairly strict force on all Manchurian and foreign news.

Troops Rushed to Border.

MUKDEN, Manchuria, July 20.—[U. P.]—Five additional brigades of Manchurian troops today were ordered to proceed to the border in the vicinity of Manchuli, on the northwestern border of Manchuria.

Ask Japanese to Protect Foreigners.

HARBIN, Manchuria, July 20.—[U. P.]—Feeling reached high tension here today as military forces patrolled the streets, replacing the regular police force under the dictates of martial law. All "suspicious Russians" were detained for questioning.

It is understood that the British and American consuls here have decided to appeal to Japan to protect all foreigners in Manchuria in the event of war between China and the soviet union.

MacMurray Postpones Vacation.

PEIPING, July 20.—(AP)—American Minister John Van A. MacMurray has received instructions to defer his impending trip home to the United States. He will remain at his post while the Manchurian situation continues tense.

Troop Trains Crowd Railway.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

RIGA, July 20.—The Trans-Siberian railroad is crowded with troop trains according to American business men arriving from Vladivostok this morning after flying from Samara ta Riga via Moscow, cutting four days from the trip. They asked that their names be not used as they intended to visit Russia again.

One American said he left Vladivostok ten days ago and was obliged to travel on the Usurriski Amur railroad, which follows the southern Siberian frontier, instead of making a short cut through Manchuria via Harbin.

"We encountered the first troop trains at Blagovyescensk and from there until we arrived at Irkutsk the train was delayed several times to give the eastbound military trains the right of way," he said.

All bridges of Siberia are heavily guarded and when our train passed over the Amur river the windows were curtained and the passengers forbidden to look out under threat of being shot. Near Chita we passed two trains loaded with airplanes and others containing field artillery and munitions.

England Favors Chinese Control.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, July 20.—British official circles are watching the Russian-Chinese situation closely. England has a good reason to prefer the management of the railroad to remain in Chinese hands rather than Russian, for the preferential rates when the Russians were allowed to own the railroad, particularly on petroleum products, practically barred English and American oils from the market.

The Chinese action in seizing the railway, however, is probably less a protest against preferential rates than the use of the railroad in promoting communist propaganda and serving as a means of entry to the many espionage agents employed in the soviet's elaborate spy system.

Harbin was the hotbed of communist propaganda and the center of the Russian espionage system in China. It was known as the wickedest city in the far east under Russian administration, and while the Chinese stamped out the greater part of the vice since they took it over, they have not succeeded in suppressing communism.

Get Injunction Against Meat Market Ordinance

Superior Judge Steffen yesterday issued a temporary injunction restraining the police and health departments from enforcing an ordinance which prohibits the sale of meat seven days a week. The injunction was asked by Samuel Stormer, 1905 West 13th street, and Zachary Jacobitz, 1758 Hastings street, owners of kosher markets. The ordinance orders all markets closed on Sunday, with the exception of kosher markets, which must close on Mondays.

COOLIDGE TO ATTEND KELLOGG ANTI-WAR TREATY CEREMONIES

Washington, D. C., June 20.—[Special.]—Announcement that former President Calvin Coolidge will be present when the Kellogg anti-war treaty ceremonies are held in the east room of the White House next Wednesday was made at the White House today. President Hoover, former Secretary of State Kellogg and ambassadors and ministers representing nations which have signed or adhered to the treaty will attend.

It was pointed out that the formal filing of Japan's ratification of the treaty next Wednesday will make the Kellogg treaty effective. The Japanese ambassador will deposit the Japanese ratification. President Hoover will accept and, after commenting on the accomplishment of the aim of the treaty makers, will read a formal proclamation that the treaty is in effect.

After the ceremony Mr. Coolidge and former Secretary Kellogg will be the guests of honor at a White House luncheon attended by the entire diplomatic corps.

Two Chicago Brothers Drown in Kankakee River

Mandell Groner, 12 years old, and his brother, Freddie, 10, sons of Mr. and Mrs. Sol Groner, 4143 Wentworth avenue, were drowned in Kankakee river near Momence yesterday morning. Their bodies were recovered several hours later. Two other brothers who were wading with them were rescued.

RUSSIA TABOOS WORD "WAR" IN PRESS AND RADIO

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

RIGA, Latvia, July 20.—The word "war" is taboo in the soviet Russian press and four of the largest soviet broadcasting stations in Moscow, Leningrad, Karkov, and Minsk do not mention the possibility of war with China over the seizure of the Chinese-Eastern railway.

Moscow papers also fail to mention the troop movements in Siberia and news of the Chinese conflict is confined to accounts of massmeetings in factories, where government officials are taking advantage of Russian enthusiasm to sell bonds for the third industrialization loan. Some of the workers are reported to be allotting two months' wages for the purchase of the bonds.

The slogan adopted by the Moscow commissariat of finance is: "One month's wages for the industrialization loan will assist Russia to prepare itself against the attacks of the Chinese bandits."

Bank Clerk Confesses to Theft of $173,000

New York, July 20.—[Special.]—The theft of $173,000 in negotiable securities from the Equitable Trust company was revealed today by the arrest of Lawrence Sorenson, 29, in his cage where he had worked as a loan clerk for the Equitable for the last eight years. Sorenson described himself as a 1920 Columbia graduate, oarsman and football star to the detectives. They said he admitted the theft of the securities and the conversion of part of them into cash, which he lost in stock speculation.

Spirit of the Alamo Still Living in Texas

Beaumont, Tex., July 20.—[Special.]—County Judge H. C. Keen and his family were kept awake late last night by the moaning of his neighbor's radio. Judge Keen got his long rifle. The first bullet plumped the bull's eye of the loud speaker; the second tore through the volumn dial; the third centered the station dial. Judge Keen got peace and sleep.

EDITH MASON WINS DIVORCE FROM POLACCO

Maestro, "Heartbroken," Seeks Seclusion.

Giorgio Polacco, director of the Chicago Civic Opera company, departed for a wooded retreat yesterday as his wife, Edith Mason, prima donna of the company, won a divorce before Circuit Judge Friend. Miss Mason remained to express regret and insist that she had done her duty.

Before his departure Polacco left a statement with his attorney, John S. Miller, which reads: "I have nothing to say but that I am heartbroken; this terrible situation is certainly a dreadful blow to me. I am sure that during my absence some misunderstanding brought this about. I wish Mrs. Polacco every happiness and shall always hold her in the highest regard and affection."

Won't Interfere with Opera.

Seated in the office of Attorney Thurlow G. Essington, Miss Mason declared the divorce would not prevent her appearing in opera next fall at performances conducted by Polacco. "I shall be happy to appear with him," she said with a smile. "I have always had a high regard for Mr. Polacco as a conductor. I hope that we shall maintain a pleasant friendship. This affair is regrettable, but I have done what I consider was my duty. I had thought long before taking the step.

She Rejects Reconciliation.

"Yes, he made attempts at reconciliation. He pleaded for a reunion for the sake of our child. I refused to see him, as I had made my decision after careful consideration. I have no animosity against Mr. Polacco; I merely did my duty."

Miss Mason was asked if she planned to marry again.

"O," she said with a shrug, "that would be jumping from the frying pan. Not at all."

She refused to comment on rumors that there had been other women. She explained that she stood on the charges in an amended bill filed before Judge Friend by Attorney Essington. The bill alleged mental and physical cruelty.

Polacco Not in Court.

Miss Mason entered the courtroom attired in a green ensemble of knitted silk with shoes and hat to match. She wore a white fox scarf. She was accompanied by her attorney and Gertrude Kipf, a nurse for her daughter, who corroborated her testimony. Mr. Polacco was not in court. He was represented by his attorney, who reported that his client had left town in sorrow.

Miss Mason recited five acts of cruelty. She said that Polacco continually swore at her and abused her. His nagging and fault finding, she asserted, brought on a nervous state verging on collapse. She declared that Polacco often said, "Wives and cattle should be of one's own country."

The first alleged act of cruelty occurred in Milan, Italy, in April of 1927, when Polacco shook and beat her about the arms and shoulders, she said. Again in the following May in the same city he threatened her with a revolver, Miss Mason testified.

Charges Beating in Boston.

In a Boston hotel he struck her until bystanders intervened, she said. Another instance of alleged cruelty was cited in Chicago in their apartment at 233 East Walton place. The last act occurred on April 12, 1929, as Polacco was leaving for Italy, the court was told. Miss Mason testified that Polacco declared he hated her and intended to change his will.

The amended bill did not include details of domestic strife before the footlights of the opera. It subdued the sensational allegations of cruelty contained in the first bill.

Judge Friend awarded Miss Mason the custody of the daughter, Grazilla, 4 years old, with the provision that the father have direction of her education. Miss Mason did not ask restoration of her maiden name as demanded in the original bill. She also waived alimony demands and injunctions to restrain Polacco from disposing of securities, which were asked in the early bill. Attorney Essington explained that a substantial property settlement had been accepted.

Wed for Ten Years.

Maestro Polacco, who is 54 years old, and Miss Mason, who is 36, were married on June 28, 1919, and separated last April 12, according to the suit. Her bill for divorce was filed one day before their tenth wedding anniversary. Their only child was born in 1925. Mrs. Arthur Meeker is the child's godmother.

Miss Mason is living at 999 Lake Shore drive. Polacco has been staying at the Blackstone hotel since his arrival here on July 10. He was served with a summons on the original bill, suppressed by Circuit Judge Fisher, as he arrived from Italy. Miss Mason said that she plans to leave the city for a few days' rest.

Decatur, Ill., July 20.—(AP)—Three persons were injured today when a northbound Chicago-St. Louis bus went into a ditch near here to avoid a collision. Those injured were L. C. Wright, Chicago, driver of the bus; Ellen Daniels of St. Louis, and Mrs. Alta Howard of St. Louis. The injuries were not serious. An automobile is said to have swerved in the path of the Standard Transportation company's bus.

Auto Is Nearly Wrecked When It Crashes Into Bear

Rhinelander, Wis., July 20.—[Special.]—An auto driven by Warde Wascott, Crandon attorney, collided with a large black bear in the road near Argonne in Forest county. The impact almost wrecked the car. Emitting terrific growls the bear made his way into the woods, leaving enough fur on the front of the car to make a small rug. Three Crandon hunters visited the scene a few hours later, but could find no trace of the animal.

WRITER TELLS OF LOOTING ROYAL CHINESE TOMBS

Says Gems Would Pay National Debt.

Tombs of the royal Chinese dead near Peking have been looted of jewels and treasures worth more than enough to pay off China's national debt of three billion dollars, according to Edgar L. Morgan in a current article for the publishers of the Encyclopedia Americana.

He adds that most of the plundering has been done in the last year: that never throughout the changes in the last few decades in China has there been shown such disrespect for the royal dead as in the disorders of recent months.

$200,000,000 in One Tomb.

Mr. Morgan, as secretary of the China Baptist Publication society at Tsingtao, is thoroughly familiar with Chinese affairs. He says that jewels valued at more than two hundred million dollars have been rifled in the last year from one tomb alone—that of the Dowager Empress Tsu Hsi, who died in November, 1908. This magnificent tomb itself cost four million dollars. Most of the loot taken from it was sold by vandals to gem and curio dealers. A few million dollars' worth was recovered.

A spirit of wanton disrespect was shown for the dead by the thieves and vandals, according to Morgan. He says that the bones of the Emperor Chien Lung were scattered about his tomb by the pillagers and that few of them could be found and gathered up. The bones recovered, the writer said, were wrapped in silk and reinterred.

Mr. Morgan says the utmost dishonor was shown the body of "The Old Buddha," as the Dowager Empress Tsu Hsi was called. Her corpse was found lying on her coffin lid, denuded to the waist. It was revealed that the old empress' body was so covered with jewels and gems that the thieves probably snatched her clothes from the body to obtain them.

Neither the Sumerian queen, Shub-ab, nor any pharaoh of Egypt was ever buried in the magnificence with which Tsu Hsi was laid to rest, according to Morgan. He says that historians and antiquarians have been amazed at the richness and the vast number of the gems which were entombed with this queen.

Diary Catalogues Treasures.

Li Lien-ying, favorite of Tsu Hsi, a man who, through the empress, wielded more power than governors, ministers, and viceroys, kept a diary in which is given an astounding catalogue of the treasures buried with the empress. The writer says he learned this from Li Ying-chou, grand nephew of the celebrated favorite of the queen. The writer quotes this diary as saying:

"Before the dowager empress was laid in the coffin the bottom was spread with a mattress of gold thread seven inches thick, in which was woven an embroidery of pearls. On the top of the mattress was laid a silk embroidered coverlet strewn with a layer of pearls. In the pearl layer was a lace sheet of pearls into which was woven a figure of Buddha. At the head was placed a jade ornament resembling lotus leaves and at the foot a similar ornament of jade in the shape of a lotus flower.

"Interwoven in this mattress and sheet were 10,500 seed pearls, rubies and sapphires, and 200 small emeralds and white jade, in all worth $1,300,000. These were arranged in their places and then the body was lifted into the coffin. The head of the empress dowager rested on the lotus leaves and her feet on the lotus flower [the former valued at $765,000, the latter at $675,000]."

ITALY HEEDS CHURCH DEMAND; REGULATES MORALS OF BEACHES

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

ROME, July 20.—The campaign waged by Catholic church authorities in every diocese in Italy against indecent bathing costumes has resulted in the civil authorities adopting drastic regulations on beach morality.

The authorities are more lenient about costumes at beaches frequented by foreigners such as Via Reggio, Lido, and San Remo, but at smaller beaches and at river bathing establishments, where indecency is said to have reached the greatest height, the regulations are most strict.

At Pavia and Cremona the police prohibit men bathing only in a pair of trunks, while women are required to wear the old fashioned skirt bathing suit. Bathers must not pass beyond the ropes of the bathing area and cannot enter dancing establishments in bathing costume. Children under 15 are not allowed on the beaches alone. Three months' jail sentence is provided for those who break the rules.

CAPTURE NEGRO CHARGED WITH KILLING GROCER

Howard Harrison, 35 years old, named by witnesses as the Negro who killed Rubin Sharfman, proprietor of a grocery store at 911 South Paulina street, when the latter refused him credit for a half dozen eggs, was arrested last night at Washburne avenue and Laflin street.

The shooting occurred on Tuesday. Harrison, the police were told, walked into the store and ordered the eggs. When they were handed to him he demanded credit for the thirty cents charge and started to walk out. Sharfman followed and the Negro drew a revolver and shot the grocer through the heart.

HECKSCHER YACHTING PARTY RESCUED FROM CRIPPLED SPEED BOAT

New York, July 20.—[Special.]—G. Maurice Heckscher, son of August Heckscher, millionaire philanthropist, and three friends were rescued by a yachting party in Long Island sound between Bridgeport, Conn., and Port Jefferson, L. I., today after being marooned all night in a disabled speed boat without food or water.

The four men, Mr. Heckscher, Art Fowler, actor; Elliott White Springs, war flyer and author, and Cyril Hatch, former husband of Miss Barbara Rutherford, a daughter of Mrs. W. K. Vanderbilt, had been the objects of a widespread search which the younger Mr. Heckscher's wife, the former Louella Gear, musical comedy actress, led from a chartered airplane.

In Mr. Heckscher's thirty foot yacht the party left his home early yesterday morning for Watch Hill, R. I., where they lunched with friends, Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Warren. They started back for the Heckscher home at Bayside, Queens, about 1 p. m. The forty miles an hour craft should have brought them home for dinner, but this morning when the party had not appeared, August Heckscher asked police headquarters to issue a general alarm. A motorboat towed the crew to safety at noon.

KIDNAP MANAGER OF STORE; FORCE HIM TO OPEN SAFE

A. M. Shibley, 4630 Beacon street, manager of an O'Connor and Goldberg shoe store at 4616 Sheridan road, was kidnaped by two robbers in front of his home late last night, taken back to the store in their automobile and forced to open the safe. The robbers took $1,000, returned Shibley to his home, and fled.

Henry J. Tulip, an architect living at 2143 Grace street, and Miss Arline Burns, 3700 North Irving avenue, were robbed of $70 and jewelry valued at $200 by three young robbers who held them up last night as they drove up to Miss Burns' home after attending a theater.

Smugglers, Americans in Battle Near El Paso.

El Paso, Tex., July 20.—(AP)—Ambushed by a large force of Mexican rum runners six American border patrolmen early today fought a battle on the Rio Grande, two miles east of here, and drove off the attackers after one of their party, Inspector Ivan E. Scotten, 25, had been shot and killed.

The engagement occurred at San Elizario island. Bullets were exchanged across the river, which forms the international boundary, striking on both American and Mexican soil.

Inspector Scotten fell with two bullets in his body and died instantly. Several of the smugglers were believed to have been wounded.

Many Armed Clashes.

The battle was one of the most desperate of a long series of armed clashes which small squads of border officers have had in the last few years in guarding hundreds of miles of desolate country along the international boundary against smugglers of liquor, narcotics, aliens and gun runners and cattle rustlers. Noted for their fearlessness, straight shooting and relentless pursuit of smugglers, the border patrolmen have fallen into ambushes on several occasions.

Scotten and five other border guards, were lying in a wait for rum smugglers following a tip that a big "load" was to be brought across just before dawn.

Capt. H. J. Horsley, chief inspector, stationed the six men at the island with instructions to halt the smugglers. Shortly before dawn, the patrolmen saw a lone horseman leave the Mexican shore and start for the United States.

A Decoy Sent Across Line.

As is usual when "big loads" are run across the border, a decoy or advance guard is sent out from Juarez to draw the attention of the "Gringo guards" as the Juarez smuggling ring has branded Uncle Sam's agents. Positive the horseman was a decoy the patrolmen remained hidden until he had almost reached the United States side. One patrolman then jumped from his hiding place and called on the horseman to halt. The command was answered with bullets from the Mexican side of the river.

The Americans returned the fire unaware that they were surrounded by smuglers on the American side. These desperadoes then began to pour a hail of bullets into the American agents hiding place. Scotten fell under the first fire, one rifle bullet striking his head and another his hip.

Charge Mexican Smugglers.

When their comrade fell the Americans charged the Mexicans on this side of the border. In the meantime the Mexican horseman had joined the fight and charged at the United States patrolmen with an automatic in each hand. One patrolman singled out the Mexican horseman and armed only with the regulation service pistol, went out to meet the decoy. He got his man, shooting the horse out from under him, but only wounding the rider, who under the cover of fire from the Mexican side escaped across the border. Trails of blood indicated that several of the rum runners had been wounded.

Border patrolmen, who work under direction of the immigration office, recently have been active in coöperation with mounted customs agents in halting liquor smuggling, which is carried on by an organized band with headquarters in Juarez.

Saves Friend from River, Falls in and Is Drowned

Wausau, Wis., July 20.—[Special.]—Stella Schultz, 19, lost her life in the Wisconsin river here last night after saving the life of a girl companion who had gone beyond her depth. A second after drawing Ella Schneider out of the deep water Miss Schultz lost her balance at a drop off and slipped in herself. Neither of the girls could swim, and Miss Schultz's mother stood on the bank and screamed as her daughter went beneath the water.

MEDICINAL WHISKIES TO COST MORE, BUT QUALITY IS ASSURED

New York, N. Y., July 20.—[Special.]—Medicinal liquor will be higher in 1930. Following announcement to the effect that the country's supply of prescription whisky is lower than it should be, it is now revealed that, due to the law of supply and demand, the only remaining legal method of getting drunk is going to be expensive.

The Frankfort Distillery, Inc., of Louisville, has announced an increase of $2.50 per twelve pints in the price of its products. One brand of whisky, which sells at present for $25 a lot [12 pints], will cost $27.50 in 1930. Another brand which costs $27.50, will set the medico back $30.

The whisky is described as bottled-in-bond under government supervision, and made in 1917 or earlier. While not exactly pre-war, the distiller assures his prospective customers that they "contain the essential principles of the grain in their normal association as esters and aldehydes." If any one is in doubt, this is synonymous with saying that it is real stuff.

According to the Frankfort distillery, the way to get the stuff is to order on government form 1413 through your nearest jobber, or through the distillery itself. Unfortunately, the privilege of purchase is limited to "physician permittees only."

NAB AIRPLANE RUM RUNNER WITH 14 CASES

Detroit, Mich., July 20.—[Special.]—A plane landed at New Boston, Mich., this morning with 14 cases of whisky. A reception committee of state police took charge of the cargo and pilot, who gave his name as Howard Gaylord of Detroit. He refused to give any information as to the source of the liquor.

The state police seized the plane, but did not know what to do with it until Gaylord volunteered to pilot it to the Ford airport. Trooper Charles Dunette guarded the prisoner from the rear cockpit while the two were in the air. Gaylord was bound over to Wayne Circuit court on a charge of transporting liquor. He furnished $500 bond.

Prohibition enforcement officers believe the aviator was working for an Indiana-Michigan-Canada syndicate of rum runners, delivering liquor from Canada to fields near Detroit. From there it is believed it was carried in automobiles to points in western Michigan, Indiana and Chicago.

FOUR OFFICERS HELD IN DEATH OF A MEXICAN

Phoenix, Ariz., July 20.—(AP)—Four Phoenix police officers were held for trial in Superior court on charges of murder late today following preliminary hearing here. They pleaded not guilty.

The officers, M. S. Freasier, Ray Shockey, Stanley Shockey, and W. A. Walker, were charged with shooting to death Joe Bustamente in an alleged drug store robbery last January.

The charges include allegations that the officers framed the robbery for the purpose of shooting the Mexican and two companions, one of whom also was killed. Charges were filed after protests were received from the Mexican government.

AUTO RUNS 59 MILES ON GALLON OF GAS.

Automobile engineers who worked for years in an effort to reduce gasoline consumption have found the solution in a marvelous invention that fits all cars. An actual test made by one of the engineers showed 59 miles on a gallon of gas. Thousands of car owners have already installed this new invention. They not only report amazing gas savings but are also surprised to find quicker pick-up, instant starting, smoother running motors, and disappearance of carbon. E. Oliver, 999, 1570 E. Third-st., Milwaukee., Wis., for a limited time is offering a free device to those who will help introduce it. They also need men everywhere to make over $100 weekly in their own territory taking care of local business. Write him at once for sample and big money making offer.—Adv.

Hope to Become Clairvoyant in Wilderness.

Armed with blankets and heavy underwear and compasses, 36 Chicagoans will leave tomorrow evening for a 90 day fast in the virgin wilderness of Colorado. They are under the guidance of George Huntley Aron, self-hailed leader of the World-Wide Fasting clubs. More than half of them are women.

Twelve will acompany Dr. Aron in a private car on the Union Pacific line, while others are journeying by bus and private automobile. To perfect details of transportation and inspiration they met for the last time yesterday afternoon in a room on the 17th floor of the Stevens building.

Haven Deep in Wilderness.

They are bound for a forest-circled lake eight miles from Peaceful valley, Colo., on the Middle St. Vrain river on the property of the Wheeler estate. Ward, Colo., is 12 miles by horseback. Lyons is the nearest railroad station, 20 miles from Denver, where the party will arrive Wednesday morning.

For a day they will stay at the Central Y. M. C. A., each taking a bottle of citrate of magnesia to prepare for the meal-less vacation ahead, and then proceeding to Lyons where their tents and army cots will await them. Once in the wilderness they will stake out individual quarters on the borders of the lake, there to fast and bathe and contemplate and generally get back to nature.

Hope to "Reveal Truths."

Dr. Aron says that fasting accomplishes the hypnotising and reëducation of the sub-conscious mind," and that during the 90 days he and a number of his converts expect to become clairvoyant and to "reveal many important truths."

In Chicago Dr. Aron lives at the Edgewater Athletic club. He said yesterday that he had twelve qualifications for the job of heading the world fasting expedition, among them "a ripe and mature experience in dealing with men and the world as it is," "a terrible driving inner urge," and "a forceful, eloquent personality." He admitted that his "beauty" attracted women and insisted that through women he will win the world to the wonders of fasting.

The personnel of the party assembled yesterday to participate in his project ranged through many occupations, including a tree surgeon, a decorator, a "health teacher" with rolling socks and red bow tie, a number of salesmen, housewives, unmarried middle aged women, an actor, a woman insurance agent, several stenographers, a photographer, an ex-pastor who is the author of "Why Did Christ Fast?", a tailor, a masseuse, two clerks, and a male artist's model with blue shirt open at the throat.

Although Dr. Aron talked earnestly about a quest after beauty, his disciples seemed rather vague about the reasons for the fasting project. One woman believes it would be "fun" to try. Another hopes to lose weight. One 73 year old man has been assured that the 90 days sojourn will mean rejuvenation. In spite of the rather uplifting entertainment outlined for the 90 days by Dr. Aron, yesterday's meeting hummed with talk that was entirely of the flesh.

Axes for firewood, nonbreakable watches, bottles of laxative, the transportation of a portable phonograph and a harmonica, and the purchase of rubber brushes for body use all come in for their share. After heated argument it was decided to rule out a radio, "inasmuch as we wish to shut out the world." Call was made for volunteers to bring a camp coffee pot.

"But I thought we were going to fast," one stocky, gray haired man demurred, furtively examining his compass, one of the "personal equipment" items already acquired.

There were a few titters from some of the younger members when Dr. Aron struck bathing suits out of the luggage list "because the tents are to be a block apart."

Will Fish, But Why?

The party will take fishing tackle. "But why catch fish when we can't eat them?" one ruddy cheeked mother of three grown children argued snappily.

"We could put them in a pool and keep them till we can," Dr. Aron suggested brightly. "Ninety days is not long."

Several women turned up yesterday with misgivings about sticking out the 90 days, asking what they would do if they grew so weak they required food. "But am I not here and will I not know what to do?" Dr. Aron answered.

Dr. Aron was born on Chicago's west side "where Darrow was," he said yesterday. He is 36 years old and unmarried. He claims six degrees and four diplomas. He studied pharmacy at Northwestern university and optometry at the Northern Illinois College of Optometry, he explained, and formerly operated a drug store at Clark and Lake streets, where he grew rich making patent medicines.

He insists that he has had four previous incarnations, his first as a savage; his second as a high priest of the Jews who permitted the Romans and the pagans to capture the torch, "thereby Judaizing both"; his third as an American Indian chieftain battling for his squaw, and his fourth as Gutenberg. He declares he remembers choosing his parents for his next incarnation, his "present, and greatest."

YOUNG CHICAGO MAN JUMPS TO DEATH IN DETROIT

Despondency over business reverses was given as the reason for the suicide of Donald H. Gully, 20 years old, 7229 Sheridan road, who early yesterday leaped from the eighth floor of a hotel in Detroit. Miss Pauline Elliott, a chorus girl who was found in Gully's room, was held as a witness. Gully lived with his brother-in-law, William J. Andrews, an attorney, at the Sheridan road address. Andrews said Gully had been out of the city for several weeks. He was a traveling salesman.

20 Women Bootleggers Taken in Arkansas Drive

Jonesboro, Ark., July 20.—(AP)—Three more white women and one Negress were arrested in this vicinity today in a continuation of federal prohibition officers' drive against women bootleggers.

Hiram Sutterfield, acting prohibition enforcement officer for Arkansas, led the men in the campaign after declaring he believed 75 per cent of the bootlegging in the state was done by women.

The four women arrested today raised the list to twenty, sixteen having been taken into custody in other raids around Texarkana and Pine Bluff since the drive started.

Contract for Y. M. C. A. at Kenosha Is Awarded

Kenosha, Wis., July 20.—[Special.]—The Immel Construction company of Fond du Lac today was awarded the contract to build Kenosha's new $880,000 Y. M. C. A. Work will begin Monday. The building fund was raised after Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Nash offered a gift of $400,000 if citizens of Kenosha would equal it with additional contributions. A total of $874,000 was raised.

DEMOCRATS COOL TO COALITION, BUT PLAN CONFERENCE

Group to Discuss Judicial Outlook with Bar.

BY ARTHUR EVANS.

Democratic chiefs announced yesterday that within the next ten days a committee of ten or twelve members—later to be simmered down to a body of three, one from each side of Chicago—will be appointed to confer with the Chicago Bar association on coalition and other matters pertaining to the judicial election in November. Twenty places on the Superior bench and two vacancies in the Circuit court are to be filled. The judges want coalition to escape the labor and uncertainties of a campaign. But the Democrats in the main are giving indications of being cold towards fusion.

In tentative conferences between leaders of the Cook county Democratic committee and some of the Republican county committee, which is under control of the old machine, one stumbling block against coalition is reported to be the claims of the Republicans for all the vacant places.

Four Vacancies to Fill.

Two Republican Superior judges, Charles M. Foell and Wells M. Cook, are invalids, and the Republicans are talking of putting up others for their places. The two vacancies on the Circuit bench were caused by the election of John A. Swanson as state's attorney and by the death of Judge Victor P. Arnold, both Republicans.

The Democratic view is that if fusion should be agreed upon they should get two of these four places. They complain that the Republicans insist that Republicans shall be named to succeed Republicans.

Besides, there is the matter of Superior Judge Emanuel Eller. Republican leaders express a wish that he was out of the picture, but they are "pussyfooting" over Eller and have not given convincing assurances that the old machine organization will keep him off the slate. The Democratic viewpoint is that Eller would prove too heavy a load for a coalition of any sort.

See Chance for Deneen Slate.

Democrat leaders have been arguing that if the old Republican crowd which dominates the county committee should support Eller, the Deneen crowd, which has few votes in the county committee, would have a chance to put up a judicial ticket of its own, with a chance of cracking fusion.

One view expressed by the Democrats, both at the Hotel Sherman and the county building, is that if there is to be fusion, the Democrats would perhaps do as well to coalesce with the Deneen group as with the old machine organiation.

The twenty Superior court judges whose terms expire this year are:

REPUBLICANS.	DEMOCRATS.
Albert C. Barnes,	Joseph B. David,
Wells M. Cook,	Joseph H. Fitch,
Emanuel Eller,	Jacob H. Hopkins,
Charles M. Foell,	William J. Lindsay,
W. N. Gemmill,	John P. McGoorty,
Oscar Hebel,	M. L. McKinley,
Marcus Kavanagh,	John M. O'Connor,
W. H. McSurely,	Denis E. Sullivan,
Harry B. Miller,	C. A. Williams.
Hugo Pam,
R. E. Gentzel,

Among the Democrats loud protests against coalition are being raised from the rank and file and from many of the ward committeemen. They argue that some judges have been denouncing the ordinary politicians for by-partisan alliances when judicial coalition itself is bi-partisan.

Deprives Voter of Choice.

"They stress the argument that judicial coalition, in effect makes the judges appointive by the party bosses inasmuch as it takes from the voter any real choice at the polls, other than for independents who have no chance without an organization. One ward committeeman at the Sherman echoed one line of talk that has been current for weeks, when he said yesterday:

"When you elect a judge he becomes a dead loss to the organization. Many high hat the lads and most of them bite your head off if you ask that somebody be excused from jury service.

"Some of them talk as if the politicians are a lot of bums, and then when their terms are expiring they come around and ask the organization which they have been panning to go out and fight for them and to frame one of these so-called 'unholy alliances' that will elect them by coalition. Most of the practical fellows are saying it won't be a bad thing to let them make a campaign just like other seekers for the votes of the public."

County chairmen have until Aug. 22 to issue the call forthe party conventions which are to be held between Sept. 6 and 16.

Crowd Hears Speakers at Kearns Political Picnic

Roumanian Premier Hurt as Engine Hits Private Car

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BUCHAREST, July 20.—Premier Jules Maniu was slightly hurt yesterday when a locomotive crashed into his private car on the Toeris railroad, between Arad and Bucharest. Premier Maniu was in bed at the time of the accident, but was shaken out of bed and bruised.

FARMER DIES IN FALL.

Warsaw, Ind., July 20.—[Special.]—Asa Moorhead, 69, farmer, residing ten miles southeast of here, was instantly killed today when he fell from the top of a load of hay on the farm of O. H. Bowman, a neighbor, and broke his neck.

FLYER PLANNING U. S. TO JAPAN HOP, RESTS AND AWAITS EXPERTS

Tacoma, Wash., July 20.—(AP)—After a day of rest following his 8 hour and 27 minute flight of 1,000 miles from Los Angeles to Tacoma, Lieut. Harold Bromley tonight awaited the arrival of factory experts to give his low winged monoplane City of Tacoma a final check before he attempts a nonstop flight to Tokio.

More efficient gas valves and a pump, special spark plugs, and a wheel instead of a tail skid to give more speed in taking off, will be installed on Bromley's monoplane. The wheel will be dropped after the takeoff to cut down wind resistance.

If the factory engineers are able to get through their tasks Monday a test flight may be made and the takeoff for Japan will be as soon thereafter as the weather permits. Bromley is studying the weather reports.

After a conference with County Commissioners C. A. Campbell and George Meath, Bromley announced that the trees at the end of the 5,400 foot runway must come down if he is to take the air safely in his big plane, which, when loaded down with fuel and equipment, will weigh 9,000 pounds. The plane will carry 900 gallons of gas and oil.

Six Kenosha Homes Stoned in Allen-A Labor War

Kenosha, Wis., July 20.—[Special.]—Windows in six houses of Allen A Knitters were broken by bricks in attacks during last night. The attacks came after a week's quiet in the labor hostilities. The city council recently posted a reward of $500 for the arrest and conviction of any one throwing bricks at homes.

ST. LOUIS PLANE, UP 180 HOURS, NEARS RECORD

St. Louis, Mo., July 20.—(AP)—The St. Louis Robin, endurance plane, passed its 180th hour in the air at 7:17 p. m. [central standard time] tonight, and had eclipsed all previous records for sustained flight except that of the Angeleno, which was flown 246 hours, 43 minutes and 32 seconds by Loren Mendell and Roland Reinhardt at Culver City, Cal.

A sister endurance plane, the Missouri Robin, had been up nearly 81 hours. Both planes continued to circle over separate airports at about 60 miles an hour.

Dale Jackson, barrel-rolling champion, and Forest O'Brine, test pilot for the Curtiss-Robertson Manufacturing company, are confident they can keep their St. Louis Robin up until 2:01 p. m. Tuesday, when they will have established a new world record.

Houston Pair Up 77 Hours.

Houston, Tex., July 20.—(AP)—Just prior to rounding out its 77th hour in the air, the Houston endurance plane "Billion Dollar City" successfully completed its seventh mid-air fueling tonight.

A note this morning from Joe Glass, co-pilot with Glenn L. Loomis, said the flyers would accept early next week Port Arthur's invitation to fly over that city. The plane's motor, they said, "sounds good for a month."

3 Die in Electrical Storm Ending English Drought

LONDON, July 20. — (AP) — The drought and heat wave in southern England were broken tonight with dramatic suddeness by a severe electrical storm. Three persons were killed, ten seriously injured and hundreds drenched. One death was caused by a twenty foot wave which swept the sea front at Folkestone and Hastings at the height of the storm.

Expects Few Changes in 1922 Schedule.

Senator Charles S. Deneen, on a flying trip to Chicago, yesterday predicted that a lower tariff rate than those passed by the house will be recommended to the senate by its finance committee. He will return to Washington today to be present when the Republican senators on the committee begin framing their bill and he expects that the tariff debates will keep the senators at the capital all summer and early autumn.

Start Work Tomorrow.

"The Republican members of the committee start to frame the bill Monday," said Senator Deneen, "and it is expected to be ready Aug. 19 when the senate reconvenes. In my opinion the rates which will be recommended to the senate by the committee are likely to be lower than those in the bill which has passed the house. I believe we will report a moderate bill.

"My impression is that increases will apply only to such articles as have been affected by the conditions of production and manufacture abroad which have changed since the last tariff was passed in 1922 and where exceedingly low wages or similar causes have raised obstacles to retention of present duties which are unreasonable."

No Time for Politics.

The senator said his visit was too fleeting for him to take up politics, beyond a brief conference with Roy O. West, former secretary of the interior. His campaign for the primaries next year is being carried on through the mails. Mr. Deneen said he came home for a short visit with his daughter, Mrs. A. M. Blow, and his granddaughter, who came up from their home in Tulsa, Okla. Mrs. Deneen and the youngest daughter are in Europe. In the afternoon the senator attended the annual picnic of the employés in the office of James A. Kearns, clerk of the Municipal court.

Steal Car, Abandon, Then Repair and Steal It Again

Ashland, Wis., July 20.—[Special.]—When an automobile stolen from Ernest Hennell, Mellen police officer, caught fire Thursday night the thieves abandoned it in a ditch. A traffic officer from Hurley found the car next morning and notified Hennell, thinking he had abandoned the car. When the Mellen officer arrived at the spot Friday night to take the car back to Mellen he found the thieves had repaired it and stolen it a second time.

Pet Black Bear Bites Beauty Parlor Operator

Connersville, Ind., July 20.—[Special.]—Scratched and bitten by a pet black bear which suddenly became vicious, Miss Kathryn Newell, beauty parlor operator here, was wounded seriously before the enraged animal finally was subdued.

LUEDER OR HADLEY TO BE COMMERCE CHIEF? GOVERNOR IS SILENT

Gov. Emmerson finished his first week of study of the job card index yesterday, but no patronage has been dispensed and the job hunters appear to be getting near the verge of nervous prostration.

Reports were revived yesterday that the choice for chairman of the Illinois commerce commission may lie between Postmaster Arthur C. Lueder and Charles W. Hadley, of Wheaton. No confirmation was forthcoming from the statehouse, where the silence is still vociferous. Months ago Mr. Hadley was regarded as the governor's choice. In the primary fight last year Mr. Hadley withdrew as candidate for attorney general, to clear the road for Oscar E. Carlstrom when the latter pulled out of the governorship race to give Emmerson a clear track against Len Small. Edward J. Brundage, former attorney general, has also been reported as under consideration for the post, but both he and the governor have denied reports that the post has been offered to Mr. Brundage.

ITALY AND JAPAN PRAISE DORNIER 12 ENGINE PLANE

ALTENRHEIN, Germany, July 20.—The Italian undersecretary of aviation, Gen. Italo Balbo, called at the Dornier works at Altenrhein to inspect the Do-X, the 12 engined, 120 passenger, plane. He took a test flight after which he declared himself enthusiastic about the new seaplane and confirmed a government order for two bombers.

The Japanese military mission has been following the movements of the Do-X closely under the direction of Commander Shanalogue. He stated he was deeply impressed by the performance of the plane and would report favorably to Tokio from where the Dornier works expect an order for bombers to cost $400,000 each.

There had been rumors that the Do-X in its recent trial flights failed to reach an altitude required for practical flying. But the plane actually did most of its flying a thousand feet above water and ground. Dr. Claudius Dornier feels that the Do-X will prove a financial success and has issued an order to his engineers to tackle new plans for a naval scout plane, to attain a speed of 406 miles per hour. They built a model of this type which was successful, but it was shelved owing to lack of funds.

Stung 200 Times by Bees; Farmer's Condition Critical

Warsaw, Ind., July 20.—[Special.]—Aaron Kincade, farmer residing just north of this city, is in a hospital suffering from more than 200 bee stings. He was driving through a clover field on a neighbor's farm and accidentally upset a beehive. He is expected to recover. His horses also were stung.

Sterling, Ill., July 20.—(AP)—Jewelry worth $20,000 was scattered for a half mile along the North Western railroad right of way today when a freight train struck a baggage truck at the station. The jewelry was in a trunk on the truck.

THREE BURN TO DEATH IN OHIO AIRPLANE CRASH

Believed Sportsmen on a Fishing Trip.

Toledo, O., July 20.—(AP)—Three persons were burned to death today when an airplane fell and was destroyed by flames near Perrysburg. They are believed to have been Tarl B. Depphan, his son, Tarl Jr., and Charles Jones, all of Youngstown.

The crash was seen by Vincent Hafner, who was riding along a road near where the machine fell. The craft was a Swallow, model A, with a 150 horsepower motor. Before the crash it was flying low in a northeasterly direction, apparently headed toward the Transcontinental airport.

Two of the plane's passengers were riding in the front cockpit and the pilot was in the rear. When reached, the bodies were piled together in the front of the framework.

The bodies were burned beyond recognition and all inflammable parts of the craft were destroyed.

The Hispana-Suiza motor in the burned plane bore the number 43,706 and the manufacturer's number 3,887. The motor was made by the Wright-Martin company, New Brunswick, N. J.

Student Pilot Killed.

Minot, N. D., July 20.—(AP)—Herbert Gingerish, 24, a student pilot, was fatally injured tonight as his airplane went into a tailspin and fell into a grain field near here.

ASH STARTS WAR TO MUFFLE DIN OF MOTOR BOATS

The roar from the cutouts of motorboats, awakening sleepers at night and disturbing the peace in the day time, has aroused lake shore residents. They have found a champion in Attorney Harry A. Ash of the state attorney general's office. Mr. Ash proposes that the motorboats be compelled to use exhaust mufflers within the three mile limit and that a police patrol motorboat be put into service to enforce the law.

Mr. Ash has enlisted Eugene R. Pike, president of the Lincoln Park board; Commissioner of Police Russell, Ald. John A. Massen [48th], Ald E. I. Frankhauser [49th] and other leaders in his campaign.

WIFE ASSUMES ALL BLAME IN WITCH SLAYING

She and Her Husband Face Mental Test.

BY JAMES DOHERTY.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Kalamazoo, Mich., July 20.—[Special.]—Officials were perplexed today by the attitude of Eugene Burgess and his wife, Pearl, who yesterday confessed to the "witch murder" of Mrs. Etta Fairchild, their former next door neighbor.

Mrs. Burgess today insisted that she alone killed the aged woman whom both the Burgesses believed possessed the "evil eye." Yesterday her 54 year old husband, a skilled laborer at an automobile factory, told how he unaided beat Mrs. Fairchild to death with a lead pipe, weighted the body and threw it down a cistern.

But Mrs. Burgess, a woman of 50, stuck to her story that she and not her husband, struck the dozen or so blows that killed the woman. She would give no details.

Glad of Killing.

"The rest of the people of Kalamazoo are safe now because Mrs. Fairchild can't bewitch them," she said, "she was going to kill us all, like the hundred others on whom she wished death."

Mrs. Burgess wouldn't say where her husband was at the time of the murder of the 76 year old woman who came to the Burgess home on a friendly visit. But she was eager to absolve her son, Burnett, 27, and her daughter, Eugenia, 17, from any part in the crime.

State's Attorney Paul M. Tedrow was inclined to the belief the daughter was sent out of the home before Mrs. Fairchild was killed. The son is married and lives across the street and his statement that he was not present but was told of the murder later by his father is accepted.

It is the official view that the husband and the wife, who committed the strange crime together.

Planned for a Year.

Burgess admits he had planned the killing for a year. She exerted an evil influence over his wife, Burgess says, and he believes she killed his mother, who died a natural death in California two years ago.

A sister-in-law of Mrs. Burgess, who lives in Detroit, stated today that the Burgesses had often spoken about Mrs. Fairchild's "powers" and insisted she could cause disease or death by merely wishing it. They were in dread of the aged woman, she said.

No legal action was taken today. The couple are under observation by Dr. R. A. Morter, assistant superintendent of the state hospital at Kalamazoo, a well known alienist. If he finds the Burgesses insane it is likely that they will be taken to the asylum for the criminally insane at Ionia, instead of being tried for murder.

Slain Woman Religious.

Mrs. C. M. Cuthbert, matron of the Merril home for the aged, where Mrs. Fairchild had lived for two years, said today that the slain woman had never made any pretense to occult powers.

"She was a sweet old lady, cultured and dignified, the widow of a clergyman," Mrs. Cuthbert said. "She was genial and obliging and we allowed her many liberties, such as going visiting whenever she desired. She liked to visit her old neighbors, the Burgess family.

"She was exceedingly religious and had faith in the power of healing by mental control, but she didn't claim to be a healer herself.

"Cats were the comfort of her old age before she came here. She had nine of them, and rather than let some one else have them, she killed them when she came to live at the home.

"Look at this," Mrs. Cuthbert directed, pointing to a card. "We found it in her trunk on a pile of her nicest clothing."

It contained these words:

"For my burial."

HOLSTEIN CATTLE OWNERS ATTEND ANNUAL MEETING

Seven hundreds owners of black and white cattle attended Holstein day, held at Robert Rasmussen's Elmwood dairy farm at Lake Forest yesterday. It was the second annual meeting of the Illinois Holstein association members at the Rasmussen farm, where a herd of 130 Holsteins are kept. The farm is the home of the Elmwood herd sire that has been declared the all-American bull four years in succession.

Among the Holstein boosters who spoke at yesterday's meeting are Prof. H. H. Kildee of Iowa State college; H. W. Allyn, president of the Illinois Holstein association; Earl J. Cooper and H. W. Norton of the Holstein Friesian Association of America; Dr. Herbert Lothe of Waukesha, Wis.; and Alex Hansen of Minnesota.

GARVIN SEES EARLY DISARMING OF BRITISH WEST INDIAN ISLANDS

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, July 21.—The possibility that Jamaica and Bermuda will cease to be armed stations in trans-Atlantic waters, and the Atlantic will be an "undefended frontier" between Great Britain and America was hinted by J. L. Garvin, in his editorial in today's Observer. He declares that it seems certain that Mr. MacDonald will visit Washington for a conference with President Hoover early in October, and that this will be one of the results of their talks.

Mr. Garvin declares, "The two principal yardsticks are nearly ready to be laid together. Beyond reduction of tonnage and adjustment of ship types lies the happy prospect of making the Atlantic an 'undefended frontier' between Great Britain and America, just like the great lakes between the United States and Canada.

"If we are wise, bold, and far sighted, Jamaica and the Bermudas will cease to be armed stations in trans-Atlantic waters. The Anglo-American negotiations behind the scenes are epoch making."

Name South Dakota G.O.P. Woman Leader to U. S. Job

Deadwood, S. D., July 20.—(AP)—Mrs. Paul Rewman of Deadwood, Republican committeewoman from South Dakota, today received word from Secretary of Labor James J. Davis, that she had been appointed to the office of the contract labor investigator's department. Mrs. Rewman has been prominent in South Dakota politics for many years, having taken an active part in three suffrage campaigns and a staunch campaigner in the Republican party ever since.

NORTHUP SOON TO PREPARE FOR CANAL TRIALS

The state's attorney's investigation into affairs of the sanitary district will be renewed soon after Aug. 5 in preparation for trial of Timothy J. Crowe, former president of the board, and six of the present trustees, who were members of the board under the old régime. First Assistant State's Attorney John E. Northup, who has taken over the sanitary district investigation from the staff of Attorney Frank J. Loesch, made this announcement yesterday as he allowed the men working on the task to start a short vacation.

As soon as the assistant prosecutors, clerks, and auditors return from their vacations the investigation of alleged pay roll padding will be started. It was indicated that nearly every person whose name appeared on the rolls when Crowe was in charge, will be called to the prosecutor's office to give an account of what work was performed for the salary received. At one time the district had some 4,900 employés.

In addition to obtaining more evidence for new indictments the prosecutor also expects to find many instances of fictitious names on the pay rolls.

"Chinese Lindbergh" Flies Here to Study U.S. Air Mail

Tien Laihung, the "Chinese Lindbergh," flew into Chicago last night from Detroit over Stout Air Lines. The Chinese flyer is making a survey of aeronautical affairs in the United States as an agent for the Chinese Nationalist government air mail. He will leave Chicago early in the week for Kansas City, and will proceed to the Pacific coast with stops at the principal cities en route.

ASK 16 JUDGES BE ASSIGNED TO TRY CRIMINAL CASES

Crime Commission Urges Cut in Felony Waivers.

CRIMINAL COURT.

Frank J. Dore, confidence game, sentenced to 1 to 10 years in the penitentiary; Joe Russell, rape, sentenced to 1 year in the Pontiac reformatory; Bruno Pellonari, rape, sentenced to 3 years in the penitentiary; Anna Heissler, murder by abortion, sentenced to 1 to 14 years in the penitentiary; Joseph J. Bayca, larceny, sentenced to 1 to 10 years in the penitentiary by Judge Otto Kerner.

The Chicago Crime commission through its president, Frank J. Loesch, made a formal request of the executive committees of the Circuit and Superior courts yesterday for the assignment of 16 judges to the Criminal courts at the commencement of the fall term of court in September.

Attorney Loesch pointed out that the only remedy for crowded court dockets is more judges, and not felony waivers. He said this has been demonstrated during the last few months when additional judges reduced the docket from more than 1,900 pending indictments to 1,195 pending cases at the start of the July court term.

Speed Up Court by Waivers.

In past years it has been the habit of prosecutors when the dockets crowded up, to trade felony waivers, reducing the charge from one carrying a penitentiary sentence to a misdemeanor, for which the punishment is a sentence in the Bridewell for a year or less, in return for guilty pleas. In this way the judge disposes of cases without a jury and in quick time.

Attorney Loesch, now a member of the committee recently appointed by President Hoover to investigate crime causes, pointed out that the court dockets will crowd up again due to the vacation period. Although five of the present judges have agreed to give up their vacations temporarily and work through the summer, the other courtrooms will be closed.

Hope to Clear Calendar.

"Since the establishment of a branch of the Municipal court in the Criminal Court building, the number of holdover cases has been reduced," the commission's letter says. "With the grand jury sitting in August, however, and with the vacation season at hand, it is likely that the Criminal court will be faced with a considerable docket of pending cases at the beginning of the September term.

"If sixteen judges are assigned to the Criminal court at the beginning of the September term and the same energy is exhibited that has been evident during the last year, it is probable that the calendars will be cleared during the year.

"With this once accomplished, it is believed that twelve judges, devoting their entire time to the work of the Criminal court, will be able to properly administer justice and adequately protect the rights of the defendants."

CANADIAN YOUTH, 13, SAVES DROWNING BOY; BRINGS RECORD TO 4

CORNWALL, Ont., July 20.—(AP)—Attention of civic organizations and the Royal Humane society is being drawn to the heroism of Ferdinand Gatien, 13 year old son of Mr. and Mrs. Ludger Gatien, Cornwall, who this week brought his record of persons rescued from drowning to four.

Ferdinand, a short stocky boy and an expert swimmer, was playing on the steamship dock at Cornwall last Tuesday when Gerard Labelle, 12, rode his bicycle over the edge of the wharf. Without hesitation, Ferdinand leaped into the water and brought Labelle to safety. The younger lad was unable to swim.

Last year the same boy saved from drowning three boys, all younger than himself.

LAST MAN CLUB MEETS TO RENEW CIVIL WAR DAYS

Bottle of Aged Wine Is Waiting Toast.

St. Paul, Minn., July 20.—[Special.]—Five aged men sat at the head of a table in the Minnesota club here today at noon. It was the annual meeting of the Last Man club and the reunion of a regiment. The five were all that could be mustered of the 21 who are still alive of the First Minnesota volunteers, a regiment that numbered 1,023 soldiers before the civil war and the years took their toll.

As part of the reunion the Last Man club of company B held its annual meeting. Three men, survivors of the 34 men who formed the club 44 years ago, responded to the roll. They were John S. Goff, 85, St. Paul; Peter O. Hall, 94, of Atwater; Charles Lockwood, 86, of Chamberlain, S. D.; Rufus Henderson, 89, of Bingham Lake, and Isaac Hobilt, 89, of Minneapolis, were the other members of the regiment present.

Two years ago the Last Man club held its last official meeting, and with it the club was to go out of existence. A home dinner last year continued the meetings, and this year the three survivors were honor guests at a luncheon that was expanded into a regimental reunion.

The 43 year old bottle of wine that has stood on the table every year at the Last Man club meetings was brought from its vault in Stillwater and rested at the head of the board in front of Hall, Goff, and Lockwood.

The club derives its name from the provision that its last survivor drink a toast from this bottle to his comrades who have passed on. After his death the bottle will be turned over to the Stillwater public library. Stillwater was the home of company B, and the Last Man club formerly convened there. The club's meetings usually have been held on July 21, the anniversary of the battle of Bull Run.

Admits Killing in Self Defense and Is Released

Pontiac, Mich., July 20.—(AP)—Royden MacKilligan, 22, Detroit, told Prosecutor Norman C. Orr late today he shot and killed Walter Balko, 35, landscape architect, near the Birmingham Golf club the night of June 24. MacKilligan was released after the prosecutor had pronounced the killing a clear case of self-defense. MacKilligan's story of the encounter with Balko was corroborated by a girl companion.

FINDS HUSBAND DEAD OF GAS.

Returning to her home at 2847 Southport avenue yesterday afternoon, Mrs. Margaret Grodotzke found her husband, Otto, 69 years old, dead in a gas filled kitchen. The windows were closed and seven gas jets open on the stove.

CHICAGO CONCERN TO BUILD SOVIET COALMINE PLANTS

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PARIS, July 20.—A striking tribute to American efficiency and enterprise was brought back from soviet Russia by Col. Warren R. Roberts, civil mining engineer, and chairman of Roberts & Schaefer company of Chicago, who has arrived in Paris with a contract for more than $3,000,000, approved by the soviet economic supreme council, for the erection of plants for coal mines of the Don basin, Russia's greatest industrial center, along the latest American methods.

Col. Roberts today stated that he had contracts for four projects, which would be in operation in 13 months. The designing of the plants will be carried out in Chicago by company engineers.

He estimates the project will increase the present annual output of 26,000,000 tons of the Don mines by 3,500,000 tons, with the production reaching 75,000,000 tons within five years.

LEGION AWARDS LANDIS HIGHEST OF ITS HONORS

Is Third American to Get Service Medal.

The American Legion distinguished service medal, hitherto awarded to only two Americans, was presented yesterday to Kenesaw Mountain Landis, former federal judge, now national baseball commissioner, at a testimonial luncheon at the Edgewater Beach hotel. Gen. John J. Pershing and Admiral R. E. Coontz are the other two who have been awarded the medal.

Paul V. McNutt, national commander of the Legion, came to Chicago to pin the medal on Judge Landis. Mr. McNutt also dedicated the National Jewish War memorial at morning services in Oakridge Jewish cemetery, and in the evening addressed the seventh district summer jubilee of the Legion in Rogers Park.

Praise for Landis.

"Your loyalty to the men and women of the Legion was paramount in your thoughts and actions before the Legion was born, and dates back to the time when our service started," the national commander told Mr. Landis. "It has continued undiminished to us as ex-service men and women of the war. You have been called the ideal American's best friend and the Legion's best friend. The terms are synonymous."

The medal has been awarded to Marshal Foch, Charles Bertrand, and Comte Marie Robert Dejean of France; Admiral Beatty and Lord Allenby of England; Gen. Baron Jacques of Belgium; Gen. Diaz of Italy and Gen. Josef Haller and Ignace Jan Paderewski of Poland.

Mr. McNutt, in his evening address, declared that the failure of congress to pass the hospital bill has created a serious situation for the disabled veterans of the world war, particularly the mentally ill.

5,189 Await Hospitals.

"Failure to pass the $11,480,000 hospital construction bill has left 5,189 neuropsychiatric veterans awaiting hospitalization by the government," he said. "Of this number, there are 2,762 whose mental illness is directly connected with their service in the war. There are 756 more veterans who are now in overcrowded state institutions and who should be cared for in government hospitals."

The jubilee celebration was also featured yesterday by a parade of drum and bugle corps, floats and marching units through Rogers park, water sports and swimming races in the lake.

College Experts Helping Farmers Battle Worms

Sioux City, Ia., July 20.—[Special.]—Specialists from Iowa State college at Ames today are aiding farmers in the southeast of Woodbury county to battle hordes of army worms that have appeared there and are said to be destroying nearly all crops in fields through which they progress.

Hold Visitors' Day

More than 600 visitors, including representatives of many civic organizations, yesterday attended "North Shore day" ceremonies at Fort Sheridan, where the oath of allegiance was given to 2,100 members of the C. M. T. C. A military drill and a series of athletic contests and swimming events featured the program. Brig.-Gen. Casper H. Conrad Jr., post commander, announced that no more special programs will be given at the camp until Aug. 12, which has been designated as visitors' day.

YANKEE JURISTS VISIT OLD HOME OF ENGLISH LAW

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, July 20.—Twenty-five lawyers and jurists from the American middle west with their families, here to get an insight into English jurisprudence, today were shown through the historic Temple inn, home of England's greatest legal figures for the last 600 years.

Next week the visitors will be given an intimate picture of the workings of the English courts of justice. Tomorrow they will visit the lord chief justice's court and at noon attend the Court of Criminal Appeal, where an appeal for a murderer already condemned to the gallows will be made by one of England's leading criminal lawyers before the lord chief justice and Justices Avery and Branson.

The rest of the week they will see other courts, ending the week's sight seeing by attending the house of lords when it sits as an appeal court.

License Wisconsin Priest to Fly a Private Plane

Wausau, Wis., July 20.—(AP)—The Rev. Father J. Z. Short, 39, pastor of the Catholic church of Iola, Wis., was awarded a private airplane pilot's license by federal authorities here yesterday, to become Wisconsin's first flying priest. Father Short's instructors report he shows a natural bent for flying. During the war, Father Short was chaplain aboard the U. S. S. Diego. Later being transferred to the 13th regiment, U. S. marine corps, with which he served in France.

POSTAL CLERKS HEAR RUTH M'CORMICK AT STREATOR CONVENTION

Streator, Ill., July 20.—(AP)—Congresswoman Ruth Hanna McCormick, Chicago, and Congressman John T. Buckbee, Rockford, were the principal speakers tonight at a banquet which closed the convention of the Illinois Postal Clerks association and Ladies auxiliary. Champaign, Ill., was awarded the next convention of the organizations.

YANKEES VISIT MEXICO TO PROBE TRADING FUTURE

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

MEXICO CITY, July 20.—More than 80 business men, from widely separated parts of the United States, accompanied by their families, arrived in Mexico yesterday. San Francisco, Los Angeles, St. Louis, Boston, and New York are well represented. Most of the men in the party represent business houses, manufacturers, and wholesale concerns, sent here by their firms to open branch houses or to investigate business conditions in Mexico. They will remain a month.

Members of the party said other similar excursions, composed altogether of business men, would follow, combining recreation with business. Among the group are more than a score who have come here to investigate the various raw products of Mexico. One is interested in Mexico's output of both Guayule and tree rubber; another in mahogany, Spanish cedar, and all rare woods suitable for cabinets for phonographs and radio sets. Another would buy fine wools; another wants to know all about tree cotton.

POLICE PUT LID ON BROADWAY CLUBS OF GANGS

New York, July 20.—[Special.]—Thirty detectives operating in squads of four or five put the lid on Broadway early today, a few hours after police had warned the public against gangster controlled night clubs and promised they would hereafter receive more "police attention."

Fifteen alleged speakeasies and bars were raided and eighteen men arrested on charge of liquor possession. When the work was done, just as dawn broke, the West Forty-second street station contained the greatest quantity of assorted liquors it has had in many months.

ONE REASON for buying HUPMOBILE is written in the sky . . . but the final . . . clinching, convincing reason for buying it NOW is written right here and it reads:

CASH SAVINGS . . . UP TO $260

Naturally, any intelligent man contemplating the purchase of a motor car would be swayed by Chamberlin's choice. In fact, hundreds were. Hundreds followed Chamberlin's lead and bought HUPMOBILES at their regular previous prices when this famous trans-Atlantic flyer said, "Even the airplanes to which we entrust our lives in the air do not excel HUPMOBILE'S advanced and proven engineering principles."

But that's only half the story!

Here's the other half, the final convincing "do it now" half.

The check-book reason for buying HUPMOBILE.

Now you can own the car that Clarence Chamberlin owns for its mechanical merits, its speed, its power . . . a car that social leaders have chosen for its smartness and dash . . . a car considered amongst the greatest of motor car values even at its former prices . . . and write the smallest entry in your check-book that ever bought a Century HUPMOBILE. All models of the Century Six and Eight are included.

Clarence D. Chamberlin, trans-Atlantic flyer. One of America's top flight aviators . . . and owner of a Century HUPMOBILE. When Chamberlin trades wings and sky-ways for wheels and the high-ways, here is the HUPMOBILE he drives.

FIFTEEN ROBBERY VICTIMS IDENTIFY FORMER ATHLETE

When They Can't He Helps Them Out.

Fifteen persons yesterday identified [illegible] William Nelson, former baseball and track star and skating champion of Carl Schurz High school, as a bandit who, during the last six months had robbed them at the point of a gun. In several cases, when his victims showed hesitation, the dapper, six foot youth who was captured Friday night after a chase in which several shots were fired, put on his expensive brown hat at various angles to help them out, and once recounted the entire scene of a holdup until he struck a detail that convinced his victims he had been present.

"I might as well," he told Lieut. John J. Farrell. "If I don't tell it all now some of it will confront me later. I'm through. I have been dumb enough to go into this and I'm willing to serve out my rap for it. When I come out I'll begin living again. I've learned enough during the last few months to sicken me of easy money for the rest of my life."

Kidnaping Victim Weeps.

Dressed in harmonious browns, Nelson stood in Lieut. Farrell's office hurrying the identification. When Dolores Bannon, 806 Washington street, Evanston, came in with her fiancé, from whom Nelson had kidnaped her two months ago and forced her to ride in her car with him on a robbery tour, she wept. Immediately Nelson sprang to her side, patting her gently on the shoulder to comfort her.

"Don't cry now, Dolores," he told her solicitously. "You are not afraid of me now, are you? You will be all right."

When Miss Bannon had recovered her composure she admitted that he had been "a perfect gentleman" to her. It was partly through his remarks to her that police learned his identity. During the robbery trip in May the youth had confided to her that he had won trophies for skating. A laundry tag found in a Ford car stolen in St. Louis was traced to a room in the Columbus Park hotel, where Nelson lived under another name, according to Lieut. Farrell.

Laughs at Head Injury.

A theory that the young athlete, who eighteen months ago broke a $300 a month contract with a minor league baseball team, had been injured in the head some years ago and had been drawn into the path of crime while mentally unbalanced, was met with derision by Nelson yesterday.

"I was badly scratched up in a fall on the ice one winter, but you can hardly lay this dumb lineup of my 'career' to that or to anything else but by own shortsightedness," he said. "I refuse to alibi on such a weak defense as that."

Nelson was a pal of Eddie Jacobson until that youth began serving a sentence for robbery at the Pontiac reformatory, he said yesterday. After that he worked with another youth whom police say is reported as dapper and well mannered as he.

Nelson gave up a $65 a week job as a wholesale grocery salesman to get bigger money more easily after he and another youth, under the influence of liquor, staged a robbery for the fun of it, he said. His parents live at 154 Bartrand road, Riverside.

WIFE SEEKS $100,000 FROM FOSTER MOTHER WHEN MARRIAGE FAILS

St. Louis, Mo., July 20.—[U.P.]—A wealthy foster-mother was blamed in a $100,000 damage suit here today for wrecking the marriage of Lloyd Boyle Howard, her heir, and Mrs. Grace V. Howard, former candy clerk in a hotel here.

Miss Sidney Emeline Boyle, against whom the suit was filed by Mrs. Howard, inherited $600,000 from the estate of her father, the late Judge Wilbur Boyle.

The elopement of the Howards four years ago caused a stir in social circles. Mrs. Howard kept her candy selling job, and Howard went to work for $15 a week as a theater usher.

Shortly before their son was born, Mrs. Howard said in her complaint, Miss Boyle invited them to move into a suite at an exclusive hotel here, and then invited them to the Boyle home.

Thereafter, Mrs. Howard alleges, life became miserable for her. She was repeatedly reminded, she charged, that she was socially inferior to her husband, and allegedly was treated as such. Ultimately, Mrs. Howard charged, her husband's foster-mother caused him to live apart from her. She said she loves Howard yet and has no thought of seeking a divorce.

RAILROAD WORKER DROPS DEAD.

James Bartuska, 60 years old, 5218 Honore street, a section foreman, dropped dead of heart disease yesterday in the Pennsylvania railroad yards on West 49th street.

A LARGE manufacturer of quality automobile tires, representing high financial standing and managed by a nationally prominent financial group, desires to engage the services of several experienced and highly qualified district managers who are at present selling to the wholesale trade.

An exceedingly attractive remuneration will be offered the right men, with further possibilities which will be discussed upon an interview. All members of our sales staff are aware of this advertisement. Your communications will be held in strict confidence.

SURFACE LINE TO PAY $5,565,000 TO BONDHOLDERS

Make Ready for Transit Reorganization.

an acceptable ordinance by Sept. 1 if possible, but by Sept. 13 in any event. The later date will leave six weeks in which friends and foes of the ordinance can debate its merits and demerits before the voters are called upon to register their opinions at a referendum.

Formal Statement Expected.

It is expected that a formal statement on this subject will be issued within three days. The drafting subcommittee of the city council is scheduled to meet tomorrow to begin work.

It is asserted by all of the engineering advisers that Chicago cannot have adequate rapid transportation until there are more tracks for cars through the central business district and these cannot be obtained except in a subway. It necessarily follows that a transit agreement by Sept. 1 will mean little to the public unless there is an agreement at the same time on subways.

To this subject the city legislative and administrative officials have given only limited consideration since 1924. Subways mean the spending of $36,400,000, if the plans and estimates of the Gordon Strong report are followed, and considerably more if other recommendations are adopted. The Strong plan provides for a subway in State street hooking up with the elevated at Chicago avenue on the north and at Roosevelt road on the south. Also a west side subway forming a loop in Washington street, Michigan avenue and Jackson boulevard, extending under the river in the two existing tunnels.

Companies' Wishes Unknown.

What the companies desire at present has not been disclosed. Undoubtedly they will come forward with their suggestions in the next five weeks, if a settlement is to be reached by Sept. 1.

It is known definitely that elevated and surface lines want the city to build and own the subway. A hint of what the companies expect in the way of expenditures is supplied by a 1928 committee report of the American Electric Railway association. A committee of engineers worked out the construction costs per mile of existing subway structures in Boston, New York and Philadelphia.

Cost of Subways Shown.

Those figures, showing various costs per mile, are summarized as follows:

City—	Subway 2-track.	Subway 4-track.
Boston	$ 5,686,280	$..........
New York—
Class A	3,820,000	6,870,000
Class B	5,620,000	9,000,000
Class C	7,650,000	11,920,000
Class D	11,250,000	18,000,000
Philadelphia	....	11,622,000

Class A represents a subway in an outlying undeveloped district, where construction can be carried on with little or no interference from traffic and where few subsurface structures are encountered. Class B is a subway in a residential district, where street traffic must be maintained. Class C is in a congested business district, where it is claimed that subsurface structures, traffic congestion and underpinning of adjacent buildings increase the cost. Class D is like Class C, except that the street is narrow and the subway must occupy the whole width.

Nearly all of the subways built have been constructed by public officials. Possibly there is as much waste in the three eastern cities as in Chicago—New York and Philadelphia having reputations for lavish expenditures.

Locally the public remembers that four street widening projects of an aggregate length of about 7.45 miles cost a total of $62,920,838, or an average cost of $8,400,000 a mile. These were Roosevelt road, costing $10,567,609; Michigan boulevard, costing $14,990,229; Ogden avenue, costing $14,500,000, and South Water street, costing $22,863,000.

Unnecessary cost of subways means unnecessarily high car fare. Figures are not available to indicate exactly what percentage of the fare is collected to pay interest on money placed in subways. Interest, plus taxes, is a heavy item. These fixed charges per revenue passenger on the Boston Elevated railway is 3.2 cents. On the Chicago Rapid Transit lines the same charge is 2.72 cents and in Philadelphia it is 2.24 cents.

Estimates Appear High.

Unless advance reference to them in THE TRIBUNE prevents, the companies will undoubtedly present the figures of the American Electric Railway association to the aldermen, if the transit companies are called upon to justify estimates. Perhaps they can be justified, if the exact method of reckoning were revealed, but they appear high.

The problems of excavating and shoring appear to have been solved. The claimed damages to buildings for the proposed Strong subway in State street should be small. All of the modern buildings in the loop are on caissons which extend down to rock and do not need the underpinning which the engineers cite as adding to the cost. The old buildings on floating foundations are admittedly obsolete. Sooner or later they must come down. Their worth is the rent they will garner in five or ten years.

These facts on excavating and shoring are a composite view of expressions by several aldermen, but they lack engineering data to support their expressions. The aldermen assert that the public utilities which own wires, pipes, and conduits in the streets must pay for their removal, in accordance with a state Supreme court decision against the Surface Lines in the improvement of 22d street. Accordingly, all that is left is the concrete forms, so far as construction is concerned.

Maintaining traffic, however, is an expensive task, but that item of cost should not be so large in Chicago as in Boston, where the streets are narrow and crooked, or in New York, where they have no alleys. All of the merchandise to be delivered and taken from State street establishments could be moved by way of the alleys. Maintenance of traffic for street cars and pedestrians only should be much cheaper than for both of these and for cabs, buses, trucks, delivery wagons, and possibly elevated trains, as has been the case in some instances in New York.

The Chicago voters are not so prone to approve of millions in expenditures as they were a few years back, and Ald. Joseph B. McDonough [13th], chairman of the local transportation committee, believes that his colleagues should as expeditiously as possible collect all available information and data on subway costs and methods of construction.

RESERVATION INDIAN RAPS SUPERINTENDENT AT SENATE INQUIRY

Minnewaukan, N. D., July 20.—(AP)—Charges that J. R. Hammitt, superintendent of the Fort Totten Indian reservation, "acts mean" were made to a senatorial investigating committee today by Bernard Two Hearts, a reservation Indian, who asked that Hammitt be transferred from Fort Totten.

Two Hearts said Hammitt is disliked by the Indians, that he refuses to discuss things with them, and when asked for information loses his temper.

Many of the younger men drink heavily and government policemen are unable to handle the situation, Two Hearts said.

Senator Burton K. Wheeler [Dem., Mont.], who, with Senator Lynn J. Frazier [Rep., N. D.], is conducting the hearing, appeared surprised when Hammitt took the stand and said that the government allows $1.06 a month each for rations for old Indians on the reservation.

"That amount is perfectly absurd," Wheeler said. "I don't see how they can live on it."

Hammitt suggested that the ration allowance be increased to $5 a month, but Wheeler said he felt $10 a month would not be too much.

Hammitt said that many Indians who do not farm, particularly the younger ones, refuse to work at anything. Two Hearts corroborated this statement, saying a majority of the Indians refuse to work even when they can find something to do.

LINEMAN IS ELECTROCUTED.

Paris, Ill., July 20.—[Special.]—James Bright, 25, a lineman, was electrocuted today when he accidentally touched a high tension wire while working at the Cumberland county fair grounds near here.

NEW U. S. AIR MAIL REDUCES TRIP TO CHILE BY 14 DAYS

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

SANTIAGO, Chile, July 20.—The time-distance between the United States and Chile will be cut almost two-thirds tomorrow with the scheduled departure at 8 a. m. of a Fairchild cabin monoplane inaugurating the eight day air mail service between Santiago and New York. Later in the day another Fairchild plane is due to arrive with the first air mail from the United States. Correspondence between New York and Santiago takes 22 days by steamship, against an eight day schedule by air mail.

A two year concession has been granted to the Pan-American Grace Airways by the Chilean government. Its principal features are that the line cannot haul a mail cargo from one Chilean port to another, must carry a Chilean officer in each plane, use Chilean airports where available, and within two years employ 80 per cent Chileans.

HOUSE OF DAVID DOOR IS LOCKED ON "QUEEN MARY"

Benton Harbor, Mich., July 20.—(AP)—Open warfare between opposing factions of the House of David colony appeared imminent today following the announcement of "Queen" Mary Purnell that she had been locked out of the colony auditorium where she had planned to preach tomorrow afternoon.

"Queen" Mary, consort of the late "King" Benjamin Purnell, leader of the cult, had planned to resume the Sunday afternoon meetings carried on in the colony while her husband was alive. She is said to have accused H. T. De Whirst, leader of the rival group, of locking the doors of the auditorium. The meeting will be held in front of the colony property tomorrow afternoon, "Queen" Mary said.

Dissension in the House of David, with "Queen" Mary and De Whirst, the colony counsel arrayed as leaders of rival factions, was rumored soon after the death of "King" Benjamin.

HURL CHARGES OF INEFFICIENCY AT ARGENTINE CHIEF

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BUENOS AIRES, July 20.—One of the main criticisms recently leveled at the Yrigoyen administration has been the double-barreled charge that President Yrigoyen is not only allowing current internal business to slide while engrossed in petty party politics, but refuses to take advice from his ministers on questions of international importance.

With about $40,000,000 due government purveyors and $5,000,000 due British shipbuilders, and the salaries of many Argentine diplomatic officers in arrears, the government's position is embarrassing.

While the fairer minded of the opposition do not join in denunciation of Yrigoyen's failure to make official protest against the U. S. tariff, they strongly condemn his failure to appoint an ambassador to Washington, pointing out that the president found time to criticize the semi-nudity of an opera chorus.

WEALTHY WOMAN SAYS EX-MATE ABDUCTED CHILD

Failed to Return Girl, 10, on Court's Order.

Mrs. Margaret Schwinn Beushauen, daughter of Ignaz Schwinn, wealthy motorcycle manufacturer and president of the Excelsior-Henderson Cycle company, got a kidnaping warrant yesterday from Judge P. L. Finnegan in the Felony court against her former husband, Edward Arnhem, who now has custody of their daughter, Shirley Helen, 10 years old.

Mrs. Beushauen, who has remarried since her divorce from Arnhem in June, 1928, on grounds of cruelty, charged that her former husband abducted their daughter while the child was temporarily in his custody under a court order entered when the divorce was granted. Mrs. Beushauen is now living at the home of her father, 2128 Humboldt boulevard.

Disappeared, Attorney Told.

The story told to Assistant State's Attorney Frank Mast, who recommended the issuance of the warrant, was that Arnhem has closed up the apartment he maintained at the Sheridan-Briar hotel, 426 Briar place, and has disappeared with the child.

The child was to have been returned to the mother after spending the time with her father allotted by the court. When she was not returned on Monday Mrs. Beushauen went to the hotel with detectives from the office of Deputy Commissioner Stege and found that her former husband had disappeared with the girl.

Ex-Convict, Wife Says.

Mrs. Beushauen told the prosecutor, he said, that her former husband, she has now discovered, was at one time an inmate of both Sing Sing prison in New York and the Mattewan asylum of that state. Mrs. Beushauen is represented by the law firm of Socrates & Davis.

KIDNAPED?

Shirley Helen Arnhem, whose mother, Mrs. Margaret Schwinn Beushauen, charges she was kidnaped by her father, Edward Arnhem, after divorce proceedings.

SCIENTIST FINDS ANCIENT EMPIRE RELICS IN AFRICA

Race Believed to Have Lived 7,000 Yrs. Ago.

BY FRANK BURTON.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

CAPE TOWN, South Africa, July 20.—Prof. Leo Frobenius, German scientist, who has just returned from a study of the ancient civilization of Zimbabwe, in southern Rhodesia, believes that a great race lived 7,000 years ago in the area extending from Lake Nyassa to Basutoland, north east of Cape Colony.

Religion dominated the life of the people, who, the scientist said, possessed wonderful knowledge of astronomy and worshiped the moon and stars. Their year, based on the planet Venus, corresponded with the Sirius year of the Egyptians.

Believes Empire Collapsed.

Prof. Frobenius thinks that the fabric of the empire which the race built collapsed, and that thousands of inhabitants were expelled, many of them fleeing to the north. Today the relics of this civilization exists in the temples and principal buildings.

The people must have had remarkable knowledge of geology, because there is profo they had discovered three places where there were minerals and had sunk beautifully constructed shafts. One was found at Rool Berg, Cape of Good Hope. It was forty-five feet deep and proceeded horizontally to a distance of ninety-five feet. How the people managed to work with no light or ventilation is a mystery.

Originated by Indians.

The fact that the type of nickel and bronze only produced in Africa had been found in ancient objects of Egypt and Samaria indicated that the metal had been exported from Africa northward.

There is evidence, according to Prof. Frobenius, that this early civilization in East Africa was originated by Indians. A building, presumably a temple, discovered by Prof. Frobenius, corresponded in style and construction with ruins in India.

Prof. Frobenius could not give the precise date for the civilization, but considered that it flourished about 5,000 years before Christ.

Thirsty Yanks Help Quebec Obtain $4,000,000 Surplus

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

MONTREAL, Que., July 20.—Province of Quebec finished the fiscal year with a surplus of $4,000,000, which would have reached $6,500,000 but for extraordinary expenditures. This situation is due to the tremendous earnings of the Quebec liquor commission. Receipts from that source totaled $7,500,000. American purchasers contributed largely to the liquor earnings.

Southern Cross to Fly from Amsterdam to U. S.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

THE HAGUE, July 20. — Capt. Charles Kingsford-Smith, Australian flyer, who arrived at Amsterdam yesterday in the airplane Southern Cross with Charles Ulm, H. A. Litchfield, and T. H. MacWilliams, intends to start from Amsterdam instead of from London for a flight to America. During the next few days the plane will undergo rigid inspection at the Fokker factory before being tuned up for the American flight.

Charing Cross of London to Be Moved Across River

LONDON, July 20.—(AP)—The most ambitious scheme of London improvement in many years has been advanced by a provisional agreement between the ministry of transport and the Southern Railway company, under which Charing Cross station and its hotel will be removed from their present sites to the south side of the Thames. This will clear the way for a new bridge across the Thames for road traffic.

GERMANY PAYS 428 MILLIONS TO ALLIES IN 9 MOS.

Gilbert Reports 5th Year of Dawes Plan.

BY SIGRID SCHULTZ.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, July 20.—American Agent General for Reparations Seymour Parker Gilbert today published an interim report of Germany's payments under the Dawes plan, showing that for the last nine months up to May 31 Germany paid under the provisions of the Dawes plan $428,573,000 in reparations. This brings the total of its reparations payments, including those made before the enforcement of the Dawes plan, in kind and cash close to $10,000,000,000. Payments under the Young plan will only average $488,000,000 per year.

During the last nine months France received close to $258,000,000 as its shares of the reparations. Great Britain was allotted $94,500,000. Italy took $34,000,000. The United States received $16,707,000 to cover previous expenses.

Half U. S. Share in Kind.

Approximately half of the American share was taken in dollar equivalents, "under a special agreement with the German government for regular monthly payments on a basis substantially analogous to financing of deliveries in kind," writes Mr. Gilbert.

Belgium, Jugo-Slavia, Roumania, Japan, Portugal, Greece and Poland all received their share of the German payments. Germany paid the allies $7,658,000 during the nine months to cover the cost of the Rhine armies of occupation.

France took a miscellaneous number of deliveries in kind, the principal contracts being for coal and coke, but other items were charged such as sinking and fitting out a Lorraine coal pit, river canalization, and a motor ship for the French steamship line. Belgium received agricultural chemicals and machinery; Roumania, railroad equipment; Jugo-Slavia, 110 locomotives; Japan, sulphate of ammonia; Portugal, barges and dredges; Italy, coal derivatives, and Poland, horses.

Pays Tribute to Reichsbank.

While some still entertain fears for the stability of German currency, Mr. Gilbert and his commissioner in the German reischbank speak openly of the recent financial crisis, but add that "the crisis is past. The advantage gained through it is that it afforded practical proof that if a central bank holds firm there is no ground for fear of a decline in the value of currency. The manner in which the reichsbank faced and overcame this ordeal constitutes yet another guarantee of the stability of German currency."

Mr. Gilbert is making all preparations to enforce the Dawes plan in its sixth year, but without saying so in so many words makes it quite clear to the reader that he looks forward to the enforcement of the Young plan, "under which Germany will know the exact extent of its obligations and will discharge them on its own responsibility."

"America is a country to be envied that produces such keen sighted economists and places them in the right post regardless of their youth or age," writes the Vossiche Zeitung, bowing to America when commenting on Mr. Gilbert's achievement.

DETOURS ON COUNTY ROADS ARE LISTED BY HIGHWAY CHIEF

Milwaukee avenue—Glenview road to Dempster street.

Higgins road—River road to Cumberland avenue.

Harms road—Church street to Dempster street.

Lawrence avenue—River road to Mannheim road.

Lake street—25th avenue to Mannheim road.

St. Charles road—5th avenue to 17th avenue, Maywood.

First avenue—22d street to Madison street.

Harlem avenue—22d street to Riverside drive.

Cicero avenue—159th street to 175th street.

Dixie highway—159th street and 175th street.

Halsted street—150th street and 159th street.

Dundee road—Stover road to Dundee.

Elgin-Evanston road—Barrington road to Elgin.

The survey was prepared by George A. Quinlan, county superintendent of highways. He also announced that the River road is open to traffic between Rand road and Milwaukee avenue, but that construction work on this pavement makes the detour preferable. Madison street is also under construction between Harlem avenue and Des Plaines avenue.

text of the ratification bill, another government must replace us. According as you vote this government will remain in power or it will make way for another ministry, to which even now it presents its best wishes for success."

In all, it took a little more than a month to get ratification. Premier Poincare began a five day speech before the joint finance and foreign affairs commissions in the chamber on June 19.

The chamber finally adjourned today at 3 a. m.

BRIAND SAVES DAY

BY HENRY WALES.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PARIS, July 20.—For nearly an hour this afternoon Premier Poincare's majority in favor of ratification of the debt to the United States hung in the balance while Francois de Wendel, who until recently was connected with the bank of France, gave an eloquent speech. M. de Wendel declared that he is absolutely opposed to ratification in any form, and in his opinion the best course is to wait until Aug. 1, then pay the $400,000,000 due the United States for war stocks and at the same time continue under the Dawes plan. As time went on, he declared, there would be a good chance of getting terms from America nearer those which France thought fair.

This speech made a deep impression on the chamber and it looked as though the influence of pro-ratification speeches was going to be wiped out. But M. Briand, whose oratory has the effect of soft music on the savage beast, rose to the occasion. He told the deputies that France had asked America's aid in its hour of need and that America had responded with vast sums of money. He warned his listeners that they would be taking on a grave responsibility if they did not follow the government and would run the risk of ruining France merely on account of money. And after these stirring words by M. Briand, the better nature of the deputies reasserted itself so powerfully that the chamber gave its vote of confidence.

U. S. Cancels 60 Per Cent of Debt.

Washington, D. C., July 20.—The Mellon-Berenger agreement on the French war debt, which was reached on April 29, 1926, canceled 60.25 per cent of the amount owed to America.

On June 15, 1925, the French debt, with interest accrued at 5 per cent, had totaled $4,230,777,000. By refiguring the interest at lower rates, the United States threw off $205,390,313, leaving a net balance of $4,025,386,687. On the day the Mellon-Berenger agreement was signed, France paid $386,687 to the United States in cash, thus reducing the principal of its debt to $4,025,000,000.

French payments on this indebtedness were to run for 62 years—until 1987. Payments during the first two years were fixed at $30,000,000 a year; during the next two years, at $32,500,000 a year, and in the fifth year $35,000,000. The first five years' payments were to be applied exclusively to reduction of the principal of the debt, no interest being charged during this period.

Rates of Interest.

During the ten years, 1931 to 1940, interest was to be charged at the rate of 1 per cent; during the next ten years at 2 per cent; during the next eight years, at 2½ per cent; during the next seven years at 3 per cent, and for the remaining 22 years the interest rate was to be 3½ per cent. The average interest rate during the full 62 year period was 1.64 per cent. At the end of the period, with the schedules carried out as written in the agreement, France would have paid a total of $2,822,674,104 in interest in addition to the $4,025,000,000 principal of her debt.

Here are the facts that prove it

America's finest medium-priced automobile

Many claims are made for various automobiles. Many words are employed in attempting to establish the superiority of one car or another over everything else in its field. But there is one car in the medium-priced field which thorough analysis stamps as the greatest value in its price class. That car is the Oakland All-American Six.

At the right are facts which speak for themselves and need no explanation. They are drawn from a comparison of Oakland with 20 leading cars included in its field. Study these facts—then come to our showroom for any explanation or any additional information you may want. We can give you dozens of other comparisons as further proof of Oakland's unrivaled value. These are facts which prove the Oakland All-American to be America's finest medium-priced automobile.

Comparing the Oakland All-American Six with 20 other medium-priced automobiles

What these features mean to you		How Oakland compares with the field
Reasonably long wheelbase gives greater riding ease and road balance. Also permits use of longer, smarter, roomier bodies. At the same time, a small turning circle is essential to handling ease.	WHEELBASE	Only one car as low-priced as Oakland has a wheelbase as long as Oakland's, which is 117 inches. That car requires a turning circle to the left of 42 feet as compared with Oakland's 36 feet. Six higher-priced cars have shorter wheelbases.
Large piston displacement is needed to develop high power at moderate engine speed. Moderate engine speed is an important factor in the life of a car.	PISTON DISPLACEMENT	Oakland's 228 cubic inch piston displacement is greater than 12 of the 20 cars in its price field. Of the 8 remaining cars, 7 are much higher priced than Oakland.
A development of General Motors Research Laboratories which overcomes spark knock and thump even with ordinary untreated gasoline. Permits high compression performance without the expense of special fuel.	G-M-R CYLINDER HEAD	Only Oakland and one other car in the field use the G-M-R cylinder head. Sixteen have no type of non-detonating cylinder head whatsoever, although 11 of the 16 are more expensive to buy than Oakland.
Oakland's rubber "biscuit" engine mountings insulate the engine from the frame as no other type of mounting can. Incomparable smoothness and freedom from vibration result from this combination.	RUBBER ENGINE MOUNTING	Only Oakland in the entire field employs rubber "biscuit" insulators. While others claim rubber mountings, none offers such resilience and permanent freedom from vibration as Oakland.
Neutralizes torsional vibration in the crankshaft. A sturdy, simple device requiring no adjustment. In addition, counterweights on the crankshaft are used to reduce the bearing pressure.	HARMONIC BALANCER	Only Oakland and one other car in the field have the Harmonic Balancer. Of 13 cars using some other device, 11 are higher-priced than Oakland. Oakland's crankshaft is fully counterweighted. The crankshafts in nine higher-priced cars are not counterweighted at all.
The gasoline pump replaces the vacuum tank with a pressure feed which supplies the correct amount of gasoline at all speeds. It eliminates "starving" on long pulls.	FUEL PUMP AND FILTER	While eight other cars in Oakland's field use the fuel pump, six of the eight are higher-priced. And six other higher-priced cars continue to use the vacuum system.
Crankcase ventilation prevents water from diluting engine oil. But the value of this feature is reduced unless the air used for this purpose is cleansed of dirt and grit by a separate air cleaner.	CRANKCASE VENTILATION WITH SEPARATE AIR CLEANER	While most cars in the field have crankcase ventilation, only Oakland and one other, according to available information, have any method for cleaning the air. Six have not, although three of the six are higher-priced than Oakland.
A revolutionary achievement in cooling systems. Eliminates losses of water or alcohol through boiling. Thermostat checks flow of water until correct operating temperature is reached. No radiator shutters or heat indicators to bother with.	CROSS-FLOW RADIATOR WITH THERMOSTATIC CONTROL	Only Oakland in the entire field has the Cross-Flow Radiator or anything similar to it. All other cars use the down-flow radiator, this despite the fact that 11 of the 20 are higher-priced than Oakland.
For safety, efficiency, convenience, smoothness and silence, nothing has been found to compare with internal-expanding mechanical 4-wheel service brakes with non-squeak bands. An entirely separate emergency braking system is needed as an extra safety factor.	BRAKES	Only Oakland and one other car, costing $200 more, use the fine type of brakes described opposite. And no car in the field equals Oakland's 290 square inches of brake band area. Oakland's separate emergency brake operates on the transmission. Seven cars in the field have no separate emergency brakes, although three of them exceed Oakland in price.
No name in automobile coach building means so much as Fisher. Fisher bodies are famous for style, luxury and roominess. In addition, they hold such advantages as sturdy composite hardwood and steel construction, VV windshield, side cowl ventilation and adjustable drivers' seats.	FISHER BODY	Only Oakland and two other cars in the field offer bodies by Fisher. And one of the two is nearly $100 higher in price than Oakland. Of the 18 cars which have less-known bodies, 11 are priced above the All-American Six.
A decided advantage in night driving. Depressible beam headlights are dimmed or brightened by merely touching a button at the left of the clutch pedal.	FOOT-CONTROLLED HEADLIGHTS	Only Oakland and one other car in the field offer this convenience. And the second car costs more than Oakland. Eleven more expensive cars fail to provide it.
Assures correct spark occurrence at any speed. Provides economy and efficiency of operation practically impossible with manual spark control.	FULL AUTOMATIC SPARK CONTROL	Only Oakland and two other cars in the field provide this advancement. It is especially satisfactory when used with the G-M-R cylinder head.

Proof of Oakland Superiority

Of 878 individual comparisons of mechanical features, we believe the Oakland All-American Six to be distinctly superior to the 20 other cars on 451 items, or 51.37% . . . competitive cars are at best equal to Oakland on 382 items, or 43.50% . . . competitive cars are superior only on 45 scattered items, or 5.13%.

Oakland All-American Six, $1145 to $1375, f. o. b. Pontiac, Michigan, plus delivery charges. Spring covers and Lovejoy Hydraulic Shock Absorbers included in list prices. Bumpers and rear fender guards extra. General Motors Time Payment Plan available at minimum rate.

Consider the delivered price as well as the list price when comparing automobile values . . . Oakland-Pontiac delivered prices include only reasonable charges for handling and for financing when the G. M. A. C. Time Payment Plan is used.

PROWLER VISITS CAMP ALGONQUIN; LOST: ONE CANOE

Poor Kids Lose Thrill of Paddling on Water.

A thief visited Camp Algonquin the other night and stole the canoe in which tenement youngsters had spent some of the happiest hours of their lives paddling on the river bordering the camp.

"The night prowler broke the chain which fastened the canoe and made away with it," reported Joel D. Hunter, superintendent of the United Charities, yesterday.

For the rest of the summer Algonquin's children will be compelled to forego the thrill of plying a canoe on the same stream used by the Indians long ago when they camped in the ravines and hollows that now shelter Camp Algonquin. But the motor boat and two row boats are still intact.

Boat House Ready Soon.

"The boat house provided by the Gentry estate will be ready in about ten days," said Mr. Hunter. "Workmen have finished digging an excavation about thirty by twenty feet into the shore. The boat house will jut out over the river about eight feet, and will provide ample space for the boats we have left. Thieves will then have difficulty in carrying off any more of them."

The boat house will be a memorial to the late Clay E. Gentry, an employé of THE TRIBUNE. He died in February. Having no near relatives, he made THE TRIBUNE the beneficiary of the $1,000 life insurance policy presented to him in December after five years of service.

Lemonade Girls Help Fund.

The lemonade venders are busy again. Two little girls capitalized on their spare time, mother's lemons, and the public's demand for a nice cool drink, and earned $1.10 for the Free Ice fund. They are Charlotte B. Rieger and Roda J. Rothbaum. Three other little girls, Ellen Elizabeth, Nancy Virginia, and Suzanne Sedwick, sent a dollar for the Algonquin fund.

Another check—for $5— came from Mrs. J. Dietz in celebration of her 70th birthday, and $20 to be divided between the two TRIBUNE funds came from Clara J. Vierling.

The gifts which rolled in yesterday continued to benefit the Free Ice fund which needs every penny possible in order to keep tenement babies well. Only $1,295 has been received toward the $3,500 needed for the summer's distribution of ice. Other gifts to both funds follow:

G. O. P. LEADERS URGE JUDGE AS CANDIDATE FOR NEW YORK MAYOR

New York, July 20.—[Special.]—Republican leaders within the last few days have been turning to Supreme Court Justice Harry E. Lewis of Brooklyn as their choice for the nomination for mayor, it was learned today. It also was learned that a friend of Justice Lewis now is on his way to Europe to see him there and ascertain whether or not he will accept the nomination.

The boom for Justice Lewis was started immediately after his departure for Europe, and some definite assurance from him must be obtained before the unofficial city convention on Aug. 1, when representatives of the party will select an organization ticket to run in the primary election on Sept. 17.

Midwife Gets 1 to 14 Years on Manslaughter Charge

Mrs. Anna Heissler, 51 year old midwife, was denied a new trial yesterday by Judge Otto Kerner in the Criminal court and was sentenced to one to fourteen years in the penitentiary in accordance with the verdict of a jury which found her guilty of manslaughter in connection with the death by abortion of Mrs. Catherine Mau, 30 years old. Mrs. Mau died in March, 1928.

THE STATES UNDER PROHIBITION.

Mr. Wickersham's suggestion for an "enforceable" method of applying Volstead to the realities of American life was probably a trial balloon. The response to it is rather curious. Senator Caraway of Arkansas is true to form in asking for Mr. Wickersham's resignation from the chairmanship of the commission because he has destroyed his usefulness. Gov. Ritchie of the self-consciously Free State of Maryland opposes the proposal evidently on the ground that it contains a mandate for the state to enforce prohibition. Maryland is one of the five states which do not have enforcement laws.

Seymour Lowman and Dr. Doran, in charge of enforcement in Washington, support Mr. Wickersham for the same reason that Gov. Ritchie will have none of him. Mr. Lowman heartily indorses the proposal. "The states should become more aggressive." Dr. Doran says the duties of the states should be made clear.

Mr. Wickersham at least has produced a novelty. He has divided drys against drys and wets against wets with the suggestion that the federal government should confine itself to enforcement against importation, manufacture, and interstate commerce in intoxicants and should rely upon the states for internal police regulation to prevent bootlegging, sales in saloons and speakeasies and so forth.

The states cannot be forced to have prohibition laws and they cannot be restrained from repealing any laws they have. The eighteenth amendment did not confer any authority on them they did not have. It did not make it possible for them to prohibit the manufacture, sale, and transportation of intoxicating beverages. They had that power. A number were exercising it. It was the federal government which lacked the authority to regulate this trade or to suppress it. It did not have any police power in the matter. It could not say that the citizens of a state might not manufacture and sell intoxicants. Only the state could do that.

When the eighteenth amendment said that the states had concurrent jurisdiction it did not add anything to their police power. They, by adopting the amendment, conferred a new, a strange and an unwise power on the central government. The states gave the federal government concurrent jurisdiction with themselves in the matter of regulating and suppressing the traffic in intoxicants. The federal statute permits the use of whisky for medicinal purposes. The method of doing so, by stipulated dosage which assumes the judgment of a physician, is ridiculous, but the authority of the state can go further than that. It can prohibit what the federal government permits and in Indiana, for instance, it does. The federal government allows the transportation of legally possessed liquor, by permit, if the owner wishes to remove it, say, on a change of residence. The state of Illinois does not permit this.

Congress could not and did not increase the power of the state, but the states could and did restrict their own liberty in legislation. But congress cannot compel them to have enforcement laws.

Mr. Wickersham could not be serious in proposing that the United States, reserving for itself the enforcement as against importation and interstate commerce in intoxicants, require the states to undertake local enforcement. What he must be proposing is that within a state enforcement is, as it should always have been, a question for the state police. Then there would have been no such amendment as the eighteenth and no such law as Volstead.

What he does propose has actually been put in practice by usage here and there. Florida in the winter is the wettest state in the Union, not barring New York and Michigan. The federal government assumes to prevent importation. It doesn't, but it has its rum chasers intercepting an occasional cargo from the Bahamas. Enough gets through to satisfy all the demand in America's most glorious winter climate. Florida is fanatically dry, modified by a sense of profit. It is in competition with Cuba and for profit it relaxes its police supervision during the season and there is a wet state, Washington and Miami having concurrent jurisdiction.

Something of the same thing happens in another of the three wettest states, Michigan. There the federal government patrols the border and occasionally depresses the rum profits from Canada. The state apparently is unaware of the trade into Detroit but uses the police power to catch various wretches who may be imprisoned for the possession of pints. Apparently this satisfies the federal government and quite evidently it is satisfactory to the fanatic drys.

In a fashion Mr. Wickersham has merely recognised what is tending to become usage but his proposal would have the advantage of being equitable, if such a quality has any place in prohibition morality. It would enable or compel the federal government to treat all states alike instead of enabling the driest ones to have most of the wet privileges.

BRUNDHILDE REBORN.

The feminist cause seems to have taken a jump without any voluntary or conscious use of its own legs. It is a peculiar and considerable advance and it will be understandable if the progress finds even the leaders, the most forward looking ladies, slightly dazed. In various states they have been seeking the removal of restrictions which kept them from jury service, a proceeding entirely enigmatical to the majority of the male population, which will do anything to disqualify itself for that same service. While this has been going on the government has conferred on women the right to bear arms in defense of their country.

This almost startling development in the extension of woman's rights seems to be carried quite clearly in the Supreme court decision denying Mrs. Schwimmer citizenship on account of her anti-nationalistic views, which included an invincible determination not to fight for the country to which she wished to swear a modified allegiance. Now the secretary of state is reproached by representatives of some nationalistic societies because he allowed a passport to be given another lady who as a pacifist would not defend her country. Mr. Stimson is requested to see to it that such ladies are not granted the military protection which a passport presumably offers a citizen of the United States traveling abroad.

It would appear to be a conclusion of mixed thinking which would deny any pacifist any opportunity to get out of the country at any time. It can be reasonably contended that the field for pacifist endeavor is abroad and not here where the inclination is all to be ten years behind in equipment, training and numbers. If the American pacifists would concentrate in foreign lands it might even pay to add a little ship money to the passports. It is not logical to insist that they remain where they are not needed and not go where they are.

The United States cannot be made militaristic even by this extension to the ladies of the privilege and obligation of fighting for their country. The more enterprising of them may take advantage of it by signing up for the summer training camps and presenting themselves to the commanding officers as qualified to swing entrenching tools and tote rifles. What the army will do when they show up is something to guess at, but it is impossible to find a weakness in their rights. They can't be denied citizenship if they will not fight and denied training if they will.

AIR TRANSPORT CAN BE TOO CHEAP.

A rate war between competing air lines is reported under way. The former rate of $125 between Los Angeles and Seattle has been reduced under the pressure of competition to $75. Instead of $45 it now costs only $25 to go from Los Angeles to San Francisco. The Detroit-Cleveland fare has been reduced by one company to $14.

Reductions like these must come if air travel is to compete successfully with land travel, and no doubt the increase in traffic will eventually justify the lowered fares. It is fortunate that at the moment when rates are being slashed the air lines are being integrated into great national systems with experienced bankers and transportation men in command. The temptation in times of sharp competition is to overextend the physical resources of transportation companies and to skimp safety measures. Railroad and steamship disasters were the consequence in another day. The Mississippi river boiler explosions, for example, were commonly caused by the desire of ship owners to outdo their rivals in speed.

For the present those who travel by air will make no mistake if they conclude that the cheapest line is not necessarily the best. Safety in the air is expensive. It is obtained at the cost of minute inspection and handling of equipment by experts. The reduction of air transportation costs can proceed too rapidly for the public good.

Editorial of the Day

BUILD THE ST. LAWRENCE FIRST.

[Duluth News Tribune.]

President Hoover has named a commission of five men to conduct a survey of the proposed route of a Nicaraguan canal across the isthmus to parallel the Panama canal. The annual report of the governor of the Panama canal, recently issued, shows the transit of 589 vessels as the largest number during any one month in the last fiscal year.

The capacity of the Panama canal on a basis of 24 hour operation is about 1,450 vessels a month, and it is estimated that if the present increases in traffic are maintained, the capacity of the canal will be reached in about eight years.

Eventually it may be necessary, then, to build a canal to supplement the Panama canal. It may not be premature to conduct a survey at this time and to plan the canal. But the Panama canal will handle all traffic between the two oceans for several years to come, and even after it had reached capacity it would be possible for it to go along on that basis for a few years longer.

The real and crying need of the middle west is the St. Lawrence route to the sea, and it has needed this outlet from the great lakes to the ocean for years. The middle west, the great surplus producing region, has been handicapped by this lack of transportation facilities, and has been further discriminated against by the operation of the Panama canal which it helped to build, to its own economic disadvantage.

Tonnage on the great lakes is 10 times that which passes through the Panama canal, and undoubtedly if there were a deep channel to the sea, as much would pass through that annually as passes through the Panama canal. It, too, would increase rapidly.

Construction of an additional canal across the isthmus would further handicap the middle west without the St. Lawrence. The St. Lawrence canal should be constructed first. Then if a Nicaraguan canal is deemed necessary, the middle west will help to build it.

The St. Lawrence is more imperative and the other should wait. Certainly the middle west will not consent to nor assist in the construction of another isthmian canal until the St. Lawrence project is a reality.

HONESTY BEST POLICY.

"Honesty is the best policy and its own reward."
"Why do you think like that?"
"You know that dog I stole. I tried in vain to sell it for £2 and at last took it back to its owner, who gave me £5 reward."—Karikaturen, Oslo.

"—Read, Mark, Learn, and Inwardly Digest Them"

Familiarity with gospel background of the life of Jesus of Nazareth is convincing on the point that the founder of Christianity preached few if any long sermons. With the exception of the Sermon on the Mount which this column carried last Sunday and will be continued through next Sunday, there are no discourses from Jesus' lips which one could call "long!" Quite the opposite is the case. His oral teaching seems always conveyed in brief, concise and striking epigrams which relate themselves to specific incidents, or else in short parables or illustrations which for clarity and art are not approached in literary history. In fact, a large body of students of Christian lore affirm that the Sermon on the Mount is a collection of epigrams which Matthew drew together into one body. Whether this is or is not true is not our concern here. Content is the supreme value of a message, and not its form. Let us continue the sermon in the fifth and sixth chapters of St. Matthew's gospel.

TURN THE OTHER CHEEK

"Ye have heard that it was said, An eye for an eye, and a tooth for a tooth: but I say unto you, Resist not him that is evil: but whosoever smiteth thee on thy right cheek, turn to him the other also. And if any man would go to law with thee, and take away thy coat, let him have thy cloak also. And whosoever shall compel thee to go one mile, go with him two. Give to him that asketh thee, and from him that would borrow of thee turn not thou away.

"Ye have heard that it was said, 'thou shalt love thy neighbor, and hate thine enemy'; but I say unto you, love your enemies, and pray for them that persecute you; that ye may be sons of your Father who is in heaven: for he maketh his sun to rise on the evil and the good, and sendeth rain on the just and unjust. For if ye love them that love you, what reward have ye; do not even the publicans the same? And if ye salute your brethren only, what do ye more than others; do not even the Gentiles the same? Ye therefore shall be perfect, as your heavenly Father is perfect.

"Take heed that ye do not your righteousness before men, to be seen of them; else ye have no reward with your Father who is in heaven. When therefore thou doest alms, sound not a trumpet before thee, as the hypocrites do in the synagogues and in the streets, that they may have glory of men. Verily I say unto you, they have received their reward. But when thou doest alms, let not thy left hand know what thy right hand doeth: that thine alms may be in secret: and thy Father who seeth in secret shall recompense thee.

A Lesson in Prayer.

"And when ye pray, ye shall not be as the hypocrites: for they love to stand and pray in the synagogues and in the corners of the streets, that they may be seen of men. Verily I say unto you, they have received their reward. But thou, when thou prayest, enter into thine inner chamber, and having shut thy door, pray to thy Father who is in secret, and thy Father who seeth in secret shall recompense thee. And in praying use not vain repetitions, as the Gentiles do; for they think that they shall be heard for their much speaking. Be not therefore like unto them: for your Father knoweth what things ye have need of, before ye ask him.

"After this manner therefore pray ye: Our Father who art in heaven, Hallowed be thy name. Thy kingdom come. Thy will be done, as in heaven, so on earth. Give us this day our daily bread. And forgive us our debts, as we also have forgiven our debtors. And bring us not into temptation, but deliver us from the evil one. For if ye forgive not men their trespasses, neither will your Father forgive your trespasses. For thine is the kingdom, and the power, and the glory, for ever. Amen.

Don't Be Hypocrites.

"Moreover when ye fast, be not as the hypocrites, of a sad countenance; for they disfigure their faces, that they may be seen of men to fast. Verily, I say unto you, they have received their reward. But thou, when thou fastest, anoint thy head, and wash thy face; that thou be not seen of men to fast, but of thy Father who is in secret: and thy Father, who seeth in secret, shall recompense thee.

"Lay not up for yourselves treasures upon the earth, where moth and rust consume and where thieves dig through and steal; but lay up for yourselves treasures in heaven, where neither moth nor rust doth consume, and where thieves do not dig through nor steal; for where thy treasure is, there will thy heart be also. The lamp of the body is the eye; if therefore thine eye be single, thy whole body shall be full of light. But if thine eye be evil, thy whole body shall be full of darkness. If therefore the light that is in thee be darkness, how great is the darkness!

A Study in Values.

"No man can serve two masters for either he will hate the one, and love the other; or else he will hold to one, and despise the other. Ye cannot serve God and mammon. Therefore I say unto you, Be not anxious for your life, what ye shall eat, or what ye shall drink, nor yet for your body, what ye shall put on. Is not the life more than food, and the body than the raiment? Behold the birds of the heaven, that they sow not, neither do they reap, nor gather into barns; and your heavenly Father feedeth them. Are not ye of much more value than they? And which of you by being anxious can add one cubit unto the measure of his life? And why are ye anxious concerning raiment? Consider the lilies of the field, how they grow; they toil not, neither do they spin, yet I say unto you, that even Solomon in all his glory was not arrayed like one of these.

"But if God doth so clothe the grass of the field, which today is, and tomorrow is cast into the oven, shall he not much more clothe you, O ye of little faith?"

PATRIOTIC SONGS

COLUMBIA, THE GEM OF THE OCEAN.

By David T. Shaw.

O Columbia, the gem of the ocean,
The home of the brave and the free,
The shrine of each patriot's devotion,
A world offers homage to thee.
Thy mandates make heroes assemble,
When Liberty's form stands in view;
Thy banners make tyranny tremble
When borne by the red, white, and blue.

When war winged its wide desolation,
And threatened the land to deform,
The ark then of freedom's foundation,
Columbia, rode safe thro' the storm.
With the garlands of vict'ry around her,
When so proudly she bore her brave crew,
With her flag proudly floating before her,

The star-spangled banner bring hither,
O'er Columbia's true sons let it wave;
May the wreaths they have won never wither,
Nor its stars cease to shine on the brave:
May the service, united, ne'er sever,
But hold to their colors so true;
The army and navy forever,

OLD AGE AND DRUGS.

It is a mistake to give morphine, opium, laudanum, or paregoric to old people for the relief of any ordinary pain or discomfort. In the first place, it is rarely necessary. In the second place, it is harmful. In the third, it tends to begin the habit. A great many of the discomforts for which opiates are used can be very satisfactorily relieved by sodium salicylate or acetyl-salicylic acid, commonly known as aspirin, or some remedy of the type. Others can be relieved by antifebrin, acetanilid, phenacetin, antipyrin, or pyramidon.

These remedies can be given in small doses alone, or in combination. Most of them are not altogether harmless, but they are innocent as compared with paregoric or any other opiate. Warnings against opiates cannot be repeated too often. If the pain is spasmodic it can oftentimes be relieved by benzyl benzoate, ginger, aromatic spirits of ammonia, or some other aromatic, by so-called cholera cures, of which there are many; by warm teas, warm milk, or by the local application of heat. If an opiate must be given, the best one is codein. Men get the codein habit readily, but it is easily broken.

What is true of old age is true in the main of other age periods as well. The Chicago Municipal Tuberculosis sanitarium, an institution of nearly one thousand beds, was satisfactorily run for several years without the help of any opiate. Just as Frances E. Willard hospital operated for several years before prohibition days without the help of alcoholic drinks proved the lack of therapeutic need of alcohol, so the municipal sanitarium proved that, except for gall stone disease, kidney stone disease, and a few such disorders, opiates were not needed in hospital practice. In many cases of rheumatic pains colchicum preparations give relief. Certain opiates should not be given for these disorders.

Dr. Lambert thinks medicines to produce sleep should be given only in occasional cases. A cup of warm milk internally and a hot water bottle externally will relieve attacks of poor sleeping.

Old people are apt to acquire the constipation habit. The best drugs for them to use for relief are rhubarb and soda or aloes. Senator Stephenson of Wisconsin attributed his virility and comfort in his later years to the use of aloes. However, rhubarb and soda has an even greater vogue. The elderly are apt to be in rather frequent need of enemas.

LET SCHOOL PHYSICIAN DECIDE.

Mrs. A. W. writes: Last week the school nurse sent my thirteen years old daughter home on account of mumps but the mumps have not developed yet. I had her gargle well and often and rubbed her throat with salves and turpentine and she soon lost her sore throat, but her body is just like goose-flesh all over and itches terribly. Now what has she?

Her temperature never went over 101 degrees. Should I allow her to go back to school for the last day or two, if she feels strong enough?

REPLY.

I don't know what your daughter had. Let the school physicians decide that. They will also decide when the child can return to school. Such matters are covered either by laws or by rules, and these should be complied with.

SHOULD USE ANOTHER METHOD.

S. W. C. writes: A friend of mine was recently bitten by a dog. He is using poultices made by boiling bread, milk and lard together. This he applies to the wound and keeps it bandaged. It does not seem to me that it is a wise course to pursue. Will you kindly give me your opinion of this treatment?

REPLY.

You are right.

Dog bites should be burned with fuming nitrous acid and then covered loosely with gauze. The after treatment should be that given open wounds.

Whether Pasteur vaccination should be given depends on the condition of the dog.

AMBER BEADS AND GOITER.

Miss M. B. C. writes:

1. Can a goiter be cured by wearing amber beads?
2. Can it be cured by medical treatment?
3. Are operations for goiter always fatal?

REPLY.

1. No.
2. Some cases can be. Some varieties of goiter are much more curable than others.
3. No.

GIVING NOTICE.

Chicago, July 13.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—How much notice is required to vacate a furnished apartment hotel? H. E.

Where the tenant has exclusive right of access to the premises the relation is ordinarily the typical one of landlord and tenant, and the wording of the statute seems to apply providing for 30 days' notice, although there is some authority for a week's notice on a tenancy by the week. If the landlord has right of access, keeping the rooms dusted, etc., a different rule ordinarily applies, and the relation can be terminated at the end of any of the recurrent periods without previous notice.

TRIBUNE LAW DEPARTMENT.

WORKING HOURS.

Chicago, July 13.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—Can a boy under 16 years of age work ten to twelve hours daily in a grocery store? If not, what can be done to the employer? MRS. C.

"No person under the age of 16 years shall be employed or suffered to work for wages at any gainful occupation more than sixty hours in any one week, nor more than ten hours in any one day." [Illinois revised statutes, chapter 48, para 1298.]

MUST PAY.

Chicago, July 12.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—In 1925 a doctor rendered medical service to me amounting to $100. My last payment was made August, 1925. At that time I was 17 years of age. I am now 21. I never received any statement until July 1929. Can I be forced to pay the balance of $90? J. L. J.

Yes, the limitation period is five years.

FROM THE TRIBUNE'S COLUMNS

65 YEARS AGO TODAY

WASHINGTON.—No news has been received from Gen. Sherman in Georgia within the last 48 hours. When last heard from he had seized the railroad from Atlanta eastward and had seen nothing of Gen. Johnston's main force for 24 hours.

NEW YORK. — THE TRIBUNE'S Washington special says: "Officers in high military position here express themselves as satisfied that a large portion of Gen. Johnston's rebel army in Georgia has gone to reinforce Lee in Virginia and that Atlanta will fall into our hands without a struggle. The movements of Johnston's troops into Virginia, it is thought, began immediately after the battle of Kenesaw Mountain. The Commercial's Washington special says the war department has positive information of the evacuation of Atlanta by Johnston's forces. It is believed that by this time Gen. Sherman has dispatched a large body of Stoneman's cavalry to Macon to release numerous union officers held there as prisoners.

CAIRO.—A dispatch by Gen. Washburn from Gen. A. J. Smith says: "We met Lee, Forrest, and Walker at Tupelo and whipped them badly on three different days." Tupelo is about 60 miles south of Corinth, Miss. A scout who came into Memphis reports the rebel loss at 2,500. Gen. Faulkner is reported killed and Gen. Forrest wounded. We may be assured that the rebels have suffered a crushing defeat.

TRIEST, Austria.—Admiral Dewey arrived here on his flagship. In an interview he was asked whether he believed Gen. Lawton should have command of the army in the Philippines. He replied: "I do, and I hope he will get the command."

CHICAGO.—Without deposing Senator James K. Jones, ex-Governor William J. Stone of Missouri has been placed in command of the Democratic party in the United States. Senator Jones remains nominally as chairman of the national committee, but he is in Europe in broken health, so Stone probably will direct the 1900 campaign. The committee in session at the Sherman house created the office of vice chairman and named Stone to fill it. At the Auditorium gathering of the Democrats John P. Altgeld was triumphant, his welcome overshadowing William J. Bryan's. Not a word of praise was spoken for Mayor Harrison. It was a field day for silver.

WASHINGTON.—Secretary of War Alger's resignation has been accepted to take effect on Aug. 1. It is almost certain that Elihu Root of New York will be named to succeed him.

SALT LAKE, Utah.—Judge Norrell sentenced Angus M. Cannon, who pleaded guilty to the charge of polygamy in having married State Senator Mattie Hughes Cannon, to pay a fine of $100.

CHICAGO.—The engagement is announced of Miss Ethel May Greeley, daughter of Samuel S. Greeley of Winnetka, to Lowell Copeland of Calais, Me.

JULY 21, 1919.

NEW YORK—Marshal Foch, commander in chief of the allies, is to be invited by the American Legion to visit America this fall and attend the meeting of the legion in November.

CHICAGO—Millard Roach, young grandson of John M. Roach, former president of the Surface lines, was drowned in the lake when a canoe in which he and a companian were paddling overturned.

CHICAGO—It is probable the threatened strike of 15,000 car men will be averted. Union officials exhibit a spirit of compromise and the state utility commission is preparing to back the companies in any reasonable wage increase granted.

WASHINGTON—Acting Secretary of State Phillips announced that the Mexican government has advised Washington that it will exhaust every means to prosecute and punish those responsible for the murder of John W. Correll, an American citizen, and the attack on Mrs. Correll. This development come while officials were awaiting details of the latest Mexican outrage, the robbing of a party of American seamen while on a fishing trip.

THE FARM BOARD.

Evanston, Ill., July 12.—Now that the federal farm board will soon begin deliberations, the more voluble farm spokesmen [usually speaking for themselves only] will tell Mr. Hoover and the board just how it should be done. Such blatant criticism simply creates confusion and makes the task harder for those charged with the serious duties ahead.

S. E. Townsend of Galesburg starts off the free advice in this column by informing the world that the board should first take up wheat. Then he proceeds with the statement that "the price of wheat is made on the Chicago Board of Trade," information which, undoubtedly will be extremely helpful to the new federal farm board, inasmuch as the federal trade commission, the United States Supreme Court, leading economists and various survey commissions have found it to the contrary and have shown time and again that the Board of Trade simply registers prices, just as a clock registers the time of day. As for speculation, the general feeling for a long time has been that wheat prices would have been higher, save for the restrictions on markets which have tended to discourage speculation in commodities.

Every one should be willing to give the new farm board a chance to function, unhampered by petty jealousies, and the farm spokesmen, simply through fear of agriculture becoming so prosperous as to toss them out of jobs, should be big enough to quiet down for a few months. F. E. HAGAN.

OTHER DAYS, OTHER ATROCITIES.

Chicago, July 12.—While THE TRIBUNE is so busy aiding the government in its fight against drunkenness by printing such cartoons as "Atrocities of Prohibition," why doesn't it publish a picture of "The Face on the Barroom Floor" and label it "Atrocities of Saloon Days." Or perhaps there were no atrocities then? M. P. F.

AN ABANDONED AUTOMOBILE.

Chicago, July 11.—An abandoned automobile [Studebaker], probably stolen, was parked a month ago on Laflin street near Jackson boulevard. After it remained there a week, the writer telephoned the Des Plaines police station, calling it to their attention. They replied they would remove it. The following week and the third week I again telephoned them, receiving the same reply. A gentleman employed in the building opposite told me that he also had telephoned the police station twice regarding the same car. A month has now elapsed and this vagrant car is still there immune from police interference. Surely it ought not to be necessary to call a matter of this kind to the attention of the chief of police. Owners and insurers of cars which have been stolen are certainly entitled to prompt action on the part of the police department. CITIZEN.

ONE WAY OUT.

Chicago, July 11.—The doctors may yet get us out of the prohibition muddle that the lawyers and preachers have gotten us into. If they had the freedom to prescribe unlimited dosage of alcoholic beverages, as advocated in their national convention and in your editorial of this morning, it wouldn't be a week before some of them would be writing case lot prescriptions with self-feeding and electric driven addressing machines. Then we wouldn't need to worry about the eighteenth amendment or the Volstead act or anything else in the prohibition line. T. J. MEAD.

WHY THE DOG WAS SHOT.

Chicago, July 11.—I believe it is a general rule in the parks that dogs are not permitted unless muzzled or on a leash. I witnessed the shooting of the dog referred to by your correspondent at Chase park. The police officer tried to determine the ownership of this savage beast, when without a bark or a growl the dog leaped at him, its ferocity attested by the teeth marks still evident on the officer's leather puttee.

I observed the officer looking about him as a safety factor before firing at the dog [which I believe he was justified in doing] so apparently he is not careless. Moreover, the officer in question is one of the best pistol shots in the city and merely chipped the animal's ear to frighten him off. HENRY E. BISSELL.

A LOST OPPORTUNITY.

Chicago, July 11.—I see as how they have gone and repealed the jaywalker law. My goodness gracious! What is this country coming to, anyway? The next thing we know the prohibition law will be repealed and we will all have to drink again. A law is a law and it should be lived up to. Just think of all the spotters who could be given employment by the Society for the Prevention of Jay Walking; also the good jobs which would be open to enforce this law. Even paid informers could be hired to patrol the intersections with shot guns and if too many jay walkers got away we could even call out the marines. PLUTO.

CATHOLIC PAPER SEES NAPOLEON'S FATE FOR DUCE

Historical Parallel Stirs Fascist Supporters.

BY DAVID DARRAH.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

ROME, July 20.—More fuel was heaped on the flames of the controversy ranging between the Fascists and Catholics over application of the Lateran pacts today, when the Catholic magazine, Civilta Cattolica, edited by a Jesuit, Padre Rosa, published an article recalling the tragic end of Napoleon I. at St. Helena as a result of his quarrel with Pope Pius VII. over the concordat and suggesting a parallel application to Premier Mussolini and to present events.

The Civilta Cattolica had previously published an article tracing the analogy between the times of Pipe Pius VII and those of the present pope, Pius XI.

Similar in Letter and Spirit.

"This is not the time or place to renew historical confrontations nor to make superfluous comments," it says. "The facts are so clear and manifest and the similarity so clear both in letter and spirit that no prolific comment is needed, either retrospective or historical."

This is taken to imply with slight concealment that Premier Mussolini, like Napoleon, in making the concordat with the Vatican, sought to make the church an instrument for furtherance of his own power. While still discussing the parallel, the magazine, referring to Pope Pius VII. and Napoleon, continues:

Oppressed Pontiff Triumphed.

"A weak and small man conquered single-handed a great, strong, dominating man, so that in less than 20 years, while the Napoleonic splendor died out on the island of St. Helena, on the other hand the small light of the oppressed pontiff rose up from the shadows of apparent misfortune to the highest meridian in the sky and to merited triumph."

This article tonight caused comment and wrath, and the semi-official organ, Tribuna, which announced late last night that it was ending its fight with the Vatican organ, Osservatore Romano, returns to the attack of Civilta Cattolica, declaring that the article is calumny of the kind recommended by the priest in the comic opera, "The Barber of Seville."

"Ungenerous and Threatening."

At the time when everyone is trying to create an atmosphere of conciliation needed to make the pact effective, says the Tribuna, "such an article, threatening Sig. Mussolini with the fate of Napoleon, is both ungenerous and threatening."

The Tribuna then denies any comparison between what it calls Premier Mussolini's sincere desire to satisfy the spiritual aspirations of the Italian people and the demoniac and imperial pride which inspired Napoleon in making the concordat with the pope and then breaking it.

Judge John H. Lyle of the Boys' court yesterday recommended to the board of managers of the Chicago Bar association that a public defender be appointed to defend boys who are brought before him and who are without legal aid. Clarence P. Denning, executive secretary of the association, replied that the recommendation would be presented to the board of managers at its next meeting and would receive serious attention.

"About 350 boys, between 17 and 21 years of age, are arrested and appear in the Boys' court each week," Judge Lyle state. "At least two-thirds of them are there for the first time. Not more than five per cent of these boys are represented by counsel.

"Many of them are orphans, many from homes broken by divorce; usually they are from homes where conditions are bad; parents poor, ignorant and delinquent. Without friends or lawyer, when these boys face the police officers, prosecution witnesses, and judge they are frequently almost speechless.

"The court, for this reason, is in constant danger of making wrong decisions. An attorney representing the boys should interview those without counsel and represent them as best he can."

Nation Spends $523,000 on Old Building.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

ROME, July 20.—The Palazzo Venizia, famous castellated building constructed by the Venetian pope, Paul II., and one of Rome's most characteristic palaces of early Renaissance style, will be ready to be occupied by Premier Mussolini as the new seat of the Italian government by October, it was announced today.

The palace has been completely overhauled at a cost of 10,000,000 lire [$523,000] and Mussolini's secretary is already installed there.

The palace has been chosen as the building more worthy of the Italian government's enhanced position among nations under the vigorous direction of the duce. It is larger and more magnificent than the present government seat in the Chigi palace. For some time meetings of the grand council have been held in the Venizia palace.

The new seat of the government will also link up the present Fascist government with one of the most splendid periods of Italy's history, according to Fascist ideas. The history of the palace is practically the history of Rome since the 15th century. The building bears the scars of the sack of Rome by Charles V., in 1527. A half century later Pope Paul IV. gave the palace to the republic of Venice and ambassadors of the Doges occupied it until Napoleon's time. After the treaty of Campo Formio it passed into the hands of the Austrians.

Pedestrian Is Victim of Hit-Run Driver.

Mrs. Anna Ryden, 43 years old, 4345 George street, was killed, while her husband, Sven Ryden, 35 years old, and six other persons, including an infant, escaped with slight hurts yesterday in a collision between Ryden's car and one driven by Walter Stevan, 24 years old, 2636 North Melvina avenue, at Fullerton and Laramie avenues. Cragin police removed the injured to the Keystone hospital.

This death and one other raised the county motor toll since Jan. 1 to 452. The second victim:

John Knaupp, 57 year old laborer of 4017 North Menard avenue. Struck by a hit and run driver at 39th street and Western avenue; died two hours later in St. Anthony's hospital. Witnesses told Brighton Park police the runaway car bore a California license.

2 Hurt in Taxi Crash.

Theodore Geis, 37 years old, 3743 Raven street, and James Bowland, 33 years old, 17 South Oakley boulevard, were seriously injured when the Yellow taxicab in which they were riding climbed the sidewalk at Madison and Desplaines streets and crashed into a building. James Spano, driver of the cab, swerved onto the sidewalk to avoid hitting a pedestrian.

Mrs. Mary Gannon, 50 years old, 6150 Langley avenue, was possibly fatally injured when she was struck by a hit and run motorist at Cottage Grove avenue and 61st street.

Arthur Johnson, 32 years old, 3244 North Clifton avenue, a Lincoln park policeman, was struck by a cab driven by Thomas McGovern, 4525 North Claremont avenue, in front of the Tribune tower, and was taken to the Henrotin hospital. His injuries were reported to be slight.

Hurled Through Door.

Miss Catherine Beck, 20 years old, 3553 Leland avenue, and Clarence Guittar, 24, 4330 Sheridan road, were probably fatally injured early this morning when they were hurled from the rumble seat of an automobile over the sidewalk and through a door of the Muriel Martin gown shop, 28 South Michigan avenue. The machine, driven by Clifford Hatfield, 422 Melrose street, skidded on the wet street and struck an electric pole, throwing the couple out. Dennis Long, 4423 Magnolia avenue, sitting beside the driver, also was injured. At St. Luke's hospital it was said Miss Beck's skull was fractured and it was not believed she could live more than a few hours. Hatfield was locked up.

Hertz Case Postponed.

The hearing on charges of assault with a deadly weapon and driving through a stop light against Miss Helen Hertz, 19 year old daughter of John Hertz, former president of the Yellow Cab company, was continued until Aug. 3 by Justice of the Peace John Russ of Evanston. Miss Hertz was arrested on July 10 after a collision in which Miss Dorothy Wilson, daughter of Milton Wilson of Santa Barbara, Cal., was injured.

Attorney A. T. Carton, representing Mr. Wilson, announced that he did not wish to prosecute, holding that Miss Hertz had acted without intent. Assistant State's Attorney John Holman insisted on pushing the charges and asked for the delay to make an investigation. Attorney Benjamin Samuels appeared for Miss Hertz.

ARMY DEVELOPS NEW GUNS AND FASTER TANKS

Latest Weapons Greatly Increase Fire Power.

Washington, D. C., July 20.—[Special.]—Vastly improved fighting weapons capable of increasing the fire power and combat efficiency of the American army from 25 to 100 per cent have been developed since the armistice, the war department disclosed today.

A survey of the modernized weapons reveals that improvements have been registered in virtually every ground weapon with which United States troops were armed during the world war. The most striking advances are shown in greater mobility, longer ranges and a wider field of fire for artillery and anti-aircrift weapons, greater fire power, speed and durability for tanks, and a faster rate of fire for machine guns.

Officials of the various combat branches estimate that substitution of the new weapons, although all have not been perfected, for world war equipment with which the army is now armed, would double the fire power of the infantry battalion and the cavalry squadron and greatly increase the striking power and effective range of the artillery.

Infantry Weapons Improved.

For the infantry, the general staff and ordnance department has developed longer range machine guns, a more effective infantry mortar, a better 37 millimeter infantry cannon and is developing light tanks and a semi-automatic shoulder rifle for use in place of the present Springfield.

Cavalry officials are experimenting with armored cars and are vitally interested in development work on the semi-automatic rifle and an effective anti-tank gun.

Artillery improvements include greatly improved "75" gun and howitzer, a "75" millimeter pack howitzer, a longer range 155 millimeter howitzer and gun, an 8-inch rifle, a 14-inch railway gun of improved range and design and a 16-inch rifle for sea coast defense.

More Funds Needed.

The demand at the close of the world war for longer ranges for artillery and increased fire power for all units was responsible for the initial impetus given to army modernization work.

Thus far the improvements in fighting weapons for ground troops are found only on the testing range or stored away in various stages of development in army warehouses. Although extensive tests have demonstrated the superiority of several of the new weapons, notably the new "75" gun, pack howitzer, and the new three inch anti-aircraft artillery, lack of funds has made it impossible to re-arm even a limited part of the army for field testing purposes.

In cases where new weapons have been developed as standard, attempts are being made to obtain sufficient funds to purchase enough of the new equipment to familiarize manufacturers with army needs in the next war so that in event of emergency the new weapons could be manufactured quickly. An educational orders bill, which would permit the purchase of a few weapons in each of the improved models, so as to familiarize industry with their manufacture, now is before congress.

Anti-Aircraft Gun Praised.

Inquiry among ordnance and artillery officials indicates that the new mobile three inch anti-aircraft artillery gun, which has been adopted as standard equipment, marks the greatest advance in the field of weapon modernization. Maj. Gen. C. C. Williams and other ordnance officials, in comments on this equipment, have estimated its fire power and efficiency as vastly improved over world war types.

Capt. G. M. Wells, chief of the anti-aircraft section of the ordinance department, asserted in a recent report that fire power and efficiency of the new three inch gun is five times that of the three inch anti-aircraft guns of wartime manufacture. This gun fires a 15 pound projectile to a vertical height of 14,000 yards. Its horizontal range is 20,000 yards. A battery of four guns has a rate of fire of 100 shots per minute, twice the rate of the old material now in use by the American army.

Electricity Does Figuring.

The most striking feature of the new mobile three inch anti-aircraft equipment is found in the method by which batteries are aimed and fired. The firing data is computed by electrically operated instruments which transmit the data to the guns automatically. The men at the guns simply keep a pointer matched with another pointer which is changed automatically by the automatic fire control instruments as the target progresses and load and fire the weapons. The same material when used as a fixed battery is fired by the Torque system, which leaves nothing for the men at the guns to do but to load and fire them.

"It is believed that the American army has a mobile three inch anti-aircraft gun equal, if not superior, to that of any other nation in its accuracy, fire power, dependability, and mobility," Capt. John K. Christmas, assistant chief of the automotive section of the ordnance department, stated in a recent report.

Maj. Gen. C. C. Williams, chief of ordnance, asserted in his annual report that the accuracy of these guns was far superior to world war types.

RUPTURE

All cases should be cautioned against the use of any elastic or web truss with understraps, as same rest where the lump is and not where the opening is.

"The Spermatic Shield will not only retain any case of rupture perfectly, but contracts the opening in 10 days on the average case. Being a vast advancement over all former methods—exemplifying instantaneous effects immediately appreciable and withstanding any strain or position no matter the size or location. Large or difficult cases, or incisional ruptures (following operations) specially solicited. This instrument received the only award in England and in Spain, producing results without surgery, injections, medical treatments or prescriptions, with distinguished personal patrons of all nations."

This instrument is the same as personally supplied to the late Dr. Edward Shippen, former Medical Director U. S. Navy; also has been to Surg. Gen's. Bureau, U. S. Naval Hospital—Penn. R. R., Etc.

Will be glad to demonstrate without charge or fit them if desired.

ROME, July 20.—(AP)—The Vatican City correspondence of Il Tevere has learned the pope desires to participate in the eucharistic procession on July 25 afoot instead of half kneeling and half seated on the podium, a platform of state carried by dignitaries.

Attempts are being made to dissuade the pontiff because even between 6:30 and 8:30 p. m., when the procession will be held, the heat is considerable. The pope will be clothed in heavy vestments incrusted with gold and will bear the host in a heavy monstrance, the transparent receptacle in which the consecrated host is shown.

The pontiff insists that he will not be fatigued. His advisers still hope he will not risk needless overexertion at 72.

Noted British Educator Dies in South Africa

CAPE TOWN, South Africa, July 20.—(AP)—Dr. W. G. Viljoen, one of the foremost educators in the empire, died today at the age of 60.

ALD. ADAMOWSKI BURIED; OFFICIALS ATTEND SERVICES

City and county officials, members of the city council, and residents of the 38th ward gathered yesterday to pay their last respects to Ald. Max Adamowski, who died on Tuesday following an operation. The funeral was held from the home at 2623 Logan boulevard to St. Hedwig's church. Burial was in St. Adelbert's cemetery at Niles.

The procession from the home to the church was led by a platoon of mounted police, followed by a battalion of police on foot and a battalion of firemen. The aldermen were led by John S. Clark [30th], chairman of the council finance committee, and Oscar Nelson [46th], administration floor leader.

The Rev. Francis Dembinski officiated at a solemn requiem high mass, assisted by two parish priests. Two sermons were given, one in Polish and one in English.

Judge Sinnott of Claims Court Dies Suddenly

Washington, D. C., July 20.—(AP)—Judge Nicholas J. Sinnott of the United States Court of claims died today.

Mr. Sinnott formerly represented Oregon in the house. He was appointed to the court by Calvin Coolidge in 1928. He was 59 years old.

Judge Sinnott had not been in good health recently. He was stricken suddenly while resting at his home, and died a few minutes later.

ROBERT RICHARD SCHEVEN, 6 year old son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred E. Scheven, 7024 North Rockwell street, died at his parents' residence Friday night. The funeral at the family residence and burial at Rosehill will be private. Mr. Scheven is production manager of the Victor Electric company.

A. E. Thompson, 65, Ice Cream Co. Executive, Dies

Funeral services for A. E. Thompson, founder and vice president of the Thompson Ice Cream company, who died on July 14 in Pasadena, Cal., will be held on Wednesday at 10 a. m. at the chapel at 318 North Central avenue. Burial will be in Greenwood cemetery, near Woodstock, Ill. Mr. Thompson, who was 65 years old, was treasurer of both the Thompson and the Chappell Ice Cream companies, and former president of the Crystal Ice company. He went to California a month ago in the hope of regaining his health.

Truck Hits and Kills Boy Running After a Purse

Rock Island, Ill., July 20.—[Special.]—Kenneth Delbert Brelisch, 5 years old, of Rock Island, died today of injuries received when he was struck by a motor truck. The child was hit when he ran into a street to retrieve a small purse containing a quarter when it was tossed from the sidewalk by his brother. The truck driver, Henry Naber Jr., is under bond to face a technical charge of manslaughter.

Arraign 3 Detroit Women for Operating Big Still

Detroit, Mich., July 20.—[U. P.]—Three women, alleged operators of a large still, were arraigned in U. S. District court here today on federal prohibition law charges. The women, Bella Burns, Margaret Mayton and Nellie Sleigh, were arrested when dry agents stopped two of them in an automobile laden with moonshine. Going to the address given by the pair the agents found a 500 gallon still in operation with Mrs. Sleigh in charge.

HUNT ASSETS OF FAILED BANK IN 2 SAFETY BOXES

New York, July 20.—[Special.]—Hopes of victimized depositors of Clarke Bros., raised by reports that Milton C. Quimby, extensive borrower from that private banking house, had $1,000,000 in two safety deposit boxes in New Jersey banks, were dashed today by the woman who has held the keys to those boxes for ten years. She is Dr. Rita E. Dunlevy, who holds a $56,000 judgment against Quimby and believes she never will receive a penny from him.

"Only Quimby knows what is in these boxes," said Dr. Dunlevy, "and I wouldn't believe him on oath. If anything except wind comes out of them I shall be greatly surprised."

Against Dr. Dunlevy's belief that the boxes will contain nothing of value is the fact that for 20 years Quimby has paid the rent for them having kept up these payments even after Dr. Dunlevy received the keys from him and the assurance that he would give her one-half of the amount of money realized from the sale of the alleged valuable papers contained therein.

Owes Clarkes $185,000.

Quimby, who admitted he owed Clarke Bros. $185,000 borrowed money, testified he had one safety deposit box in a Newark, N. J., trust company and another in a Jersey City bank. He refused to disclose the contents of the boxes, but consented to go with Clarence E. Webb, a postal inspector, to the banks and turn over to him the boxes.

At the New Jersey bank it was discovered that Quimby did not have the keys to the boxes. Arrangements were made to have Dr. Dunlevy turn over the keys to Quimby, Monday, when the boxes will be brought to the federal building and opened.

The report that the boxes held $1,000,000 in judgments against the estate of J. Edward Addicks, late millionaire promoter, and brother of Walter J. Addicks, vice president of the Consolidated Gas company, came from Assistant United States Attorney Andrew J. McLean, attorney for Dr. Dunlevy. Quimby, he said, had been associated for years with Addicks in real estate and gas company deals.

Quimby, according to Mr. McLean, had told Dr. Dunlevy the contents of the boxes were worth $1,000,000 and included $37,000 in bonds of the Chicago, Rock Island and Pacific Railroad company; bonds of the Public Service Corporation of New Jersey, United States government bonds and other valuable papers.

Wireless Operated Warship British Coast Guard Target

LONDON, July 20.—The most remarkable experiment in defensive naval gunnery ever staged in the British navy will be carried out at Portsmouth, Monday, when shore batteries train their guns on the Centurion, a 24,000 ton battleship maneuvered by wireless.

REV. FARMILOE, 82, VETERAN OF M. E. CONFERENCE, DIES

The Rev. F. F. Farmiloe, 82 years old, for 54 years a member of the Rock River M. E. conference, died yesterday morning at the Wesley Memorial hospital after a protracted illness. The Rev. Mr. Farmiloe, a native of Gloucestershire, England, was in active service in various churches in the conference until 1922, when his advanced age caused his retirement.

For many years he was active in affairs of the Des Plaines camp meeting, where he was the oldest minister in point of service. During his active years, all of which were spent in pastorates in the Rock River conference, he served several times as statistical secretary of the organization. He was at one time president of the Chicago M. E. Ministers' association.

Surviving him are four sons and two daughters. Funeral services will be held at the Greenstone M. E. church in Pullman tomorrow afternoon.

Why Is It?

Why is it that so many families prefer to call Hursen than to call the funeral director in the neighborhood? Why is it that there are so many living many miles away who prefer to call Hursen, regardless of distance?

A big business like "Hursen's" could not be built merely from the business secured in a neighborhood, nor in several neighborhoods. "Hursen's" serves not a part, but all of Chicago. Hursen funerals are seen in every nook and corner of Chicago. They are seen in the far suburbs, many miles out. Why?

When a funeral is conducted by Hursen it means that it is, first, a "quality" funeral. You never see the same elegance and quality of materials elsewhere that you see at a "Hursen" funeral. You never see elsewhere such an unusual method of service, nor such generosity of service.

You have never seen such superb limousines for the use of passengers. You have never seen limousine-hearses before. They are a Hursen revolution in funeral equipment, built especially for Hursen. Besides all this, "Hursen" funerals cost but a fraction of the charges made elsewhere. All Chicago has built the largest establishment of its kind in America, "Hursen's." Call Hursen, of course!

Trustworthy . . . . for sixty years

It is pleasant to render faultless service, because that is to excel many others; it is pleasant to grow better, because it is to excel ourselves.

For sixty years the Skeeles-Rockefeller funeral organization has faithfully served the people of Chicago. To do more perfectly all things that should be done has been their ideal throughout these passing years.

Located at 4523 Broadway, is the new Skeeles-Rockefeller Memorial Chapel . . . a beautiful, modern edifice that reflects our devotion to bring a setting of mellow dignity to a funeral service. Here, and at our south side chapel, you will find a well-trained personnel, ready to serve you at any hour. Charges are moderate.

Every item in a Skeeles-Rockefeller funeral is included in one moderate charge. Two chapels, strategically located on the north and south sides, are easily accessible from any part of the city—conveniently reached by elevated, surface lines or bus. Wherever you live our service is available.

EQUITY SUES FOR MILLION IN WAR ON TALKIES

Names Tully Marshall and Warner Brothers.

BY GEORGE SHAFFER.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Hollywood, Cal., July 20.—[Special.]—Leaders of Actors' Equity association shifted their battle ground against motion picture producers from studio casting offices to the county courts today. Equity, in a complaint verified by Frank Gillmore of New York, its president, filed a suit in Superior court which demands $1,000,000 damages of Tully Marshall, character actor, and Warner Brothers, Inc., talking picture producers.

Equity's suit sets up several unprecedented contentions.

The actors' union seeks to have Judge Marshall McComb return an injunction preventing Marshall from carrying out a recently signed contract to play a part for Warner Brothers.

Other Deserters Cited.

The union charges that since Marshall violated an Equity's passive strike against the talkies by accepting a talking contract, his example has led Hedda Hopper, Raymond Hatton, Holmes Herbert, Andre Beranger, Phyllis Crane and other prominent actors and actresses to do the same. This, in Equity's contention, has been hurtful to the actors' union.

Equity in its complaint alleges that both Marshall and Warner Brothers., Inc., were notified that Equity had forbidden its members to work in "talking or sound pictures," except under Equity regulations, since last June 5.

That these regulations forbid an Equity member from working in any screen cast which includes a nonequity member.

That Marshall and the defendant film company conspired to have Marshall sign a nonequity contract and work in film casts not limited to equity members and that Marshall's example, and an interview in criticism of Equity which he permitted to be published, have led others to sign nonequity contracts, which "injures and threatens to undermine its entire structure."

Hearing July 29.

Presiding Justice Marshall McComb of the Los Angeles county Superior court issued an order for Marshall and Jack Warner, millionaire head of the Warner concern, or his representative, to appear before Judge Walter Gates Tuesday, July 29, to show cause at that time why Marshall shall not be enjoined from working in violation of what Equity alleges is his compact with the organization, dating from 1913.

Judge McComb did not restrain Marshall from appearing before the talkie recording machine between now and July 29.

Statements in behalf of the actor and his employers at Warner studio called the equity suit "ridiculous" and said that an injunction would violate Marshall's constitutional right to "secure work where and on the terms that he desired."

DIES SUDDENLY

W. E. O'CONNOR, POLICE CAPTAIN, DIES SUDDENLY

Ex-Chief of Detectives Is Heart Victim.

Capt. William E. O'Connor of the police department, former chief of detectives, died suddenly yesterday in his home at 8258 Langley avenue. He succumbed to a heart attack while lying on a bed to which he had retired to rest. Mrs. O'Connor found him there dying at 3:30 p. m. She summoned the Rev. Father Dussmann who administered the final sacraments of the Roman Catholic church.

Mrs. O'Connor, their son, William, 12 years old, and their daughter, Evelyn, 21, were at Capt. O'Connor's bedside when he died. The widow also had summoned his cousins, Mrs. Margaret Joyce and Mrs. Loretta Brady and their husbands, Policeman John Joyce of the detective bureau and Lieut. Patrick Brady of the Desplaines street station.

Ill for More Than Year.

Capt. O'Connor had been ailing from stomach trouble for more than a year. Yesterday morning he had not felt able to report for duty at the Brighton Park station, where he was commander, and had remained in bed. He had arisen at 2:30, chatted with his family and at 3 o'clock, while taking a drink of water, complained of his heart. He then said he would lie down to rest again, and half an hour later Mrs. O'Connor found him in a critical condition.

Capt. O'Connor was 52 years old. His record for bravery on the department was a distinguished one. In 1913 he was commended for the capture of "Teddy" Webb, first of the automobile bandits, who had sworn to kill any policeman who came near him, and who still is in Joliet penitentiary. O'Connor had a number of revolver battles with desperadoes in all of which he came off victorious, and in several of which he killed his antagonists.

During the last year Capt. O'Connor had been weak at times from his stomach ailment. His physician had ordered him to cut his golf games down to nine holes and to play no more than that. He was fond of sports and had a reputation as a judge of boxing contests and prize fights.

Capt. O'Connor joined the police force twenty-five years ago. He was first detailed as a patrolman to the Deering street station and he remained there for seven years. He was attached to the detective bureau for eight years, and served four years as lieutenant at the Wabash avenue station.

He was made a captain and went back to the detective bureau as chief of detectives when Mayor Thompson was last elected. He and Michael Grady, who was made deputy chief of detectives, were elevated at the same time over the heads of a number of other men who stood above them on the eligible list.

Made Deputy Commissioner.

When Michael Hughes, then chief, reorganized the department and took the title of commissioner, O'Connor was made a deputy commissioner in charge of the detective bureau. Grady then became chief of detectives.

The position of deputy commissioner was held by O'Connor for about 18 months, until Hughes was ousted and William F. Russell, the present commander, became commissioner. Commissioner Russell moved O'Connor to Brighton Park station and Grady to Kensington station, where they took command.

Vincent McErlane and Pal Granted Jury Trial

Vincent McErlane and Frank Keating were granted a jury trial yesterday when they were arraigned before Judge William R. Fetzer in the South State street court. The men were arrested by Lieut. Joe Ronan, who found them loitering at 51st street and Western avenue Friday night. Their bonds were set at $3,000 each.

BARN BURNS DOWN.

Marinette, Wis., July 20.—[Special.]—W. J. Hardee of Coleman, Marinette county, lost his barn by fire last night. It was struck by lightning during a severe electrical storm.

CITY AIDS U. S. IN ITS PROBE OF REFRIGERANTS

Records of the twenty-five cases of methyl chloride poisoning collected by the Chicago health department will be sent to Washington to aid the government in its contemplated research into the effects of toxic refrigerants. Health Commissioner Kegel, in making this announcement yesterday, said the evidence gathered in these cases form an ample foundation for federal recommendations.

Tests to determine what proportions of three gases should be mixed to produce the new "arctic" to be used as a substitute for methyl chloride were being carried on in the old criminal courts building. The experiments, which blend methyl chloride with mercaptan and sulphur, one odorous and the other irritating, will cover a period of several months, Dr. Kegel said.

In the meantime health department inspectors were canvassing the city to drain refrigerators containing methyl chloride. The manufacturers' also were scanning the ordinance drafted by Dr. Kegel preparatory to outling their views on it before a council subcommittee.

Foot Troubles
Cause Bad Health

They affect the body in many different ways. The feet swell, burn, ache; sharp pains under heels, ball of foot becomes sore and feels as if you are walking on marbles; corns, callouses, ingrown nails and bunions; excessive perspiration with offensive odor, overdeveloped ankles and legs, varicose veins; legs cramp, knees stiffen; pains in hips, small of back, shoulders and neck, poor circulation, with nervous exhaustion and muscular weakness. Do not be discouraged. Regardless of what your condition may be or what you have tried, or whom you have consulted, Dr. Pinkston guaranteed to relieve all foot troubles and cure nine-tenths of them regardless of the nature or condition of the ailment.

HOME OF DAWES' FOREFATHERS TO HONOR U.S. ENVOY

BY JOHN STEELE.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

SUDBURY, Suffolk, July 20.—This ancient and honorable little town from whose charming and peaceful precincts the ancestors of Ambassador Dawes migrated to America some 300 years ago is getting ready to pay its respects to Gen. Dawes—coming home as the American ambassador.

On Oct. 1, it was decided today, the freedom of the borough will be conferred upon the former Vice President in recognition of the fact that his ancestors lived for countless generations within its humble borders. Preliminary plans for the celebration and ceremony were completed here this afternoon.

Will Address School Children.

Gen. Dawes will be entertained at a luncheon offered by Mayor Fitzgerald, and later will address school children assembled at Market hill. Freedom of the borough will be conferred at a special meeting of the town council on the same afternoon.

The man behind the movement to honor Mr. Dawes is Frank Trinder, editor of the village newspaper, the Suffolk and Essex Free Press.

"An active search is now being made," he said, "for records of the Dawes family. I believe we will find that the general's ancestors actually lived in Newton, a small village within the borough. His family seems to have been members of the Trinity Congregational church, one of the oldest free churches in England, and from whose congregation many pilgrim fathers doubtless came."

Will See 13th Century Charter.

When Gen. Dawes is given the freedown of the town he will be shown its most precious documents—the ancient charter granted to the borough by the earl of Gloucester early in the 13th century, which, besides giving other rights, made Sudbury freemen and merchants free of road tolls throughout England.

Two ancient silver maces will be borne before the general, and at luncheon he will be offered a drink of old wine from the town's historic silver loving cup, which bears the royal arms of Charles II.

NAME OF PRESIDENT USED TO ADVERTISE APRICOT SHIPMENT

New York, July 20.—[Special.]—The name of President Hoover is being used to advertise a big shipment of apricots now being distributed to New York retail fruit dealers.

The fruit is being moved about town in crates on which are the legend, "Grown and packed on President Hoover's Ranch, Wasco, Cal."

The signs have attracted much attention, and according to reports, the call for Hoover apricots has been brisk. So far as is known, the fruit has not been offered to consumers as Hoover raised.

The use of the President's name in advertising is seldom resorted to, and Mr. Hoover's friends in Washington are said to be somewhat upset by the incident. Such exploitation, according to word from the capital, is unauthorized.

Sold Al First Brown Derby; Dies and Leaves Million

New York, July 20.—[Special.]—The will of Bernard J. McCann, "the Bowery hatter" who died last Saturday was filed for probate in Brooklyn today. He disposes of an estate which is estimated at $1,000,000. He sold former Gov. Al. Smith his first brown derby.

MEXICO COUNTS CRISTERO REVOLT COST IN MILLIONS

Loss of Life Heavy; Trade and Industry Hit.

BY JOHN CORNYN.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

MEXICO CITY, July 20.—What the Mexican revolution costs even though local and covering less than a fourth of the national territory was revealed today in a semi-official statement.

The cristero revolt, backed by military Catholics against the Calles government, set aflame for three years Jalisco and five adjoining states and wiped out the greater part of the agriculture in the rich regions of the republic. It dealt a staggering blow to commerce, trade, and general prosperity. The cristero revolt cost $10,000,000 in the uplands of Jalisco alone, where the revolution was most intense, and over 3,000 Jalisco highlanders perished in battle.

Towns, Villages Wiped Out.

There are no returns on the cost of the revolution in the other five adjoining states, but undoubtedly it is greater than in Jalisco. Over all six states the hacienda and ranch buildings were wantonly destroyed by the revolutionists. Numerous villages and towns, municipal buildings, private edifices, and houses of commerce were burned, and churches dynamited by fanatical agrarians. One of the hardest hit Jalisco upland towns was Zepotlanejo, which was almost completely destroyed. Numerous villages and towns were scenes of terrific conflicts between federal armies and cristero bands, whose heavy private and town losses will never be estimated.

Thousands of peasants, farmers and business men fled from the state of Jalisco and adjoining territory, and a few are slowly returning. Though the cristero movement ended in the chaotic conditions engendered by it, it bred scores of guerilla bands, a considerable per cent of which is finding the free life in the hills preferable to honest labor.

Firing Squad Kills Bandit.

Today the commander of the military zone of Jalisco reports the death before the firing squad of the notorious Juan Medina, leader of the desperate guerilla band which tore up railway tracks, wrecked trains, held up towns and villages, sacked places of business and spread terror and death.

Medina refused to accept the amnesty offered by President Emilio Portes Gil over a month ago, and elected to continue guerilla warfare. He was captured after a desperate fight with federal soldiers at Guadalupe, where he had entrenched himself behind stone walls and ranch buildings.

Start Work Tomorrow on Rogers Park Playground

Work on the new playground at Damen and Lunt avenues, which was taken over by the city from the board of education at a rental of $1 a year for the establishment of a recreation center, will begin tomorrow morning, according to an announcement of the bureau of parks and playgrounds. The new location will eliminate the necessity of Rogers Park children crossing Sheridan road through heavy traffic in order to reach the beaches, which are the only playgrounds for the children in that neighborhood now.

Charming!
Del-a-tone gives added daintiness

WHEREVER you go, whatever you wear, to be really at ease and attractive, you must have a skin free from disfiguring hair.

Curious eyes are quick to detect the slightest flaw the modern bathing suit may disclose. Revealing too are sleeveless frocks, evening gowns, sheer hose, and short skirts. Today dainty women are more careful than ever to remove the slightest suggestion of superfluous hair on arms, underarms, legs, back of neck, and face.

You may meet the world with grace . . . with poise!

Feminine daintiness which brings with it peace of mind coveted by everyone, is most easily preserved with Del-a-tone. In 3 brief minutes Del-a-tone Cream removes every trace of offending hairs. Leaves the skin soft, and velvety smooth.

Applied directly from its handy tube, Del-a-tone Cream has no equal for easy, quick, pleasant removal of hair. It is snow-white and faintly fragrant.

Del-a-tone Cream or Powder has been the choice of fastidious women for over twenty years. Try it and you, too, will be convinced that the Del-a-tone way is the delightfully easy, modern way to remove hair.

Under-arm daintiness

When you accept the stockingless style—

—be sure you first observe this rule of personal refinement. Follow the sun-tan vogue by going bare-legged, but first confirm your personal daintiness by using DEL-A-TONE. Swiftly active—safe and satisfying in its results. A boon to the smart sun-worshiper.

Satin-smooth, hair-free legs

DEL-A-TONE Users Say:

"I am really delighted with Del-a-tone. I am sure now that I will never use any other than Del-a-tone. The skin is left so smooth, after following directions . . . I particularly noticed that Del-a-tone has a nicer fragrance than most creams."
Ruth C. F.

"Del-a-tone is certainly wonderful. I was ashamed to wear silk stockings because the hair showed through—or go without stockings, but now I do both without the least bit of worry."
Miss T. P.

Bremen, Queen of German Fleet, Nears Record.

BY TOM PETTEY.

New York, July 20.—[Special.]—There is a new queen of the ocean hurdling the Atlantic waves tonight and she is heading for New York, hell bent for a western record. No vessel that has crossed the Atlantic since the Lusitania, twenty-three years ago, has been heralded as the North German Lloyd liner Bremen, due here on her maiden voyage Monday afternoon.

Two full days out of Cherbourg, the pride of the German merchant fleet is running like a greyhound and if she maintains her speed of an average of 700 miles a day all records will be broken by a four day crossing.

Gay Welcome Ahead.

From captain to cabin boy, and including every passenger, those aboard are set to lower the Mauretania's westward record of 5 days 3 hours and 17 minutes, made in July, 1928.

This port is planning a gala welcome for the ship, whose secrets German workmen so zealously guarded. More than 9,000 tickets have been issued to persons who wish to inspect the new liner during the two days she will tarry at a Brooklyn pier. Five thousand more have been invited to a reception Tuesday night.

German Pride Revived.

The Bremen has captured the imagination of all countries not because she is the fastest liner afloat but because she is a symbol of a new Germany. The Bremen is more than a ship to Germany. She is a sign to them that national pride has been revived.

When the treaty of Versailles was signed the Vaterland became the Leviathan, the Bismarck was converted into the Majestic, and the Imperator into the Berengaria. Now, the Germans feel they have a vessel that outclasses all of these.

At the end of the war Germany's seagoing tonnage was but 717,450, including sailing vessels. With the Bremen and Europa and other vessels now in course of construction she will reach this year a grand tonnage in the aggregate of 4,000,000 tons.

A Night Club on Top.

The Bremen, contrary to published reports, does not claim to be the longest and largest vessel afloat, but she is the fastest and classiest. No other vessel has a night club on top, a rifle range in the bow, a bowling alley and billiard room. No other vessel has public halls stretching along for 600 feet upon her upper decks.

According to Lloyd's Register this is the way the Bremen stacks up with other great liners:

Vessel—	Registered length.	Over all length.
Bremen	888.2 feet	938.8 feet
Majestic	915.5 feet	954.5 feet
Leviathan	907.6 feet	950.7 feet
Berengaria	883.6 feet	918.0 feet

The vessel is an oil burner with steam turbines and is propelled by four screws working independently or together. The Bremen carries a crew of 950 and has space for 2,200 passengers, 800 of them first class.

The Mauretania holds an average speed record of 26.60 knots for the westward crossing and 26.25 knots on an eastward passage. The Bremen has been averaging about 27 knots so far on her maiden run.

A quartet of big steamship companies ready to invest $100,000,000 in superliners for Atlantic crossings are waiting to see just how much the Bremen's mode of propulsion will step up the speed.

Joseph E. Sheedy has announced the United States Lines, Inc., will build two liners to run with the Leviathan. They will be between 950 and 1,000 feet long and will be faster than any other liner, he has said. Plans for these vessels have been prepared by Theodore Ferris and work is expected to start the first of the year and be completed in 1932.

The White Star line is building a 1,000 foot vessel which when launched will be the biggest ship on the ocean. It is to be 60,000 tons gross, larger than either the Leviathan or Majestic.

The French line has completed plans for the "fastest vessel afloat." It will be a vessel to outrival the Ile de France and will be about 1,000 feet in length.

The Cunard line has had plans drawn for a de luxe Atlantic greyhound which probably will replace the Mauretania and run with the Berengaria and Aquitania. The Cunard plans have been guarded as secretly as those of the builders of the Bremen. The Cunard people have one set aim, and that is to build a liner that will bring back the speed record if the Bremen captures it.

LOOP WORKER KILLED IN FALL.

George Redpath, 37 years old, 5242 West Harrison street, a building laborer, was killed yesterday when he fell six stories in a construction shaft of the Northern Trust company building at Monroe and La Salle streets.

BOY SCOUTS OF ENTIRE WORLD INVADE ENGLAND

Chicago Youths Among 50,000 Visitors.

BY JOHN STEELE.

LONDON, July 20.—From every civilized land in the world Boy Scouts will invade England this week to attend a world jamboree at Birkenhead, across the River Mersey from Liverpool, July 31 to Aug. 13.

Fifty thousand youths of all nationalities, colors and creeds will gather to exchange ideas about scoutcraft and its teachings. Never before has a gathering of such size been attempted, but Sir Robert Baden-Powell, chief Scout, and director of the jamboree, declared tonight that the organizers have been so successful in their preliminary activities that nothing remained to be done until the Scouts pitch their tents in the beautiful wooded park of 500 acres, once the estate of Lord Birkenhead.

U. S. Sends 1,500 Scouts.

Every incoming boat docking in England is bringing parties of scouts, some journeying from such distant places as Barbados, Brazil, Ceylon, China, Japan, Gambia, Grenada, Latvia, Liberia, Persia, Siam, St. Helena, Trinidad, and Tanganyika.

The United States is sending one of the biggest delegations, 1,500 American scouts disembarking at Liverpool, Harwich, Grimsby, Hull and other ports. Some have already arrived and are spending their time before the meeting to tour England.

Nine sea scouts and their skipper of the national sea scout flagship, "Old Ironsides," of Chicago will attend through the generosity of Commodore Howard Gillette and a group of Chicago business men.

Ninety youths from Indianapolis hit on a novel way of journeying to the scene of the encampment. Arriving on the liner Roosevelt next Wednesday they will hike from Plymouth to Birkenhead with their covered wagon, a distance of more than 200 miles.

Wales to Join Campers.

King George will not be able to attend as first planned due to his illness. the king's uncle, the duke of Connaught, will represent the British crown on the opening day, and on Aug. 1 the prince of Wales will join the scouts and camp out with them for two days. Later Prince George will visit the sea scouts during maneuvers off Liverpool.

Sunday, Aug. 4, the archbishop of Canterbury and Cardinal Bourne, archbishop of Westminster, will preside at the religious services.

The American staff which will look after this camp of 1,500 Yankee youths is headed by G. Barrett Rich of Buffalo. Frank Presbrey of New York, advertising man; Mortimer Schiff, financier, and James E. West, chief scout executive, will assist him.

Other American leaders are Dan Beard, 77 year old national camp commissioner, and William Tomkins of San Diego, an expert in the Indian sign language, who will teach it to visiting scouts.

50,000 in Camp Fire Songs.

Ambassador Dawes, who is interested in the Boy Scout movement in Evanston, will break away from his ambassadorial duties long enough to visit the camp. A great arena has been prepared where pageants will be given each afternoon by one of the visiting delegations, and where in the evening 50,000 will join in camp fire songs. A daily newspaper, "The Daily Arrow," will be published by the scouts.

RIOT AT PIER WHEN YOUNG REDS JEER AT DEPARTING BOY SCOUTS

New York, July 20.—[Special.]—Seventy yelling, heckling Communist youths and their adult leaders transformed the departure of the Cunard liner Samaria this morning into a riot which required police reserves to break up.

Carrying Communist banners, fifty children, members of the Young Pioneers, guided by twenty adults, marched onto the pier in mass formation, expressly to poke scorn at the 250 Boy Scouts aboard who were going to the world scout jamboree at Birkenhead, England.

They marched on singing the "Internationale" and began hooting at the Boy Scouts who manned the rail for a last glimpse of their parents and friends.

One of their leaders, Benjamin Harper, ran half way up the gangway and began a speech which soon turned into a series of staccato cries such as "Down with the Boy Scouts," "Down with capitalism," and "These Boy Scouts are being prepared for war."

Harper, who was later arrested, had hardly got under way with his oration when the crowd on the pier rushed him and his young followers. Police finally quelled the riot.

Three young bandits yesterday afternoon entered the office of the Craftsman Printing company, 701 South La Salle street, bound and gagged Frank J. Quinn, the proprietor, who was alone in the office, and robbed him of $300 and diamonds valued at $3,800. Quinn succeeded in working his way to the door and attracting the attention of others in the building a few minutes later but the bandits had fled.

Canadian Elected Head of Amateur Press Group

Emil W. Zingg of Vancouver, B. C., was elected president of the United Amateur Press association, a national organization of writers, at the closing session of a two day convention in a loop hotel yesterday. Richard E. Clasen, 8219 Chappel avenue ,and Mrs. Margaret Richards, 2221 North Lawndale avenue, were elected first and second vice presidents.

Martinelli and Danise Add Luster to Opera.

BY EDWARD MOORE.

Lights were low last night and the audience was hushed. Yvonne Gal. Tosca set a candle at either hand of the outstretched body of Giuseppe Danise Carpia, while the orchestra softly intoned the three chords, not as brutal sounding now as they used to be a quarter century or even fifteen years ago, but still effective, which Puccini planned as a musical summing up of the Scarpia disposition.

"Tosca," the opera, is a great piece of theater, and this scene where Tosca, the singing actress, steals away from a murder into the moonlight continues to be its striking incident. Also Mme. Gall put an enormous amount of drive into it.

Mme. Gall Always Feminine.

There are many reasons for liking her in the part, and the principal one is that she is so completely feminine at all times. She is too intelligent ever to get away from the character. but she plans it entirely on the idea of womanhood and never on that of the grand, tragic actress.

On that basis her impersonation is entirely logical and entirely credible. Her quarrelsome jealousy in the first act is not quite a serious quarrel, her reconciliation is a real one. And through all her troublous episodes with Scarpia in the second act, exceedingly trying to the nerves of any woman, which end when she gets abrupt with a carving knife, it is femininity that makes every movement. And the picture of her tiptoeing out of the room sticks in the memory. Incidentally, though this is not always the important part of a "Tosca" performance, she did some lovely singing.

Martinelli's Arias Gorgeous.

In fact, good singing was the rule of the whole performance. Giovanni Martinelli was the Cavaradossi of the cast, a part which calls for delivery of two of the best arias Puccini ever wrote, one in the first act and one in the third. Mr. Martinelli's superb voice, never failing when there is a demand upon it, made them gorgeous incidents.

And Mr. Denise, as Scarpia, gave the best singing performance he has done in several weeks. Be it not forgotten that there were two other examples of high art in the performance, the Sacristan of Vittorio Trevisan, a perfect bit of comic impersonation, and the conducting of Gennaro Papi, who caused the orchestra to become a medium of exquisite melody throughout.

AUTO CRASH LEADS TO MAN'S DEATH.

Neenah, Wis., July 20.—[Special.]—Injuries suffered in an auto accident near here on June 14, cost the life of Arthur A. Haefs, 20, who died early today in Theda Clark hospital. Haefs' left leg was fractured when the auto driven by Fred Arno, Menasha, crashed into a telephone pole. Infection developed and ended in Haefs' death following amputation of the leg. Arno and two other men in the car were not seriously injured.

CAGO TRIBUNE

CHILDREN, BOTH OLD AND YOUNG, FLOCK TO CIRCUS

Animals Roar, So All Have Fine Time.

Yesterday wasn't just another Saturday for Chicago's children—big and little. It was Circus day, spelled with a capital "C," and therefore in a category with legal holidays.

Grant park in that territory opposite the Blackstone and Stevens hotels bore evidence to the fact that the half holidays from loop stores and offices were being spent at the first performance of the engagement of Ringling Bros. and Barnum and Bailey circus. A continuous stream of people flowed across Michigan avenue and along the park drives. The "big top" was billowing in the wind, barkers cried their wares, the animals boomed in their cages, and the big and little children thrilled over the breath-taking acts of an institution that never goes out of date.

Performers Draw Applause.

What the performers didn't do to keep applause circling around the arena isn't worth recording. They stood on their heads and slid down wires; they danced on tight ropes; they did such daring acrobatic stunts that some folks forgot to breathe. The clown with the funniest face shared equally in popularity with the management's newest act from Europe, and "Ohs!" and "Ahs!" and "Boy, look at that!" echoed around the five busy rings.

All the glamour of the traditional circus is compressed in two and a half hours of changing color and action, with a brass band banging away on a new tune every change of the ring. Five black seals playing "America," on a musical instrument as if they enjoyed it. Con Colleano does a Spanish dance on a tight wire and ends up by turning a forward somersault without losing his balance. Luicita Leers does a trapeze act in which she swings with her only hold the muscles of the back of her neck.

Is Shot from Cannon.

The climax of the circus comes when Hugo Zacchini is shot from the mouth of a cannon mounted on a motor car, and lands safely in a net. This is his first appearance in America with the act, which he claims to have originated.

Tomorrow 12,000 crippled, undernourished, underprivileged, and orphaned children will be guests of the circus management. At 9:45 a special performance will start for children from 250 institutions. Mrs. Charles E. Frankenthal, former president of the Children's Benefit league, will direct the transportation to the circus grounds.

BEG YOUR PARDON!

Congressman Morton D. Hull was reported as having spoken at the Union League club on waterways. Congressman William E. Hull of Peoria was meant.

CORCORAN MAY SETTLE IN AUTO DAMAGE CASE

A possible civil settlement of damages was indicated yesterday when John J. Corcoran, 23 years old, 5729 Kenmore avenue, son of a wealthy contractor, was granted a continuance in the case of damaging the automobile of Sol Rosenfield, 1633 East Eighty-fourth street. The accident occured on Memorial day in front of the Edgewater Beach hotel. Corcoran's alleged habits of reckless automobile driving were called to public attention last week when he was indicted by the grand jury for beating up Kaspar G. Schmidt, son of City Controller George K. Schmidt, following an automobile accident.

"LOST" BURNHAM REPORT OF 1893 FAIR RECOVERED

Volumes to Guide 1933 Exposition Planners.

Ten large volumes, 3 feet by 4 feet and 6 inches thick, in which the late Daniel Hudson Burnham told all his experiences as chief of construction and director of works of the World's Columbian exposition of 1893, have just been recovered from a vault in the Field museum, where they have been "lost" for many years.

The books come to hand at a time when the famous architect's son, the D. H. Burnham of today, and a committee of other prominent men are working on plans for the 1933 centennial world's fair and when they may profit by the sage advice of the man who conceived the beautiful Chicago Plan and who has often been called "the Father of the Skyscraper."

Reports Are Typewritten.

The late Mr. Burnham's letter tendering the voluminous report to the committee in charge of the old world's fair was dated Oct. 3, 1894. The books contain many pictures, photographs, and maps, and their text is typewritten. When the citizens of the 90s got through perusing them a vault was built for them in the basement of the old Fine Arts building, which is now being rehabilitated in Jackson park.

When the Field museum was moved from the old building in Jackson park to its new imposing structure in Grant park, a new vault was built and the books were again stored there.

The D. H. Burnham of today for many years knew of the existence of the books. He often said that his father had told him about them many times before his death in Heidelburg, Germany, in 1912, but never told him where the volumes were kept.

They were discovered last week quite by accident in the vault in the Grant Park building and D. H. Burnham at once had them brought to his studio in the Burnham building, where they have been of the greatest interest to the men planning the world's fair of 1933.

Mr. Burnham said yesterday that he has been reading the big books carefully, but that so far he has gone through only three of the volumes. Mr. Burnham is secretary of the board of trustees for the 1933 centennial.

"I find there is a vast accumulation of advice and experience in the conduct of expositions at our hand in the work of my father," Mr. Burnham said. "He has set forth the mistakes made in his day and pointed the way to avoid trouble. The trustees are of the opinion the work is invaluable to us and that it will help tremendously in what we are undertaking.

Suggestions on Exhibits.

"There are many valuable suggestions in the books. For instance, it is suggested that the assignment of space for exhibits be all done and stopped by four months before the fair opens, and that all exhibits be received and in place a month before the opening

"My father warns against experiments with transportation, says we must take what has been tried and found efficacious. He tells how twenty-two entrances to the fair grounds were sufficient in his day for handling the Chicago day crowd of 800,000 persons. It gives us some idea what we should do when we expect peak crowds of 2,000,000 or more."

The elder D. H. Burnham in one of the volumes set forth his conclusions in brief form, and among these are the following:

1. That the designing and building of an exposition, including the means of transportation inside of it, and also the artistic arrangement and decoration of exhibits, ought to be purely an architectural achievement.

Wants One Directing Head.

2. That the best results can only be obtained by placing the whole work under the control of one man.

3. That he should be an architect.

4. That the man charged with the designing and building during that time should control the gates, the guard, and all the physical activities touching on or incorporated in a fair.

5. That the man who designs and builds an exposition, other things being equal, should operate the whole property because he is necessarily most familiar with it.

"Of course," the conclusions continue, "he should be under a council which should have a vote over im, both as to expenditures and every other power he exercises; and the council should be made up of men familiar with large organizations, railways, telegraph lines, and large manufacturing institutions."

In addition the late Mr. Burnham warned against dual control, such, he said, as had been exercised at Philadelphia and in the fair he had just passed through. He said dual control results in "loss of time, loss of money, and disjointed arrangements from beginning to end."

A general report returned by H. N. Higinbotham, president of the World's Columbian Exposition, on Jan 1, 1898, stated the report compiled by Mr. Burnham cost $24,925.83.

Great Lakes Paymaster Dies of Sleeping Sickness

Warrant Officer William D. Burroughs, 41 years old, paymaster at the Great Lakes Naval Training station, died of sleeping sickness yesterday after an illness of eighteen days. He is survived by his widow. Funeral services will be held at the station at 8:15 a. m. tomorrow and the body will be taken to Arlington National cemetery for burial.

EVANSTON AND PASSAIC PASTORS TRADE CHURCHES

Announcement has been made of the permanent exchange of pulpits between the Rev. Dr. Kirk Waldo Robbins, pastor of Hemingway Methodist church of Evanston, and the Rev. Dr. Blair Sumner Latshaw, pastor of the First Methodist church of Passaic, N. J. The exchange takes place on Aug. 1, though Dr. Latshaw will not open his work in the Evanston church until the first Sunday in September.

Both pastors have been in their present pastorates for five years. Prior to his pastorate at the Hemingway Methodist church, Dr. Robbins had served several Chicago parishes. He will preach his farewell sermon on Sunday, July 29.

Dr. Latshaw is a graduate of Dickinson college and holds an honorary degree of doctor of divinity from Drew Theological seminary. The exchange received the indorsement of Bishop Francis J. McConnell of New York and Bishop Edwin H. Hughes of Chicago.

VISITS BROTHER IN U. S. CUSTODY; SEIZED HIMSELF

"West Side" Frankie Pope was arrested yesterday in the federal building when he dropped in for a visit with his brother, William, who had been taken into custody on Friday night with three companions on charges of conspiracy to violate the federal anti-narcotic act. Frankie was held on the same charge when federal marshals and narcotic agents recognized him as one who escaped from the group they seized in a raid on the Villa Maurice, 14 South Halsted street. Narcotics estimated at $5,000 in value and a small quantity of liquor were found by the government raiders. The others in custody are Joseph Witck, 215 South Halsted street; Joseph Priorie, 718 North May street, and Frank Bell, who gave no address.

Woman Held for Bigamy; Married Twice in Year

Mrs. Irene Brady, 29 years old, was held in bonds of $2,000 for grand jury action yesterday when she was arraigned before Police Magistrate Harry Hoyt in Waukegan on a charge of bigamy. Jack Brady, whom she married a year ago, said he was willing to forgive her for marrying Kosta Zelkovich, 35 years old, last month and would try to raise the money for her bond. Zelkovich said he would be satisfied to get back $500 he gave her at the time of their marriage.

Two words the nation values at two hundred million dollars

TWO SIMPLE WORDS express the foundation of quality which has made International the greatest manufacturer of shoes in the world.

The two words are "all leather."

The significance of these words places fifty million pairs of International Shoes on America's feet each year. Two hundred million dollars spent annually for these shoes measure the value which wearers place on the quality for which the two words stand.

"All leather," in the code of International quality, means that more than those parts which the eye can see must be of leather. Wherever leather should be in a shoe, International uses leather—from its highest priced pair to its lowest. Substitution is not tolerated.

By these two words, the products of an entire industry are coming to be judged. In more than 70,000 retail stores you will find them used to describe the quality which a good shoe should represent.

But even beyond this policy of "all leather" construction, International recognizes its responsibility for the quality of the leather itself. The choicest hides and skins are critically selected by its own buyers in the leading markets. Its own great system of 14 tanneries, producing only for International, is the most extensive in that industry. And from these tanneries, each concentrating on just one kind of tannage, comes much of the world's finest leather.

By controlling and maintaining this peak of quality, International can and does put better grades of leather into every type of shoe. And by producing the leather within its own tanneries, it puts this quality into its shoes at costs which represent a saving of millions of dollars a year in comparison with open market purchasing. These savings are passed on to the wearers in the form of lower prices for International Shoes than for shoes of like quality.

What is true of leather is true of all materials required in the construction and distribution of its shoes. Even to the boxes which hold the shoes and the cases in which they are shipped, International follows this policy of economical production—all for just one purpose; to lower the price which you pay for quality.

It is this principle of International, working to elevate quality while lowering price, that has given a new significance to modern-day shoe value. It is an accomplishment that has carried quality to new heights, yet made unnecessary the payment of any premium to purchase it.

TO PROVIDE adequate facilities for its tremendous production, to assure uniformity in its high standards of quality, and to effect the economies that lower the price you pay, the International Shoe Company owns and operates—

43 Specialty Shoe Factories, each making just one particular type and grade of shoe, together producing 50,000,000 pairs a year.

1 Cotton Mill, to produce 7,000,000 yards of lining fabric a year.

59 Auxiliary Plants, producing welting, dyes, chemicals, shoe boxes, shipping cartons, trunks, gloves, etc., to the value of more than $30,000,000 a year if purchased from outside sources.

INTERNATIONAL SHOES are marketed under the five marks of quality which are shown below. Together they comprise more than 1,000 styles of footwear for men, women, children and infants. They are sold by more than 70,000 leading merchants, distributed throughout every state in the Union. Regardless of the brand you select, the style you prefer or the price you pay, International Shoes represent the greatest shoe value you can buy.

WORLD'S LARGEST BUILDER OF EIGHTS

STRAIGHT EIGHT wins for 9 straight years!

THIS year, as every year since 1920, a straight eight won the 500-mile Memorial Day Race at Indianapolis . . . a fact which has just this to do with your choice of a motor car—

Eights Preferred

Not only has the eight-cylinder engine become the accepted power for the finest passenger cars—the overwhelming choice of the greatest engineers of both Europe and America—but it utterly dominates the racing field, where cost is the last thing considered. Efficiency, capacity for sustained high speed, is the one and only consideration in the creation of these hand-built speed marvels.

Thus, entirely apart from its supple smoothness, the eight-cylinder motor is the choice of experts where fleetness and staying power are of first importance.

In the passenger car field, such European aristocrats as Bianchi, Bugatti, De Dion-Bouton, Isotta-Fraschini, Mercedes-Benz and Renault, are straight-eight powered because the straight eight is smoother, more flexible, more efficient, and better design.

In 1923, 10% of the makes of cars were eights. Today 41% are eights.

Today 88% of all cars built in the United States, priced at $2200 and upward, are eights

THE EIGHT IS THE CAR OF TODAY · · · AND TOMORROW!

At the recent Olympia Show in London, there were 25 makes of eight-cylinder cars, as against 13 in 1927.

At the Grand Palais in Paris, there were 27 eights shown in 1928, compared with 15 the year before!

Just as the straight eight leads the world as the preferred power for fine cars—so do Studebaker's smart champion eights lead all the eights of the world in sales, regardless of price, or type, or years before the public . . . Sales leadership parallels performance leadership! Studebaker holds every official stock car record for speed and staying power.

Aristocrat by Conquest

Studebaker's great President Eight holds 11 world and 23 international records by virtue of its feat of traveling 30,000 miles in 26,326 consecutive minutes. Think of it—pressing onward for more than 438 consecutive hours at an average speed of 68.3 miles per hour.

Any normal man, woman or child can walk for hours, but running—that's another story. No athlete ever lived who could sprint for ten minutes. Any good automobile can keep in motion for an indefinite period but no automobile other than the Studebaker President Eight ever even attempted to sprint for thirty thousand miles—to race for 438 consecutive hours under the lash of terrific speed! Four Studebaker Presidents started to do this, and each of the four smashed all existing records. Nothing else except comets, suns and other heavenly bodies ever traveled so far so fast,

Strictly Stock Cars

No other car has ever established such conclusive proof of staying power! And the cars that performed this great achievement were strictly stock models selected at random by representatives of the American Automobile Association and timed and checked by that body.

CUBS WIN TWO; TAKE LEAD AS PIRATES SPLIT

35,000 SEE MISSTEP WIN $29,000 ARLINGTON HANDICAP

OLD FAVORITE PAYS 8 TO 1 AS FANS FAIL HIM

Display's Drive Falls Short by Inches.

BY FRENCH LANE.

A crowd of 35,000 prepared to doff hats at Arlington yesterday and admit that all great ioroughbred .orses hail from h e millionaire tables along the tlantic seaboard. The tales of the reat turf deeds Sun Edwin, in Beau, Osnand, Sunfire, nd Display swept hrough the skepical western turf hrong. Hearing hem the fans orgot that in Mis.tep, a fleet chestnut from Kentucky, it had a champion right in its own back yard.

CLARENCE McCROSSEN.

Deserted by the fickle horse followers, who have been watching him show his heels to great fields for three seasons, the price against Misstep soared to 8 to 1 as the field paraded to the post in the $29,000 Arlington handicap. Misstep won it by a head.

It was the veteran Display which he beat by inches in the last desperate struggle. Edward R. Bradley's Buddy Bauer was a length back in third place, with Val Crane's Dowagiac fourth and Sun Edwin fifth. Misstep beat the best band of handicap stars that has come together in a race in America this season. When he ran the mile and an eighth in 1:50 2-5 he clipped a fifth of a second off the track record.

Osmand Sets Pace.

Misstep's glory was shared by Jockey Clarence McCrossen, who so cleverly piloted him to victory. It was probably the greatest ride of McCrossen's career. Misstep was away from the barrier slowly but McCrossen handily sent him into a good position early. Then he took the son of Upset under restraint and let Osmand and Buddy Bauer make and force the early pace. At the head of the stretch Buddy Bauer had conquered Osmand and Misstep was still third, with Dowagiac moving up resolutely but pinned in next to the rail, with no chance to get to the leaders.

Then came more brilliant riding by McCrossen; he picked out another careful path without losing ground, sailed on past the faltering Osmand as they turned into the stretch and in twenty more strides he had shot Misstep to the lead after a brief brush with Buddy Bauer.

But the race was not won. Display, slow to begin and losing ground as he came to the outside, was moving up with one of his old time rushes. It was the same kind of a stretch sprint he staged when he won the Hawthorne gold cup last fall. He was moving up from next to last position and putting one after another of his rivals behind him.

He finally reached Dowagiac and Osmand which were now thoroughly beaten but still fighting for third position. He whipped them in a jiffy. Next he took after Buddy Bauer and conquered the Bradley color bearer a sixteenth from home. He was nearly two lengths back of Misstep.

Display's Drive Falls Short.

Display, with Jockey Schaefer urging him, wore down Misstep inch by inch. His head was at Misstep's flank with 20 more strides to go. He had crawled up to Misstep's saddle girth and there were ten more strides before the end. He lunged forward and now his head was at Misstep's shoulder. In two more strides he would have Misstep conquered.

But there was only one stride remaining and Misstep kept his head to the fore as they lunged past the line of finish. A throng which rivaled the Classic day gathering in size and colored cheered and groaned as Misstep came home.

Until they beat Misstep, the little chestnut must be regarded as a champion. Maybe he can't run as far as some of these stars which trailed him home, but except for Osmand, which he soundly whipped, Misstep gave away weight to every other horse in the race. He performed his job, with the assistance of McCrossen, like a champion.

He didn't let the early leaders shuffle him back out of the contention. When he chose to go to the front he went there. He beat two good horses when he raced Osmand and Buddy Bauer into submission. And he shook off the challenge of Display, one of the greatest stretch runners in the world, in game fashion. Or perhaps he didn't shake it off but he kept running fast enough to lead him to the finish line.

Misstep, which had been 1 to 2 and 3 to 5 in most of his races this year, paid $17.64 to win, $8.12 to place, and $5.40 to show. Display had been entirely overlooked in the betting and he paid $24.78 to place and $16.24 to

Misstep, Leo Marks' famous 4 year old, pride of Kentucky, crosses the finish line winner by a head in Arlington's $29,000 handicap. Jockey Clarence McCrossen rode Misstep to a new track record, covering the mile and an eighth in 1 minute 50 2-5 seconds. Display is second and Buddy Bauer (number 3) is third. Osmand, the east's best, was out of the money. Dowagiac (number 18) finished fourth. Deserted by many of his followers, Misstep paid $17.64 to win, while Display, almost entirely overlooked in the betting, paid $24.78 to place.

SCANDAL ROCKS METRO GOLF AS MEHLHORN WINS

Lido Country Club, N. Y., July 20.—[Special.]—A scandal exploded in the faces of U. S. G. A. officials, a field of 140 of the nation's best golfers and a large and well groomed gallery at the Metropolitan open championship at Lido today.

BILL MEHLHORN.

Arthur D. Potter, an obscure Brooklyn professional, who turned in a card of 64 at dusk Friday to lead the field at the halfway mark, was accused of falsifying his score and disqualified. The 64 was the lowest card ever turned in for 18 holes in American major competition.

The tournament was won by Wild Bill Melhorn of the Fenimore Country club with 73—74—73—68—288.

While Official Scorer Lester Palmer was at luncheon a phone call came for him from Harry Hunnerhoff, another Brooklyn pro, who was partnered with Potter the day before. Hunnerhoff informed Palmer he had falsified Potter's record card.

This morning, under the eagle eyes of U. S. G. A. scorers Potter shot an 83. Walter Z. Shafer, president of the Metropolitan golf association and John A. Ladds, chairman of the tournament committee, after hearing Hunnerhoff's tale held a conference, then walked out on the course and interrupted Potter. They asked Potter if he had shot a 64 the day previous. He stoutly insisted he had. They permitted him to play out the remaining nine holes and then announced Potter's disqualification.

MRS. HILL BEATS MARION TURPIE FOR GOLF TITLE

Denver, Colo., July 20.—(AP)—Mrs. O. S. Hill, Kansas City, retained the women's trans-Mississippi golf championship this afternoon by defeating Miss Marion Turpie of New Orleans, on the 37th hole, 1 up.

It's Worth Notice That Yesterday—

HACK WILSON of the Cubs hit safely for the 27th consecutive game when he singled in the third inning of the second contest with Brooklyn.

Sun Edwin, which finished fifth in the Arlington handicap yesterday, was sold by Willis Sharp Kilmer to Arden Farms stable for $70,000 just a couple of days before Kilmer sold Reigh Count, American champion, to Mrs. John D. Hertz for $12,000.

Rabbitt Maranville, who was named pro tem manager of the Boston Braves, played with that club when it rose from last place on July 4 to win the league and world's championship in 1914.

Burleigh Grimes, star pitcher of the Pirates, who was forced out of the game indefinitely with an injured thumb has a season's record of 16 victories and two defeats.

Guy Bush won his thirteenth victory in fourteen starts for the Cubs. The north siders have 72 more games to play. If Bush pitches every fourth day and maintains his current pace he will win 28 games for his team.

Although the White Sox yesterday won their fifth victory in their last seven starts, batting averages for the week show that only two players, Shires and Hoffman, hit above .300.

McDermott and Pichon Suspended for Poor Riding

The stewards at Arlington took drastic action against three jockeys yesterday. L. Pichon has been suspended indefinitely for a questionable ride on Blanc Seing on July 15, the stewards announced. Since Pichon's ride, Blanc Seing has won two races and was second in another. For a careless and indifferent ride on Voltear in the feature race of Friday, Jockey L. McDermott was suspended for the remainder of the meeting. Jockey Willie Garner was fined $100 for rough riding on Osmand in the Arlington handicap yesterday.

Gaston's Amusing Error Gives White Sox 4-3 Win in Ninth

BY EDWARD BURNS.

Milton Gaston was in a fair way to become a lion yesterday, then suddenly noticed the uniform he was wearing and he ended a goat. Milt, after some great pitching, pulled an unprecedented faux pas with two down in the ninth which enabled the White Sox to make it three straight over the Boston Red Sox by a score of 4 to 3.

From the close of the first inning until the ninth Gaston did not allow a Comiskey player to reach first base—seven innings of perfect pitching. His great string came after a nervous start in which the White Sox had made four hits for three runs, but in the eighth the score was tied at 3 to 3, so it appeared he would be rewarded for his excellent work after all.

A Heartbreaking Finish.

He opened the ninth with his only walk of the game, a pass to Metzler. Alex was forced by Cissell, then the Great Shires got his second and the Sox's fifth hit, putting Cissell on third. As per his custom with men on, Reynolds popped up a foul fly.

Gaston had two strikes on Kamm when Shires broke for second. Although neither the shortstop nor the second baseman covered second, Gaston stepped from the box and feinted a throw toward the bag. As he did so the ball slipped from his hand and bounced toward left field. Whereupon Cissell ran in with the winning run, which seems to be one for the book, even if a game between the White Sox and the Red Sox doesn't mean much.

The White Sox encouraged Little Moose Walsh with a rushing start in the first inning, which included the Great Shires' first hit of the afternoon, making it the nineteenth consecutive game in which he has hit safely. He now has only 22 games to go to tie the modern record held by George Sisler.

After Metzler had been thrown out in the first inning Cissell beat out a bunt and went to second when Shires singled to deep short. Reynolds flied to Scarritt for the second out, but Kamm came through with a single to center that scored Cissell and put Shires on third. Capt. Bill took second on the throw-in. Hoffman singled to left, scoring Shires and Kamm, but was out trying to reach second, Williams to Reeves to Narlesky.

Boston Ties Score.

The Red Sox got an unearned run in the fourth inning. W. Barrett was safe on Cissell's fumble and stopped at second on Reese's single to left. Todt also singled to left, scoring W. Barrett. Reese reached third on Metzler's error in returning the ball to the infield. The White Sox then broke up a double steal, Berg to Kerr to Shires to Cissell to Shires to Kamm to Berg, Reese being out at the plate.

In the eighth the Red Sox tied the score. After Gaston had fanned Narlesky singled and went to third on Rothrock's single. Williams singled, scoring Narlesky and putting Rothrock on third. Manager Carrigan lost no time getting Bill Barrett out of the bitting order, and Scarritt, who batted for Barrett, sent a sacrifice fly to Hoffman which scored Rothrock with the tying run. Bigelow batted for Reeves and was thrown out by Kerr.

Gives Young Ed Even Break.

The ninth, which proved such an ill reward for Gaston's talent, gave the Sox their ninth win in fifteen starts against the invading eastern clubs, by far the best showing they've made this year in any similar period of time. The win also lifted Walsh into the circle of Sox pitchers who boast .500, the rest of the circle being Red Faber.

MARANVILLE NOT BRAVES' PILOT, BUT LEADS TRIP

Boston, Mass., July 20.—(AP)—President Emil Fuchs of the Braves tonight told the Associated Press that he had not appointed Walter [Rabbit] Maranville, veteran shortstop, manager of the team, as had been reported today. He said he merely had put Maranville in charge for the duration of the western trip which begins tomorrow night.

President Fuchs, who has been acting in the double rôle of president and manager of the club this season, said he had placed Maranville in charge of the team because he will not be with it for at least a part of the western trip. He said he would be in Cincinnati for a "few days."

The earlier report that Maranville had been made manager was due to a misunderstanding, explained on the ground that Fuchs has been looking for a manager and many persons expected Maranville might be appointed. He has had previous managerial experience with the Cubs.

PIRATES, GIANTS SPLIT TWIN BILL; GRIMES IS HURT

New York, July 20.—(AP)—The Giants pushed the Pittsburgh Pirates out of first place in the National league today by splitting a double bill with the Buccaneers. Pittsburgh won the first game, 5 to 2, but the Giants reversed the decision in the second, 8 to 4. The result put the Pirates three points behind the Cubs.

Burleigh Grimes got credit for his 16th victory of the season in the first game, although he had to leave the fray in the seventh inning with an injured hand. An X-ray revealed Grimes had suffered a splintered thumb bone that is likely to keep him out of the game a month. Both of the starting pitchers in the second game failed to last. The relief work of Mays and Petty featured.

NIP ROBINS, 6-5, IN TEN INNINGS; 4-1 IN NINE

Bush, Blake Hurl Bruin Victories.

BY IRVING VAUGHAN.

Brooklyn, N. Y., July 20.—The Cubs ave resumed their tenancy of the National league's irst place apartment. They recaptured the lease n the coveted pot this after oon by putting .ogether a double ictory over their avorite Robins hile the Giants and until now eading Pirates ere reaching a eciprocal agreement in their win activities ver at the Polo rounds.

PAT MALONE.

The right to occupy the top is mighty flimsy, being nly a matter of three points, but it s none the less official and they can't e moved out for a couple of days, t least, if Pat Malone is able to outmart Dazzy Vance in the final of the astern trip tomorrow.

The scores of the pleasing show put n here before some 22,000, who aparently came for no other reason han to exercise their vocal chords n Pudgy Hack Wilson, were 6 to 5 n ten innings and 4 to 1 in regulaion time. In addition to bringing bout a change in the percentage colmns, the events also proved highly atisfactory to Guy Bush, who had to ght like a Trojan in the opening bate to get his thirteenth win of the eason and for Fred Sheriff Blake, who produced some nightcap pitching hat may be the forerunner of his reurn to form.

Score Early on Bush.

Before the bats of Stephenson and Grimm broke up the first game, the Cubs had been forced to go through lot of uncomfortable moments beause of what had happened to Bush the opening inning. The Robins aught the star right hander in a ose moment and before closing their rst attack became the possessors of four runs.

Some of this also can be attributed to a couple of blunders by Zach Taylor. After this, however, Bush was invincible except in the seventh when the Robins scored another, but in the meantime the Cubs, by virtue of rallies in the second and fifth, both after two were out, had picked up enough runs to create a 5 to 5 tie.

As in their two other scoring operations, the Chicagoans didn't start on their winning run in the tenth until after two were deposed. Both Hornsby and Wilson had flied out before Cuyler survived on a garden variety of fumble by Rhiel at second. Stephenson, who had singled two runs across in the fifth, produced another hit and Cuyler raced to third on it. A moment later Grimm bounced a high single over Bissonette's head and Kiki strolled home with the needed run.

Wilson Hits Safely Again.

The Cubs weren't called upon to do any uphill battling in the afterpiece. They concentrated their fire in one inning, the third, and kept the mêlée in progress against Johnny Morrison until the session had developed all their runs. They uncorked five hits in this round alone and made only four during the eight other innings, one of them being by Wilson and giving him a mark of 27 consecutive games in which he has connected safely. Meanwhile, Blake proved able to mow down the Robins with monotonous regularity barring a few anxious moments caused by lack of control in the waning innings. The Sheriff always was safe, however.

Bush's bad first round in the initial combat started with the opening pitch. Fredericks lined it over third for a double. Gilbert sent a single to right and Fredericks intended to stop at third but went home when Taylor let Cuyler's perfect return throw get away. Herman walked and Bressler filled the sacks with a single to right. Bissonette tapped to Bush and a double play was possible, but Taylor dropped Bush's throw, Gilbert scoring and the bases remaining loaded. Flowers walked, forcing Herman to score. Bressler ran home with the fourth run of the inning while Bancroft and Flowers were being wiped up in a double play.

By making use of Bancroft's generosity the Cubs retrieved two of the four runs against them in the second frame.

Bancroft Throws Wild.

The round opened rather unimpressively. Cuyler fanned and Stephenson flied to Fredericks. Grimm then singled to center. Taylor sent a hopper to Bancroft, who threw wild in attempting a force play at second. Clark paid Bush a compliment by walking him, filling the bases. McMillan ripped off a single over short, shoving Grimm and Taylor across the plate and anchoring Bush on third. English grounded into a forceout, so there was no more excitement for the time being.

Clark discovered in the fifth that there really is a little dynamite concealed in McCarthy's attack. The Cubs showed him five successive hits after two were out and scored three times. A double to left by English was the first. Hornsby scored him with a double to right. Wilson slashed a hot single past third base and Hornsby counted. Cuyler beat out a hit to deep short. Stephenson singled to center, Wilson scoring, but Stevie tried to get an extra base on his blow and was retired.

Cuyler was only about two steps away from the plate with another run when Stevie was tagged for the third out. This made the count 5 to 4 in Chicago's favor.

A string of five hitless innings snapped and Bush's one run advantage started to get away from him when Bancroft doubled to right with one gone in the seventh. Cuyler gave the ball a kick, so Bancroft went as far as third. Picinich then, sent a scorching single past third base and Bancroft crossed the plate, making the score 5 and 5. Fredercika also singled in this chapter after Clark had fanned, but Bush nailed Gilbert on a pop foul to Taylor.

Hornsby Makes Nice Stop.

Even after the Cubs had gathered what proved the winning run the Robins annoyed Bush considerably in the home tenth. Herman popped out, but Bressler whisked a single between short and third. Bissonette aimed a hard low liner at Hornsby, who got the ball on a short hop and threw to English, forcing Bressler at second. Then Rhiel scratched a hit in front of the plate, putting the tying run on second. Bancroft, then, bounced to Grimm and the first half of the show was concluded.

Prior to sewing up the second game with their four run rally in the third the Cubs had done nothing much with Morrison's pitching. But they made up for it. Schulte touched off the barrage with a single and Blake walked. Schulte forgot to stay close to second and was picked off. English pushed a single past first base and Heathcote planted a Texas league safety behind third, Blake scoring. English ran home on a hit by Hornsby. A pass to Wilson jammed the bases.

Stephenson fouled out and Grimm doubled close to the left field line, Heathcote and Hornsby crossing the pan. Thereafter, the Chicagoans were well tamed by Morrison's curving.

Umpire Banishes Schulte.

Until the sixth when the Robins bestirred themselves to the extent of their first and last run, Blake had yielded them only two hits. One was a scratch to McMillan by Bancroft in the third and the other a double by Henline with one gone in the fifth. They uncorked two more in the sixth for their tally. Gilbert led off with a dinky roller in front of the plate. Taylor, who had just come into the argument because of Schulte being banished for loud talking to Ump Pfirman over a third strike, was unable to pick up the ball and it was registered as a hit. The next two batters were set down but Bissonette refused to yield. He wacked a double down the right field line and Gilbert ran home.

VAN RYN, ALLISON PUT U. S. INTO DAVIS CUP FINAL

BERLIN, July 20.—(AP)—Once again France and America will fight it out for possession of the Davis cup, historic emblem of tennis supremacy among nations of the world.

By conquering Germany this afternoon in the doubles for their third and decisive match of the series, the players from the United States won the interzone round and the right to challenge France for the big silver bowl.

Under a sun that produced perspiration on the unsheltered brows of 5,000 spectators, Johnny Van Ryn of New Jersey and Wilmer Allison of Texas administered the knockout blow to Germany's tennis hopes for 1929. In four sparkling sets they defeated Daniel Prenn and Hans Moldenhauer, 9-11, 6-2, 6-4, 6-3. The German stars, each of whom had tasted defeat in the singles yesterday against Big Bill Tilden and Francis Hunter, went down with colors flying.

Final Matches Merely Exhibitions.

The remaining two singles matches of the series tomorrow, with Tilden playing Prenn and Hunter opposing Moldenhauer, have no bearing on the situation other than to carry out the schedule and help the gate receipts.

An ardent and articulate assembly of German spectators saw the brilliant play in the doubles, and at one time almost sensed the joy of anticipated victory. This was when Prenn and Moldenhauer carried off the long and keenly contested first set and gained a lead of 2-0 in the second set. But at this point youth began to have its way, and the tide turned in favor of Allison and Van Ryn.

Audaciously advancing to the net, volleying everything and anything they could reach, often leaping high in the air to return lobs intended to drive them back, the young Americans swept aside the German challenge for six straight games and drew level at one set each.

Turning Point of Match.

Again in the third set the Germans got a lead of 2-1, then 3-2, as both Prenn and Moldenhauer displayed dashing skill. But on Van Ryn's service, with Allison a stone wall at the net, the Americans drew up to 3-3, then took the lead on a break through Prenn's service after a hard deuce struggle. This was the real turning point of the match.

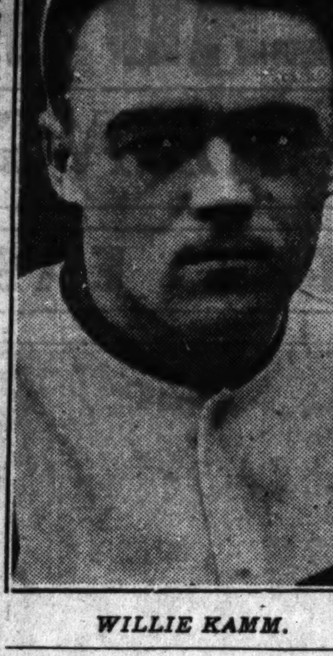
From then on the Americans set a winning pace, though they had to fight hard and clip off brilliant shots from all parts of the court to keep command of the situation. In the fourth and last set, the Americans won four games on their own service and twice broke through Prenn's delivery, winding up their day's work with three fine smashes that German racquets failed to touch.

Chicagoans Help Midwest Four Triumph at Rumson

Rumson, N. J., July 20.—(AP)—The Midwestern polo four defeated the United States Army team, 10 to 8, in the national junior championships today. Barney Balding of the Midwestern array, a Chicagoan, was the winners' chief offensive threat, scoring five goals. S. Knox scored three goals for the winners and W. M. Blair, another Chicagoan, the other two. Lieut. McClure scored six of the army's eight goals.

Kamm, Like Ol' Man River, Just Keeps Rolling Along

BY EDWARD BURNS.



WILLIE KAMM.

William Edward Kamm, the American league's premier third baseman, is a lot like Ol' Man River in that he jus' keeps rollin' along, year after year.

Bill may be discouraged because he's never known the thrill of playing on a first division ball club since he joined the White Sox in the spring of 1923—but it's never shown in his work. He has led the league's regular third basemen in fielding every year he has been in the majors except the first, and then he was second to Joe Dugan and accepted 70 chances more than Joe. All other years he has been supreme over other players playing in 100 or more games.

Since joining the Sox, by whom he was purchased from the San Francisco club for $100,000, you remember, Bill never has played in fewer than 143 games and last year led the league in number of games played by a third baseman with 155.

Not Smoking up Kamm.

It may be as well to break in right here with the remark that this piece is in no way designed to smoke up Mr. Kamm for the managership of the White Sox, a connection in which his name frequently has been mentioned. It is our opinion that Bill would be a chump to take on any such burden under the present system of running things on the south side. Bill is only 29 and far too good a ball player to have his career blighted by the harassing duties and buck passing that a Comiskey managership involves.

If the job were a plum, Bill would deserve it, for his loyalty and continued earnest endeavor is a trait all too rare among White Sox players. Sulkers don't lead the league in anything desirable at any time, and Kamm's record is the best testimonal of his spirit.

If Kamm ever grumbles, he keeps it well to himself. And goodness knows he had plenty of opportunity to become a moaner, for he and Bib Falk were inseparable pals for years. Bib moaned himself into mediocrity and Kamm still is a star, even if the unique organization of professional baseball dooms him to serve out his career on the White Sox.

Sox Blunder, but Not Kamm.

The extent to which Kamm annually settles down to his knitting was best demonstrated last year. The Sox as a team floundered about even more than usual, spending most of the first half of the season in the cellar. There was a change of managers on July 4, and everything tended to place the club in an uproar. But 1928 was Bill Kamm's best year. He led the American league in games played, with 155; in putouts, with 243, and in fielding, with .977. He had only 12 errors in 533 chances. And he batted .308.

1924	147	1	.971
1925	152	1	.957
1926	143	1	.978
1927	148	1	.972
1928	155	1	.977

In the entire span from 1923 to 1928, inclusive, Kamm made only 97 errors, and the last three years of the period made only 38 errors in the total of 446 games, an average of approximately 12 games to each error.

Misstep Runs at 8-1; Wins $29,000 Stake show. Buddy Bauer's show price was $9.42. The prices shocked the big crowd which had expected Misstep to be the favorite, but the spectators didn't realize many of Misstep's regular followers were deserting him and throwing their support to Sun Beau, Osmand, Dowagiac, and to Sun Edwin.

From an overnight field of 20, eight were scratched. Twelve went to the post and the start was a good one. There was practically no interference despite the fact that most of those in the field raced closely grouped most of the way. It was a truly run race. Misstep was the best horse. McCrossen was the best jockey on this occasion, outriding such stars as Pony McAtee, Willie Garner, Alfred Johnson, Earl Pool, and Steve O'Donnell.

The race was worth $22,075 to Leo J. Marks, who is the proprietor of the Lemar Stock farm of Kentucky, in whose silks Misstep ran. Display earned $4,000 for his owner, Walter J. Salmon, Buddy Bauer's share of the pot was $2,000 and Dowagiac got $1 000 for running fourth.

OHIO SCHEDULE MAKERS LINE UP NEW OPPONENTS

Columbus, O., July 20.—[Special.]—Although varsity sport engagements are far in the offing, Ohio State university schedule makers are lining up a number of new opponents for Buckeye teams during the school year, 1929-'30.

Another dual track meet has been carded with the University of Pittsburgh. The two track teams met here last spring in a meet that produced many high grade marks. The 1930 meet will be run off April 19 at Pittsburgh.

During the recent season in which Ohio State won the national collegiate track title a newcomer on the Buckeye schedule was the Navy, which was defeated in a dual meet at Annapolis. The Middies will appear here next spring in a return engagement, which has been scheduled for May 10, the Saturday following the 1930 Ohio relays.

MILLS, GIANTS PLAY TWO.

The Mills baseball team and the Chicago Giants will play a double header at Mills stadium, Kilpatrick avenue and Lake street, this afternoon, the first battle starting at 1:30 o'clock.

YANKS, INDIANS DIVIDE HEAVY HITTING GAMES

Babe Ruth Pinch Hits in Second Contest.

Cleveland, O., July 20.—(AP)—The Yankees dropped to a point 9½ games behind the league leading Athletics today by dividing a free hitting double header with the Indians. Cleveland won the first game, 8 to 4, behind the good pitching of Joe Shaute. The Yankees batted out an 11 to 6 decision in the second.

The champions started hitting late in the second contest, landing on Miljus for a five run rally in the seventh inning. They continued against Hudlin and Shoffner for 16 hits. Fred Heimach did some fine relief pitching for the Yankees after he replaced Sherid.

Philadelphia, Pa., July 20.—[Special.]—Thanks to Lefty O'Doul, the Phillies won a double header from the Cincinnati Reds this afternoon. They took the opener, 9 to 4, and the nightcap, 3 to 2, in ten innings.

O'Doul stepped to the plate in the tenth inning, the first batter. With the count three and two Lefty leaned on Eppa Rixey's delivery and drove it over the right field wall for his 20th homer of the season and a victory. Score:

HORNSBY, OTT MAKE GAINS IN BIG SIX CHASE

With double headers along most of the line yesterday, only two members of the Big Six were able to better their batting averages. Rogers Hornsby added three points to his former mark of .360 by hitting four times in nine attempts, while Mel Ott lifted his mark the same distance to .327 with three out of six. Heinie Manush slipped out of his tie with Jimmy Foxx for the lead by hitting but once in five tries. He went down to .381 while Foxx dropped to .386. The standing:

NOW MR. FOGARTY IS SUING TUNNEY FOR HALF MILLION

Bridgeport, Conn., July 20.—[Special.]—James Joseph [Gene] Tunney, former heavyweight champion of the world, was sued for another half million dollars in Connecticut today.

The plaintiff is John S. Fogerty, former Fort Worth, Tex., plumber and divorced second husband of Katherine King Fogerty, whose $500,000 breach of promise suit against Tunney is pending in New Haven.

Fogarty filed suit for $500,000 in Superior court at Stamford, charging alienation of affections. He alleges that Tunney stole the love of Mrs. Fogarty and brought about her divorce from him. Pending the outcome of his suit, Fogarty, in another action filed simultaneously at Stamford, attached the Erskine road country estate in Stamford which Tunney purchased a short time before his engagement to the Lauder heiress was announced.

The $125,000 property earlier had been attached by Mrs. Fogarty, pending the outcome of her own suit for breach of promise.

Through his suit Fogarty indicates that he will use the absolution affidavit Mrs. Fogarty signed and the existence of which Tunney's attorneys have admitted. Mrs. Fogarty, in her papers, admitted she received $23,000, two days before the Tunney-Heeney championship fight, for signing an affidavit that she had "no claim upon him of any kind and never did have."

The complaint filed by Fogarty is returnable to the Superior court at Stamford in September. Tunney's lawyers tonight would offer no comment on the suit.

Defeat Drops Tigers to Fifth Place.

Detroit, Mich., July 20.—(AP)—Bob Grove, the league's leading pitcher, hung up his 16th victory of the season as the Athletics took their third straight game of the series with the Tigers here today. The score was 6 to 2 and the defeat moved Detroit to fifth place in the standings.

Grove struck out eight Tigers and six of Mack's men fanned. Manager Buck Harris of the Tigers made his first appearance of the season in the field, replacing Gehringer, who was hit by a pitched ball in the first. Score:

Announcement

WE HAVE secured the franchise to distribute Stewart Motor Trucks in this city and vicinity. Before making the selection of the Stewart line, we made a searching investigation of the truck field for a suitable line of trucks which would uphold our reputation, and also hold up under hard service.

Stewart was our choice because we found that in the long run they are most economical to buy and maintain. We learned that many concerns operate large fleets of Stewarts. They are being used daily in over 800 American cities, on thousands of farms and in 53 overseas countries.

Stewart modern design ends the chief cause of truck trouble and expense. Stewarts stay on the job. Repair bills are negligible. When necessary, they are quickly made—no high labor expense—no long absence from service. Fuel, oil and tire economy are exceptional.

Stewart Trucks have won—By costing less to run

CHICAGO YACHTS START 331 MILE RACE TO MACKINAC ISLAND, THE TWENTY-SECOND RENEWAL OF THE CHICAGO YACHT CLUB'S FRESH WATER CLASSIC. Five members of the cruising division were first to cross the starting line at 4 o'clock. Five minutes later the larger boats of the same division laid their courses north-northeast, and Chicago's sky line, broken by the tall loop buildings, gradually dropped below the western horizon. In the foreground is Paul L'Amoreaux' schooner, Wednameen. The racing division, including the four universal design racers, were later groups to leave for Point Betsy, 186 miles distant on the Michigan shore, the first leg of the Mackinac journey. The length of time required for the trip depends on the breeze, the average time being 48 hours. Seventy-two hours should see all the yachts at the island, no matter what the handicap levied by varying winds. [TRIBUNE Photo.] (Story on page 4, Sports.)

OSMAND, BUDDY BAUER, AND MISSTEP LEAD AS THE HANDICAP STARS COME AROUND THE TURN INTO THE STRETCH. A few leaps and Jockey Smith brought Buddy Bauer into the lead. Osmand (on the rail) is failing fast, but Misstep, who had started slowly and never had been better than third, came on. Gradually Misstep wore down Buddy Bauer and then lasted long enough to get a head decision over Display's fast finish. (Story on page 1, Sports.)

MACKINAC GOAL AS 22 YACHTS START ON WAY

Twenty-two crews started a 331 mile journey from Chicago to Mackinac island at 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon in the Chicago Yacht club's twenty-second edition of the fresh water racing classic. With from 48 to 72 hours of sailing ahead of them, depending on the graciousness of the breeze, the sailors buckled down to business at the start just as they would on a nine mile club course journey.

Five members of the cruising division took the first gun at 4 at the starting line off the Van Buren street gap and headed north northeast for Point Betsy on the Michigan shore, 186 miles away.

The first to cross the line were G. M. Jones' yawl Kayoshk II., H. D. Beaumont's yawl Comet, C. C. Johnson's sloop Victory, A. E. Pierce's schooner Quick Silver, of the Chicago Yacht club, and R. R. Schaddeller's Hilaria, a Milwaukee Yacht club entry.

Leave at Intervals.

At 4:05 the larger members of the cruising division, L. W. Johnson's yawl Siesta, Paul L'Amoreaux's schooner Wednameen, Lynn Williams' schooner Elizabeth, Robert P. Benedict's schooner Bagheera of the Chicago Yacht club, and Herbert T. Randall's schooner Malabar VI., and Louis Schuette's schooner Gesine, Milwaukee Yacht club boats, hit the trail for the head of Lake Michigan.

The members of the racing division trailed after the cruisers at 4:30, when seven of the smaller racing craft crossed the line. These starters included Karas Brothers' "Q" class sloop Siren, racing division winner for the last two years, and one of the favorites in this year's competition. The others on the 4:30 start were: Jedzry-Kowski's Princess and Byrne's Sinbad, "Q" class sloops; Ben Carpenter's Freya, with George Carpenter in command; H. A. Newman's yawl Illinois, the Hewett-Ortmayer syndicate's yawl Patsy, and Harold T. Simmons' schooner Blue Moon.

Pace Depends on Breeze.

At 4:35 the four big Universal design racers, the rear guard, got away in good shape to challenge Siren's supremacy in the 1929 race. Dorello of the Milwaukee Yacht club, scratch boat of the racing division, and the only "N" class racer on the great lakes, the two "P" class sloops Joyant and Vagabond, from the Chicago and Milwaukee Yacht clubs, respectively, and Julian Armstrong's big Universal design schonoer, Tecumseh, were the last to start.

If the breezes hold, this morning will find the racers well on their way to Point Betsy. By sundown this evening most of the speedsters will have rounded the stormiest promentory on the Michigan shore and be headed through the Manitou strait and north past Little and Grand Traverse, and Charlevoix bays on the second leg.

Vines Beats Pare; Moves Into Finals

ELLSWORTH VINES.

Two California school boys, Ellsworth Vines and Keith Gledhill, still playing junior division tennis, are the finalists in the western singles championship at Skokie Country club. The first match starts this afternoon at 2 p. m.

Ellsworth Vines 18 year old lad from Pasadena startled the gallery yesterday when he decisively trimmed Emmet Pare, defending champion and recent winner of the national clay court singles crown, in four sets. Pare was favored to win, but Vines rose to the occasion and smacked the ball with pace and accuracy to trim the Chicago boy. The scores were 6-1, 1-6, 6-3, 7-5.

Gledhill reached the final round by a stirring four set victory over Cliff Sutter of New Orleans Friday.

It was a good day for the California youngsters, who last week won the intersectional team championship for the California association. They teamed together to trim Pare and Kirk Reid of Cleveland, 9-7, 6-4, 9-7, to reach the doubles final as well.

Fred Royer, former Oklahoma university star, and George O'Connell meet the Californians today as a result of their five set victory over their fellow Chicagoans, George Jennings and Leroy Weir, yesterday. Royer and O'Connell, the intercity doubles champions, won at 8-6, 4-6, 6-1, 1-6, 6-2.

Ruth Bailey, ranking star of the Missouri valley, sprung an upset yesterday when she eliminated Caroline Swarts of San Francisco in straight sets, 6-2, 7-5.

Clara Louise Zinke of Cincinnati is the other woman singles finalist by virtue of her three set win over Catherine Wolf of Indianapolis at 6-2, 2-6, 6-3.

The Mesdames Reise and Duffy of Cleveland trimmed Ruth Willard and Ruth Hofmeister of Chicago handily, 6-2, 6-2, to reach the women's doubles championship round where they encounter the Misses Zinke and Oexman of Cincinnati. Zinke and Oexman outlasted Bailey and McHale, Missouri-Texas team, winning, 6-1, 5-7, 7-5.

In the WAKE of the NEWS

HARVEY WOODRUFF.

THE WAKE FAMILY.

SOME time ago we asked any Wake readers interested enough to tell us what, if anything, they liked best about this column with a view to catering to their preferences if possible. It was a small, inconspicuous note. Response fairly overwhelmed us, both in number and character of replies.

Where we had expected perhaps a dozen or fifteen readers might take the trouble to write during the hot weather, there was initial volume which has continued until now. What delighted us was the personal character of the responses. While we are no stranger to criticism, these replies seemed to indicate that possibly we had achieved, in part, our purpose in this column.

Our purpose has been to create a Wake family—that Helpers and their conductor might understand one another; that while errors of judgment might be made, it would be understood they were made in good faith; that the Wake family might go its way seeking the best in sport with an attempt to be constructive rather than destructive; that we might prove sport and athletics on the whole are worth while.

If a newspaper writer of thirty years' experience ever could become sentimental, we now would wax sentimental. Even where readers with dry leanings and honest intentions criticized our aversion, equally honest, to present methods of dry enforcement, those criticisms were friendly in tone and cordial. It was the most pleasing response from readers we ever have experienced.

So now, Wake family, we are postponing recapitulation of what is preferred in this column while responses still continue. If others wish their choices tabulated they will be accommodated. Perhaps when this is over we'll ask you what you like least.

Meantime, Helpers and readers, we thank you for your encouragement, especially since our original little note neither sought nor anticipated such encouragement.

Ambition Thwarted.

HTW: As a boy I enviously admired the nonchalant man who stood on the sidewalk in front of the "Commercial hotel" and musingly jingled silver dollars in his pocket. Such poise, such self-satisfaction, such affluence! Some day I should have a great wealth and stand at ease jingling dollars. But now fiat money has driven sound money (as the economists would say) out of circulation and one more boyhood ambition fades as paper frogskins have supplanted silver cartwheels. F. J. La Marcha.

Early in the Evening.

Early in the evening, flowers kissing
dew,
Early in the evening, hours missing
you,
With the charm of the first lonely star
in the blue,
Empty arms and a heart that's just aching for you.
Dusky after sun-time, doves are calling
low,
Seems to be the one time when I miss you so,
'Tho I want you from morning until the shadows fall,
Early in the evening I miss you most of all. Paul Fogarty.

Bar Fixtures.

Lee Alward, who presides over the destinies of the Furniture Mart, has received a plaintive appeal from a firm in Havana, Cuba. This firm deals in equipment for hotels, cafés and restaurants. Its appeal is for Lee to send them, if possible, an old time catalog of a Chicago firm which made a specialty of bar fixtures, and naively adds, "All the American catalogs we have are from soda fountain manufacturers, but I feel certain you must know the vast difference that exists between malted milk and nut sundae outfits and the old fashioned but majestic emporiums where whisky sours with all their appetising extras were sold for the paltry sum of twenty cents, or was it fifteen?"

Do You Remember Way Back When:

A. G. Spalding pitched for the Chicago White Stockings and his team of about 1872, as I remember it, was: McAtee, 1b; Jimmy Wood, 2b; Pinkham, 3b; Faley, ss; Tracy, lf; Duffy, cf; Simmons, rf; Hodes, c?—Daniel J. Coyne.

When the Duffy Florals and Krutckoff's Famous Chicagos engage in a double header on Skewbridge field today, Billy Webb will cover the third sack for the former team. Billy is back in town after four years of campaigning in the minor leagues. He was released from Toronto at his own request.

Princeton-Cornell's First Victory Since 1921.

New York, July 20.—(AP)—By the convincing margin of nine first places to three, the track and field representatives of Princeton and Cornell universities defeated the Oxford-Cambridge team today for the first time in eight years of rivalry. The English athletes were able to win only three events, the 100-yard dash and quarter-mile and half-mile runs.

Capturing seven of the first eight events to be decided, the Americans clinched the meet in decisive fashion with Ben Hedges, Princeton's versatile all-around star, capturing two of the nine first places, and his youthful teammate, Ben Hand, taking one first and a second.

The meet, which in accordance with English usage is decided on the basis of first place alone, was definitely won by the Yankee contingent when the 220-yard low hurdles was decided in their favor after R. M. N. Tisdall, of Cambridge, five yards in the lead, tripped on the last hurdle, fell and failed to finish.

The Americans scored first when Ben Hedges, versatile Princeton athlete and Olympic team member, skimmed over the 120-yard high hurdles in 15 3-5 seconds, tying the meet mark made by Lord David Burghley of Cambridge in 1925 and 1926. Hedges won by about 4 feet from R. St. G. Harper of Oxford. Although his specialty is the high jump, Hedges was easily the star of the high hurdling field, with Harper his only rival for the entire distance.

E. L. Colyer of Cornell, after winning the pole vault with 12 feet, tried for a new meet record of 12 feet 7 inches but failed three times. England's only entry in this event was outclassed by both Colyer and Hedges.

The Inquiring Reporter

Every Day He Asks Five Persons, Picked at Random, a Question.

The Tribune will pay $5 for each question accepted for the Inquiring Reporter to ask. Send name and address with your question to "Inquiring Reporter," Chicago Tribune. For today's question William Freeman, 3347 Lowe avenue, was awarded $5.

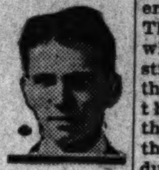
The Question.

What is the matter with the White Sox?

The Answers.

Sam Bergman, 4302 West 14th street, student—They are on the losing end all right, but fighting hard to win every game. I don't believe it is any fault of theirs they are not winning. It is a matter of tough breaks. When the tough breaks begin hitting opposing teams, the Sox will show up better.

Sam Tallman, 2643 Evergreen avenue, clerk—The Sox as a team are all right, but they haven't the teamwork that is needed to make a successful team. If the team would pull together, and Comiskey would get some more real players, Chicago would be likely to see a winning team like that of 1919.



Jack Chernof, 3314 Eastwood avenue, clerk — The Sox are mostly all right except for one thing, and that is Mr. Comiskey himself. He wants to have a good team, but he doesn't spend enough money for players. It requires shrewd business management and money to maintain a winning team. As a manager Blackburne is all right.

W. S. Sheldon, 1962 East 71st place, insurance—The White Sox need some good pitchers, a few good batters, and a little closer coöperation with the manager. They need an overhauling from home plate, around the three bases, and on out into the outfield. The team is wet and needs some drastic treatment.

T. S. Forbes, 333 North Michigan avenue, constructural engineer — Lack of major league experience, that's what it is. The Sox are all right when they are playing straight ball, but when they get in the pinches they fail to pull through. They have teamwork, but their coördination in tight places is due to lack of experience—that's what it reverts to in the end.

ROCKFORD BOYS WIN.

Rockford, Ill., July 20.—[Special.]—Rockford won the American Legion junior baseball championship of the twelfth district of Illinois by defeating Oglesby here today, 7 to 3, in the third game of the series. The victors will play Oregon, thirteenth district champions, in the semi-finals of the northern Illinois division next week.

FIELDS-DUNDEE TITLE BOUT TOPS WEEK FIGHT CARD

BY WALTER ECKERSALL.

The world's championship match for the welterweight title between Jackie Fields of Chicago and Champion Joe Dundee of Baltimore, Md., will command the interest of the boxing fans this week. The bout will be held in Detroit on Thursday night and will be conducted under the direction of Floyd Fitzsimmons, who staged the world's heavyweight championship bout between Jack Dempsey and Billy Miske at Benton Harbor some years ago.

On two occasions, Fields has defeated Jackie Thompson, the colored welterweight who stopped the champion at the White Sox ball park a year ago this summer. Jackie is regarded as one of the best welterweights since the days of Jack Britton.

Three Special Trains.

At least three special trains will carry local fans to Detroit. Alderman Arvey, Sammy Wolfe and Al Bloom will run special trains. In local boxing headquarters, Fields has been made a 7 to 5 favorite. Both fighters have been on the ground and are reported to be in excellent condition.

The fight is the outstanding bout of the week and should attract a capacity house. Fields, recognized as the welterweight champion of the world by the National Boxing association, is a very aggressive fighter. He will trade punch for punch and in all his fights he has done his share of the leading. Dundee is also aggressive and it was his desire to lead that left himself open for Thompson to get a clean shot at his jaw at the White Sox park a year ago.

Haakon Hansen, Norwegian middleweight, and Johnny Burns of California will meet in the main event of the boxing show to be staged in the Logan Square open air arena, 2233 Milwaukee avenue tomorrow night. Both fighters finished training yesterday at local gymnasiums. The semi-windup will bring together Ray McPeck of Des Moines, Ia., and Cecil Hurt of Indianapolis. They will meet at 150 pounds.

Schmeling Here Today.

Max Schmeling, the German heavyweight who will meet Jack Sharkey of Boston this summer, will arrive in Chicago this morning to appear in an exhibition bout at the Chicago stadium on Wednesday night. Les Marriner of Chicago and Tony Fuenta, the Mexican heavyweight, will meet in the main decision event.

Tony Canzoneri, the New York Italian who meets Sammy Mandell of Rockford, Ill., for the world's lightweight championship at the Chicago stadium on Aug. 2, will arrive in Chicago this morning. He will resume training tomorrow at his camp at the Garden of Allah. Mandell is in active training at the Washington park race track. There is a brisk demand for tickets for the championship go and indications are the world's largest indoor arena will be taxed to capacity when champion and challenger crawl through the ropes.

Dedicate Polo Field Today at Fort Sheridan

Fort Sheridan's parade grounds today will be the scene of a polo revival, when, for the first time in five years, an Army team opposes North Shore in the dedication match on the Soldiers' field. The game is scheduled to start at 3:30 o'clock.

Gen. Parker is scheduled to alternate at No. 1 position with Lieut. George S. Smith. Others in the Fort Sheridan lineup will be Lieut. Read at No. 2, Capt. Rodwell at No. 3, and Capt. Hazelrigg at back.

The North Shore lineup will be made up of local stars who got their polo training during the world war. James Hannah will be at No. 1, Frank Bering and William Calhoun at No. 2, Herbert Lorber, the team captain, at No. 3, and Raymond Schultz at back.

Parking facilities about the playing field have been provided for this afternoon's match.

At Oak Brook's No. 3 field this afternoon the Four Horsemen and Cantigny teams will clash, starting at 3:30 o'clock. Lieut. L. Smith will be at No. 1 for the Four Horsemen, Paul Butler at No. 2, Crites at No. 3, and Col. R. R. McCormick at back. Cantigny will play Edward Hillman Jr. at No. 1, M. Corpening at No. 2, H. Strotz at No. 3, and Carl Crawford at back.

Chicago police track and field sports are scheduled at Soldiers' field Aug. 24 and 25. The contests will attract an immense crowd, as the receipts will go to the Policemen's Benevolent association, which provides for the families of policemen killed on duty.

"ANYTHING SHORT OF MY BEST IS NOT ACCEPTABLE"

Back of the satisfaction of Oldsmobile owners stands the satisfaction of Oldsmobile workers in a job well done

AFTER all, what is a motor car? Is it merely so much wood and metal . . . so many gears and cotter-pins?

Or is it, as Oldsmobile workers believe, something more . . . the culmination of the skill and ideals of the men who build it, from the first engineering sketch through to the final check-up and inspection? To express this spirit one of these workers—a veteran milling machine operator in the Oldsmobile factory—coined the phrase, "Anything short of my best is not acceptable." And this charge of responsibility has been adopted by his fellow workers throughout the organization, as their plant slogan.

Oldsmobile engineers are constantly at work—proving and re-proving the product they design—testing the merit of new ideas—ever seeking the better thing. In addition, they call upon the vast resources of the General Motors Proving Ground and General Motors Research Laboratories. Always they have in mind . . . "Anything short of my best is not acceptable."

Skilled operators, unerringly guiding great machines—efficient workmen, accurately fitting Oldsmobiles together, part by part—keen-eyed inspectors, rigidly checking the work of the producers—each man, whatever his job, from the highest executive to the newest shop employee, follows the same rule . . . "Anything short of my best is not acceptable."

The satisfaction of Oldsmobile workers in a job well done is largely responsible for the thorough satisfaction Oldsmobile owners find in their cars. Oldsmobile owners are loyal, because they know that Oldsmobile is loyal to its owners, not only in the matter of fine workmanship but in all the details of manufacture—in the quality of materials, in the progressiveness of Oldsmobile engineering, and in the generous measure of Oldsmobile value.

This owner enthusiasm is reflected in Oldsmobile's tremendous and ever-increasing success. Month after month, Oldsmobile sales continue to grow. Time after time, new owners write, "My neighbor praised his Oldsmobile—and I find that everything he said is true."

Oldsmobile respects this public confidence. And, in return, Oldsmobile promises the public, in behalf of every Oldsmobile worker, to maintain steadfast allegiance to the Oldsmobile pledge: "Anything short of my best is not acceptable."

HERMAN STRIKES .404 PACE; TOPS N. L. SLUGGERS

Phils Continue to Keep Team Honors.

Babe Herman of Brooklyn was out in front in the National league batting race when official figures were announced Thursday night. His mark of .404 led O'Doul of Philadelphia by 12 points. Terry of the Giants came third with .378 and Klein of the Phillies fourth with .372. Brickell of Pittsburgh, as a pinch hitter, averaged .362, to nose out Hornsby for fifth place. The Cub star batted .361.

Marshall Field Was Right

Just good business. Not altruistic or idealistic in the least. Because customers (the public) are far from unfair.

True, the occasional unfair will take advantage of such a broad policy, but your actual money loss because of them is ten times off-set by the fairness of the rest. And you, naturally, are in the latter class. We know you are. Because you, sir or madam, are always right in your dealings with us.

The taxicab business, you know, is not so far different from the selling of fine silks and furs. We, too, deal in public likes.

And the Chicago public has show its liking of our policies by making us the world's largest cooperative cab company. That's fair enough answer to the policy of the customer always being right.

We want you to know Checker better. We want you to know how we appreciate your business; how our 2809 stockholder-drivers strive to merit it.

Today—or tonight—whenever you need a good cab—a luxurious and roomy private car—call us for proof of what real comfort, safety and fairness can mean in transportation.

all roads are better roads with De Soto Six

When the Chrysler-built De Soto Six was designed, special emphasis was placed on its easy riding.

Balanced spring suspension, a minimum of unsprung weight, low-hung body, rubber engine mountings and Chrysler-selected hydraulic shock absorbers, front and rear, make the De Soto Six the steadiest riding medium-weight motor car on the road today.

De Soto Six takes the turns safely at high speeds; does not tend to swing when suddenly slowed down; rides remarkably easily over the roughest surfaces; and at all times gives the impression of being a far larger, heavier and more expensive car.

We earnestly invite you to make your own comparison. Pick the worst road and step on the gas. For easy-riding qualities alone, apart from other features of remarkable performance, you will find the De Soto Six considerably superior to any other make of motor car that is sold below $1,000.

$25,000 STAKE WILL HEADLINE HAWTHORNE MEET

Draws 71 Entries from East and West.

With the Chicago racing scene scheduled to shift to the Hawthorne track one week from next Saturday afternoon, John C. Schank, president of the Hawthorne association, yesterday announced the dates for the running of the various stake events at the historical west side course.

Hawthorne's summer meeting runs 19 days beginning Aug. 3. Then the horse colony moves to Lincoln Fields on Aug. 26 for the beginning of a 30 day meeting. Hawthorne stages an autumn meeting of 12 days in October.

Saturday, Aug. 3—Windy City handicap, $5,000 added; six furlongs; three year olds and upward.

Thursday, Aug. 8—Hawthorne handicap, $25,000 added; one mile and a sixteenth; three year olds and upward.

Saturday, Aug. 10—Great Lakes claiming stakes, $5,000 added; one mile and a sixteenth; three year olds and upward.

Saturday, Aug. 17—Chicago Juvenile handicap, $10,000 added; six furlongs; two year olds.

Saturday, Aug. 24—Fort Dearborn handicap, $10,000 added; one mile and a furlong; three year olds and upward.

"The clock system regulating parimutuel betting will be continued at our track," Mr. Schank said. "The racing will begin each week day at 2:30 o'clock and on Saturday at 2:15. We believe our Hawthorne handicap, which has attracted 71 entries from the east and west, will be one of the best races run this season."

McDIARMID WINS MISSOURI VALLEY JUNIOR NET TITLE

Independence, Kas., July 20.—(AP)—Rosamond Lamb, Okmulgee, Okla., won the girls championship of the Missouri Valley Tennis association at the 28th annual tournament here late today. She defeated Merceina Weiss, 13 year old St. Louis star, 6-4 and 6-3.

Staging a brilliant rally in the fifth set, John McDiarmid, Forth Worth, Tex., won the junior singles championship by defeating Gustave Boehmer Jr., St. Louis, 1-6, 6-3, 6-1, 3-6, 6-4.

Arlington Raises Minimum Purse to $1,500 This Week

The racing at Arlington has been patronized so liberally that officials of the American National Jockey club announced yesterday that purses will be raised beginning next Wednesday. The smallest purse at Arlington has been $1,200 and from Wednesday until the end of the meeting the minimum amount offered for any race will be $1,500, making the purses the most valuable offered in the county.

E. Shropshire headed the list of money winning riders during the last six days at Arlington. His riding fees amounted to $276. F. Halbert was a close second with $272 in his pay envelope. Other good winners were C. E. Allen, $216, and R. Heigle and D. Dubois, who each drew down $195.

Red Curt, 5 year old mare by Crimper-Henna, by Celt, which Otto W. Lehmann recently bought from Lester Doctor, arrived from New York and will be sent to Mr. Lehmann's Lake Villa farm to be used as a brood mare.

Blue Larkspur, accompanied by Buddy Bauer, will depart this morning for Saratoga, where he will seek further honors. The Arden farm's Sun Edwin, W. J. Salmon's Display and R. T. Wilson's Sun Fire will go on the same train.

Misstep broke slowly and was lucky in getting a position early, followed under strong restraint and close up to the stretch, where responded well and, wearing down Buddy Bauer, outstayed Display. The latter began slowly, raced far back for five furlongs, then moved fast with a loss of ground, and appeared to hang near the end. Buddy Bauer, much used to keep up during the first mile, opened up a good advantage after reaching the stretch, but weakened in the final furlong. Dowagiac closed up much ground with a belated rush, and finished in tight quarters. Sun Edwin raced well up throughout. Sun Fire came from far back in the final half mile. Osmand began tiring after showing high speed for a mile. Sun Beau stumbled and almost fell on the first turn.

FIVE LONG SHOTS REWARD BACKERS AT ARLINGTON

Morsel, Illegitimate Only Favorites to Win.

The longshot players had another field day at Arlington park yesterday when the outsiders captured five of the seven races.

The Audley Farm stable's Nellie Custis took down the honors in the first race when she scored handily in the six furlong dash which engaged 13 good sprinters. She ran head and head with Golden Canopy to the stretch then pulled away to win with much reserve by four lengths. Gold Mint rushed up to take second money and Scotland was third after Jockey Morris brought him from far back.

Nellie Custis stepped the six furlongs in 1:12 1-5 and in the mutuels paid $36.34 to win, $18.14 to place and $10.60 to show. Gold Mint was also a long shot and rewarded his followers at $10.18 to place.

Other longshots to score besides Misstep in the Arlington handicap were Blanc Seing in the sixth where he paid $16.10 after winning by four lengths and Duck It in the last race. The mutuel price against him was $20.28.

The first favorite to win in two days was Morsel, which carried the old rose and blue jacket of the LeMar farm stable to victory in the Northbrook purse for 2 year olds. The race was at 5½ furlongs and Morsel made a show of his field and led his stable mate, John Mackler, to victory by three lengths. The Cold Stream Stud's Playette was third. Morsel led all the way and won easily under McCrossen's snug ride. In the mutuels the entry paid $3.10 to win, $3.60 to place and $2.76 to show.

Illegitimate Beats Eskimo.

Illegitimate, the 5 year old Kentucky sprinter owned by Howard Oots and another odds on favorite galloped to victory in the Gold Coast handicap which was third on the program. He beat Eskimo by a length and Lucky Hit was third. Illegitimate ran the six furlongs in 1:11 3-5, it being the fastest run race of the season here. Willie Fronk rode Illegitimate and sent him to the front as the barrier lifted. He was 3 lengths away from all his rivals until Eskimo came with his late challenge. Illegitimate's price in the betting was $3.62.

CARDINAL PRO ELEVEN SIGNS MAPLE, KASSEL

Bloomington, Ill., July 20.—[Special.]—Dr. David J. Jones of Chicago, who recently bought the Chicago Cardinals' franchise in the National Professional Football league, announced in Bloomington today, that he has signed Howard Maple, former Oregon aggie football star, for quarterback on his team this year. Maple is at present holding down the regular backstopping position for the Springfield Three Eye club, which has been playing the Bloomers here the last few days. Maple will report for the first practice Sept. 10.

Dr. Jones also annunoced the signing of Chuck Kassel, former Illini star. He will report Sept. 10 and is slated for an end position.

GOLFERS TO PLAY THURSDAY.

Rockford, Ill., July 20.—[Special.]—The Rock River Golf club of Oregon will send a team to Rockford Thursday for a match with a team from the Mauh-Nah-Tee-See club.

Repel Insects with Fragrant 'Dope'—Becker

BY BOB BECKER.

The vacationist going into the north woods during July must expect to be annoyed by various insect pests. The motor camper, fisherman, canoe camper and, in fact, all who leave the city for the north woods should go armed to repel attacks from the small winged pests.

In concocting dopes to repel the mosquito and black flies, some people find the cure almost as bad as the bite, because some of the anti-mosquito drugs smell horribly and stain clothing.

We have received dozens of inquiries for a "sweet smelling" preparation which will repel mosquitos. Here it is—a dope that will rival a French perfume for fragrance and yet will send the bold biting insects of camp or trail on their way. Another advantage of the preparation is that it is healing and soothing, with mild antiseptic qualities. For the feminine members of the camping, touring or fishing party it is ideal.

The base is lanolin [borated preferred]. Lonalin is wool grease or fat purified to the nth degree. It is a thick dope. Add to this ingredient enough oil of lavender flowers to give it a strong odor, and then have your pharmacist put it up in tubes to keep out the moisture. Or it can be packed in a small glass jar such as used for most ointments.

We know of nothing better in the way of a ritzy, "elegant" mosquito dope to keep off all kinds of insects than this oil of lavender-lanolin combination. The latter is an excellent base because it not only is antiseptic but it also has advantages as a preventive against sunburn. Lanolin will do in a pinch as an application for slight wounds.

K. OF C. LEADERS BATTLE TODAY; 4 GAMES CARDED

La Rabida and St. Rita, a game apart and at the top of the standings, will provide the feature game this afternoon in the Knights of Columbus Baseball league. La Rabida is leading with eight victories and one defeat, but will drop to second place if it loses the St. Rita game, which is to be played at Byrne field, 59th and Robey streets.

BLUE LARKSPUR RANKS SIXTH AS MONEY WINNER

E. R. BRADLEY.

When he won the $60,000 American Classic a week ago his earnings reached the high total of $220,420, which let him replace Crusader in sixth place in the all time high money winning race. Those that are in front of Blue Larkspur are Zev, Exterminator, Man o' War, Display, and Sarazen. With the season only about half over and Blue Larkspur eligible to race for another $250,000 before the curtain drops, he may go into winter quarters as the greatest money winning horse of all time.

Zev's record breaking mark of $313,639 was made in 1922 and 1923, although he accounted for a few cheap purses as a 4 year old in 1924. The most valuable race he won was the international struggle against Papyrus. Later in the season, he defeated In Memoriam in a rich match race in Kentucky in which they finished heads apart.

Blue Larkspur's money winning record becomes all the more notable when you take into consideration the fact that he has started in only 13 races since he began his meteoric career. Zev went to the post in 43 races, Exterminator started 100 times and unbeaten Colin had to go to the post on 15 occasions to hang up his mark of $180,000, which is far below Blue Larkspur's.

The rich stakes to which Blue Larkspur is eligible, victories in which would send his earnings skyrocketing above Zev's, are the Travers Mid-Summer Derby at Saratoga, the Lawrence Realization and Gold Cup at Belmont and the Latonia championship stake in October.

List of Money Winners.

Arlington Crowd Bets $1,100,000 on Day's Races

The 35,000 racegoers at Arlington yesterday came close to the 50,000 crowd which watched Blue Larkspur win the American Classic at the same track a week earlier. The pari-mutuel betting on Classic day reached $1,300,000. Yesterday, with the time between the races even shorter, the crowd wagered close to $1,100,000. The prices on most of the horses finishing in the money staggered the big gathering, the only two favorites to win in the last two days being Morsel and Illegitimate, which captured the second and third races yesterday.

The winning race, run by E. R. McLean's War Eagle Friday, is strong testimony to the unremitting efforts of Trainer John F. Schorr to bring the Man o' War colt back to the splendid form he displayed in winning the $25,000 Miami cup handicap at a mile and an eighth in 1:51 1-5 in the early spring of 1927.

Shortly after that race the colt became afflicted with distemper, which caused him to lose his early 3 year old form. Largely through Trainer Schorr's patience and skill War Eagle has regained that form, and he promises to be a dangerous factor for the rest of the season.

There are 1,347 horses registered at Arlington Park racing secretary's office, which number establishes a record for any western race track. Belmont or Saratoga could hardly muster a greater number.

U.S. makes Dollars SMALLER
PLYMOUTH makes them LARGER

FULL SIZE

THE ROADSTER (with rumble seat), $675. Special equipment extra

IN WASHINGTON, the government printing presses are turning out smaller dollar bills. In Detroit, the huge Plymouth plant, largest of its kind in the world, is turning out a motor car that makes the dollar bigger in purchasing power than it ever was.

Not in all automobile history has another such value appeared in the low-priced field.

There has never been another low-priced car to compare with the improved Plymouth in full-size roominess—in Chrysler-designed stylishness—in Chrysler-like briskness and smoothness—in ruggedness of construction—in safety—in all-around quality and ability.

Big body, big engine, big chassis, big axles, big 4.75 tires, big internal-expanding 4-wheel hydraulic brakes—in every respect, Plymouth is the biggest thing in its class. Compare—you'll be astonished how big in value Plymouth has made the dollar.

Coupe, $655; Roadster (with rumble seat), $675; 2-Door Sedan, $675; Touring, $695; De Luxe Coupe (with rumble seat), $695; 4-Door Sedan, $695. All prices f. o. b. factory. Plymouth dealers extend the convenience of time payments.

BUNNING WITH 147 TOPS GOLFERS IN VALLEY HOO PLAY

George Dawson's 149 Is Second Best.

BY HARLAND ROHM.

As much like a district championship as an invitational tournament was the scoreboard of Edgewood Valley's third annual Valley-Hoo-day yesterday, for all the Chicago young men who hit a golf ball long distances and approach with accuracy were among those present.

Don Armstrong, the tall blond chap from Aurora, who collected one of the southern championships last winter, had the best round of the day when he ticked off 36—35—71 in the morning. But Armstrong, with a lot of company, went "hay wire" in the afternoon when his putts would not drop.

Out of that group of stars, the veteran L. E. Bunning of the home club came through to win low gross on the 36 holes. Babe, known almost as much for his skill in bowling in winter as on a golf course in summer, took a familiar route around the course in 72—45—157. That was just two shots better than George Dawson of Glen Oak, who had troubles in the morning with a 77, but equaled Bunning's 72 in his afternoon round.

On the heels of those two leaders came the rest of the pack of low handicap men, each of whom missed enough putts to have won. Gus Novotny of the home club had 76—74—150 and Tom Frainey and Jim Crossan, a couple more Edgewood Valley boys, did 76—78—154 and 77—76—153, respectively. Russell Martin of Flossmoor also was down in the low 150s with 77—75—152.

Armstrong of course, was close up with 71—83—154 and John Lehman of Gary was up there with 79—77—156. Armstrong's 71 gave him low gross in the morning and R. C. Mullin of La Grange, Western junior champion, was second with 38—37—75. Novotny's 38—36—74 won the low gross in the afternoon with Russell Martin, Frank Justin and H. A. Fletcher of Edgewood Valley tied for second with 75.

BOWKER WINS 36 HOLE FINAL IN COUNTY TOURNEY

Roy A. Bowker of Jackson park was crowned Cook county open golf champion yesterday when he defeated A. Andereggen of Jackson park, 4 and 2, in the 36 hole final of the tournament which was staged under the auspices of the Western Golf association at Garfield park.

Bowker entered the final by defeating Eddie Hart of Jackson park, 2 up, in the morning semi-final round. Andereggen got into the final bracket by besting Joe Hennessey of the home club, 2 and 1.

Bowker and Andereggen both got away to a ragged start in the first 18 of the final round, taking 71 strokes apiece on a par 65 layout. Bowker's putts began to drop on the second lap, and he was 2 up as they started the last nine.

The three day invitational tournament planned by Rolling Green Country club was postponed indefinitely yesterday because of a lack of entries. The qualifying round was scheduled yesterday with match play in several flights for today and tomorrow. W. A. Loper, chairman, said the tournament probably would be held in August.

Helen Sails for Home; Reticent on Marital Plans

BY JOHN STEELE.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, July 20.—"I may not be Miss Wills any more when and if I return here next year," the world's greatest woman tennis player confided this morning just before she boarded the boat train for the liner Aquitania, on which she is sailing for America today.

However, Helen Wills was reticent and even a bit coy.

"I'd like to be able to tell you about the marriage date, but I don't know it myself," she said. "I haven't made up my mind yet, and my fiance is leaving the matter entirely to me. There is no hurry. We are both young and neither of us has any real plans even for this or next year."

The American champion, who was presented at court in the spring, revealed that she had paid another visit to Buckingham palace yesterday by invitation.

"It was to see the pictures in the palace galleries," she said. "They are really marvelous, you know."

But Miss Wills didn't stop there. She admitted chatting with Prime Minister MacDonald in the house of commons. Politics, like art, interests her, it seems.

"I don't know much about politics, of course, but it does interest me, and I felt it a great honor to talk with Mr. MacDonald."

Miss Wills also divulged she had sold half of her sketches which were exhibited in a fashionable West End gallery. Members of the British Wightman cup team, which will play American women at Forest Hills, sailed with Miss Wills. They are Betty Nuthall, Mrs. Watson, Mrs. Mitchell, Mrs. Shepherd Barron, and Mrs. Covell. The latter is captain of the team.

Marquette

Marquette

BUILT BY BUICK
A GUARANTEE OF EXTRA VALUE

"Built by Buick"—only the Marquette in the moderate-price field can offer that priceless recommendation. This remarkable new six provides in every feature the unstinted goodness that has forever established Buick in the public mind as a master builder. Extra quality is everywhere—to provide extraordinary brilliance in performance, unfailing dependability in service, and unlimited satisfaction in ownership.

On its staunch and sturdy chassis the Marquette carries closed Bodies by Fisher—the latest expression of the artistry and craftsmanship of the world's greatest body builder. Smart, low-swung lines—the last word in modern good taste. Interior and exterior finishes of pleasantly blending colors. Tailoring and appointments of exceptional quality and completeness. And such value features as: a remarkable new non-glare windshield, to be found on no other automobile; adjustable driver's seat; and beautiful new rubberized mohair upholstery, waterproof, dustproof and wearproof—shown for the first time on Marquette.

The great resources and unparalleled facilities of Buick and Fisher have combined to provide, in design and construction as well as in equipment and appointments, a greater measure of extra value than any car of comparable price offers.

At the first opportunity see and drive the Marquette. Check every feature, make every test. Here is a car that proves by everything it is and everything it does that "Built by Buick" and "Body by Fisher" are double assurance of extra value.

The Marquette is easy to own. Talk to your dealer about it. You will be surprised at how economically you can buy a Marquette on the liberal G. M. A. C. terms.

MOTORS — TRAFFIC — HIGHWAYS

NORTH AVENUE IS USELESS AS AUTO TRAFFIC ARTERY

Despite Wonderful Road Drivers Go Elsewhere.

BY PUTNEY HAIGHT.

During the last year or more there has been considerable discussion relative to the lack of wisdom and inadvisability on the part of the state administration under Len Small in completing what is known as the North Avenue road from Elmhurst to St. Charles.

The highway is now completed between those villages with the exception of two short gaps at railway grades, which do not affect the utility of the thoroughfare materially.

Viewed in the light of an ultra modern construction job, this artery, known as state highway 64, is close to perfection. It cost well over a million dollars, is four lanes in width and built according to specifications which are held to guarantee invulnerability for the slab under any traffic load which can be applied with rubber tired motor vehicles.

Vacant of Cars.

The contention of those who criticize the building of this road is that it is of no use to traffic. They assert that if it were of any important use to traffic it would attract a large volume. Inspection of the highway on a day last week when all 20 foot arteries within a radius of four or five miles were jammed to a standstill showed its pavement almost entirely vacant of cars.

Explanatory of the accompanying illustration, the photographs were taken of Roosevelt road, which parallels highway 64, three miles to the south, at the same hour of the day as the photograph of the North avenue superhighway. While cars are struggling along in single file at 10 or 15 miles an hour on Roosevelt road, two or three cars are making 60 miles an hour on North avenue.

The state highway department, up to this time, has never clearly explained its reason for diverting over a million dollars to an unnecessary road project when mass traffic was crying out for relief on existing through highways. The principal traffic claim for this road is that it starts at the village of St. Charles and ends at the village of Elmhurst, neither of which has any traffic of consequence to be served by it. Meanwhile three highways in its immediate vicinity and running in the same general direction, are being overrun with such a volume of traffic that the two-lane pavements could not begin to accommodate it. This traffic cannot get on North avenue because it is not a through highway.

Traverses No Villages.

Obviously the factor of serving existing traffic was not included in the decision to build this remarkable thoroughfare. The real estate racket has been suggested as a possible element in arriving at the decision, for the highway traverses vacant country acres, with no villages abutting and few dwellings upon the farms fronting the pavement.

In this connection it is interesting that the public service committee of the Chicago real estate board adopted a resolution at a recent meeting in which it was concluded "by the real estate board that we are in favor of the present arterial highways being widened to forty feet before any further narrow highway construction is attempted."

Chairman Axel Lonnquist, A. G. Briggs, B. L. Coolidge, I. W. Cremin, H. W. Croxton, G. J. Eckhoff, C. F. Iliff, L. W. Pettise, G. W. Reinecke, L. G. Varty and F. P. Boyd make up the committee. In that capacity they went particularly into the matter of the North avenue superhighway by specifically indorsing the project under way to build two 20 foot, one way pavements on a 200 foot right of way from Elmhurst to the city limits. Such a connection, now under contract by the state, provides a way for traffic to come a few miles nearer Chicago, but would not get into the city itself.

Not a Practical Artery.

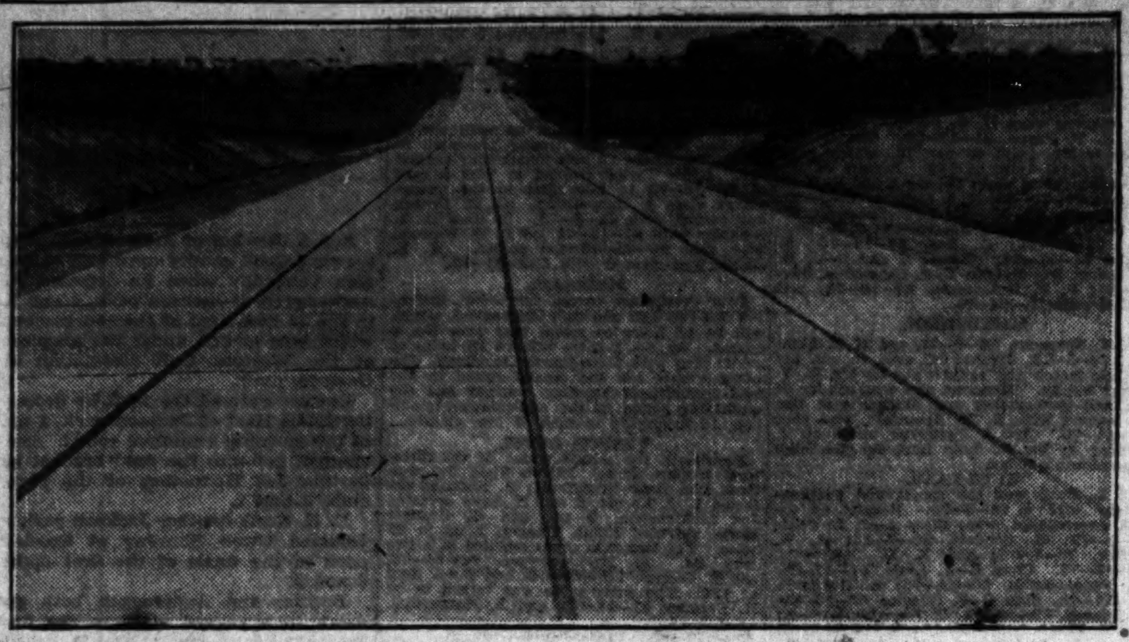
When this section is completed there will be then twenty-three continuous miles of this superhighway, originating at St. Charles and terminating at an inaccessible spot [from a traffic standpoint] at the west city limits. North avenue is not a practical traffic artery within the city. Connection with Washington boulevard is possible at some distance over Austin boulevard; eastward North avenue, such as it is, will connect with Grand avenue.

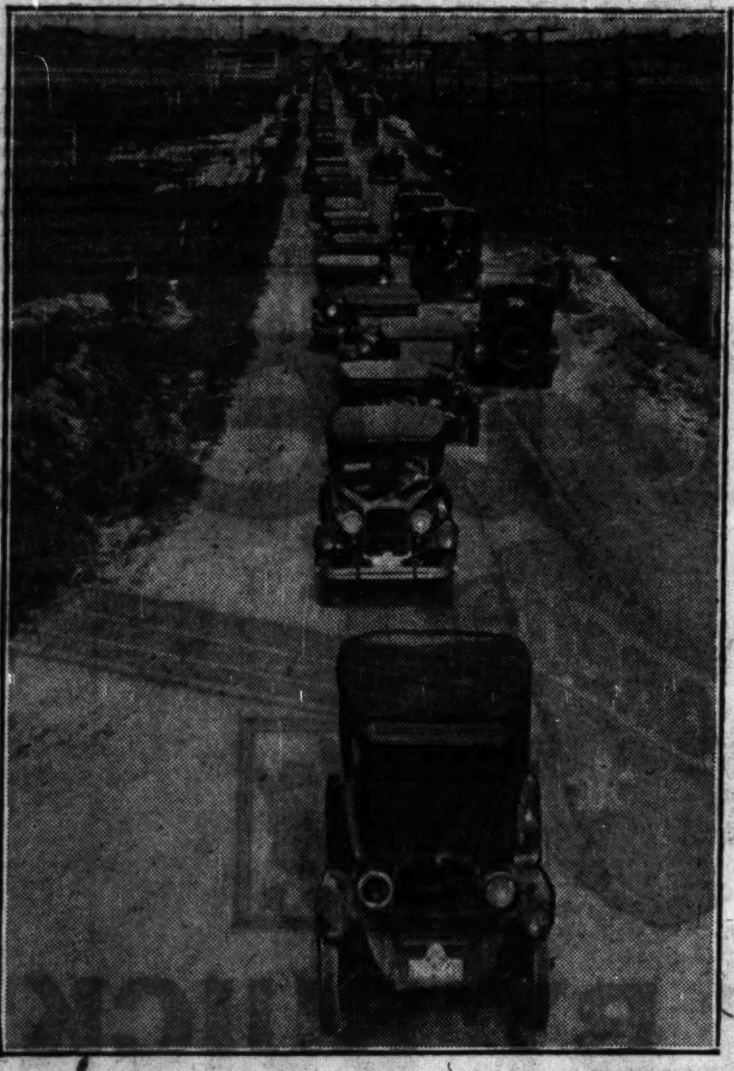
On the other hand, had Lake street been widened through Du Page county its traffic could have been deposited within a block of Washington boulevard. If Roosevelt road had received the widening treatment a direct artery into the city could have been easily developed. Even the Ogden avenue extension would have returned some traffic dividends had it been chosen for widening, with fair city entrance.

Despite the marvelous highway, it has been proved that no volume of traffic uses North avenue. Instead, it crowds the through highways so intensely that automobile movement is becoming more difficult every day. On week ends Ogden road, Roosevelt road and Lake street, which lead, as does highway 64, to the Fox river valley belt highway, are continuous lines of slow moving cars. The journey to Elgin, Geneva, or Aurora presents such difficulties and inconveniences that motor traffic is materially discouraged.

Yet the state, instead of widening the main traveled arteries lying approximately parallel, built a new road with no regard to through traffic, and little likelihood of serving mass traffic within the next five years. Meanwhile mass traffic must use narrow 18 and 20 foot pavements for commercial and pleasure movement.

DOUBLE PROOF OF HIGHWAY MISDESIGN





Here are views of two highways taken at the same hour of a week day. The crowded, narrow road is Roosevelt road, which is three miles south of and parallel to North avenue road, which is four lanes wide and bears two cars in a mile or more of visibility. Roosevelt is a through highway. North avenue extension is a disconnected local thoroughfare.

1930 Illinois Auto Licenses Will Be White and Black

Springfield, Ill., July 20.—[Special.]—Illinois auto license plates for 1930 will be lettered in white against a black background. The contract for 1,400,000 sets of plates was let this week by Secretary of State William J. Stratton, who selected the white and black from a number of suggestions submitted to him. The contract was awarded to the Robertson Steel and Iron company of Springfield, O., which is to furnish the plates at 8½ cents a set.

VOICE OF THE TRAFFIC

IT HAS ALREADY BEEN DONE.

Danville, Ill., July 18.—Why cannot some auto club organization start the ball rolling to reduce the state auto license fee at least half? We are going to have the gas tax which will bring in millions of dollars. With the gas tax, everybody burning gas helps pay for the roads. The more gas he burns the more he travels. In this way trucking companies will pay their share. But why also have to pay a fee double that of another state which has a gas tax? It is not fair.

I feel no auto owner would object to the gas tax if the auto fee was reduced accordingly. But the way it now stands it is an outrage.

MERRILL H. EVE.

OF COURSE NOT.

Chicago, July 16.—Would you tell me whether a motorcycle policeman has the right to accept graft from speedsters? If they haven't, there is a lot of it going on on Milwaukee avenue, and done right in the open so that a passing motor car can see it being done. Thanking you,

A SUBSCRIBER.

AND NOW A GOOD DEED.

Chicago, July 17.—I am tiring of complaints against TRIBUNE drivers. Here's a story which may encourage them. Last winter when the streets were enameled with ice I was forced off the road at Belmont and Austin avenues and into a lot to escape a smashup with a motorist who made a left turn just in front of me. When I attempted to start I found I could not move because of the glaring ice I landed on. As I got out of my car, there was a TRIBUNE truck already backed up behind me with its tailboard chains hooked on my bumper ready to pull me out, which the driver did. The exterior may be rough, but the heart is true.

FRED JOHNSON.

SUPPRESS LIGHT RUNNERS.

Chicago, July 18.—It occurs to me that it might be feasible to start a campaign against the automobilists who dash through the red lights at street intersections. It is a most common practice, with the exception of the boulevards, for some haphazard motorists to dash past these lights.

If men in plain clothes could be stationed in different parts of the city at intersections where lights are installed to arrest these motorists who take a chance with other people's lives, I think the practice would be stopped.

G. G. BERRY.

THE WORLD'S GREATEST.

Chicago, July 18.—I want to thank you heartily for the item printed about the car stolen from Wacker drive. They speak truly from W-G-N radio station when they say "World's Greatest Newspaper." If the police were as efficient as your paper and did not discriminate between wealth and duty, many cars would be recovered.

GEORGE JAMES.

PARKING SPOILS TRAFFIC SET UP.

Chicago, July 19.—Some time ago the west park board decided to improve traffic conditions on one of the main arteries going west, so converted Washington boulevard into a one way drive. This was an excellent idea, a godsend to the motorists and a big step toward traffic relief.

Large signs were posted every half block reading: "No parking at any time by order of the west park board." A high type of efficiency in keeping the cars from parking was maintained for almost six weeks, then, although the signs remained, the enforcement was put in the discard. Of course, the congestion returned to as bad a state, if not worse than it had been previously.

It is probable that the west park board might be able to obtain a few suggestions from the commissioners who made Marquette boulevard a drive that is a credit to the south side.

Yes, Washington boulevard is a one way drive—parking one way, but very poor driving.

WEST SIDE MOTORIST.

ILLINOIS AUTO FEES SO FAR ARE $15,841,439

The automobile department of the state of Illinois has, up to July 1, collected $15,841,439.49 for licenses, an increase of $1,433,206.82 over the first six months of 1928.

The department has issued licenses for 93,741 more passenger cars than were registered in the same period of 1928. Trucks show an increase of 11,758 and chauffeurs 6,647. Truck licenses total 180,221 and chauffeur's 86,804. The passenger car registration to date is 1,262,673.

At the end of 1928 it was estimated that 65,000 more automobiles had been registered in Illinois than in 1927. Considering that 93,471 more cars already have been registered this year than were licensed in the first half of 1928, there is every indication the total increase for 1929 over 1928 will double the total increase of 1928 over 1927.

The Illinois Chamber of Commerce give total sales in the state of new cars for June at 23,186. In May 28,774 new car sales were recorded, only 6,000 cars under the peak month of the year, April, when the figure was 29,725. June sales brought the total for the first half of the year to 137,379 and gives makers of automobiles a possible mark of a quarter of a million sales in Illinois to shoot at for the remainder of the year.

Among the county totals which go to make up the June figures for the entire state Cook county ranked first with a total of 10,850, 8,388 of these reported for Chicago alone.

Pike county, in Northreastern Missouri, which offers as places of absorbing interest, Bowling Green, the home of Champ Clark, speaker of the federal house of representatives for many years, and Louisiana, whither the test gardens of Luther Burbank, the world-known plant breeder, were removed at his death, can be visited over all-weather roads in a single day from St. Louis.

Leaving St. Louis by way of the St. Charles rock road, the motorist has a concrete road to the bridge that spans the Missouri river at this point. An exceptional view of the flood waters of this great tributary to the Father of Waters, may be had from the bridge.

U. S. AUTO MAPS ARE FAR BEHIND THOSE OF FRANCE

Ours Give Few Essential Details.

While, in large measure, highway construction in America has eluded orderly development and control, the problem of map making in the United States for service to motor traffic has lagged far behind that of European countries. In comparison with French mapping, for instance, the efforts produced in this country are mere amateurish attempts.

Within the last ten years the production of maps featuring automobile routes has developed into a vast industry. Millions of maps are consumed by millions of motorists each season, and while the map makers have managed to supply the quantity sought for, the quality has been neglected.

System not Stationary.

One reason for this has been that the physical highway systems do not remain stationary. The emphasized features of the travel maps change between weeks or months, and a highway map of July 1 may be obsolete by July 31. The same alterations affect altitudes. Today a motor route winds wearily over mountain tops; tomorrow the elevation may be out of existence because of tunnel, rerouting at lower levels or gigantic cuts.

Nevertheless there is certain surface data which the American map engineers seem never to have time to lack of systematic inclusion of important observations points. On automobile routes the presence of intersecting railway lines is infrequent. Many rivers are eliminated; no notes are made of permanent buildings or roadside establishments which might serve as highly visible direction points for the traveler. Points that are considered dangerous in travel, such as narrow culvert sides, depressions in road surface and extra sharp turns, seldom find a place on the modern automobile tour map.

French Maps Accurate.

On the other hand the French maps, particularly, show various outstanding landscape characteristics which may be read into definite guidance by the careful tourist.

Apparently American map makers are engaged more in the filling of commercial orders for the comparatively inexperienced map readers included in the rank of motorists, than in developing and completing thoroughgoing surface projections from which accurate and detailed information may be obtained. This is most apparent, of course, in the general maps of the entire country. It is apparent in lesser degree in the state maps or sectional efforts, because of the size of the region included in closeup.

Mappings of small communities, as counties, cities or defined areas, for the purpose of travel, however, do not seem to fill the requirements. On many of these designed for automobile travel, there is a wealth of general detail, but a poverty of essential picturing of landmarks and observation and warning points.

Few Essential Details.

Automobile maps, it must be assumed, are drawn and published for the purpose of aiding in the speed, safety and certainty of motor traffic. The standard maps of today are held inadequate for that purpose, when compared with actual map production in some other countries.

NEWS AND VIEWS

The new line of Buick models are slated for exhibition in the near future, the cars already being in production. The principal changes will, it is said, be in body designs which are considerably narrower than the current models, while a few inches have been added to the length.

Augmenting its current line of air cooled motor cars, Franklin announces a new enclosed sport model. The body is designed and custom built by Dietrich, and mounted on 137 inch chassis.

Durant recently announced a new model to be known as the Six-Sixty-Three, powered with a Red Seal Continental engine. The coupe and sedan models are priced below $900 and a sport phaeton is offered at a price just above $1,000.

The public demonstrations with tachometer equipped Graham-Paige cars will be continued indefinitely, according to announcement just made by B. G. Sykes, vice president of Bird-Sykes company, distributors for the Chicago territory. The tests are for the purpose of showing by means of the tachometer the rate of engine turnover at various car speeds.

The convertible cabriolet has become the most popular sport car of the season, according to local Studebaker-Erskine dealers. Some owners, it was said, have found in this model the advantages of both the roadster and the closed car.

Chrysler Motors continue to run far ahead of previous records in the shipment of passenger cars, trucks and commercial vehicles, according to the figures released for the month of June. Shipments for the first half of 1929 totaled 279,635 cars, an increase of 53,354 units or 23⅓ per cent above the 226,281 cars shipped by Chrysler and Dodge combined during the first half of 1928.

Four neighborhood salesrooms and service stations have been opened this week by Holmes-Elcar, Inc., Chicago distributor for Elcar. The new showrooms which will care for north and west side business will in the near future be supplemented by at least two more salesrooms on the south side, according to James L. Holmes. Those already open are located at 5045-51 Broadway, 3947-49 Grand avenue, 4112 Elston avenue in Chicago and 515-19 Lake street in Oak Park.

Johnny Seymour and Jerry Wonderlich, both widely known on American speedways, have become associated with Auburn in its experimental department.

Eleven days hence the three cent gas tax law enacted at the last assembly will go into force. It is effective on Aug. 1.

A prelude to the new tax period in shape of warning to dealers who might be inclined to consider the imposition of the tax as a means of personal gain, is contained in a statement of Garret De F. Kinney, state finance director, who has the administration of the gas tax under his authority. He says:

"All filling station owners, garage men, manufacturers and individuals who contemplate escaping provisions of the law for a limited time through storage of gasoline, before the tax law becomes effective Aug. 1, will do so in violation of the state law and will be subject to severe penalties.

"The law provides that all gasoline in storage on Aug. 1 is liable to the tax even though purchased during July. Penalties for violation of the provision may be a fine of from $100 to $500 and imprisonment in the county jail not longer than six months. In addition, the offender is liable for the amount of tax due together with all costs necessary for its collection. Owners of filling stations face an additional penalty in that their license to operate may be revoked.

"The law provides that any persons or firm in the state who has in his possession on Aug. 1, any motor fuel other than that contained in the ordinary fuel tank attached to a motor vehicle shall within ten days thereafter make a return to the department of finance showing the amount of motor fuel in storage and shall at once pay the department the amount of gasoline tax due on the stored gasoline.

"This provision of the law has not been generally understood and reports from companies making gasoline storage tanks indicated that a number of filling stations had intended to store considerable quantities of gasoline. Such storage is useless.

WHY CHRYSLER CAN'T BE COPIED

For five years the motor car industry has striven unceasingly to emulate and overtake Chrysler—yet all its best efforts and most persistent ambitions to that end have fallen far short of their goal.

Regardless of attempts of engineering generally to pattern itself after Chrysler engineering, and despite frank borrowing of Chrysler features, the fact remains that Chrysler cars are still as different from other cars as day from night.

As time rolls on, it becomes more and more manifest that Chrysler performance can't be copied—that only Chrysler engineering and Chrysler manufacturing methods combined can produce Chrysler results.

Chrysler results are uncopiable because Chrysler engineering is of an entirely new school of thought, because Chrysler ingenuity is free from the hindering and hampering influence of out-dated traditions.

So Chrysler goes marching on, strengthening its leadership, maintaining a wide margin of superiority in performance—demonstrating a virile fleetness, an eager spirit, an unwavering stamina and an unruffled smoothness other cars find impossible to equal. We invite you to make your own tests and comparisons.

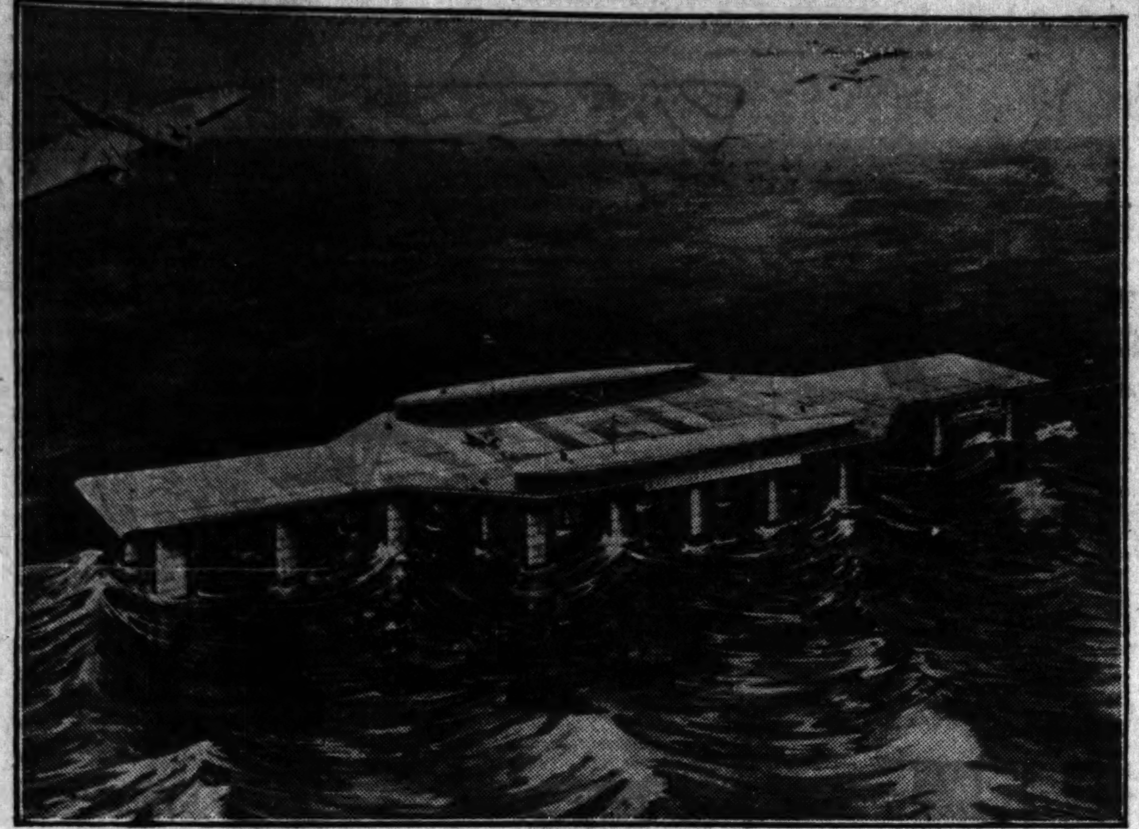
LANDING FIELD AT SEA



An architect's view of the floating seadrome which is soon to be constructed and which will be anchored in the ocean midway between New York and Bermuda. The seadrome will be 1,200 feet long, 200 feet wide at the ends, and 400 feet wide in the center. It will house a crew of forty-three men and will contain machine shops, hangars, and a hotel and restaurant. [Associated Press Photo.]

MOORING MAST SHORTAGE MARS AIRSHIP TRAVEL

U. S. and England Lead in Such Anchorages.

BERLIN.—[U.P.]—When the Graf Zeppelin last May fought its way up the Rhone valley looking for a suitable landing place its difficulties revived discussion in German aeronautical circles as to the necessity for building more and better mooring masts to provide for the ordinary needs of airship travel as well as for just such emergencies as that in which the giant Zeppelin found itself.

Airing of the problem has revealed that Germany itself, foremost of the countries interested in dirigibles, is sadly lacking in accommodations of this kind. There is only one permanent mast in the country, the very small one standing near Staaken, while the Zeppelin works owns a portable mast, also small, which was set up on Loewental flying field near Friedrichshafen during the Graf Zeppelin's eventful flight this spring when it was still thought possible to bring the big ship through the storm to its home base.

Countries which have far superior mooring facilities include the United States and Great Britain. The tallest and perhaps the most efficient mast in the world is that at the Ford airport, Dearborn, Michigan. It stands nearly 200 feet high and is so constructed as to permit an airship, once securely anchored, to be lowered along its side to a landing platform at its base. The Ford mast also has an elevator large enough to hold six passengers going from or to the platform on top. A similar mast has been designed at Scott Field, Belleville, Ill., while other American anchoring towers are to be found at Lakehurst, Fort Worth, Camp Lewis, San Diego, and Pearl Harbor, not to forget the floating mast on the airship tender, Patoka. The Lakehurst structure is 150 feet high.

R-33 Tests Successful.

In England the best known mast is at Pulham, although a much taller one stands at Cardington. The former is 110 feet high and the latter 193 feet. At one time the English dirigible, R-34, was anchored to the Pulham mast for nine weeks, during which time it was subjected to rain and snow storms without suffering damage. At another time the R-33 was safely anchored there through a storm with a wind velocity of 96 kilometers an hour. The British have either built or have plans for building other masts at Bathhurst, Freetown, Cape Town, Durban, and Ismailia (on the Suez) in Africa, at Karachi in India, and at Perth, Melbourne and Sydney in Australia. These plans are all a part of the general airship expansion scheme which is to be developed by the British in connection with the construction of the R-100 and R-101.

Although the idea for a mooring mast was first advanced in 1910 by Prof. Krell, constructor of the Siemens-Schubert airships in Germany, the English during the world war were the first to erect a mast and put it to practical use. German engineers and dirigible interests now plan to make up for lost time by constructing a series of anchors in this country. Dr. Hugo Eckener also wishes to see similar facilities provided elsewhere in Europe, particularly in Spain and France, over which countries his Graf Zeppelin ordinarily must pass to get to the United States or to the Mediterranean.

Temporary Stopping Places.

It is not intended that these mooring masts shall displace the hangars presently in use or which may in the future be built. Rather would they be used as temporary stopping places during long trips or as emergency anchorages, while with the development of regular airship transportation service they can be used as stations where passengers, mail, and freight may be taken aboard or discharged. Ultimately the hangars would be used only as "dry docks," in which the dirigibles would be housed for overhauling or repairing.

German experts feel certain that the mooring mast has now been developed to a point where it can provide the utmost safety for airships in all kinds of weather. Moreover, they suggest that the widespread use of such masts would do away with the necessity for keeping large ground crews on hand at all dirigible stations, and they point out that a mast would enable an airship to stop in the heart of a city where it would be next to impossible to provide a hangar for airships or a flying field large enough to accommodate airplanes.

GERMAN AVIATION COMPANY PREPARES FOR DISTANT FLIGHTS

BERLIN.—The German Lufthansa is firmly convinced that the day is not far distant when they can inaugurate regular transoceanic traffic between Europe and America. At their school at Luebeck they are even now training pilots to become long distance ocean flyers.

Recently fifteen more pilots graduated from the navigation school with a "diploma for long distance flying." To get the degree the candidate must have theoretical knowledge equal to that of the best sea captain. Practical knowledge is then achieved through trips on commercial steamers.

Up to now the Lufthansa has thirty-five men qualified to undertake the flights that may soon become a commonplace, Berlin to New York.

Planes Gain Hours for Mail by Catching Ships

Contracts for the shortest air mail line in the world between New Orleans and Pilottown, La., have recently been renewed says the American Air Transport association. The distance is 110 miles. The planes from New Orleans catch ocean going ships at Pilottown at the mouth of the Mississippi, transfering mail to outgoing and collecting it from incoming ships. Several hours are gained in the transfer of mail to cities in the tropics by use of the mail planes to meet and overtake vessels.

SEAPLANE FOR SAFETY URGED OVER CHANNEL

PARIS.—[U.P.]—A great fleet of giant seaplanes to replace the present cross-channel air liners and the construction of airports on the Seine and Thames are suggested by the Belgian airman, Capt. Willy Coppens.

His suggestion follows the disaster to the London-Paris-Basle air giant, City of Ottawa, in the English channel recently with the loss of seven lives, including one American.

Coppens, winged hero of the war on the western front, has been long an advocate of floats for planes crossing any considerable expanse of water carrying heavy loads of passengers. Although the English channel is only twenty-one miles across at the shortest points, Coppens contends that the quarter-hour or thereabouts required for a heavy commercial plane to cross is too long for the machine to be away from land.

Has Crossed 130 Times.

Thousands of crossings may be made in safety, but the time comes when something happens, perhaps not serious enough to cause an accident on land, and the giant plunges into the waves with its cargo of human life.

"I have crossed the channel by air 130 times in a machine without floats and always considered it a risk," the Belgian declares. "I concluded long ago that a catastrophe was necessary to call attention to the danger. The catastrophe has happened, after others less terrible and I now believe it right to stress the lesson and urge the constructors of transport air liners to study floating airplanes or amphibians and encourage transport companies to employ them in preference for the 'mixed' air lines, that is to say where flight over both continents and sea are involved."

Could Land Nearer Town.

Consulted on the scheme airplane manufacturer themselves declare flying boats would certainly both be safer and more convenient. They could land on the Seine near the Place de la Concorde and the chamber of deputies and, correspondingly, on the Thames near the houses of parliament in London. At both terminals this would enable a saving of three-quarters of an hour auto journey from city to air field.

The type of giant flying boat now used in the regular daily service between Southampton and the channel islands is favored for the service.

Coppens' suggestion is not likely to bear fruit for some time, however, since both French and British air lines have put in construction entire new fleets of luxury planes on wheels and the cost of superseding these and their existing fleets of air giants would run into many millions of dollars.

Airplane Successfully Carries Nitroglycerin

Nitroglycerin, the most explosive substance known, has been successfully carried by airplane. The American Air Transport association reports that 200 quarts were recently flown 250 miles to a Calgary oil field. The trip was made by air as the roads were blocked with snow and trains are not permitted to handle nitroglycerin. When the plane started onlookers were kept at a distance of one mile.

AVIATION QUESTIONS

Questions relating to aviation are answered in this section by Maj. R. W. Schroeder, famous world war flyer, who formerly held the world's altitude record. Inquiries should be addressed to the Aviation Department, Chicago Tribune, Chicago.

Q.—Please give me any information that you have as to the honesty and reliability of local schools.—A. O. P., Harvey, Ill.

Q.—Is a full flight course taught to me in an aviation school sufficient to get me into the army, navy or marine corps? Is the physical examination for the corps as hard to pass as an examination for a transport pilot's license?—C. J. H., Berwyn, Ill.

A.—No. The various corps train their own pilots from the very beginning. The air corps physical examinations are more exacting than those for a transport license by the department of commerce.

Q.—Where can I obtain detailed information on the latest methods of wood construction for greatest strength, least weight? What wing curve would be suitable on a light plane for a high lift low landing speed, quick takeoff? Where can I get charts of these curves?—G. W. G., Janesville, Wis.

A.—See the best available engineering hand books. [2] The Gottingen 387 and M-6 are two very good wing sections. [3] Complete data on this may be secured by writing the national advisory committee of aeronautics, Washington, D. C., asking for latest bulletin on wing sections.

Q.—Could you tell me how fast a Ford trimotor monoplane has to go before leaving the ground. What is the average weight of the plane?—C. B., Chicago.

A.—The Ford takes off between 48 and 55 miles per hour. [2] The weight of the Ford with fuel for three Pratt & Whitney engines of 450 h. p. each and carrying 14 persons is 12,650 pounds.

A.—Motor failure in present day engines is almost unknown, and licensed planes in the hands of properly trained licensed pilots are thoroughly safe. An example of this is given by the fact that last year all planes in the United States flew 70,500,000 miles while nearly all accidents were attributed to either unlicensed planes or unlicensed pilots.

Q.—I understand airplanes are being used more and more by sales executives and their salesmen. Is this a fact?—F. B., Chicago.

A.—As the anticipated schedule for this year will see about 10,000 new planes built, one of the largest sales outlets is found to be in the executive and sales forces for their quick and economical transportation.

CONSIDER THE DELIVERED PRICE

Consider the delivered price as well as the list price when comparing automobile values . . . Viking delivered prices include only reasonable charges for delivery and financing.

Now the American family has a motor car of medium price that combines the advantages of ninety-degree, V-type eight-cylinder performance—the roominess, comfort, and riding qualities that result from generous size—and the outstanding style and craftsmanship of bodies by Fisher . . . the new Viking.

The Viking is in no sense an ordinary car. It offers a principle of engineering, a type of performance, and a degree of luxury entirely new in the medium-price field.

The Viking power plant, for example, is of ninety-degree, V-type eight-cylinder design—the type employed in the very finest cars—and adds desirable advancements to the fundamental advantages of this principle.

This remarkable new engine develops 81 horsepower. The power flow is smooth, effortless and constant—more than ample for any need. Top speed goes far beyond the requirements of every day driving. Response to the throttle is incredibly swift and sure, both in getaway from a standing start and in acceleration at the higher speeds.

In addition to its remarkable efficiency, the new Viking V-eight engine is noteworthy for its simplicity, accessibility, rigidity, and compactness. The new down-draft manifolding results in equi-distant, gravity-assisted distribution of the fuel vapor—an important factor in engine efficiency. The horizontal placement of the valves is entirely new in automotive engine design, and results in exceptional simplicity, quietness, and rigidity. Advanced lubrication and cooling also contribute materially to the efficiency of the new Viking engine.

Engine performance alone would set the Viking apart from other cars in its field. But every detail of chassis and body construction shows skill in design and manufacture. The chassis incorporates every desirable factor of safety, durability and road performance. The bodies are of Fisher combination hardwood-and steel construction—assuring great strength and long life.

And the new Viking is as gratifying in appearance as it is in mechanical excellence. Beautifully proportioned, with graceful hood and sweeping full-crown fenders, it is a handsome, smartly-tailored car. Interiors are spacious, comfortable, and furnished in exquisite taste. Upholsteries are rich in quality and pleasing in texture. The wide, deep-cushioned seats are inclined at just the proper angle to afford armchair comfort. And four Lovejoy hydraulic shock absorbers, synchronized with the springs, give further assurance of the restful riding ease which is so typical of fine car luxury.

In every way, the new Viking is worthy of the most discriminating motorist. It provides brilliant performance, distinguished appearance, and travel luxury of the highest order—all at a medium price. Come in. Drive the new Viking Eight. Let us explain its engineering features. Careful examination and comparison will tell you that no other car in the medium-price field offers the American family such worthwhile advantages.

OLDSMOBILE SIX

—the Fine Car of Low Price—continues to win ever greater success throughout the nation. Companion car to the new Viking Eight, and, equally outstanding in engineering and value at its price, it offers a wide choice of body styles and equipment combinations, ranging from $875 up, f. o. b. factory, Lansing, Mich.

MILES— MILES— and MILES of SATISFACTION!

NEW STYLE WILLYS◆KNIGHT

BENEATH the hood of the new style Willys-Knight "70-B" is the patented double sleeve-valve motor—big and rugged—with a simplicity of design, a high degree of efficiency and a remarkable freedom from carbon trouble and repairs. No complicated valve mechanism of springs, tappets and cams. Instead, in each cylinder two sturdy metal sleeves, accurately machined, move smoothly and quietly up and down, one within the other, in a protective film of oil.

Uniform high compression at all motor speeds and with any gas. A heavy seven-bearing crankshaft which reduces vibration to the minimum.

Miles, miles and miles of satisfaction. Smooth, quiet, surging power. Freedom from the petty annoyances and maintenance expense which only the patented Knight double sleeve-valve engine with its simplified design can assure you.

And with this motor mastery the new style Willys-Knight "70-B" also offers the most modern design, a grace of line and artistry of finish, the outstanding creation of modern designers. It is the most beautiful, the most powerful Willys-Knight ever offered at so little cost.

Arrange for a demonstration of the Willys-Knight "70-B". Note its motor smoothness, its activity, effortless power, and its restful riding comfort. All models are equipped with Finger-Tip Control, one of the greatest advances in automobile design and driving comfort and ease since the introduction of the electric self-starter.

Arcadia Dance Hall to Be Made Into Modern Market

TAX SITUATION SERVES TO SLOW REALTY MARKET

Conditions Outlined in Olcott Survey.

BY PHILIP HAMPSON.

The complicated tax situation was one of the major reasons for the depression suffered by Chicago real estate last year, according to an annual survey of realty conditions by George C. Olcott made public coincident with the issue of the 1929 edition of Olcott's Land Values Blue Book. Increased interest rates and the rampaging stock market proved other factors, the survey says.

A new set of maps, showing alleys and all transportation lines is found in the 1929 blue book. A newcomer in towns outside the city covered in the book is Hammond, Ind., where values of $3,000 a front foot for corner parcels in the business center are reported.

"The real estate market during the year passed through a period of unusually depressing conditions which severely tried the nerves of owners and operators," the survey finds. "However, despite adverse circumstances, it has emerged triumphant if a little weak from the encounter.

Results in Uncertainty.

"Perhaps the most disturbing feature was the tax situation. The revaluation of all the properties of the city for taxing purposes caused uncertainty as to the outcome. The delayed tax payments complicated the transfer of real estate. Many who had previously been immune from taxes on account of their "stand in" hastened to unload when their "pull" began to fade out. Others disgusted at seeing their neighbors' property listed at much lower figures than their own, though of equal or greater value, lost confidence in real estate.

"The astounding revelations of incompetence and corruption in office which became public during the year, aided in undermining the feeling of security which hitherto attached to realty holdings. The ever mounting cost of government, the issues of anticipation warrants for not only the current year but the year to come, the new bond issues to cover deficits incurred, would have been staggering blows to an investment less securely grounded.

"Another depressing feature was the stiffening of interest rates and the refusal of many banks to make loans on new building projects. In some sections the large number of apartments for rent was an evidence that the supply had caught up to the demand, for the present anyway. There was, however, no dearth of money on approved security. It was the financing of apartment house hijackers that suffered the most severe blows.

Speculation Takes Funds.

"The withdrawal of funds for stock speculation was greater than any previous year in the history of the city. With the slowing down of the stock speculation fever, a gradual return to the more than safe and sound real estate investment was in evidence.

"Despite the above enumerated adverse conditions the market as a whole continued strong, with no appreciable recession in prices."

Individual discussion of some of the city centers and suburbs follows:

Downtown district: The most marked improvement in the main business part of the city was La Salle street, followed closely by Wacker drive and contiguous streets. The Wells and Van Buren street district also showed great improvement. Other parts of the central business district, particularly Wacker drive, North Wabash avenue and North Michigan avenue were the scenes of building activity, with corresponding increased land values.

North Michigan avenue district: No noticeable change in values over previous years was in evidence. A few record sales on the boulevard did not materially affect prices except on that thoroughfare.

Slow on North Shore.

North Shore district: There was a general slowing down in real estate activity here, acres remaining unchanged. One exception was the Indian Hill Country club district, where there was a brisk demand.

Evanston: This suburb forged ahead in the newer and undeveloped territory on the west. There was a considerable flurry in business sites in the center of the town as a result of the entry of Marshall Field & Co. and chain store organizations.

Niles and Tessville: The builder followed the speculator in the former town, bringing the community out of the realm of dreams into realities. The latter was the scene of much local improvement work, though not so much in building operations. Prices were stationary.

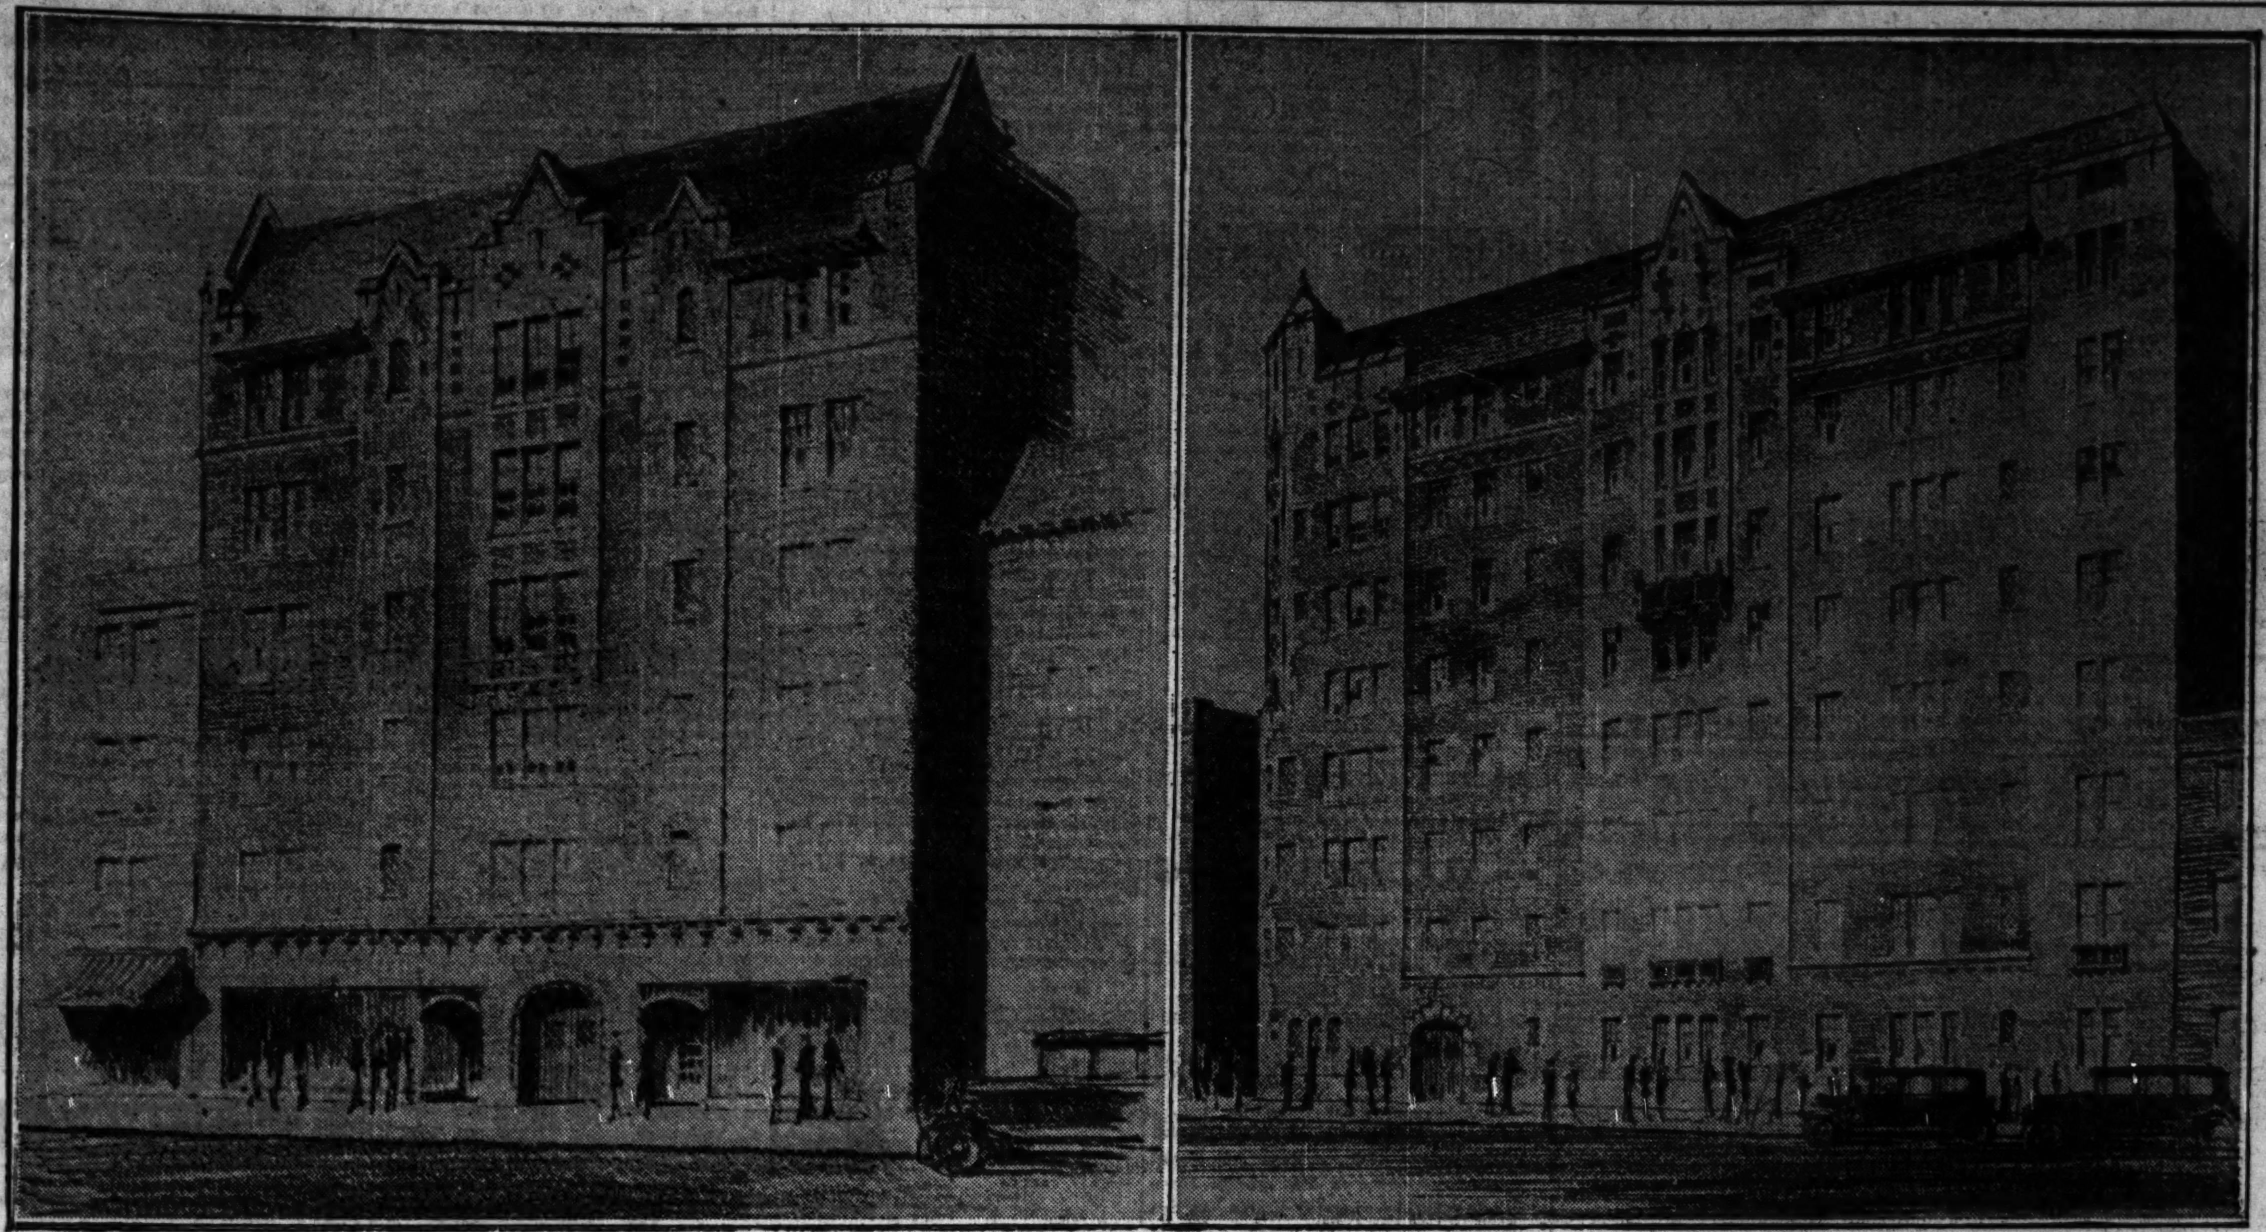
Rogers Park and Edgewater: Despite many unoccupied flats new apartment buildings and hotels were erected. The kitchenette style was in favor, closely followed by "co-ops." Values were weak at previous figures.

Northwest Is Active.

Northwest side. This district was more active than any other outlying section in small apartments despite poor transportation facilities.

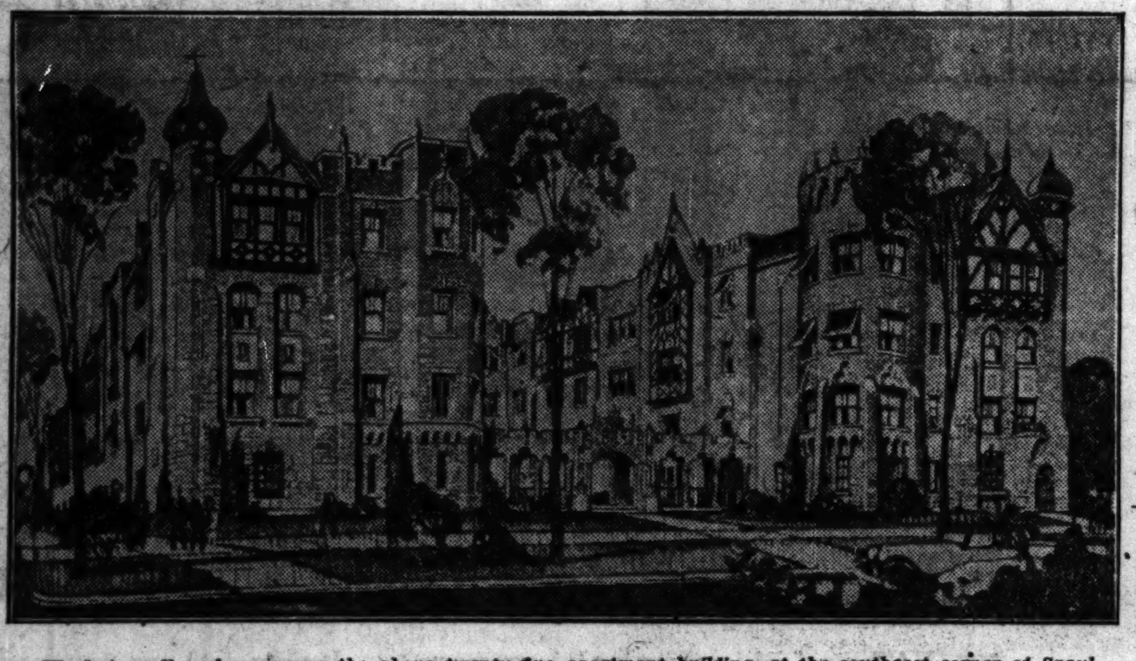
Hyde Park: Many new building projects of large proportions were in evidence, mainly in the lake shore sections. In this respect the East End avenue section was a strong rival of the north shore. Values were firm at previous quotations. The Avalon and Chatham Fields properties were practically 100 per cent developed. Riverdale enjoyed activity.

$1,500,000 APARTMENT PROJECT FOR UPTOWN DISTRICT



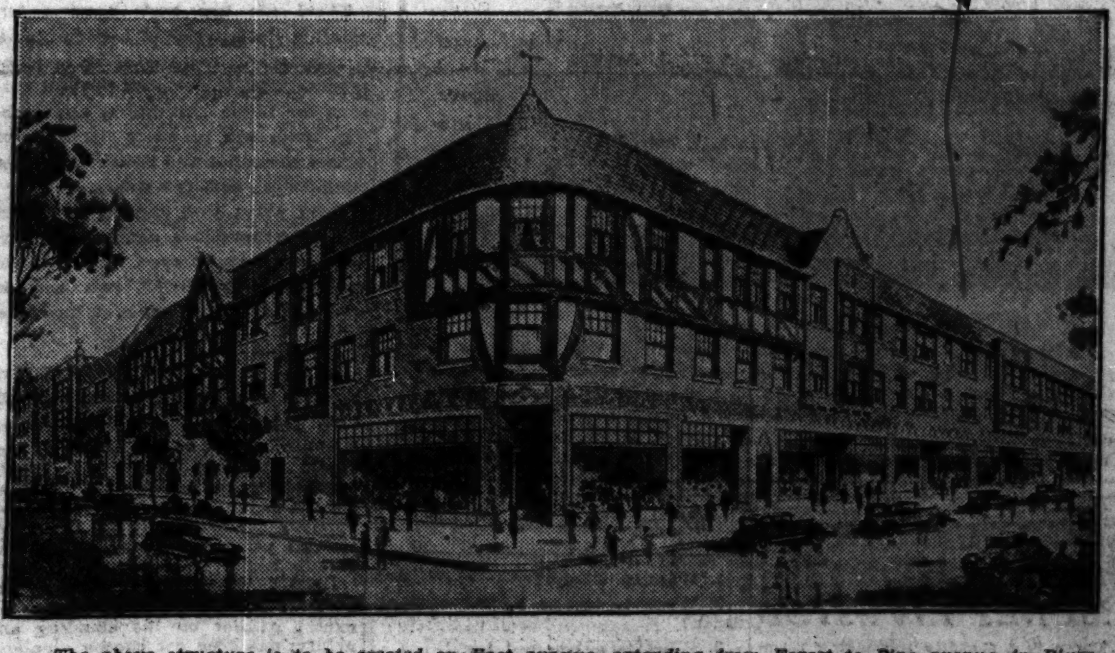
Charles Wheeler Nicol is architect of the above 200 flat building, which is to be erected in the block bounded by Sheridan road, Wilson avenue, Hazel street, and Windsor avenue. It will front on both Wilson and Windsor. The Wilson avenue elevation will be six stories and will have shops on the first floor. On Windsor avenue the structure will be five stories, but will have foundations capable of carrying at least three more floors. Details are given in another column of this section.

AT SPAULDING AND HOLLYWOOD



Work is well under way on the above twenty-five apartment building, at the southeast corner of Spaulding and Hollywood avenues, from plans by R. H. Johnson. Magnuson Bros. are the owners and builders. The total cost of land and building, it is claimed, will be $230,000. The West Town State bank has underwritten a bond issue of $125,000. Lawrence Monberg made this picture.

JUST WEST OF RIVERSIDE'S WATER TOWER



The above structure is to be erected on East avenue, extending from Forest to Pine avenue, in Riverside, from plans by David Saul Klafter. It will contain fifteen stores, twenty offices, and seventy-five apartments. The total investment, it is claimed, will be $750,000. Carroll L. Bragg & Co. were brokers. The Madison and Kedzie State bank has underwritten a bond issue. Completion is set for next spring.

FIELDHOUSE FOR STUDENTS AT NORTH CENTRAL·COLLEGE

Realtors to Hold Outing at Wheaton

Wheaton is to be the scene of this year's outing of the Chicago Real Estate board and the date of the event has been set for Sept. 11. This was announced yesterday by William H. Regelin, chairman of the board's outing committee. The 500 realtors who are expected to attend will be the guests of the city of Wheaton. A joint committee composed of representatives of the board, the Wheaton city council and Wheaton business men will be in charge.

W. C. REGELIN.

Plans now being worked out by the joint committee include an all day program of golf over the courses of the Green Valley, Antlers, and Chicago Golf clubs; races, games, and baseball at Grange field—the Wheaton High school athletic field; swimming and diving exhibitions at the Wheaton municipal swimming pool and equestrian sports at the Chicago Golf club or one of the country estates in the vicinity. A barbecue luncheon and a banquet will also be provided.

MUSSEY LEASES THREE FLOORS AT WABASH-ADAMS

Martin A. Ryerson, who is completing the remodeling of his building at the northeast corner of Adams street and Wabash avenue—formerly occupied by Alexander H. Revell & Co. —has leased the fourth, fifth and sixth floors to W. P. Mussey & Co.

Norman E. Bensinger, president of the lessee company, states that more than $250,000 will be spent on decoration, furnishings, and equipment. The fourth floor will be devoted to billiards, while bowling alleys will be located on the fifth and sixth floors. The opening is set for the middle of September.

Glen Ellyn to Have New Golf Course on Roosevelt Road

Glen Ellyn is to have what is claimed will be one of the finest public fee golf courses in the Chicago area, it was learned last night. Robert B. Harris and Hermann T. Reeves, owners and operators of the Chicago Landscape company, have bought the 130 acre tract at the southeast corner of Roosevelt road and Bryant avenue, extending east to the Du Page river, with a few acres on the opposite side of that stream. The property was bought from Berkeley Brandt. It was at one time known as the Blanchard farm and later was owned by St. Patrick's academy. It is bounded on the north and west by the Glen Ellyn limits.

A brick clubhouse, designed in the French chateau style, is to be built at the Roosevelt-Bryant corner, where meals will be served. An open air dancing pavilion is planned. The Chicago Landscape company will lay out an eighteen hole course which is to be ready for golf fans by next Memorial day.

Golfers will be the christeners of the new club. That is, the golfer who sends in the best name to the Chicago Landscape company within the next few months will be given free use of the course for one year.

START WIDENING OF HALSTED IN NEW ROSELAND

Work on the widening of South Halsted street from 119th street to the city limits is under way, according to representatives of the Harmon National Realty Trust. Halsted street, which will have a pavement measuring seventy feet from curb to curb, runs through the center of the New Roseland development of the Harmon company. The work is to cost $236,000.

It is also stated that contracts have been let for water mains and street paving within that portion of New Roseland lying east of Halsted. Work is to begin at once on the water mains and the paving will follow later.

Plan 200 Flat Building for Wilson Avenue

Wreckers will start within a month clearing the grounds for a $1,500,000 apartment project which will front on both Wilson and Windsor avenues, in the block between Sheridan road and Hazel street. Architect Charles Wheeler Nicol has completed plans for a structure which will front sixty feet at 915-917 Wilson avenue and 120 feet at 908-916 Windsor avenue.

The building will have a six story elevation on the Wilson avenue frontage. On Windsor avenue the building will be five stories but will have foundations for at least eight floors as shown in the picture in this section. The building will be 288 feet long, from Wilson to Windsor.

There'll be 200 furnished apartments, all one room kitchenettes, but so arranged that they can be made into two and three room units.

The building will be owned and erected by the Windsor-Wilson Building corporation, of which C. Frank Taylor is president and Joseph F. Arman, of the Arman Construction company, is secretary and treasurer. Other stockholders in the corporation are Mrs. W. May, J. Ferry, and Miss Anna Black Johnson. Mr. Taylor and Mr. Arman will manage the property.

The reported total investment in land and building will be $1,500,000. The Garard Trust company has underwritten an $825,000 bond issue on the project, negotiated by Horwich & Co. The Fleisher Engineering and Construction company has the contract.

The exterior will be of face brick with terra cotta trim. The roof will be of variegated colored slate. All the windows will be of plate glass. The architect expects to have the building ready for tenants by May 1, 1930. Lloyd D. Heth, of Heth, Lister & Collins, was attorney for the corporation.

FOX TROTS TO BE REPLACED BY EATABLES

"Paddy" Harmon Back of Project.

BY AL CHASE.
[Real Estate Editor.]

Food instead of fox trots will be the attraction at Arcadia, one of Chicago's oldest and best known dance establishments, when Patrick T. Harmon, better known as "Paddy," sporting impresario, gets through his transformation of the Broadway terpsichorean temple into an elaborate retail market. The announcement of this change, made yesterday, is the culmination of a year or more of discussion and negotiations. It was temporarily sidetracked by the more ambitious Chicago stadium project of Mr. Harmon's on the west side.

Work is scheduled to start within thirty days on the remodeling and rejuvenation of old Arcadia into a modern market of the type which has been successful in other large cities. Charles D. Kamp, who managed the Cleveland and Baltimore markets, will be in charge of the Broadway-Montrose market, as it is to be christened.

The entire Broadway front of the Arcadia is to be rebuilt with paneled glass. The plans call for 163 units or stands, of which it is claimed approximately one-third already have been leased.

Stores to Be Uniform.

These 163 individual stores are all to be furnished with equipment by the market company, thus insuring uniformity of design and stability. Many of the shops will have refrigerator display counters.

The individual units are to be leased, completely equipped, to the various tenants. In addition, there will be storage facilities for surplus stocks available for the use of the lessees.

It is intended to sell everything in the food line obtainable in and out of season. For instance, there'll be fruits and vegetables, of course, meats of all kinds, fish and other sea foods, poultry and game, baked goods, confectionery, dried fruits, nuts, flowers, in fact, just about everything the modern housewife may need on her table.

The present old Arcadia dance hall stands on the west side of Broadway, in the block between Wilson avenue and Montrose avenue. To be exact, it is 260 feet northwest of the Broadway-Montrose corner. It has a frontage on Broadway of 250 feet and is 100 feet deep.

The land on which it stands is owned by the Rapid Transit lines. Mr. Harmon has a lease on the property which has fifteen years yet to run. He has been operating it as a dance hall since 1921. Prior to that it was used for dancing by various managers back to the time of its erection.

The Broadway-Montrose market eventually may be opened through to Montrose avenue. George F. Nixon, head of George F. Nixon & Co., realtors, has a lease on the northwest corner of Broadway and Montrose avenue, also from the Rapid Transit lines. Some time ago he erected fifteen one story stores on part of his leased land.

Mr. Nixon stated last night that when the Broadway-Montrose market is completed he probably will remodel his property into an arcade building with a large entrance on Broadway, another on Montrose and a third into the new market.

The part of the Nixon property now vacant will be improved with shops opening on to the proposed new arcade between the market and his building.

Seeks 50 Year Lease.

Mr. Nixon's building fronts 260 feet on Broadway and 110 feet on Montrose avenue. If his proposed connection with the Broadway-Montrose market is carried out it will mean that project will have 510 feet of frontage on Broadway.

The new market will be owned and operated by the Broadway-Montrose Market company, of which Mr. Harmon is president. He now is paying the Rapid Transit lines an annual rental of $3,900 for the property. He is endeavoring to secure a new lease for fifty years.

Tentative sketches of the remodeling of the present Arcade structure into a market are now being made by two firms of architects. It is planned, according to Mr. Harmon, to have the building ready for customers by Dec. 1.

Wallach Brothers have received a building permit for a seven story apartment hotel to be erected at 923-25 Glengyle place, just east of Sheridan road. Raymond Gregori has drawn plans for the structure, which will be of conventional apartment building design. There will be thirty-five apartments of one, two, and three rooms. All will be furnished. Work is scheduled to start in a week, with completion scheduled for next spring. The cost of the building, exclusive of land and furnishings, is given at $175,000.

HOME BUILDING AND REMODELING

HOW ONE HOUSE WORN BY TIME IS BEING RESTORED

Old Fashioned Features Are Eliminated.

(Next week will appear picture and plan of an architect's own week-end cottage.)

BY LOUISE BARGELT.
[Home Builders Editor.]

The house chosen is one which is at the present time under process of extensive remodeling. For this reason, while a graphic photograph of the old dwelling is shown, a perspective has been drawn to show the appearance-to-be of the modernized building.

The owners of the house are Mr. and Mrs. Lee S. Trainor, 225 West Randolph, Oak Park. The work was designed and supervised by the office of Allen E. Erickson, architect, 7 West Madison, Chicago.

The problem was not an easy one. It was a city house on a narrow lot. The entire width was only 26 feet and whatever remodeling was to be done was to be without adding to the width of the house.

Built originally with limesone foundation and frame superstructure, the house presented in its original form a comely appearance.

Old Fashioned Porch.

The old fashioned entrance porch with a high tier of steps leading up to it was a feature much in demand at the time this house was built. Observing the house closely one will see large old fashioned windows and also an old type of box gutter on the roof. The rear porches, both first and second floor, were an addition to the house some time ago, when such porches were the vogue.

When it came to modernization there were many features to be changed.

First comes the exterior. The old porches, front and rear, will be removed and the entire exterior stuccoed on metal lath. The old fashioned windows will be removed and new steel sash put in with screens which roll up and down installed for the convenience of the owners.

Interior plaster work is to be entirely removed, entire house insulated and new concrete stairs poured from basement to grade entry. A new entry door was put on grade level to provide side entries to the house. There was no rear entry to porch made.

Kitchen Moved.

On the first floor the old fashioned vestibule disappears and new lavatory takes its places, a clothes closet is located conveniently. The entrance is of stone with cement porch and steps with wrought iron rail.

For reasons of convenience the kitchen was moved from its former location to the old dining room location. A new sink was installed, and built in cupboards and conveniences added, with serving pantry housing built-in cases and electric refrigerator.

Instead of old time wide openings between the rooms several plaster arches appear. Another feature of the interior is the use of very simple wood trim and French doors. There occurs no trim at all on the window openings except the stool and apron and plaster returns around the sides.

In the vestibule one sees new tile, with colored tile work in lavatory and bathroom. The old bath room fixtures were removed and partitions were removed making space for sleeping porch. During the alteration it was necessary to move several radiators and add one or two units.

Pays to Remodel.

Certainly there is no doubt that with a basic culture of good lines and sound construction it pays to remodel and modernize. Old fashioned, even semi decrepit, houses take on new beauty and strength not to mention a definitely increased property value.

Instead of building a new house the owner in this instance preferred to keep his old one and remodel it into a home which would fit his needs, satisfy his desire for a modern establishment and yet be in the same location as the old home.

The work was carried out by the Community Builders, an organization which employs local sub-contractors in the execution of all work.

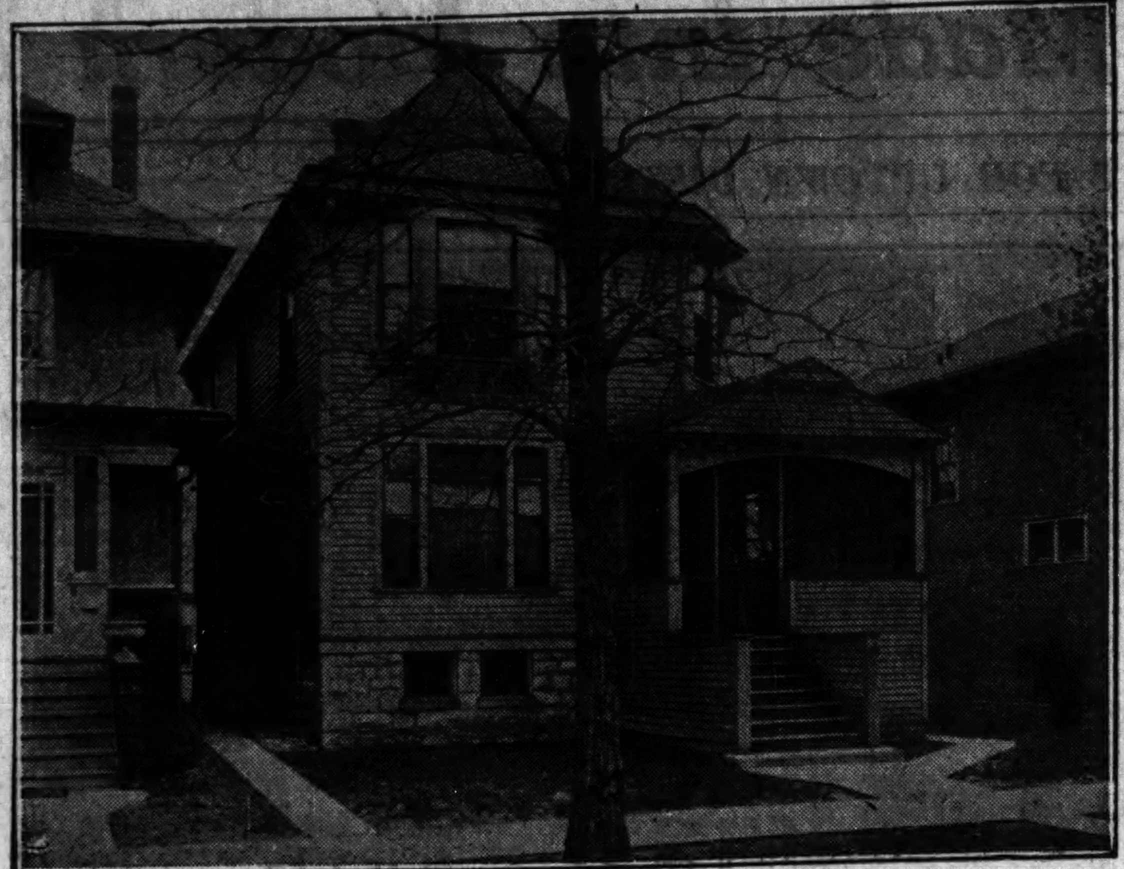
Screens which roll are adaptable to almost all styles of window trim at the present time. All plaster or stone jambs, solid wood or semi-wood and plaster, and any other, it seems, may be so screened with ease and satisfaction.

Answers to Quiz

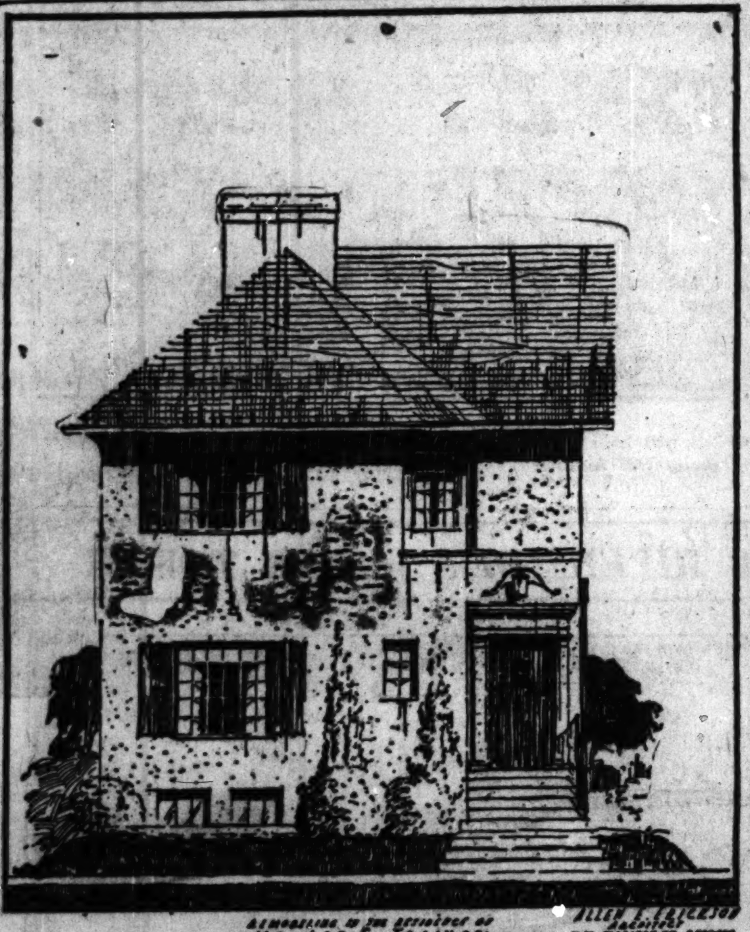
1. Stucco applied by a compressed air cement gun.
2. A finish that lies midway in respect to gloss between a flat finish and an enamel one.
3. Iron or steel which is coated with zinc.
4. Those which consist of cast iron to which has been applied a porcelain enamel.
5. The metal plate which surrounds a key hole.
6. Its fast drying qualities.
7. Waterproofing.
8. The bearing surface of the foundation wall which is increased to give a wider base.
9. Due to the arrangement of fibers there is a figure of wood in the finished product which is called grain.
10. Its wear resisting qualities on wood work furniture and so on, its lovely texture and the wide variety of colors in which it can be secured.

RESIDENCE BEFORE REMODELING



Here a limestone foundation, frame superstructure with high tier of steps leading up to it, old fashioned windows all mark an era passed. With the entire width only 26 feet there was a problem to remodel along the owner's requirements without adding to the width of the house.

AFTER MODERNIZATION



The above is a perspective of the house as it will look when completely modernized. The dwelling is now under process of remodeling, which will easily double the value of the property. Owners, Mr. and Mrs. Lee S. Trainor, 225 West Randolph street, Oak Park, Ill. Work designed and supervised by the office of Allen E. Erickson, architect, 7 West Madison street, Chicago.

GOOD SUMMER HOUSE WORTH MONEY INVESTED

There is a steadily increasing number of people who are building their summer cottages with a view to substantiality. The flimsily built summer cottage is less and less an appealing cottage to the discriminating buyer or builder.

A cottage for summer comfort should be put up to fit varying weather conditions and many people wish them for week-end occupancy a large part of the year.

Our seasons seem to be less sharply defined than formerly. Certainly temperatures can be badly jumbled with the thermometer at 85 degrees one noon and at 65 degrees the next noon.

It isn't any more fun shivering in a summer cottage by a pretty lake than it is shivering at home where there is no lake to look at, and leaky roofs which let in a pelting rain on one's head are no more pleasant in the country than in town.

When one builds a summer cottage two points are worth remembering. One is that it is nice to be comfortable therein, no matter how chilly or stormy the day may be, and the other is that a certain sturdiness of structure is necessary if it is not to suffer from exposure during its months of unoccupancy.

FOLDING DINING SET REDUCES WORK AND STEPS

Is this the summer when you are going to add a breakfast room to your home?

Not perhaps an entirely separate breakfast room, for not every one has the space—or can afford the space—for the individual breakfast room.

But almost every one can have, if he wishes, one of those many folding or disappearing dining sets which come in so many different colors and types and which may be placed against the kitchen wall or built into it.

When not needed for dining purposes the table top may be used for a work table, or the entire set, benches and table, may be folded back into the wall.

Such convenient little "breakfast rooms" as these dining sets are! Nor are their purposes confined alone to the early morning. They can be used for many a lone luncheon, or for noon hour when the children come home from school, or for the evening meal when the man of the house is not coming home perhaps. They save much labor and eliminate many steps.

STRIKING COLOR EFFECTS USED FOR BATHROOMS

Color decoration in the large and more spacious bathrooms of today does not of necessity require matched shades, but often obtains striking results through sharply contrasting colors.

For instance a floor may be of deep rich blue and the bathtub blend perfectly therewith, while the lavatory and toilet may be a sunlight yellow with walls and ceiling reflecting the same shade.

Manufacturers of distinctive plumbing fixtures and equipment are printing pamphlets and literature dealing with bathroom decoration. While many of the bathrooms shown are for the elaborate home, many ideas found therein may be included in the smaller bath of the smaller home.

Ease of Cleaning an Aid to Popularity of Tile

Not only is the lasting quality of tile a major reason for its enduring popularity but its ease of cleaning is a strong point indeed which contributes to its wide favor.

Mirrored Cabinet May Be Procured in Many Styles

The mirrored cabinet dresses up a bathroom and, because it may be had in many styles to suit all needs, it only remains for the builder or the modernizer to choose his own type.

HERE ARE TIMES WHEN IT'S WISE TO DO PAINTING

Good Materials and Work Essential.

BY HOMER GRANT.

There are three periods in the year which are usually considered as the best time for house painting.

They are early spring, late fall and midsummer. This, however, does not mean that there is any season absolutely and imperatively known as the painting period. In warm climates it may be done the year around but in Chicago territory most authorities agree that the thermometer should register forty degrees or over. Foggy weather and rainy weather should be avoided, as the quality of the coating surface is impaired and "washing" of the paint film results.

There are two basic reasons for painting the exterior of a house. One is appearance and the other is preservation, and, since one of the best seasons for house painting is approaching, there will be many hundreds of homes beautified and protected by new coats in the next few weeks.

Good paint, well applied, is an excellent preservative against weathering and decay of wood. On iron, tin or steel it wards off rust and on stucco and brick it wards off moisture.

Adds to Beauty.

And all the time that it is playing the role of a most practical and efficient aid in the life of the dwelling it is also adding to the beauty of any object it touches.

Skimping on the amount of paint used is as unwise as trying to economize by purchasing cheap paint, for inferior paint will not properly protect or last.

Good workmanship is as important as good materials. One chooses an expert painter on his standing and ability; one does not choose a painter simply because he will do the job "cheaper" than any one else. One may find that such a painter, whose only recommendation is his low price, may be the most expensive painter in the end.

It is wise, too, that the number of paint coats the house is to have should be agreed upon before the contract is definitely made and also that the grade of paint to be used should be specified.

Stucco and brick homes are often painted. Oil paints on stucco seal the pores of its surface and exclude moisture entrance. Whitewashing brick with a good white cement paint is popular with many home owners. Painting brick dates back in this country to pre-revolutionary days, with cream and white shades leading in popularity.

Machines are Useful.

Spray painting machines for brick or stucco work or "any extended surface" are a matter of possible economy. Not because less paint is used but because labor costs may be reduced and the painting accomplished in less time.

One last word about roofs. Where one has a tin roof, that should be painted every two years with special paints made for the purpose, as its serviceability will be greatly increased.

No set rule for the frequency of painting can be put down when it comes to shingle roofs. Some home owners paint their shingle roofs every four or five years and are satisfied. Others paint their roofs oftener. The same principle applies to the shingle roof of a house as to the siding of the home. Frequent and careful painting keeps it looking well and improves its serviceability and longevity.

CONSIDER MEANS TO BUILD BRICK HOME FOR $6,000

Cheerful news comes from Cleveland that the Clay league of that city is endeavoring to evolve a plan for a six room house of brick and tile which can be built for not more than $6,000.

Not that this house can flaunt many furbelows, but that it can be well built, durable and attractive, with walls of burned clay products is the opinion of the Clay league officials, and they have architects who agree with them!

CONTRACTOR AND IRON UNION HEAD IN CONTROVERSY

Haupt Charges Bad Faith in Recent Strike.

BY THOMAS WREN.

Correspondence still continues between Chicago building contractors and the international officers of the Association of Bridge, Steel, Structural and Ornamental Iron Workers over the June 1 strike of Chicago iron workers. The iron workers' walkout lasted several days and halted millions of dollars of construction work. It ended when the Chicago Steel Erectors' association, an employers' organization not associated with the Building Construction Employers' association, signed a contract with the iron workers' union which conceded demands for an immediate pay raise from $1.50 to $1.62½ an hour.

MICHAEL ARTERY.

Patrick J. Morrin, the iron workers' international union leader, has received the following letter from Edward Haupt, an employer member of the builders' wage board.

Haupt Gives Views.

"Local No. 1 has gained 50 cents per day for perhaps 100 working days which is equal to a gross of $50 for each member. As against this they have lost:

"1. Five working days at $12.50—$62.50.

"2. They are in violation of contract and are subject to fine.

"3. They face as an organization and as individuals civil suits for damages for violation of contract.

"4. They have lost the friendship and respect of both employers and their friends in the building trades.

"5. Your local international officers stand discredited in the opinion of all employers and probably will not be accepted as representing labor in future negotiations.

"6. After leaving the matter in the hands of the wage board to settle—within twelve hours opened negotiations with an unrecognized unofficial and unaffiliated body of employers.

Stirs Up Resentment.

"7. Have stirred up a spirit of resentment among employers that will some day seek expression in another non-union movement, which, following precedent, will probably seek reparation.

"8. Repudiated a committee agreement on interpretation of working rules and conditions after having agreed to them.

"9. Having ignored the rulings of the umpire and by so doing have established mob rule in the union and discredited your international and control of your organization by regular elected officers."

Mr. Haupt concludes his communication to President Morrin by stating:

"With the inroads of non-union contractors in this territory something must be done at once by your headquarters to clean up the situation and I shall be glad to try to arrange a meeting between yourself or some one from your office and our committee to see if the atmosphere cannot be cleared."

Artery States Position.

"In article I Mr. Haupt says five working days at $12.50—or $62.50. He infers the iron workers lost that sum of money while on strike. I would agree with him if the work was being done in the meantime, but at the conclusion of the strike the men returned to work just where they left off. Consequently they had the same amount of work to do.

"Article 2. We contend our agreement expired on May 31, and we were at liberty to effect better working conditions if possible.

"3. Regarding the civil suits I am unable to answer at this time, but will take our chances on that.

"4. When Brother Evensen and I made our report at the meeting of the building trades' council we received a wonderful ovation, because we were instrumental in bringing several trades up from $12.50 to $13 a day. That is where the shoe pinches.

Says He's Right.

"Article 5. If Brother Evensen or myself as international officers stand discredited because of our stand for what we contend rightfully belongs to the iron workers, so be it.

"Article 6 refers to an unrecognized, unofficial and unaffiliated body of employers. Possibly so in the eyes of the Building Construction Employers' association, nevertheless an organized group of men who employ at least 70 per cent of the iron workers in this locality. I know of no law which prohibits labor officials from making contracts for membership with any group of fair employers, irrespective of affiliation."

Artery writes to Morrin that he has no apology to offer for his conduct as a gentleman or as an officer of the iron workers while negotiating the wage contract for local No. 1. He states the situation was an unpleasant one which resulted principally through the lax method employed by the employers and officers of local No. 1, which allowed the agreement to run until the 11th hour before the situation was adjusted.

OCTOBER MOVING TO BE LIGHT THIS YEAR, O. S. TURNER ASSERTS

Moving around Oct. 1 is to be light this year as a result of the success of the endeavor to spread out the moving period over the entire year instead of having it just around May 1 and Oct. 1, according to Oliver S. Turner, chairman of the Chicago homes economic council.

"This year a large decrease in October movers is inevitable since twenty per cent of all leases written in 1928 expire outside of May and June," Mr. Turner said. "Next year considerably more departures from the old dates are indicated.

"The percentage of apartment leases written this year to expire out of season has increased seventy-five per cent over that of 1928. Check ups with 112 of the city's largest real estate offices, twenty-one of which manage more than 1,000 apartments apiece, show that out of 40,399 apartments rented, 14,575 leases will take their signers out of the May and Oct. 1 moving class. This is thirty-six per cent of the total.

"The number of people who moved in June this year is evidence that the work of the council in convincing Chicago of the advantage of having a year around moving season has borne fruit. One of the largest south side real estate firms rented more vacant apartments during half of this month than in the whole month of April. The total number of families moving in June was 31,000 this year.

"The saving in moving expenses has been one of the chief appeals of the new system to the public. Since eighty per cent of the moving is done by families living in one, two, and three room apartments a reduction in moving costs is no small benefit to making more comfortable living circumstances for those of moderate means."

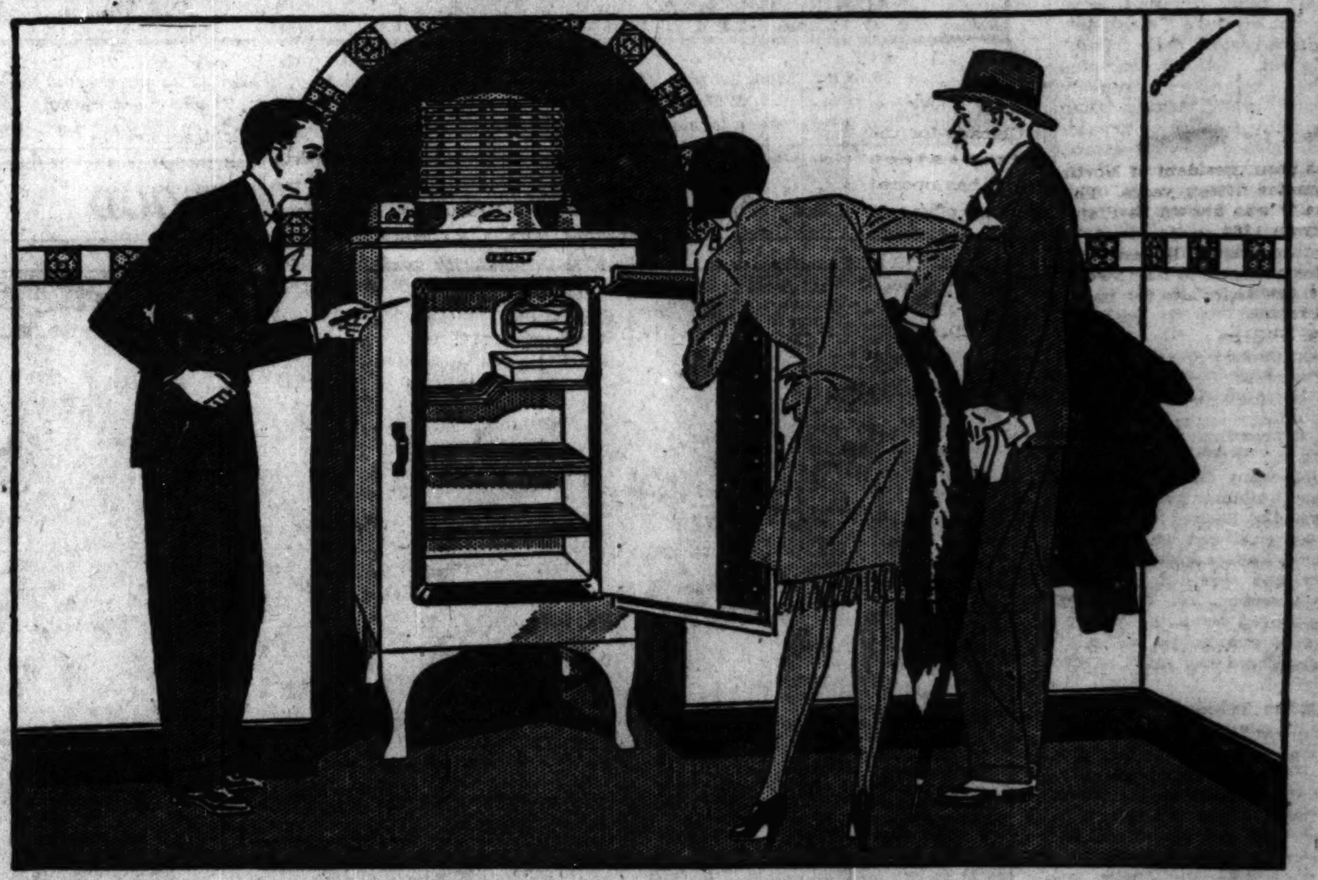
TOBACCO FIRM ERECTS BUILDING AT 63D-HALSTED

Work is to start shortly on a two story store and loft building at the southeast corner of 63d and Halsted streets for the Whelan Tobacco company. The corner store will be occupied by the United Cigar Stores. The structure will occupy a site [illegible] feet, and apart from the leasehold interest on the property will represent a reported investment of $100,000. Designed by William Presto, the structure will be of modernistic architecture, with the two street facades finished in polychrome terra cotta. Completion is scheduled in five or six months after work begins.

Hammer-Sices, Inc., Leases Shop at Jackson-Franklin

Hammer-Sices, Inc., wholesale dealers in ladies' clothing, has leased from the Jackson-Franklin Building corporation the corner store in the building at the southwest corner of Jackson and Franklin for five years and six months. Alterations will be made which it is said will make the shop one of the most elaborate in the wholesale district. Robert White & Co. were brokers.

The REFRIGERATOR that says "LEASE THIS APARTMENT"



WHAT sort of refrigeration has this apartment? That's one of the major questions which instantly flashes into every woman's mind. The General Electric with its quiet, trouble-free, sealed-in mechanism and its remarkable all-steel cabinet, has put the signature on many a lease.

You may wonder why it is so often said that the General Electric Refrigerator is particularly good for apartments. It operates independently—each tenant has complete control over his own machine. He defrosts it or regulates the temperature when it suits his convenience. No action of another tenant, or of the superintendent, interferes with his service. This individual control assures worry-proof refrigeration.

It plugs into any convenient electric outlet and begins its important job—automatically, it always keeps the temperature safely below the 50 degree danger point, safeguards your food, checks dangerous bacterial growth. And it gives you the comfort of having plenty of ice-cubes always on hand.

As evidence of guaranteed reliability—there are now more than 300,000 users and not one has ever spent a single dollar for repairs.

When you're looking for an apartment, give special attention to the one which has a General Electric Refrigerator. For, if it has this most modern of refrigerators, you may be reasonably sure that it will be up-to-the-minute in most other respects, too!

THREE WESTERN SUBURBS ADD TO THEIR SCHOOLS

Fieldhouse for North Central College.

Three western suburbs, two of them in Du Page county and the third in Cook county, are having large additions made to their educational institutions. One of the three is a fieldhouse to be erected for North Central college at Naperville. The other two are big additions to the Proviso Township High school at Maywood and to the York Community High school at Elmhurst. The Joseph C. Llewellyn company of Chicago is architect of all three, with John A. Chiaro associated in the Maywood addition.

The fieldhouse at North Central college will stand on Kroehler field, which is part of the new forty-two acre Fort Hill campus. Kroehler field, by the way, is named for Peter Kroehler of furniture fame, who gave half its cost.

According to Edward Everett Rall, president of North Central college, the new fieldhouse will be one of the most complete of its kind in the country. It will have a movable basketball field, an indoor track and bleachers seating 1,400. The building will be 280x192.

Plan Swimming Pool.

It will have a swimming pool, 30x75; a women's gymnasium, 60x96; an athletic field, 120x200; corrective gymnasiums, showers, locker rooms, offices, etc.

The building will cost $350,000, of which $200,000 already is in sight. Mr. and Mrs. Henry Pfeiffer and G. A. Pfeiffer of New York City already have given $150,000.

In this connection it is interesting to know that three graduates from North Central eventually reached the multi-millionaire stage of bank balances. The trio is made up of the late John W. Gates of Chicago, Peter Kroehler, and Henry Pfeiffer. The latter two already have been mentioned in connection with gifts to their alma mater.

President for 15 Years.

Mr. Rall has been president of North Central college for fifteen years. The college originally was known as Plainfield college from 1861 to '64. In 1870 it was moved to Naperville and the name was later changed to Northwestern college. A few years ago the name was again changed to the present North Central college.

It has an enrollment of 628 and according to President Rall ninety-one per cent of the students earn all or part of their college expenses.

Enlarge York Community High.

The third unit of a general scheme for the development of the York Community high school, which cares for both Elmhurst and Villa Park students, is now being carried out along plans by the Joseph C. Llewellyn company. This unit contains an 1,800 seat auditorium, with a large stage, a large gymnasium with a floor 74x104 with bleacher capacity of 1,600 and twenty-two classrooms.

This will give the school capacity for gworth to practically twice its present enrollment. The fourth unit to be built when required will give the school a total capacity of 2,500 pupils.

The big addition to the Proviso Township high school at Maywood will provide classrooms, fieldhouse, athletic facilities, etc., as future requirements may suggest. When completed it will afford accommodations for approximately 4,000 pupils. An ultimate total of 5,000 is made possible by provision for additions and related buildings.

SLAUGHTER BUYS 15 ACRES FROM DR. JOHN SCOTT

Edward L. Slaughter, president of the Peerless Radiator Cabinet company, has purchased from Dr. John Scott of Northwestern university fifteen acres of the latter's farm at the northwest corner of Route 22 and Wauconda road, two miles northwest of Barrington, in Cuba township, Lake county. Mr. Slaughter plans to erect a commodious house on the property. It is reported that Mr. Slaughter paid in excess of $15,000 for the land and farm buildings. Pierre B. Beach of Quinlan & Tyson, Inc. was broker.

COST OF ERECTING CONCRETE BUILDINGS DROPS, SURVEY SHOWS

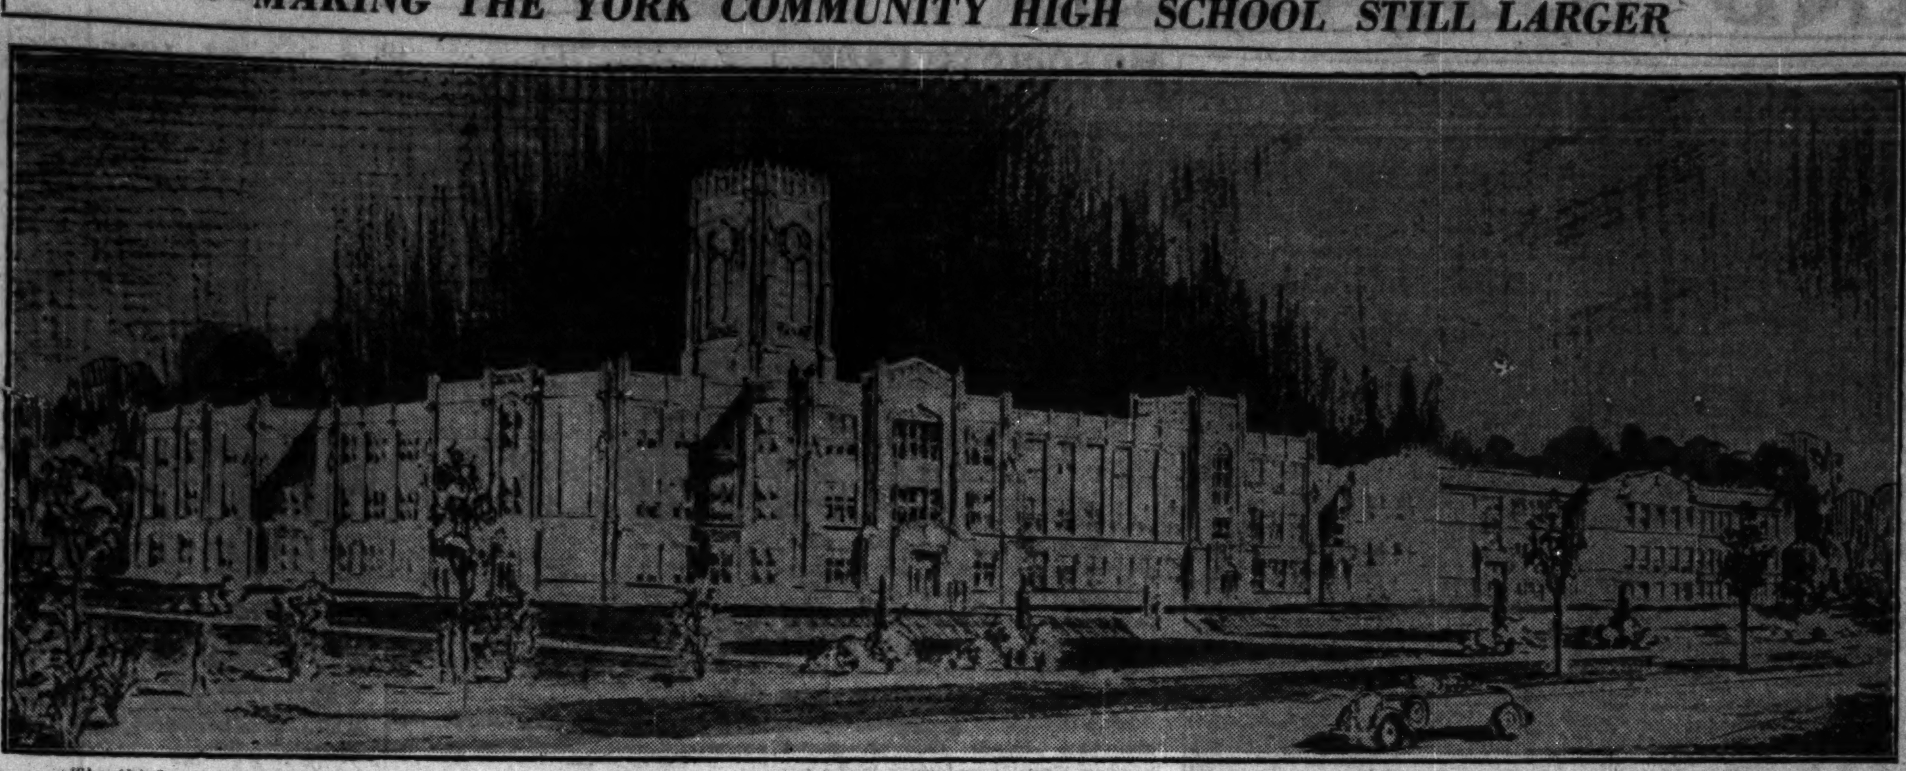
The cost of erecting concrete industrial buildings is now the lowest in six years, according to a comparative study made by the research department of Greenebaum Sons Investment company. The study covers the trend of average costs for this type of construction in the United States in corresponding periods of the years 1924-1929.

The curve of costs has maintained a continual down swing since the earlier year, the data reveal. Taking the average in 1924 as 100, the cost to build a standard concrete factory in 1925 may be shown by an index of 98.2. For 1926 the figure is 97.3 and for 1927 it is 97.0. For 1928 a further drop to 95.7 is disclosed.

The 1929 index is 94.8, which indicates that the cost of putting up such a building this year is approximately 5.2 per cent less than it was at the beginning of the period under consideration.

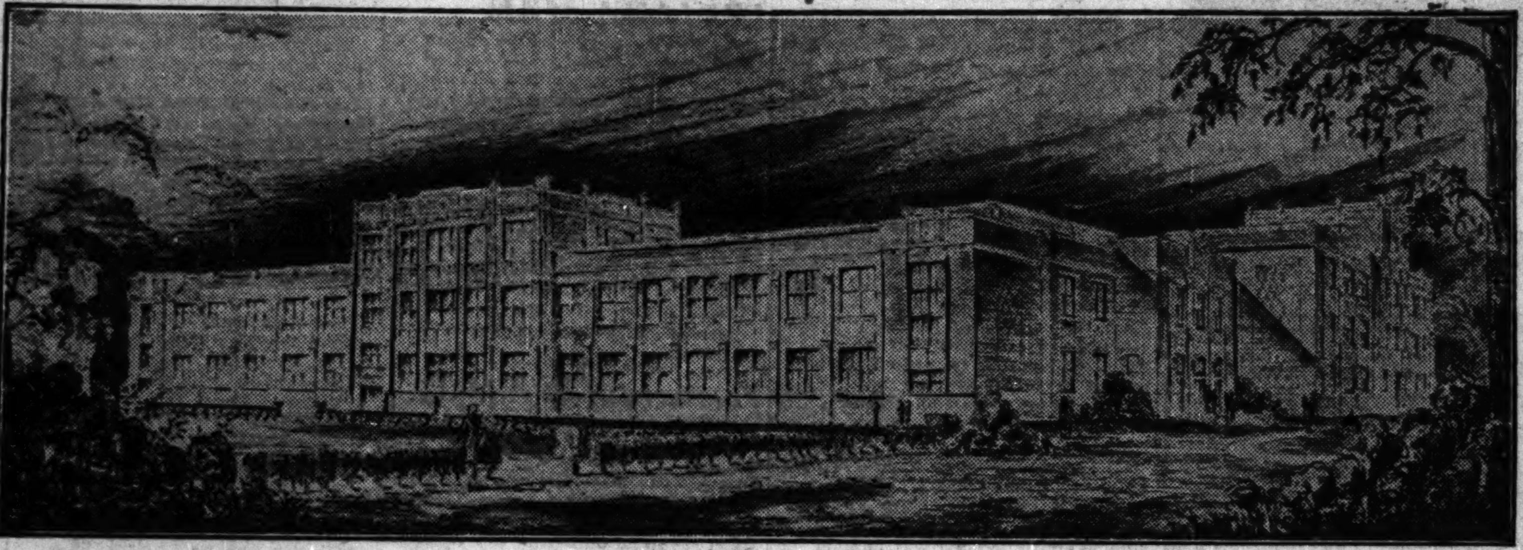
The foregoing figures are based upon conditions throughout the country as a whole. It is probable that the cost averages shown do not coincide with those which prevail in some localities.

MAKING THE YORK COMMUNITY HIGH SCHOOL STILL LARGER



The third unit in the development of the York Community High school, which serves Villa Park and Elmhurst, is shown above. It will contain an 1,800 seat auditorium, with large stage, a big gymnasium, and twenty-two classrooms. The Joseph C. Llewellyn company of Chicago is architect.

PROVISO TOWNSHIP HIGH SCHOOL AND ADDITION



Proviso Township High school at Maywood is being made much larger from plans by the Joseph C. Llewellyn company of Chicago, with John A. Chiaro associated, as shown above. When completed there'll be room for 4,000 pupils. Details are given in another column.

News of the Architects

Herbert E. Foster, who has been identified with architectural and engineering activities in Chicago for the last seventeen years, has opened his own offices in the new Daily News building. He recently was associated with S. Scott Joy, architect. He has specialized in industrial and commercial work and was construction engineer for the Central Manufacturing district trustees. He is a graduate of the University of Illinois where he studied architectural engineering. Mr. Foster lives at 5958 Midway park.

Ten residences have recently been completed at the Biltmore Country club, two and a half miles north of Barrington on Honey and Grassy lakes, and official of the organization announce that plans are being drawn for more to follow. Country homes for the following are those recently completed: Herman T. Ahrens, Edward G. Malmgren, H. L. Dovell, Raynar Olson, Dr. J. Henry Kramer, Fred Andrews, Joseph Danek, Lester Higgins, F. Burgeson and Dr. John P. Huffstadt. The property which comprises the former Grace estate contains 885 acres.

NUNN-BUSH SHOE LEASES SHOP IN HARTFORD BLDG.

The Nunn-Bush Shoe company, maker of men's footwear, has leased the store at 12 South Dearborn street, in the Hartford building, from the Moir hotel, for ten years at a reported term rental of $116,000. Bernard E. Green, of Hooker & Slosson, and William D. Cousin & Co. were brokers.

Metal Forms Company Leases Clearing Land

The National Concrete Metal Forms company has leased 40,000 square feet of the industrial property at 6510 West 66th place in the Clearing industrial district, to which it will move from its present location at 2300 West 58th street. J. H. Duncan and H. P. Phelps took part in the negotiations. Hart & Whetston were brokers.

Atlas Radio Stores Lease Entire Woodlawn Building

The Atlas Radio Stores, Inc. have leased the entire one story building at 860 East 63d street from Albert Pollack and will open their 15th Chicago area branch. The rental will be $118,500 for the fifteen years' term. Mark Levy & Brother and George Hunter were brokers.

NORTH SHORE GARAGE SOLD.

Joseph C. and Arthur C. Lucas have sold the North Shore garage property at 6610-20 North Clark street to an undisclosed buyer, the Chicago Title and Trust company taking title. The sellers then leased back the garage. Jules E. Scheid of Blue Bros. was broker.

TOOL COMPANY BUYS BUILDING ON JEFFERSON

The Valley Forge Steel and Tool company has purchased the property at the southwest corner of Monroe and Jefferson streets, lot 75x100 feet, improved with a six story store and loft structure, known as the Frances building, from the board of directors of the Chicago Theological seminary, for a reported $125,000.

After extensive alterations the firm will occupy about a third of the building. The company, which was organized in 1920, has been forced to move four times to get larger quarters. It deals in tool steels, metal cutting tools, etc. Clarence Avildson is president.

D. C. Snyder of Baird & Warner and H. C. Edmonds were brokers. John R. Montgomery was attorney for the sellers and Abraham Redman acted for the buyer. The property is a block west of the proposed Machinery Mart.

ACRE ACTIVITY REPORTED WEST OF WINNETKA

Acre activity in the region west of Glencoe and Winnetka is reported by Quinlan & Tyson. Frank Bremfer sold to E. O. Schweitzer seven and a half acres at Northbrook for an undisclosed consideration. Mr. Schweitzer will use the property for a summer home.

David F. Tabor, trustee, took title to the following parcels: From Henry Skrine, twenty-two acres on the south side of Dundee road, near the Skokie line; from Allen T. and Earl L. Weinstock, six acres adjoining the Skrine property; from Murray & Sinclair, one and a quarter acres near the Skokie line, and from Hans L. C. Hanson of Detroit an acre and a quarter. These four parcels are adjoining and will be used for subdivisions.

WYLE HAT RENTS SHOPS IN CITY AND OAK PARK

The Wyle Hat company has leased two stores in the new building at the southwest corner of Halsted and Maxwell from the B. Weinstein estate for ten years at a reported term rental of $100,000. Other leases made by this concern were two stores at the southeast corner of Chicago avenue and Paulina street, ten years, term rental of $96,000; store at 4647 Broadway at an annual rental of $5,400; store at 169 South Oak Park avenue, Oak Park, at $2,100 annually; store at 4951 West North avenue at $1,800 per annum, and the store at the northwest corner of Broadway and Ridge at $3,000 yearly. Cerf & Ehrenhalt were brokers in all of these leases.

REPORT SALES OF NEAR SOUTH SIDE PROPERTY

Sales of two parcels of near south side property are reported by Sayers & Co. In one deal Caroline Werner transferred title to the 25x120 feet at 2349 South State street, improved with a two story building, to Herbert H. Scheier for an undisclosed consideration. It is reported that A. Brandwein & Co., mattress manufacturers, are the real buyers and that they acquired the property for future expansion.

The other parcel, 65x160 feet, is located at 1910-12 Indiana avenue and was acquired by an undisclosed purchaser from Stephen Zidek. The property immediately adjoins the American Bank Note company's buildings. It is understood the bank note firm is the real purchaser and that it proposes to improve the property with a tall building. Sayers & Co. were brokers in both transactions.

STAMPING FIRM LEASES GROUND IN KENWOOD AREA

The Phipps Industrial Land Trust has leased to the Standard Stamping and Perforating company 25,000 square feet of ground on West 49th place, east of South Kedzie avenue, in the Kenwood Manufacturing district. The lease is for twenty-one years with option of purchase. A one story building is being erected from plans by Mundie & Jensen. Holton, Seelye & Co. have the general contract. J. H. Van Vlissingen & Co. represented the Phipps interests. Louis Cooper and George H. Cohen acted for the lessees.

Dr. Budney Buys Building at 6231 Cottage Grove

Dr. S. Budney has acquired from Carl D. Westin the four story brick building at 6231-33 Cottage Grove avenue, lot 50x125 feet. The buyer gave in exchange 224 feet of vacant on Marquette avenue, between Spaulding and Sawyer avenues, and fifty feet of vacant on South California avenue, opposite Marquette Park. Elmer Jordan & Co. were the only brokers. Maurice Turner of Turner & Turner was attorney for the purchaser, and Litsinger, Healy & Reid acted for the seller.

Talkies Take John Eberson to Manhattan

Talkies are responsible for John Eberson folding up his architectural tents and quitting Chicago for Gotham. Mr. Eberson, who has specialized in movie theaters for several years, recently found that the question of accoustics was paramount in designing the modern film palace. He also found that most of his architectural work had to be handled from his New York office at 200 West 57th street. Consequently he closed his Chicago main office, at 212 East Superior street, and his residence at 7315 South Shore drive and now lives and works in the east. Mr. Eberson also specializes in bank architecture.

JOHN EBERSON.

ERECT LUXURIOUS APARTMENTS ON EVANSTON SITE

Janrick G. Rangar and John Bowman are erecting a twelve apartment building at 813-15 Forest avenue, Evanston, which it is stated will represent an investment of $140,000, including the land. The structure will be a de luxe affair, there being one five room flat with studio living room, five of five rooms with two baths, three of five rooms with one bath, and three of four rooms. All living rooms will have fireplaces. Quinlan & Tyson are financing the project with a $95,000 bond issue at 6½ per cent and will manage the property.

CLAIM BUILDING RECORD FOR ONE NORTH LA SALLE

Construction records are being claimed for the forty-nine story One La Salle Street building which is under construction at the northeast corner of Madison and La Salle streets. The structure is said to be climbing skyward at the rate of four floors of steel a week—one more floor than is usually attempted for structures of this size.

The first column was placed on July 2 and since then approximately 75 per cent of all construction below the first floor has been completed. J. W. Rittenhouse, supervising engineer for the John Griffiths & Son company, expresses the opinion that the entire steel skeleton will be in place by Oct. 15. Completion of the building is scheduled for May 15, 1930. L. J. Sheridan & Co. are renting agents.

Walgreen Company Leases Store at Division and Wells

The Walgreen company has leased a store at the northeast corner of Division and Wells from Angelo and Daniel Peters and Jim Balcu for ten years at a reported term rental of $48,000. The C. F. Noyes National Realty corporation was broker.

FARM AND GARDEN

SEEKING TREES? 100 ARE NATIVES OF CHICAGOLAND

Many Foreign Varieties Also Flourish Here.

BY FRANK RIDGWAY.

With approximately one hundred native trees and many foreign trees as well thriving in this section, home owners in the cities, towns, and rural districts of Chicagoland find themselves fortunate when it comes time to select trees for their grounds. Dozens of these are shade trees hardy enough to do well on lawns, along streets and highways, in parks and farmyards.

Experience has taught home owners to start with young trees rather than trying to move large trees in order to get an immediate effect around the home. Many landscapes are spoiled by either going without trees or by having the wrong kind of tree. It sometimes happens that the owner's favorite trees do not fit into his scheme of things—the house, the contour of the surrounding land, and the general plan of landscaping to be followed. For this reason it is necessary to study the shape, color, and height of trees for the home. They must not only produce the desired effect but give a good shade, transplant easily, be hardy enough to live this far north, and not litter up the lawn by shedding their leaves and pods in latter summer or early fall. Some trees are susceptible to attacks of various tree pests and others give off objectionable odors.

Must Pick with Care.

Picking suitable trees for the home must be done with as much care as the selection of a golf stick of the right length, a suit of clothes, curtains for the home, or furniture for the office. The location of the tree, either in the city or country, is important. The kind of tree needed for the lawn around a farm home may be different from the trees that are used for a windbreak around the barn lot. Trees that thrive in the suburb may die in the heart of the city.

The Tree of Heaven, for example, is one of the few that will thrive in the gases and smoke in the heart of Chicago. It is the tree that can usually be seen from the car windows of elevated trains. They do fairly well in shade and will even grow, though sometimes stunted, in the apartment districts not far from the dowtown district.

Two year olds are good sized Trees of Heaven to plant. They cost from $2 to $2.50. It is an oriental tree, but long available in this country.

Caroline poplars are affected by gas in the downtown sections. They lose their leaves, too. Poplars are surface feeders; their roots develop near the surface of the ground. Grass does not usually do well under them. The roots are gluttons and use up the plant food on lawns and often grow under concrete walks and break the slabs. It is a selfish tree and frequently regarded as a nuisance by many home owners. It is common in this section. Its chief value lies in its rapid growth. Hence it is generally used by subdividers where a quick growing tree is needed. They do well to live twenty-five years under favorable conditions in the more congested parts of the city, according to horticulturists. The Carolina poplar is low priced.

A Better Reputation.

The Lombardy poplar has a better reputation. It is sometimes effectively used as a screen where the trees are planted in rows. Single trees are also used. The trees are reasonable in price.

From ancient times the Lombardy poplar has been propagated by cuttings only. The trees now grown are males; the female tree is missing, according to August Koch, chief florist of Garfield park conservatory.

The American ash is hardy and highly praised. It has the weakness of being susceptible to the attacks of scale insects. These pests, however, are easily controlled by spraying the trees with lime sulphur. The ash will grow where many other trees fail. It is not an expensive tree.

The honey locust is a fine tree in this locality. It is a native of this section. There are both thorned and thornless varieties. Trees that are from three to five feet high cost from about seventy-five cents to one dollar.

Gingko Flourishes in City.

Koch says that the maidenhair or gingko tree is resistant to smoke and will grow in the heart of the city. There are several forms; some have spreading tops and others are pyramidal in shape. They are slow growing. The maidenhair tree is used chiefly in parks and is not especially suitable for home grounds. It is a link between the trees that produce needles and those that produce leaves. In China it is held sacred. Maidenhair trees are never found growing wild. Trees from 1¼ to 1½ inches are sold by good nurseries at from $4.50 to $5 each. The measurement on trees is taken one foot above the ground.

Maples Among Finest.

Maples are considered among the finest shade trees grown. The Schwedler Norway maple is popular along the north shore. It has rust or reddish colored leaves in the spring, turning greenish in the summer and back to rust color in the fall. The young whip-like trees that are from six to eight feet tall, 1 to 1¼ inches in diameter, usually sell for about $4 each. They are dense growing trees with a fairly heavy foliage, and cone shaped tops. They thrive in cities but should not be used in the denser sections. None of the hard maples do well in the heart of the city but they are all good in the suburbs. They usually sell for about $2.50 each where the trees measure 1¼ inches in diameter.

Brilliantly colored leaves of both red and scarlet oaks are popular trees in the Chicago area. Trees of these two oaks, young trees 1¼ to 1½ inches in diameter, sell for about $4.50 apiece.

Excellent in Parks.

The hackberry is a poor tree in the gas zone of the city but excellent in parks and in the suburbs. It is a good shade tree, produces edible fruit, and should be more commonly grown. The trees measuring 1¼ inches in diameter sell for about $2.50 to $3.50. Its leaves drop early in the fall.

Basswood or American linden trees also lose their leaves a little early, but they make a dense shade. Trees 1¼ to 1½ inches in diameter sell for about $4.50.

According to his observations over a period of many years the ash tree holds its leaves longer than almost any other shade tree grown in this part of the country. The leaves come out early and stick on the twigs until frost. A little bunch in the tip top of the tree usually is the last to fall.

WHERE UTILITY RABBITS ARE PROFITABLY RAISED IN A CITY BACK YARD—In this small yard back of his home at 7408 Normal avenue Arthur Weygandt produces from 250 to 300 fancy domestic rabbits each year. Here he is demonstrating that rabbits can be profitably raised for their meat and fur in the middle west.

Sixty breeding rabbits are kept in these four double deck hutches the year around. Mr. Weygandt is showing one of his checkered giant double crop producing rabbits to Miss Marguerite Behen (left) and Mrs. Mildred Hess Weygandt.

USE HEN HOUSE LITTER SPARINGLY.

Please give me your opinion of fresh chicken manure as a fertilizer for tomato plants, grape vines, and young cherry trees. Some claim it is too strong to be used except where it is broadcast and plowed under. W. F. O.

REPLY.

Manure from poultry runs and houses is a good fertilizer for the garden, orchard or lawn where it is properly handled. It is so strong that when spread on liberally as stable manure it causes trouble, often killing plants.

Fresh chicken manure is often detrimental to grass, and it is never advisable to use it on a lawn or around flowers and vegetables except in extremely small quantities. Although chicken manure is valuable as a flower and vegetable garden fertilizer it is best to have it thoroughly rotted before it is applied and then spread it over the soil sparingly. Have the manure dry and mix it with soil before spreading it on the soil.

A sprinkling of the material around grape vines or cherry trees would not injure either of them. It is best to see that none of the manure comes in contact with the vines or trees.

WHEN TO CUT IRIS TOPS; LILIES DON'T BLOOM.

1. May I cut back my irises without injuring the plants of affecting the bloom for next year?

2. My Madonna lilies are not doing well. Some have never sent up a blossom stem. The leaves are scattering. My plants are three years old. Shall I transplant to a new bed in August? H. B.

REPLY.

1. Iris plants may be safely pulled off after the blades have turned yellow in the fall. This will not injure the bloom next year. The clumps should be divided about every three years and planted some time from August to October.

2. As a rule when lilies have become well established they are left undisturbed for many years. If you do not have them in the proper location and in the right kind of soil, then transplanting to a new bed may be advisable. They like soil rich in vegetable matter. A little sand, leaf mold, and, if possible, some peat mixed in with the soil will help. Lilies like a moist soil. If you decide to transplant them wait until August. The transplanting may be done safely about the last of August or any time during September. Set them about three inches deep.

USE PLANTS IN STARTING BERRY PLANTATION.

We wish to plant some blackberry and raspberry bushes. Is it all right to take some seeds from ripe berries and plant them right now or wait until next spring? Or would it be better to buy some of the bushes of these fruits and set them out this fall? M. O.

REPLY.

Do not try to start with seeds of either the blackberry or raspberry. In both cases buy young plants.

Blackberry plants are usually set out in the spring, although late fall planting may be done successfully. Spring is considered the best time for setting out blackberry plants by many growers because the soil at that time of the year contains more moisture.

Spring is also the time of year to set out raspberry plants.

If you have never grown these fruits before you should become familiar with their cultural requirements. Free bulletins will be sent to you by writing to the United States department of agriculture, Washington, D. C., and the College of Agriculture, Urbana, Ill.

GARDENERS GET 10,000 COPIES OF "FLOWER GARDENING" BOOKLET

Ten thousand copies of "Flower Gardening," The Tribune's new ninety-six page booklet, are now in the hands of gardeners throughout the United States and a few in foreign countries. Every single copy of the first edition has been sold, but a new edition is ready for distribution, so that no gardener will need to do without this handy guide this season.

Copies of the new edition are on sale at The Tribune Public Service office, 1 South Dearborn street, and The Tribune Tower lobby, for 15 cents, 18 cents by mail.

A few copies of "Suburban Gardening," a guide to vegetable growers, are still available at 10 cents a copy, 13 cents by mail. Both booklets are written by Frank Ridgway, agricultural editor of The Tribune.

E. WEAVER QUITS AMES; TAKES JOB IN OKLAHOMA

Earl Weaver, who has been head of the dairy department of the Iowa State college at Ames, Ia., for seven years, has resigned to become chief of the dairy department at the Oklahoma Agricultural and Mechanical college, Stillwater, Okla. He will go to Oklahoma Sept. 1.

Mr. Weaver has been with the Iowa school for ten years, becoming widely known as a teacher, experimental worker, dairy judge, lecturer and writer. He is the author of ten experimental bulletins and more than seventy-five articles which have appeared in scientific and agricultural magazines.

UNIVERSITY TO GIVE POULTRYMEN "SHORT COURSE ON WHEELS"

H. H. Alp, poultry extension department of the University of Illinois, announces that a "short course on wheels" will roll away from Urbana, Ill., on Sept. 3, taking a group of Illinois poultry raisers through Indiana and Ohio to learn the secrets of successful poultrymen in those states. The trip, which is the second annual tour sponsored by the university, will be made by motor coach and will last three days.

The party will study commercial poultrymen's methods of controlling diseases and parasites. They also will study poultry houses, equipment and improved feeding methods used in Indiana and Ohio. Many big poultry farms of those two states will be visited; some of them have plants valued at more than $100,000.

Mr. Alp says that any Illinois farmer may make the trip. All registrations must be in by Aug. 15.

A comparison of costs and yields of grain harvested with a combine and threshed in the usual way will be made in a demonstration to be given at the Iowa State college, Ames, Ia., next Tuesday. The value of the windrow method of handling grain with a combine harvester-thresher also will be shown. Actual grain will be harvested with different machines on the college farm.

MOTORISTS FACE SEARCH—IT'S NOT CORN, BUT BORER

Cars to Be Scanned for Pest on Dunes Road.

Chicago motorists will soon be stopped on the Dunes highway while quarantine authorities search their cars for corn as a result of the European corn borer bobbing up in Indiana a few days ago, according to a statement issued from the office of Frank N. Wallace, state entomologist of Indiana. Because of the heavy touring over the Dunes highway—second heaviest traveled motorway in the nation, exceeded only by the Boston Post road—Wallace is coöperating with federal officials to prevent delays.

The road has been temporarily widened just west of Michigan City, Ind. Workers believe that cars can be stopped, searched, and be on their way with a minimum of delay and inconvenience under the plan that will be operated this season.

Return to De Kalb County.

Wallace says that the recent discovery of the European corn borer, agriculture's most damaging pest, in De Kalb county, Indiana, means the borers will again make their appearance in all of the 186 townships of the 21 Indiana counties where they prevailed last year. He explained that the borers discovered this spring are small and therefore hard to locate. Moths have been observed at the Auburn station. They have been seen in many fields, indicating that the egg laying period is still on and that the full crop of worms will not materialize for some time.

Conferences recently have been held between entomologists of Indiana, Ohio, and Michigan. They are making more comprehensive plans than ever to continue their war against the borer.

Corn Hills to Be Marked.

Indiana expects to go ahead with its policy of marking corn hills that are hosts to borers in order that farmers may easily locate the pest and observe first hand its destructive operations, the Indiana entomologist says.

The quarantine against the movement of green corn from infested areas will not go into effect for at least ten days, according to conservation department officials, but plans are completed for searching cars on the highways.

For several years the corn borer has menaced the corn crop of Indiana. The state entomologist and assistants have conducted an educational campaign among farmers to acquaint them with the destructive habits of the pest and how best to combat its progress. Farmers everywhere have viewed the pest as a real agricultural problem and assisted the state and federal governments in the war. As a result, Wallace says, the Indiana corn crop has not commercially suffered to date, but he warns of unceasing vigilance in order to hold damage to a minimum.

The Playhouse theater at 410-18 South Michigan avenue, in the Fine Arts building, has been leased by Mrs. Emily C. Chapin, Homer Chapin, et al., trustees of the Charles A. Chapin estate, to Archie G. Spencer of the Metro Pictures corporation. It will be used for the exhibition of high class pictures. Seymour Marks was broker.

The flat property at the southwest corner of Pine Grove and Waveland, 54x99 feet, has been conveyed by O. C. Hagen to Frank Feiwell for an indicated consideration of $29,500.

To July 21, 1909; 20 Years Ago Today

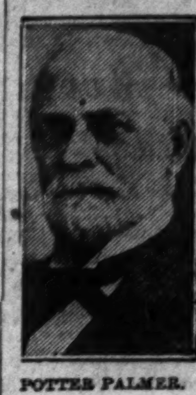
The Harlow N. Higinbotham residence at the northwest corner of Michigan avenue and 29th street has been sold to Bryan L. Lathrop, Owen F. Aldis and Russell Tyson, trustees under the Harrison Trust agreement, for a price said to be around $125,000. The house, with its extensive grounds reaching from Michigan to Wabash, constitutes one of the largest and handsomest homes on the avenue. It was designed by the late W. R. Richardson of Boston and is said to represent an investment of more than $450,000. Mr. and Mrs. Higinbotham for some time have been living at the Hotel Metropole.

H. N. HIGINBOTHAM.

Mrs. Anita McCormick Blaine has purchased from Fielding L. Marshall and William Waller the northeast corner of Clark and Webster, 88x77 feet, for $10,750.

To July 21, 1899; 30 Years Ago Today

C. M. Palmer is at work on designs for important changes which Potter Palmer will make in his residence on Lake Shore drive. He is designing a new carriage porch at the northeast corner of the building. The second story of the house will extend over it.



POTTER PALMER.

Thomas Denny of New York has sold the twenty acre tract of land lying between Halsted and Morgan streets and 65th and 66th streets for $90,000 cash to Hart & Frank, who will put it on the market. It is estimated $25,000 will be spent on improvements.

George A. Garnsey has made plans for improvements to be made in the Grand Opera house by John A. Hamlin at a cost of $20,000. Two stories will be added to the present four story building. The improvements will also include the reconstruction of the balcony and the redecoration of the theater.

INDIANA MAN BUYS BUILDING AT 5404 UNION

E. W. Richards and Searle S. Barnett sold the court type building at 5404-10 Union avenue containing thirty-one three and four room apartments to C. Lewis Green of Attica, Ind. The lot is 110x150 feet. The building was conveyed subject to a $120,000 loan. The sellers took in exchange the six flat building at 6033-35 Vernon avenue, subject to $20,000. George W. Stewart, Inc., represented all parties.

Ferdinand Hotz Adds 80 Acres to Wauconda Estate

Ferdinand Hotz of Glencoe has purchased from Clem C. Crain of Crystal Lake an eighty acre estate between Wauconda and Barrington on the Rand road and bordering the Wauconda Golf club on the south. This gives Mr. Hotz a 180 acre country estate. Prussing & Co. were brokers.

Charles Simonson Buys 12 Flats at Cornelia-Rita

The twelve apartment building at the northeast corner of Cornelia and Rita, lot 52x126 feet, has been sold by Albert V. Bernim to Charles Simonson for a reported $67,500. S. E. Davidson represented the seller and Abram Zetlin was attorney for the buyer. Charles Miller was broker.

M. B. Rutherford Buys Six Flats at 920 Buena Avenue

Edna Shonfeld sold to M. B. Rutherford the six flat building at 920 Buena avenue, lot 50x150, for a reported $48,500, subject to $39,000. Rutherford & Harding and E. H. Hastings & Co. were brokers. McKinley & Price were attorneys.

SELLS SIX FLAT BUILDING.

The six flats at 5726 South Michigan avenue were sold by W. Mallory to S. A. T. Watkins for an undisclosed price. Balch & Balch were brokers.

Some Leases

The Benjamin C. Rose Realty company reports having closed the following leases: to the Berland Shoe company the store at 350 East 47th street for fifteen years at a reported term rental of $70,000; to the Silver Dollar stores the store at 3353 North Clark street for fifteen years at a reported term rental of $70,000 and to the Golde Clothing shops the store at the northeast corner of 26th street and Trumbull avenue for fifteen years.

The Heine company has leased 4,000 square feet of floor space in the building at 549 West Randolph street for four years at a reported term rental of $17,800. Lang, Weise & Cella were brokers.

Scott Stores Lease Space at Madison and Central

The Scott Stores, Inc., a subsidiary of Butler Brothers, have leased the northwest corner of Madison and Central avenue from Max Clamitz for twenty years through Lester J. Lurie.

WORK UNDER WAY ON 43 FLATS AT 5482 GREENWOOD

Construction has started at 5482-84 Greenwood avenue on a building to contain forty-three apartments of one, two, and three rooms each. The structure, which will be adjacent to the University of Chicago, will be known as the Campus View. Harry L. Moss is the architect. Bert B. Pollack and Hyman H. Flaschen are the owners. The lot is 50x164 feet. It is stated the investment will be $210,000. W. N. Macqueen & Co. are underwriting a $124,000 bond issue. Completion is scheduled for October renting.

Jacob M. Brown Purchases 24 Flats on 44th Place

The twenty-four flats at the southwest corner of 44th place and Oakenwald avenue have been sold by the Wurts estate to Jacob M. Brown for an undisclosed consideration. E. W. Blackhurst of McKey & Poague was broker.

DULL BUSINESS WIDESPREAD IN LONDON MARTS

Russo-China Scrap Adverse Factor.

BY SIDNEY CAVE.

[Copyright: 1929: By The Chicago Tribune.]

LONDON, July 20.—Lack of business, with a consequent dwindling of prices in every section of the market, is the keynote of the week in the stock exchange record. It takes little these holiday days to adversely affect conditions, but a general idleness, combined with the absence of any improvement in the monetary outlook, serious unpleasant shocks regarding individual securities, and anxiety concerning the resumption of gold shipments from London abroad, added to the current depression.

Additionally there is still a noticeable nervousness regarding the political situation here and the king's health. The last few weeks has also seen a continued stream of disastrous results and disclosures connected with various "boom" flotations of last year, while the violent fluctuations of the securities of the Royal Mail shipping group served to intensify the uneasiness.

Accompanying all these adverse factors, the international developments, particularly the Russo-Chinese situation, brought additional fears of complications, resulting in much throwing over of far eastern stocks. The British and French governments are still agreeing to disagree as to the value of the reparations conference, which does not tend to create a more optimistic atmosphere in international financial markets.

Another Trouble Source.

The frequency of frontier incidents between Bulgaria and Jugo-Slavia is still another source of trouble, but investors are not yet unduly alarmed concerning the matter, as the Balkans nowadays can be relied upon to produce a minimum of one war scare every year. However, it seems undisturbed to any great extent by these latter influences, financial experts hoping that once a complete agreement is reached on the Young plan, it will result in a general improvement of the international atmosphere and pave the way for a resumption of borrowing as soon as a change in the Wall street situation brings the much needed relief to Europe, as many European governments have been forced to postpone their loans, notwithstanding the urgency of the requirements.

The monetary outlook is still regarded apprehensively. Renewed gold withdrawals again upset the sentiment, both France and Germany again taking substantial quantities of the metal from London, partly from the Bank of England and partly from the open market, with a further depression in the rates of exchange of these countries. The Bank of England is at present very much weaker than a few months ago, although the gold holdings are above the minimum advised by the Cunliffe commission, a factor which is inducing the serious doubt as to whether the margin will exist when the customary autumnal demand for gold has been met. But these demands, by arrangement with the United States, may be lighter than usual. The New York rate hovers round the gold export point, though it is not thought that further considerable amounts will go to New York.

Rally Is Short Lived.

Last week's rally of gilt edged securities proved short lived. The market this week had to absorb a good deal of stock offered by interests who have to meet big differences in more speculative sections, and perhaps the most satisfactory feature is the fact that there is still good absorption power.

British funds developed rather a marked weakness, short dated issues particularly, following the liquidation of large lines of stocks, war loan fives being more than half a point down at 100⅝. Victory bonds dropped to 91½, while 4 per cents were down to the lowest of the year at 82⅝.

The British shipping industry appears to be recovering, according to statistics issued this week regarding the shipbuilding industry. From the great shipbuilding slump in 1922 the industry appears to be rallying, and with a strengthening of the freight markets, which has been a feature of shipping in the last few weeks, the prospect of more business coming to British shipbuilding yards is regarded as promising.

Current statistics indicate the tonnage in hand in British shipyards momentarily is greater than in all other countries of the world, including the British dominions. Experts regard the recovery of the British shipbuilding industry as undoubtedly one of the most reassuring features of the country's post-war struggle, especially if taken into account that at the beginning of 1920 the British proportion of the world's total work in hand was only about thirty-eight per cent, compared with fifty-one per cent today.

PARIS BOURSE LIFELESS

PARIS, July 20.—Starting Tuesday, after a three day holiday and continuing while the chamber of deputies debates still left a doubt that the debt accords would be ratified, the Paris bourse again put in a blank week.

The first of the week was marked with an almost total absence of business. The latter part of the week the market was in the hands of the speculators, but in the absence of the public the speculators found difficulty in unloading or lightening the commitments they had gathered during the maneuvering of the upward movement last week. Throughout the week little change was registered in any departments.

Leisure Pays U.S. Workers for Endeavor

BY SCRUTATOR.

It is an axiom among observers of international economic trends that Americans were the first to realize that a certain amount of labor could be crowded into an hour and that this amount could be standardized at a high point. Often it is held that Europeans will not take over our methods complete because they cannot grasp the idea of rushing through eight hours of work to get an equal amount of recreation time in addition to normal sleep. They prefer to keep a more leisurely pace and labor longer.

As many of our organized labor battles have been for more leisure as for more money. The American Federation of Labor has adopted a constructive attitude toward the adoption of improved machinery, as contrasted with the "ca' canny" of British labor. Apparently the American wage earner wants some of his wages in time. The kilowatt hour and the method of measuring work by kilo man hours, which receives a great deal of attention now, show the high importance placed on time in our phraseology.

The making of our time pieces, in spite of this emphasis, is in a fair sized proportion handled by foreigners. So much so, in fact, that American manufacturers have been arguing strongly for a greater tariff protection on their products.

Imports Flood Market.

Watch making began in this country about 1850 and more than sixty firms have been engaged in the business at one time or another since. At present, however, only five or six of large size exist. The productive capacity has been estimated as high as 3,700,000 movements a year, but, according to the Index of the New York Trust company, the actual output in 1928 was only 1,800,000, fewer than were made in 1923. The flooding of the markets by imports, principally from Switzerland, was given blame for this by the makers.

In 1925 the total value of the watch and clock industry's products was estimated at eighty-two million dollars, equivalent to the total in Switzerland and Germany, the principal competitors. But the imports into the United States have been increasing more rapidly than domestic production. Switzerland sent nearly fourteen million dollars' worth here in 1927 and Germany nearly a million dollars' worth. The American watch and clock men claim that as these figures are from foreign invoices, the domestic value of the imports really was about fifty millions, or 60 per cent of domestic production.

Exports of watch movements were smaller in 1927 than they had been in 1914. In the same period the reports show that the imports grew from less than three and a half millions to more than fourteen millions. The plain conclusion is that the domestic firms were making no progress in selling abroad and were being given stiff competition here, at least until this year.

Exports Bulk of Output.

Switzerland exports nearly all its watches, and Germany sends out two-thirds. France is also a maker on a large scale and has some 20,000 workmen employed on watches and clocks. The factories are small scale in most instances, the workers being divided among about 500 firms. In the price of labor the French have an advantage over both America and Germany. Although regarded as highly paid, the wages of the Frenchman in this line, the department of commerce announces, are from $78 to $98 a month. Germany pays its skilled workers 50 per cent more and the scale in the United States is still higher. But the lack of machinery makes the French product high and it is a small factor in the world market.

The German watch and clock industry, which has its best market in Great Britain, had a good year in 1928. There is some evidence, however, that it will not do so well in the United States this year. Watches and clocks sent here by the Germans in the first quarter were less than half those of 1928's similar period.

CUTTEN ACQUIRES BIG INTEREST IN SECURITIES CO.

Arthur W. Cutten of Chicago, it was announced yesterday, has taken an important interest in the Merchants and Manufacturers Securities company, which is one of the principal companies engaged in the business of buying open accounts, receivables, trade acceptances, and installment paper, and which maintains offices in New York, Chicago, Detroit, St. Louis, and Toronto. Mr. Cutten has purchased a substantial block of the company's class A stock.

Merchants and Manufacturers Securities company was started in 1919 with a capital of $400,000 and since its inception the company has never had an unprofitable year. Gross business in the fiscal year ended March 31, 1929, amounted to $37,700,000. During the life of the company credit losses have not exceeded 2-5 of 1 per cent of total purchases. The company has outstanding $1,000,000 in 7½ per cent preferred stock of $100 par value out of an authorized $4,000,000 issue, 125,547 shares of class A noncumulative common stock of no par value out of an authorized issue of 300,000 shares, and 3,200 shares of class B common stock.

The A stock has preference for dividends up to $2.50 and then shares with the small amount of common, share for share alike. The B stock has voting power to elect four out of seven directors. The A stock is paying dividends of $1.50 a share and has paid forty consecutive quarterly dividends since organization.

Week's Debits Increase, Reserve Bank Reports

Debits to individual deposit account reported to the Chicago federal reserve bank for the week ended July 17, 1929, by 261 banks in 38 leading clearing house cities in the seventh federal reserve district, aggregate $1,834,265,000, an increase of 24.8 per cent, compared with a week ago. Compared with the corresponding week of last year, an increase of 15.0 per cent was shown.

CHICAGO STOCK PRICES RISE IN SHORT SESSION

Insull Utility Stocks Are Irregular.

BY GEORGE HAMMOND.

Bullish momentum took the Chicago stock market to higher ground in yesterday's two hour week-end session despite the usual percentage of profit taking. Several new highs were reached in the utility division.

Middle West Utilities shot up nine points and kept all but two points of the gain. Insull Utility Investment dropped nine points, recovered a bit and closed the day 6½ points lower. Commonwealth-Edison recovered its previous day's loss. Utility and Industrial preferred was up 1⅛ and the common closed fractionally higher.

Ground Gripper Shoe was a feature of the general list, shooting up 2½ points at the close on buying attributed to reported record sales as a result of recent acquisitions. Gardner-Denver advanced three points and Baxter Laundries was up 2½. Standard Dredging and Art Metal Works each sold 1⅛ higher. Electric Household Utilities was off a point.

Bendix Up 2⅝ Points.

Bendix Aviation led the automotive list with a gain of 2⅝ coupled with rumors of additional expansion plans. Unit preferred was up two points. Auburn Automobile slumped three points and Borg-Warner declined a point.

Grigsby-Grunow was an exception in the radio list by advancing 5⅛ on renewal of the report that the stock will be split and listed on the New York exchange. Declines of from one to two points were felt by Ceco, Sonatron Tube, Zenith and Atlas Stores.

Ross Gear was not traded in although the company reported an increase in earnings for the first half of this year as compared with the same period of 1928. Net after all charges and taxes, according to E. A. Ross, president, was $436,336, equal to $2.90 a share on the 150,000 shares of capital stock outstanding. This compares with $373,962 or $2.48 a share in the same period of 1928 after dividends on the preferred stock which was redeemed a year ago.

New Casting Process.

Super Maid was unchanged. Roy W. Wilson, president, announced that it is installing a new casting process designed to produce a better product on a faster scale in the manufacture of cast aluminum kitchen wear. U. S. Gypsum was fractionally lower. The company announced the completion of its new sixteen acre factory along the Indiana Harbor canal. Merchants and Manufacturers Securities "A" was fractionally higher.

Missouri-Kansas Pipe Line eased a fraction. Frank P. Parish, president, announced the acquisition by the company of natural gas and mineral rights in 50,000 acres of land in Caldwell county, Ky.

RECEIVER CITES ATTRACTIONS OF ALTON RAILWAY

A double earning power and extensive improvements, totaling $27,000,000 in cost, in the last fourteen years, are two of the items to be listed for the new owners of the Chicago and Alton railroad by W. G. Bierd, receiver, when the property is turned over to them. The road, now in receivership, recently was ordered sold by the federal court.

Mr. Bierd's data include from 1914 to 1929. In a statement explaining the earnings and expenditures, he said that when, as president, he became a receiver for the road he adopted a definite improvement program that called for all improvements and additions to be made solely from earnings and not from borrowed money. As a result, the entire $27,000,000 has come from current income.

"Gradually, as the money could be earned," he said, "equipment was renewed and equipment rehabilitated. Terminal facilities were improved at St. Louis and Kansas City. Double tracking between Chicago and St. Louis was compelled. Ninety and 100 pound rails were substituted for the lighter products of earlier days and the main lines were entirely ballasted with stone and slag."

FOREMAN NATIONAL REACHES NEW PEAK IN BANK STOCK TRADING

The buoyancy in some of the Chicago bank shares carried over last week and lifted Foreman National 75 points to a fresh high. At the close stock was wanted at 1150 with none offered. First National and State Bank of Chicago were also brought to the front, the former running up 20 points to sales between 877 and 883, and the latter 50 points to 790 bid without attracting sellers.

The rest of the list showed a reactionary tendency. Northern Trust company, Central Trust Company of Illinois, and Chicago Trust were subject to almost continuous pressure, with losses of from 10 to 20 points. Closing prices follow: Northern Trust, 975 to 980; Central Trust, 578 to 583, and Chicago Trust, 930 to 935. Shares of Chicago Trust [investment company] were traded between 48 and 50, while Central Trust Company of Illinois rights were 2 points easier at 33 to 34.

Continental Illinois Bank and Trust after early sales at 850 declined to 838 bid, offered at 842—off 10. National Bank of the Republic was steady between 223 and 226. Peoples Trust was neglected at 525 to 530. There were a few reported transactions in Union bank at 430 to 434.

Among the notably strong industrials this week were Chicago Title and Trust, which improved 10 points to sales at 665.

IMPROVEMENT LOOKED FOR IN MART FOR BONDS

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, July 20.—That elusive force in the security markets, the July reinvestment demand, is giving bond houses more concern this year than in the last several years. Dealers are stressing the attractiveness of yields now available to investors on high grade bonds, but the response thus far this month has been frankly disappointing. Prominent bankers are urging their customers to make purchases at current levels rather than hazard the market later in the year.

One reason for the disappointing showing of the bond market during the initial month of the new fiscal year is that money rates have ruled much higher than was generally expected. However, with the outlook seeming to favor easier money rates, it is expected that the bond market will show substantial improvement. A considerable portion of the new issues that are being brought out has stock purchase or conversion privileges, and thus tends to minimize the general tendency to purchase stocks rather than bonds.

Chicago Curb Exchange Admits Six Stock Issues

Six new stock issues have been admitted to listing by the governing committee of the Chicago curb exchange. They are as follows: Allegheny Gas corporation, 243,000 shares no par common stock; Second National Investors corporation, 100,000 units, each unit representing one share $5 dividend convertible preferred stock and two shares no par common stock; Third National Investors corporation, 220,000 shares no par common stock; Lexington Telephone company, 11,000 shares $100 par cumulative prior preferred stock; International Security Management corporation, 90,000 shares class "A" common stock, of which 47,506 shares are fully paid and to be admitted to trading, and Liberty Baking corporation, 160,000 shares no par common stock, of which 116,670 shares are issued and admitted to trading.

Production of Trucks in June Sets New High Record

Washington, D. C., July 20.—(AP)—Production of automobile trucks in the United States last month established a new high record. The department of commerce announced today that 91,296 trucks were manufactured during the month, which compares with the previous record of 86,647 for May. A slump was reported, however, in the production of passenger cars, the month's total amounting to 452,641. In May 516,055 were produced and in April, the record month, 537,225 were turned out. Total production of passenger cars, trucks and taxicabs last month was 542,252, compared with 604,020 for May and 621,335 for April.

Nat. Bank of the Republic Pays 25% Special Dividend

The National Bank of the Republic yesterday paid a 25 per cent special dividend to stockholders of record June 18. The dividend was paid out of the excess assets that were not necessary for the bank to contribute under the combination agreement with the Chicago Trust company.

Offerings of Bond Issues Move Upward

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, July 20.—New offerings of bonds decreased this week, the aggregate being $50,221,000, which compared with last week's total of $63,913,000. A year ago the figure was $22,752,000. Inasmuch as dealings in the listed bond market have shown a tendency to taper off dealers have not been inclined to bring out a very large amount of new bonds at this time.

Largest Issue.

This week's largest piece of new bond financing was that of $13,000,000 Brooklyn-Manhattan Transit corporation 6½ per cent notes, due in 1932, which were brought out by the syndicate headed by the Chase Securities corporation at 98½, to yield more than 7 per cent. The second largest issue was also a public utility $10,000,000 General Public Service 5½s of 1939, marketed on a 6.10 per cent basis. The largest industrial issue, $6,000,000 General Theaters Equipment 6s, was accompanied by an offering of the company's stock.

The single railroad issue consisted of $2,400,000 equipment trust certificates of the New York, Chicago and St. Louis railroad. In this connection it has been announced that the Erie railroad has sold an issue of $8,370,000 equipment trust certificates to a syndicate headed by the First National corporation of Boston.

Offerings by Groups.

The offering of bonds by groups of this and last week follow:

	This wk.	Last wk.
Public utility	$27,500,000	$24,250,000
Industrial	13,400,000	25,000,000
State, municipal .	6,921,000	14,663,000
Railroad	2,400,000	....
Total	$50,221,000	$63,913,000

One of the reasons for the lighter offerings of municipal bonds this week is that several of the issues which were scheduled for award failed to attract bids on account of the low interest rates offered or because the municipal authorities decided to reject all bids in the hope of marketing their bonds more advantageously later.

E. C. WAMPLER IS MADE OFFICIAL OF STERN & COMPANY

E. C. Wampler has been elected vice president and a member of the board of directors of Lawrence Stern & Co., and will immediately take charge of further developing of the sales division of Lawrence Stern & Co.

Mr. Wampler, who is a native of Illinois, has long been active in investment banking circles. He was formerly in general charges of the western organization of Taylor, Ewart & Co. Prior to that connection he was associated with the Harris Trust and Savings bank. He is a director of E. J. Brach and Sons, Manchester Terminal corporation, Union Gas corporation, Cathage Marble corporation.

Mr. Wampler was born in Hallsville, Ill., in 1893 and is a graduate of Knox college, Galesburg. He served during the world war in France as captain and was assistant chief of staff in the intelligence department of the 86th and 41st divisions.

Curb Exchange Seats Rise $40,000 in Last Five Days

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, July 20.—Soaring $40,000 in five days, a membership of the New York curb exchange was sold today at a new high record of $235,000, more than half the value of a seat on the New York stock exchange, on which the last sale was $455,000. The total value of the 550 curb exchange seats, at today's price, was $129,250,000. This compares with a total value of $33,000,000 in January, 1928. The spectacular rise of the curb exchange in recent months is illustrated by the fact that the "little board" recently surpassed one of the stock exchange's trading records, and has been breaking its own records steadily.

Chicago House Surveys Real Estate Financing

Real estate financing through bond and stock issues during the first half of 1929 in the United States totaled $356,923,885, according to a survey by Young & Becker company of Chicago, a real estate and industrial financing house. The figure was reported as 16 per cent lower than the record volume for the same period of 1928. The survey included issues of $50,000 or more covering property in nearly 100 cities. It showed that first mortgage real estate bond issues for the six months totaled $284,028,150, a decrease of 30 per cent from last year, and financing through stock issues totaled $72,896,735, a gain of 216 per cent.

W. L. Martin and Group Form Kenwood State Bank

William L. Martin, formerly vice president of the South Side Trust and Savings bank, and his associates have been granted a permit to organize the Kenwood State bank of Chicago, which will be located on the southwest corner of 47th street and Woodlawn avenue in the near future.

FARMER RICHER BY 1 1-3 BILLIONS AS GRAINS SOAR

Profits at Expense of Canadians.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, July 20.—American farmers stand more than $1,330,000,000 potentially richer today as a result of the recent uprush in prices witnessed in the grain pits and on the cotton exchanges amid scenes of excitement that have not been equaled in many a day. The advance in prices of all chief grains has added more than $1,200,000,000 to the wealth of their producers and the rise in cotton prices has added more than $170,000,000 to the wealth of the south.

This enhancement of the position of a fundamental industry has intensified the atmosphere of prosperity over commerce, industry and finance. It has had a great deal to do with the current rise in stock market prices made in the face of record brokers' loans and high call money. It holds out promise for a great advance in the buying power of the country, with resultant better markets for manufactured goods. It will also act directly and favorably on the railways, since many of these will receive more grain traffic as a result of the desire of producers to sell their output at the high prices.

Nature Biggest Influence.

The influences behind the advance in agricultural prices have been largely those of nature, although the relief planned by the federal farm board in itself would have provided a moral force sufficient to lift prices above the low levels of the year. Damage to the wheat crop in Canada has been the chief factor in the rise in prices for that grain. There has been some damage to United States wheat in the northwest, but this has been slight by comparison with the extent of the damage in Canada. Thus the farmer in the United States has been benefited through the difficulties of his Canadian neighbor.

Weather favorable to the spread of the boll weevil has been behind the rise in cotton. This pernicious insect, against which a campaign costing millions annually is waged incessantly, has before now done its part in compensating for an enlarged acreage put to seed in cotton. In fact, monuments to the boll weevil have been proposed at different times in the south.

Removes Problem.

Regardless, however, of the whims of nature, the federal farm board stands ready with a fund of $500,000,000, of which $150,000,000 has already been appropriated, to aid agriculture. It is pointed out that even if not a cent of this fund were disbursed the knowledge of its existence would be sufficient to deter speculators from undue short selling of grains.

What the rise in agricultural prices has done has been greatly to aid the work of the farm board, and, in fact, to remove a problem from the mind of the administration. Had wheat continued to sell below $1, which it did only recently, the administration would have been confronted with a major problem. As it stands now, the problem has been removed from the acute stage so far as the administration is concerned. As to the farm board, it may organize its plan leisurely instead of in hasty fashion.

OFFERING OF SCHOOL NOTES DUE TOMORROW

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, July 20.—Halsey, Stuart & Co., Inc., announced here today that they have concluded negotiations for the purchase of the issue of $40,000,000 City of Chicago Board of Education 6 per cent tax anticipation warrant notes, due variously from May 15, 1930, to Oct. 15, 1930. Offering of the issue will be made Monday by a nation-wide syndicate.

This issue will represent the second largest piece of municipal financing to be done this year, the largest being that of $50,000,000 City of Chicago 5¾ and 6 per cent warrant notes marketed in April by a group headed by Lehman Brothers. The new issue will be secured by ad valorem taxes levied on all taxable property in the city for the years 1928 and 1929.

SUBMITS PLAN FOR LINKING OF U. S. RAILROADS

Washington, D. C., July 20.—(AP)—A plan for consolidation of American railroads into a number of systems has been submitted to the interstate commerce commission by Commissioner Porter. The commissioner said today he completed his plan about two months ago and immediately presented it to the commission for consideration. No decision can be reached before fall, he explained, and details will not be made public until the commission approves a consolidation plan.

The commission was directed by the transportation act of 1920 to draw up a merger plan but has requested congress several times to relieve it of the undertaking. This has not been done, however, and about a year ago Commissioner Porter was designated to undertake the task. He said he believed the commission should agree upon a consolidation plan before holding hearings on the merger applications of the Chesapeake and Ohio, Baltimore and Ohio and Wabash railroads.

Porter explained that the plan would give the railroads notice of the commission's opinions concerning what lines should be grouped together and that if certain railroads desired to consolidate along lines not laid down by the commission, the burden of proof would be placed upon the railroads to show that the commission's plan should be amended. The plan would not be compulsory, Porter said, but would give the railroads and the public the commission's ideas concerning consolidations.

Bank Clearings for Week Show 24.5 Pct. Increase

New York, July 20.—Not only are aggregate bank clearings in the United States larger than those of a year ago, but increases largely predominate at individual cities. Total bank clearings this week, as reported to R. G. Dun & Co., are $12,905,473,000, which is 24.5 per cent more than the amount for the same period of 1928, and the New York City figures, $8,902,000,000, show a gain of 34.1 per cent.

Apply Modern U. S. Methods to English Coal Industry

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, July 20.—For the first time modern American methods were applied to the English coal industry yesterday when the Bussey Coal Installation Works opened at Glenboig, Lanarkshire, with impressive ceremonies, for the purpose of treating coal after a process which has operated for the last three years in Louisville, Ky.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, July 20.—Bull traders have got so in the habit of boosting stock prices this week that they carried the movement right along in today's short week-end session. The usual Saturday profit taking was readily absorbed and many of the leading issues were pushed forward to new peak prices.

The cheerful weekly mercantile reviews, prospects for a stabilized money market and the many good earnings statements now being published gave further encouragement to bullish speculators. The record figures on brokers' loans appeared to have lost whatever effect they had on Friday. The volume of trading continues heavy, with total transactions of 1,953,200 shares, or at the rate of 4,333,000 shares for a full five hour session.

The railroad and public utility issues were again used as the leaders in the upward movement. There also was good buying in the equipment shares in expectation of heavy orders from the railroads. The copper group did somewhat better on reports of large foreign sales of the red metal and continued assertions of producers that the price structure is firmer. But some consumers claimed the 18-cents-a-pound price has been shaded in some instances.

Motors, Oils Are Draggy.

The food and merchandising stocks showed strength, with the latter helped by the improved buying power of the agricultural districts as the result of the recent sharp advance in grain prices. On the other hand, the motor and oil groups were draggy. The motor shares were still under the cloud of rumors as to changes in models and possible price reductions, while the oils were held back by continued over-production and fears of further downward revisions in crude oil prices.

In the railroad group, Colorado & Southern led the upturn with a rise of five points and gains of three points or more were registered by Baltimore & Ohio, Chesapeake & Ohio, Delaware & Hudson, Lackawanna and New York & Harlem. Smaller advances also were shown by North Western, St. Paul, Missouri-Kansas-Texas, New York Central and Southern Pacific. But Union Pacific dropped back nearly three points, while Nickel Plate, St. Louis & San

The hog market, as usual on the week-end session, lost ground yesterday. Plain quality, coupled with narrow shipping demand, forced the extreme top down 15c at $12.20, and brought the general average price 10c lower at $11.40. Mediums and weighty hogs finished stronger.

Larger houses were the principal buyers, but with nearly 60 per cent of the 4,000 receipts being billed direct to packers from other points, hardly enough remained on sale to establish quotations. Most of the 3,000 left were held off the market for Monday's trade. Top hogs on 20 of the last 26 Saturdays show a decline compared with Friday.

Bear Raid Follows.

A substantial bulge in the hog market early last week was followed by a bear raid and prices were pulled down 25@35c in two days. The break, however, brought increased shipping orders and also curtailed the marketward movement of stock, resulting in a sharp reaction and most of the loss was replaced before the end of the week.

A late rise in whoesale prices of fresh pork added zest to trading and the market as a whole was slightly above the previous week. The general average price of hogs reached $11.50, highest since April, being 70c above a year ago. Eleven leading markets decreased 65,000 hogs last week, with the year to date total 2,187,000 behind a year ago.

The unsatisfactory condition of the cattle market a week ago stopped country loading in many places and Chicago receipts decreased 8,500 last week. Salesmen were quick to press their advantage and succeeded in swinging top steers to a new high level for the season late in the week. Prime 1,650 lb steers reached $16.55, highest of the year for the weight. Yearlings sold up to $16.40 and heifers at $15.50. Calves were highest since March, a few selected vealers bringing $17.50. The general average price of cattle at $14.85 was the same as the previous week, but compares with $15.15 a year ago and with $11.60 two years ago.

Lambs Average Steady.

There were several erratic turns in the lamb market during the last week, but the general average price at $14.55 was the same as the previous week, with the peak price at $15.50 equal to the highest in a month's

A slightly lower market for fresh lambs limited the buying power of smaller houses, which offset the decrease in supplies and held prices from reaching new high levels for the month late in the week.

Receipts for Monday are estimated at 15,000 cattle, 44,000 hogs, and 15,000 sheep, against 16,948 cattle, 36,574 hogs, and 16,775 sheep a week ago, and 14,198 cattle, 33,439 hogs, and 11,835 sheep the corresponding day a year ago. Next week's receipts are estimated at 41,000 cattle, 135,000 hogs, and 65,000 sheep, against 40,850 cattle, 102,467 hogs, and 63,793 sheep a year ago.

FAIR TRADE IN PROVISIONS

Commission house buying of deferred futures of lard, combined with that by warehousemen and moderate offerings, had a steady effect on values and there was no particular change, the range being limited. Liverpool lard was 8d to 9d higher, with exports 114,225 lbs and of bacon 80,000 lbs. Trading in bellies was light. Good supplies of hogs are expected this week and prices are around the highest of the season.

RAW SILK.

FOR SALE OR LEASE

STEGER PLANT—30 MILES SOUTH OF THE CHICAGO LOOP ON THE "DIXIE" HIGHWAY ONE MILE SOUTH OF CHICAGO HEIGHTS

It is very seldom that an opportunity presents itself to acquire modern industrial facilities at a real bargain price. In order to facilitate the disposal of the Steger manufacturing plant, we are offering it at a fraction of its real value on either a sale or lease basis. This property comprises over seven acres of land, approximately 400,000 square feet of mill-constructed, sprinklered buildings, steam and electric power plant, dry kilns, adequate switch track facilities of the Chicago & Eastern Illinois Railroad, etc. An ample supply of labor (both skilled and unskilled) is available at very favorable rates.

This property should prove especially attractive to woodworking or radio industries, electrical equipment or other light manufacturing, or for general warehouse operations. A division of the property into suitably sized units can be arranged.

For full particulars apply to

HOW CARELESS OF ME- I FORGOT TO BRING ANY GLASSES- AND I HAD PREPARED SOME CAVIAR SANDWICHES AS APPETIZERS.
BRING ON TH' SANDWICHES, KIDDO- BUT DON'T BOTHER ABOUT TH' GLASSES- I CAN GARGLE THIS OUTTA TH' SCHOONER JEST DANDY.
HORRORS!
HEY! WHERE ARE YOUSE GOING?
MY PHONE IS OUT OF ORDER AND I AM GOING OUT TO THE DRUG STORE TO PHONE LORD PLUSHBOTTOM AND TELL HIM WHAT I THINK OF HIM. AND THEN PHONE THE PSYCHOPATHIC WARD.
GEE! I WONDER IF OLD PLUSHBOTTOM MENT FER ME TO TAKE THAT VASE TO TH' LADY TOO-
GIVE ME HER ADDRESS, KAYO- AND I WILL TAKE IT TO HER MYSELF- IT WILL BE A GRAND CHANCE FOR ME TO MEET SOME OF THEM SASSIETY PEOPLE.
HEY! WAKE UP IN THERE!
COME IN-
SURE, THIS IS TH' RIGHT ADDRESS, MAMIE!
COME IN GIRLIE- I'M WAITIN' FOR YOUSE.
GEE WHIZ! OH GEE WHIZ!
GIVE ME ANOTHER SLUG- I'M NOT NEAR THROUGH TELLING THAT OLD IDIOT WHAT I THINK OF HIM.
NEVER MIND HER, BUDDIE- THIS IS A EMERGENCY- GIMME A TUBE OF CHINY CEMENT AND A BOTTLE OF LINIMENT AND WRAP 'EM SEPARATE.
SEPARATELY!
YEH- TH' LINIMENT GOES HOME TO ME UNCLE WILLIE AND TH' CHINY CEMENT GOES TO TH' POLICE STATION WHERE ME AUNT MAMIE'S GOT A WEEK WITH NOTHIN' TO DO BUT MEND A VASE SHE BOUNCED OFF HIS BEAN-

TEDDY JACK AND MARY
BY TOM McNAMARA
WHAT CHA FISHIN' FOR TEDDY ?
LICKINS.- I HOPE I DONT CATCH ANY!
IT'S LIKE THIS,
MRS. NAGG OWES MARY'S MOTHER AN EGG BILL.
WELL,
TO MAKE A SHORT STORY SHORTER, TEDDY HAS TO WORK TWO HOURS A DAY FOR MARY'S MOTHER UNTIL THE BILL IS SETTLED.
THEN THEY'LL HAVE FRESH EGGS AGAIN AT MRS. NAGG'S BOARDING SCHOOL.
THE FOXY STIFF!- HE MAKES MRS. NAGG THINK IT'S TERRIBLE PUNISHMENT TO WORK OVER THERE. I GOT A GOOD MIND TO TELL HER THAT MARY FEEDS HIM COOKIES EVERY DAY. WISH I COULD SNEAK OVER AND SEE WHAT THEY'RE DOIN'!
JACK'S NOSE IS OUT OF JOINT.
WHILE YOU EAT THE COOKY, ILL HOE TEDDY,- IM ALL DRESSED FOR IT!
NIX MARY. I'M SUPPOSED TO DO ALL THE WORK. YOU'RE JUST BOSS. GIMME'!
OH PLEASE LET ME HOE A LITTLE BIT. OUR OTHER HIRED MAN USED TO LET ME HOE!
LOOK!- PULL AS HARD AS YA CAN. I CAN HOLD YA ONE HAND!
MY YOU'RE STRONG! —— OOP!- I DIDN'T MEAN TO - UGH!
OH!- PLEASE EXCUSE ME!- DID YOU HURT YOURSELF?- SHALL I GO TO THE HOUSE AND GET LIMIMINT TO RUB ON?
NAW, I DIDN'T HURT MYSELF. I WAS JUST OFF MY BALANCE. ILL SHOW YA A TRICK!
ILL BET YOU'RE JUST TOO BRAVE TO SAY YOU HURT YOURSELF. ARE YOU SURE YOU DONT WANT LIMIMENT?
I SEEN A CIRCUS ONCE. THIS IS HOW A FELLER DID!
SAY YOU, AINT YA GOT NO SENSE?- YA TIME'S UP. "MAW" WANTS YA TO COME HOME AND SET THE TABLE!
HUH?
OUCH!
LOOK OUT AUBREY!
AWWW!- I'M GONNA TELL MAW YA TRIED TA BRAIN ME WITH A HOE!
GERMS OF AN IDEA
THE BIG RASCAL. YOU DIDNT MEAN TO HIT HIM, DID YOU?
SO LONG MARY!- I AIN'T GOT TIME TO SAY GOO-BI PERLITE - SEE YOU TO-MORROW!
AWWW!
I JUST HOPE YOU DO TELL YOUR MA I TRIED TO BRAIN YOU WITH A HOE 'CAUSE THEN SHELL MAKE ME WORK LONGER OVER AT MARYS, AND I LIKE TO WORK THERE 'CAUSE SHE GIVES ME COOKIES. G'WAN!- TELL YA MA GOOD AND PLENTY. I HOPE YA DO!
JUST FOR THAT, I WON'T TELL MA 'CAUSE YA TIME IS NEARLY UP OVER TO MARY'S!
PLEASE TELL HER, WILL YA PLEASE?
WELL, I SAVED MYSELF A LICKIN' ANYHOW, - BUT —— ?
NOW HES GOT TO FIGURE SOME WAY TO KEEP WORKING AT MARY'S.

THE WORLD'S GREATEST NEWSPAPER

THE THIRD HOLE of the ideal Chicago course, the golf expert says, would be this fourth hole at Old Elm. The color-camera, perched at the tee, shows the rough straight ahead and the half-dozen or so traps that lie on either side of the green, which is in the far distance, near the trees in the central background.

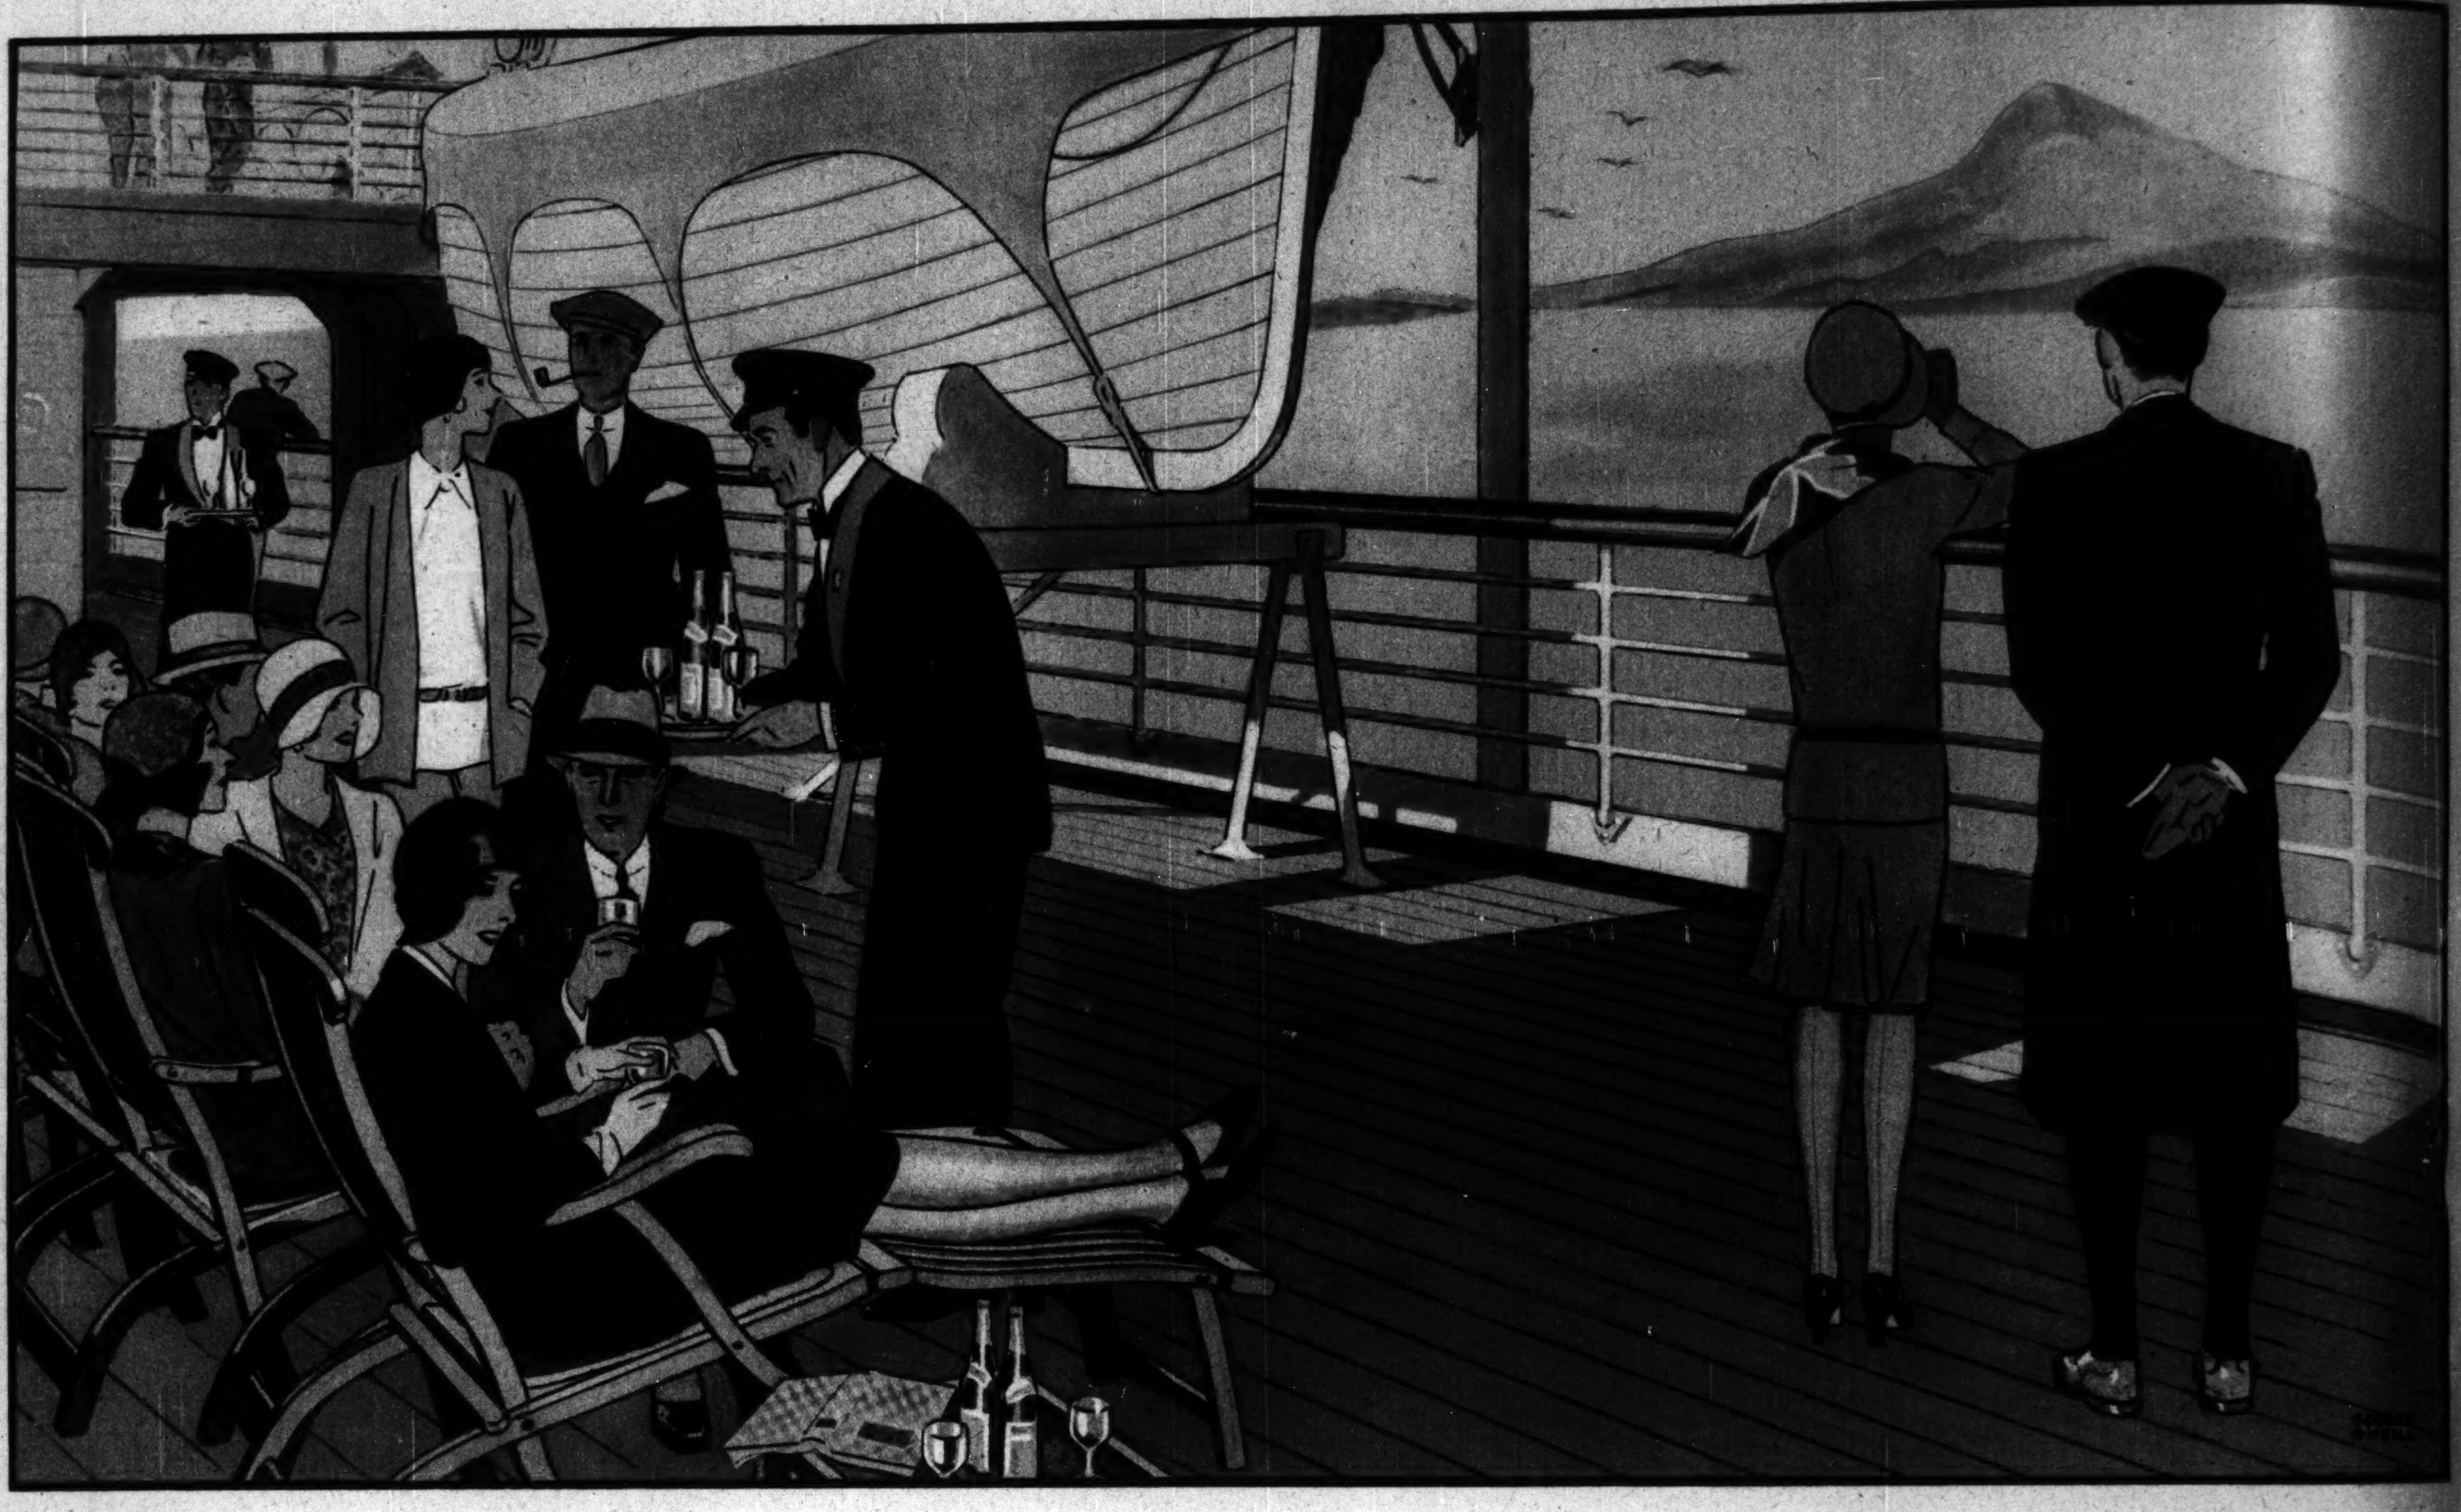
Fine Old Ginger Ale



EAST OF SUEZ—ON A WORLD-WIDE CRUISE

FROM a deck chair there comes talk of the wonders of the Orient . . . through the words of another, the glittering blue of coral lagoons sparkles in the tropic sun . . . expectant gossip is voiced of who will be at the Shanghai gymkhana . . . an almost whispered confidence reveals someone's pet discovery in Pekin temples—such is the talk of evenings on the Pacific crossing.

As appropriate as a dinner dress at eight o'clock . . . as inevitable as a dinner jacket . . . as smart as the ensuing conversation . . . is the presence of "Canada Dry" in such a company. Great hotels in New York, London and Paris serve this fine old ginger ale.

For like the aristocrat it is, "Canada Dry" makes its presence quietly felt. It is accepted and becomes the friend of connoisseurs the wide world over.

"Canada Dry" has a finer flavor because it is more carefully made

In it you find the vigor of a brisk Pacific breeze . . . sparkling as the white-caps you see across the rail . . . and giving zest to your appetite as a turn around the boat deck. This is "Canada Dry"—the Champagne of Ginger Ales.

Absolutely pure ingredients give "Canada Dry" basic excellence. High quality Jamaica ginger makes it a real ginger ale. Expert blending and balancing of those ingredients are a step in the process. Hourly check-ups prevent variation from determined standards. A secret process of carbonation enables "Canada Dry" to retain its sparkle long after the bottle is opened.

Making its presence quietly felt, "Canada Dry" wins the friendship of connoisseurs

Countless homes in this country and Canada serve it often . . . with dinner . . . when friends drop in . . . after a bridge game. Its purity recommends it to parents and its goodness recommends it to more and more people every day. Do you know the thrill of drinking this fine old ginger ale?

Look Lovely Tonight

New Skin Beauty in Five Minutes—It's as Simple as Washing Your Face

Sallow, Dingy Skin made Lovely—Coarse Pores become Fine—It corrects oily skin, heals eruptions and dissolves blackheads

This easy, quick way to new skin beauty is called the most amazing beauty miracle of modern science. Women are astonished! You will not believe it until you see other women suddenly get lovely complexions.

Think of it! You can have a clear, lovely skin tonight. Any woman over twenty-five looks at least five years younger in five minutes! Dull, off-color skin is changed to bright, true-color; enlarged pores are refined to the smoothest, finest texture; oily skin is corrected; blackheads are dissolved; persistent skin eruptions are banished and the tell-tale signs of age vanish as if by magic! Poor complexions become lovely as if skin faults were wiped away with a sponge. You will marvel at the lovely face you see in your mirror tonight.

Instant Skin Beauty

It's no fairy wand that gives a new skin so quickly. It's simply due to the amazing, rejuvenating properties of cremed milk of magnesia, which rehabilitates the skin in the same easy way that plain milk of magnesia purifies the stomach. This is because skin impurities are acid. Doctors treat acid inside the body with milk of magnesia. And, now, dermatologists are getting amazing results in banishing complexion faults with cremed magnesia. All you do is anoint your skin with it, massage and rinse with water. It's as simple as washing your face!

Accidental Discovery

Until recently, cremed magnesia was the secret formula of a very successful New York skin specialist. He prescribed it as a sure, quick remedy to heal unsightly skin eruptions. But, women soon discovered it also refines enlarged pores, changes sallow, off-color skin to true-color clearness and makes the face look years younger. They also found it removes make-up and extracts impurities deep-set in the pores better than any soap or cleansing cream. Scientific tests proved these women had found a quick, easy way to new skin beauty. So, thanks to this accidental discovery, science now offers you a priceless skin beautifier, better for your complexion than anything ever before discovered. It takes the place of soap, cleansing cream, massage cream, astringent, skin tonic and rejuvenator. It gives the skin a radiant clearness and fades out freckles better than a bushel of lemons.

Cremed magnesia beautifies the skin in the same easy way that milk of magnesia purifies the stomach

Doctors Recommend It

It is so mild that doctors tell mothers to use it instead of soap to bathe infants. It certainly is a blessing to fine, sensitive skins that soap so easily irritates and coarsens. Being greaseless, it cannot fatten the face or grow hair.

Thousands of doctors now insist that their wives, patients and nurses use nothing but cremed magnesia on their faces. They say it keeps fine skin fine and makes poor skin lovely. It is pure enough to drink.

Don't Hesitate

Do not hesitate to use this marvelous skin treatment at once. Thousands of delighted women have written they could not at first believe anything so simple could be so wonderful. But, they were convinced when they saw so many friends suddenly get lovely complexions. Because it gives such amazing results so quickly, even the largest druggists find it hard to keep enough in stock to supply the tremendous demand.

To get genuine cremed magnesia, ask for Denton's Facial Magnesia. Remember, five minutes works wonders. So, get your magnesia today and look lovely tonight. It costs almost nothing to try.

GUARANTEE

It's impossible for Denton's Facial Magnesia not to improve your complexion. But, should it fail to delight you, even after the very first application, your dealer is requested to refund your money at once without question.

"My Mrs. is very particular about her fine linens and sheer silk things, so I always launder them in American Family White Flakes. It washes out the soil so quick you don't have to rub or leave them in the water. Seems like it makes things look so fresh and new. My Mrs. often speaks about how well her delicate stockings keep their color and lustre since I've been washing them in American Family Flakes."
MRS. SCHWARTZ

Mrs. Carolina Dahlgren
—Laundress to Mrs. Chauncy Keep 1200 Lake Shore Drive

"I use White American Family Flakes for everything I launder for Mrs. Keep—from sheets and woolens to the finest and costliest silks. These flakes are so finely flaked and dissolve so quickly, they make a rich, heavy suds in an instant and cleanse without rubbing or friction. And my hands keep soft and white even after a whole day of washing. There is nothing I have tried that equals American Family Flakes for thin, delicate fabrics, silk hose and lingerie."
MRS. CAROLINA DAHLGREN

IN these luxurious homes are some of the most precious fabrics to be found anywhere in the world . . . needlework of spider web delicacy; tablepieces, linens and laces almost priceless in value; the sheerest of silk stockings and lingerie; chiffons and diaphanous silky things so light, filmy and daintily colored one wonders how their possessors dare entrust pieces so delicate and beautiful to soap and water. Yet thousands of dollars' worth of these precious possessions are washed repeatedly, harmlessly, with American Family Flakes. No caustic or other ingredient harmful to fibre or color is used in making these pure, gentle, quick-acting flakes. Proof of their purity is the benefited condition of the hands.

The Purest of Soap— Contains No Caustic

With American Family Flakes you'll want no other soap for laundry, kitchen or household purposes. Wonderful for washing machine use. And you'll like it immensely for dishes—your finest glass and chinaware. Dishes washed in these quick-acting suds rinse off thoroughly clean with hot water and dry without wiping, leaving no streaks or film. Try it. Cleans porcelain, paint, woodwork perfectly. IN A NEW STATE PARK, near Savanna, Ill., the visitor may enjoy this noble view of the Mississippi and its sheer headlands. One of three locations chosen out of more than a hundred proposed, the new park was created by the legislature during the last session. It consists of 360 acres of primitive timberland and limestone bluff along the river, and probably will be known as "The Palisades."

In tests at Camp Meade, Md., during which it was photographed, the Christie fighting tank amazed army officers with a speed of more than forty miles per hour across country, and of nearly seventy miles on hard roads. Over rough going the machine uses a track of caterpillar type; on good roads it spins along on rubber tires. J. Walter Christie, the inventor, stands beside his creation. ESTHONIA

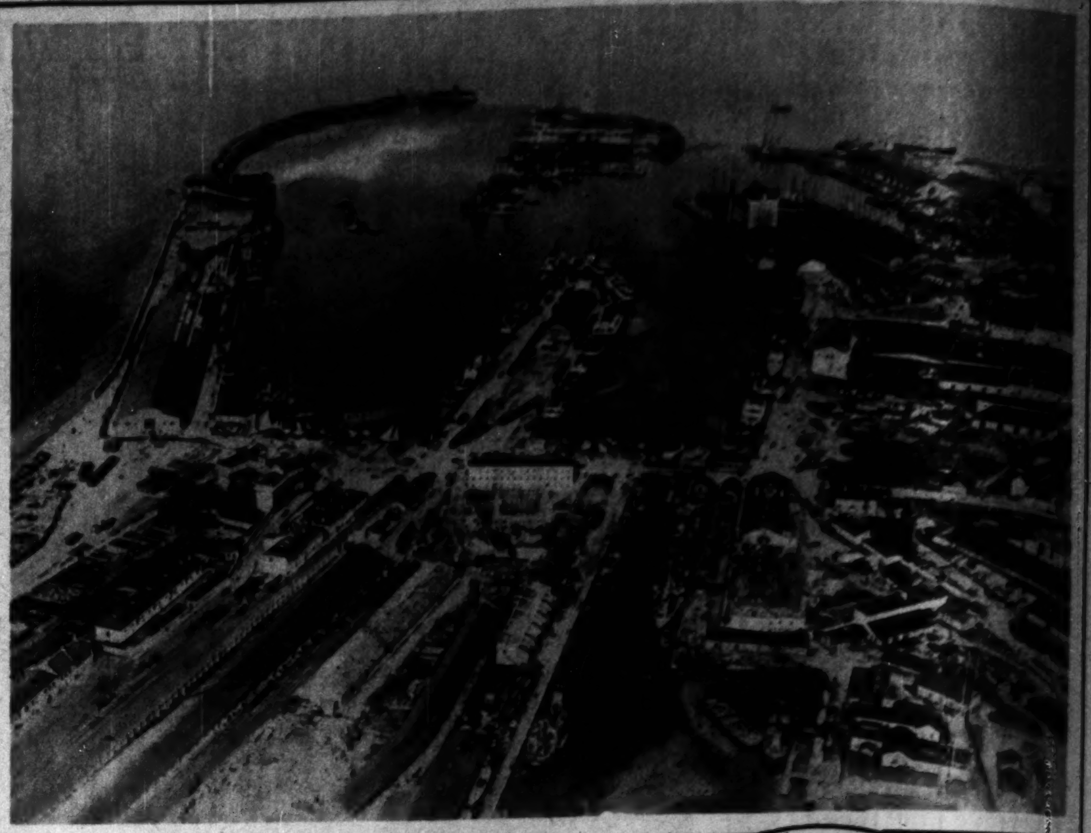
FAR UP ON BALTIC SHORES lies Esthonia, one of the many republics carved from Russia after the world war. The beauty of its capital, Tallinn (formerly called Reval), attracts many foreign visitors. Here is an aerial view of its famous cathedral, built by Russians, flanked by the parliament and government ministry buildings.



ICE FREE ALL WINTER, Tallinn's harbor is coveted by the Soviet government since Leningrad, its only port with an outlet to the Atlantic, is frozen up three months every year. Here's an aerial view of this Baltic harbor.

THE GEORGE WASHINGTON of Esthonia, Gen. Johann Laidoner, who led his countrymen in the successful fight for independence against the Bolsheviki.

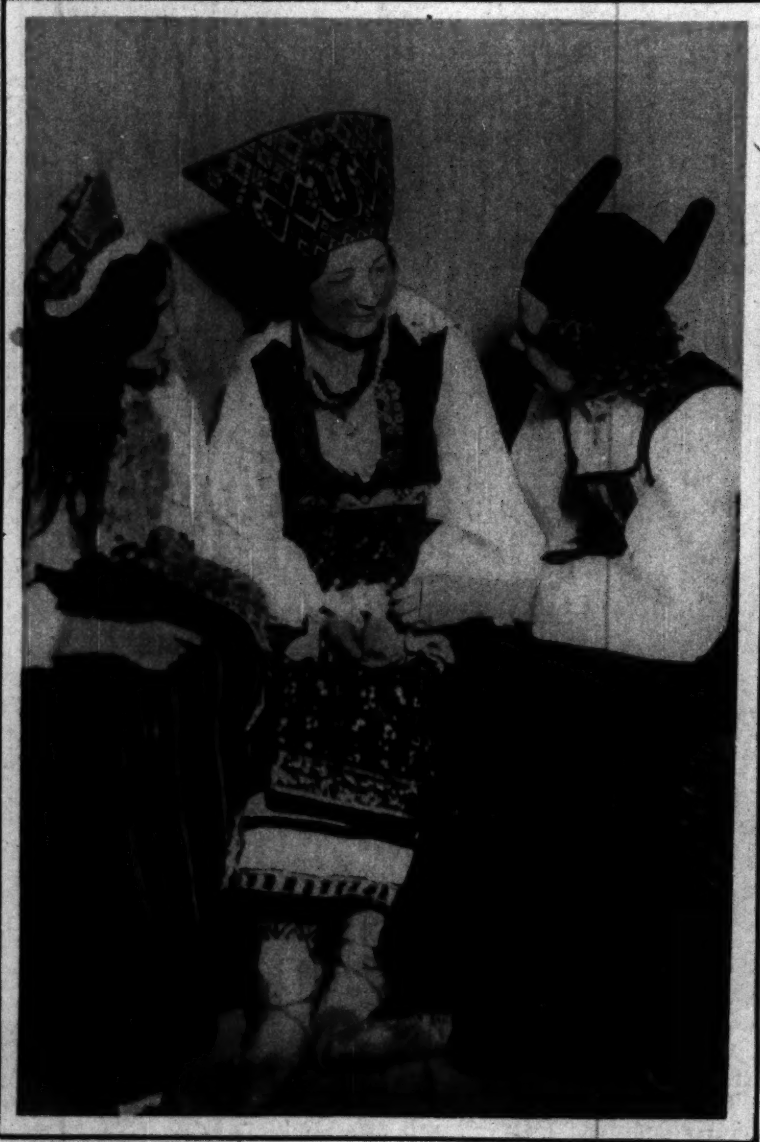
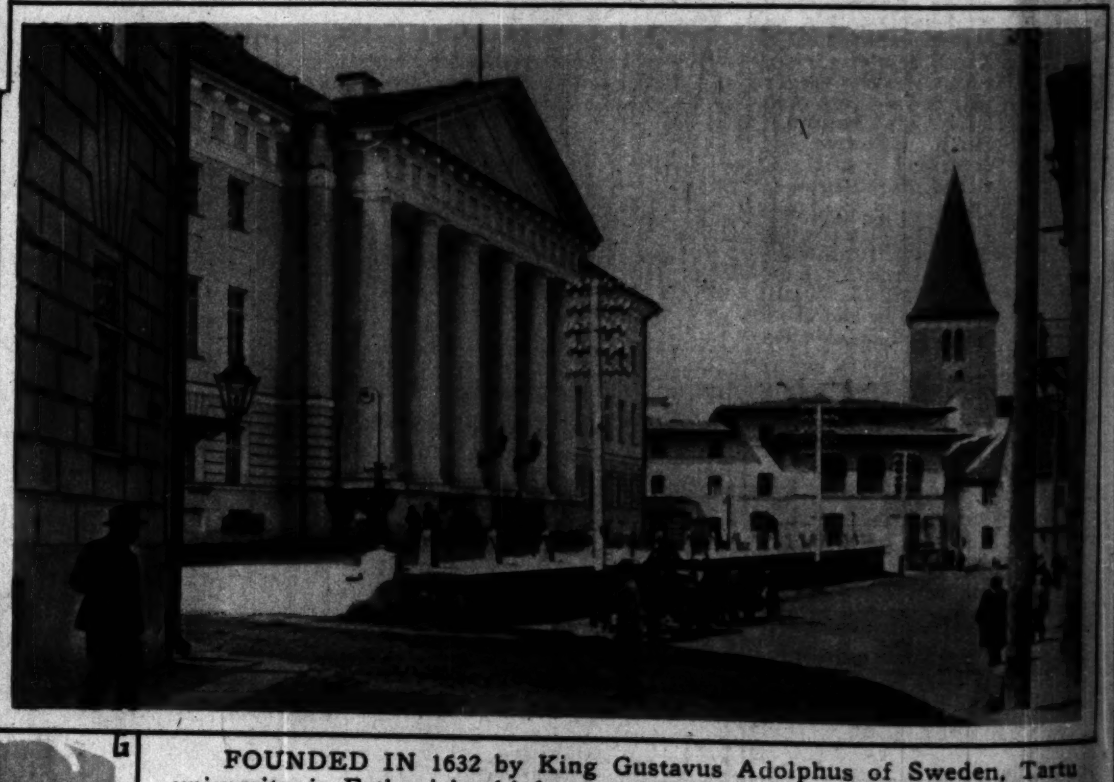
IF THE AGE MATTERS, this is an Esthonian Stradivarius. The musician with this ancient fiddle is a fisherman who lives on a rocky island in the Finnish gulf, which borders Esthonia on the north.

PETER THE GREAT built this beautiful palace at Reval for his Empress, Catherine the First. In the Ekaterinburg palace, Empress Elizabeth of Russia and Empress Maria Theresa of Austria signed the alliance against Prussia which brought on the Seven Years' war.

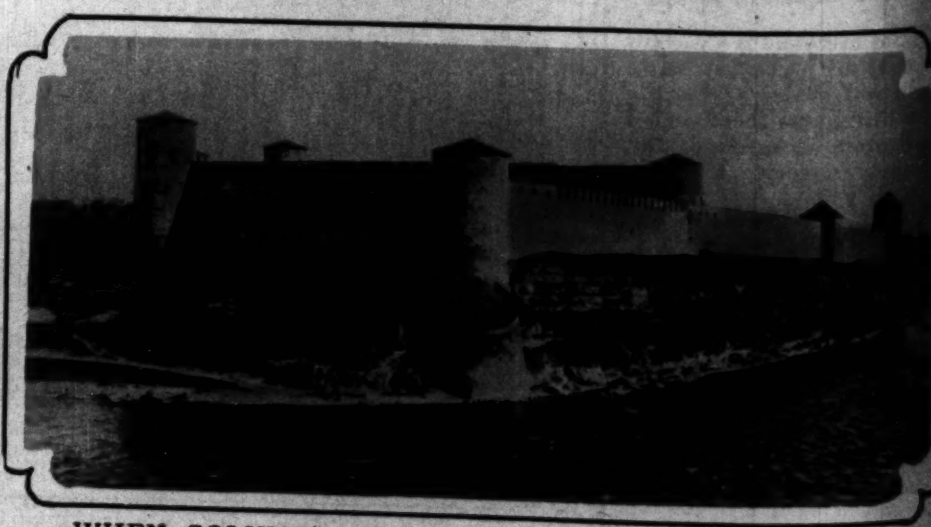


ESTHONIAN BEAUTIES in picturesque headdress and boots are said to resemble girls of Sweden, across the Baltic.

THE TOWN HALL of Tallinn, the oldest on the Baltic, is a structure of simple beauty and dignity housing many of the national treasures.



FOUNDED IN 1632 by King Gustavus Adolphus of Sweden, Tartu university is Esthonia's chief seat of learning. The photograph shows the stately Doric facade of its principal building.



WHEN COLUMBUS DISCOVERED AMERICA, Czar Ivan the Third was busy erecting this fortress. Nearly two hundred years later the Swedes defeated the Russians and remodeled Fort Ivangorod. Today, after another century and a half, the Esthonian citadel looks like this.

OVALTINE

Below—Children of two continents are brought to the sunlight and tonic air of the Swiss Alps. Davos, Schatzalp, Lucerne, all have resorts famous for their achievements in child health. In all of them Ovaltine has been recognized for years as nature's finest food-drink for building sturdy, vigorous young minds and bodies.

Add a Pound a Week in Weight—Correct Nervousness Appreciably

An Utterly New-Type Food-Drink From Switzerland That Increases Weight a Pound or More a Week and Curbs Nervousness Remarkably—Use Coupon for 3-Day Supply and Free Shaker

YOU have probably heard people talk about Ovaltine; but have never tried it for your children. The offer below is made to induce you to try it. New to America, 20,000 doctors are advising it.

The discovery of Swiss Science—world-leader in child health—it is credited with many remarkable results. So remarkable that its use has spread over 54 different nations.

It may make your child over this Summer—or it may not—you can never tell. But, in light of its effects on other children—it deserves a trial.

"Actually Raised by Ovaltine"

My little girl, Charlotte, has actually been raised on Ovaltine—advised for her five years ago by New York's best Child Specialist. When 7 months old she was a skeleton baby, starved, under-nourished and weighing only 7 pounds. My friends said it would be a miracle if I raised her. Now at five and one-half years she weighs 48 pounds, is a perfect child and a real beauty besides.

– Mrs. Hugo Heider, 1065 Madison Ave., New York City

What Ovaltine Is

Ovaltine is a food-drink UTTERLY DIFFERENT from any other known. A scientific food-concentrate not remotely to be confused with "Chocolate" and "Malt" drinks common in this country.

Developed 37 years ago by a famous Swiss Scientist, Ovaltine contains, in highly concentrated form, practically every single vital food element necessary to life.

Due to an exclusive process, employed by no other food-drink known, it supplies those vital elements in such easily digested form that a child's system will absorb them even when digestion is impaired.

How It Acts

Some of those elements in Ovaltine build bone and muscle. And thus create new strength. Others build firm flesh. And thus constantly increase weight. Others develop nerve poise; for, as weight increases nervousness perceptibly decreases.

Other elements (such as iron, lime and phosphorus) foster richer blood. And thus combat conditions of anemia. All are supplied in scientific ratio to meet the body's needs. That is why results are often so astonishing.*

"We Tried It From Curiosity"

My 7½-year-old daughter was about 12 pounds underweight. Oil "tablets" and the various brands of "malteds" were tried without success. Then, chiefly from curiosity, we tried the food-drink Ovaltine. We mixed it with milk—she drank it down eagerly and asked for more. She has gained 3 pounds and is taking 4 glasses of Ovaltine a day—which means a full quart of milk, too.—A. J. Rosenstein, 137 Third Ave., Brooklyn, N. Y.

Digests Starches

Then, too, Ovaltine has high diastatic power. Which means the power of digesting the undigested starches from other foods eaten.

Thus, this scientific creation not only furnishes tremendous food energy in itself, but greatly increases the effectiveness of all starch food your child eats. Such as oatmeals, bread, potatoes, etc., which comprise over half a normal child's daily diet. Consider what this means.

Get Ovaltine at any drug or grocery store. Or send coupon for 3-day supply and free shaker. Note the difference in your child's weight; in nerve poise, in greater strength and energy. Find out, for your child's sake, what this creation means to you and yours. Give at breakfast, always. Give at meals and between meals to increase the effectiveness of ordinary diet. Delicious as a cold "shake-up" drink. Results will surprise you.

Note: Thousands of nervous people, men and women, are using Ovaltine to restore vitality when fatigued. They take it hot at night, too, to insure restful sleep. During the Great War, it was a standard ration prescribed by the Red Cross as a restorative food for invalid soldiers of all nations.*

SHIFTING SANDS of the Indiana dunes are the goal of The Tribune's Chicagoland cruise today, at the end of a swing around the foot of Lake Michigan. East of Hobart and at other points in Indiana the roads are not marked, but they are the main graveled highways and may be easily followed. The Wet Party

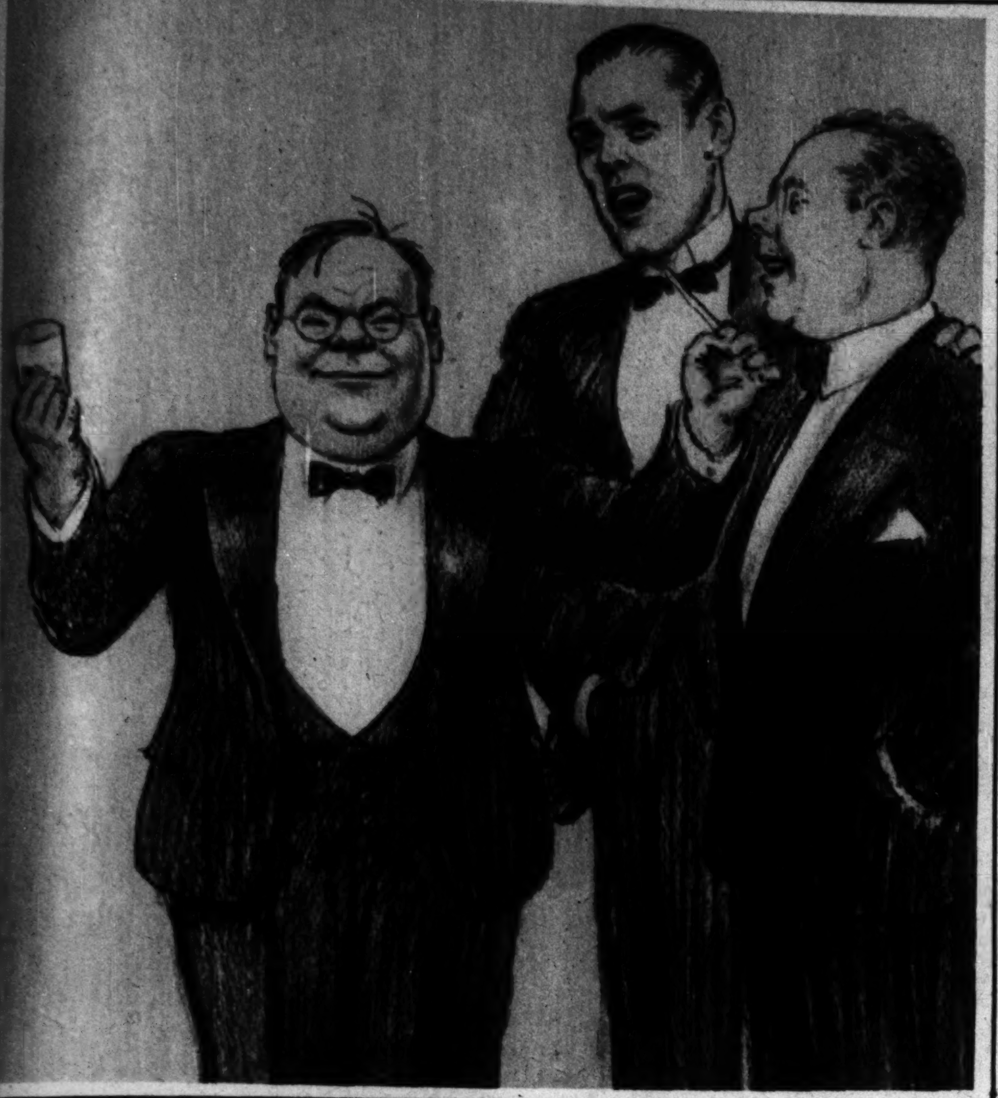
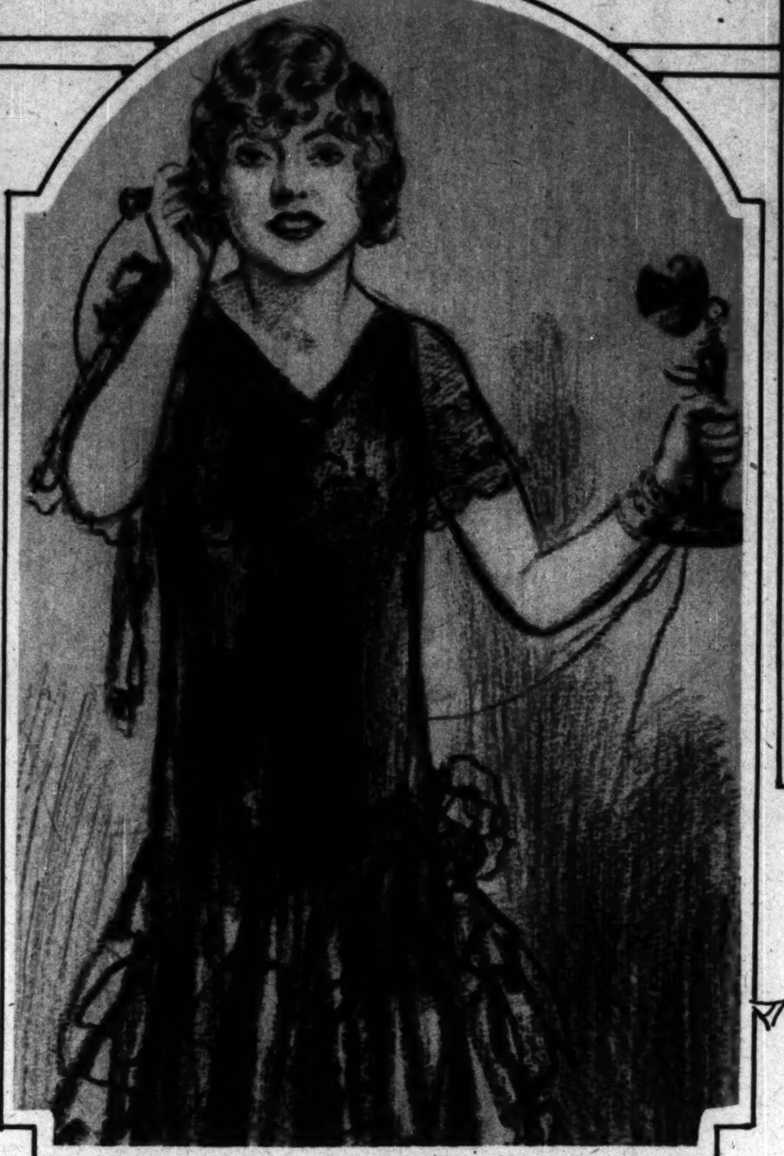
By W. E. Hill

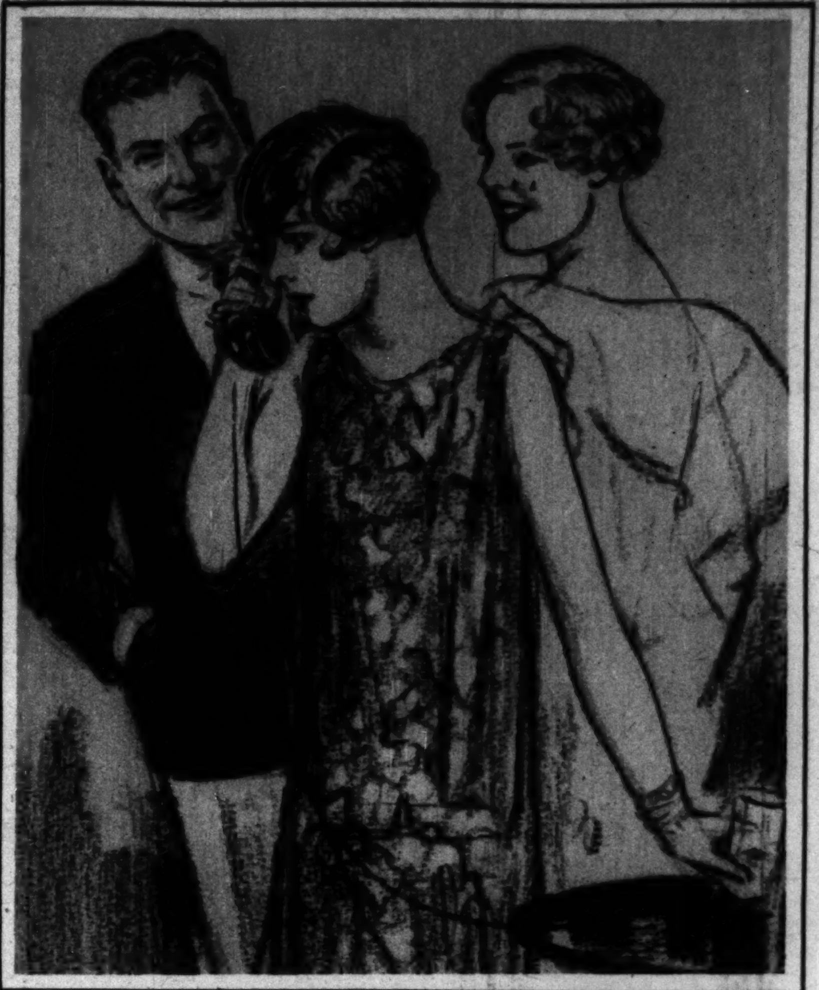
[Copyright: 1929: By The Chicago Tribune.]



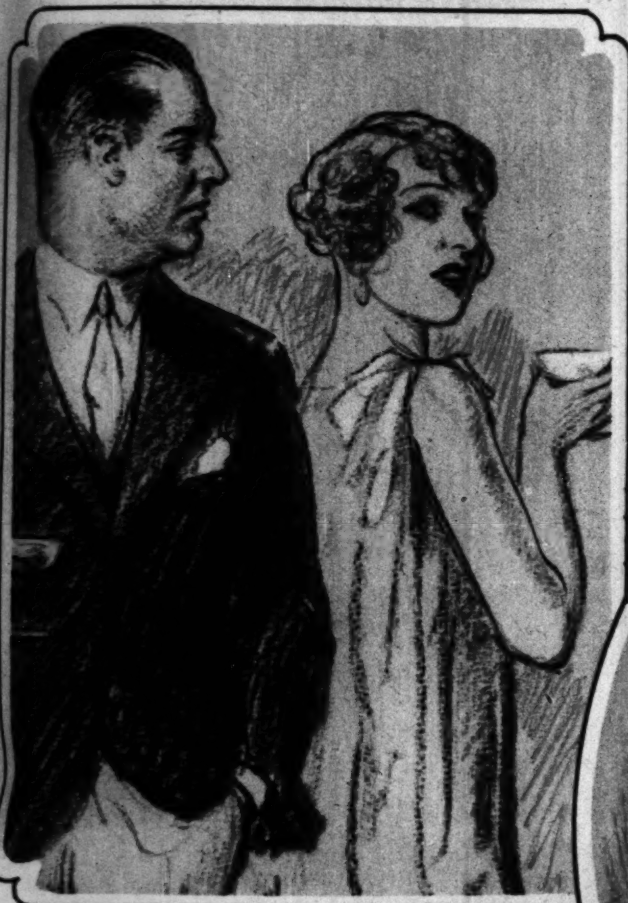
The sweet song. The man who likes to beat time and the boys who dearly love a good old rousing songfest are making the welkin ring right merrily with "Button Up Your Overcoat." Bootleg hooch is a great excitant to whisky tenors.



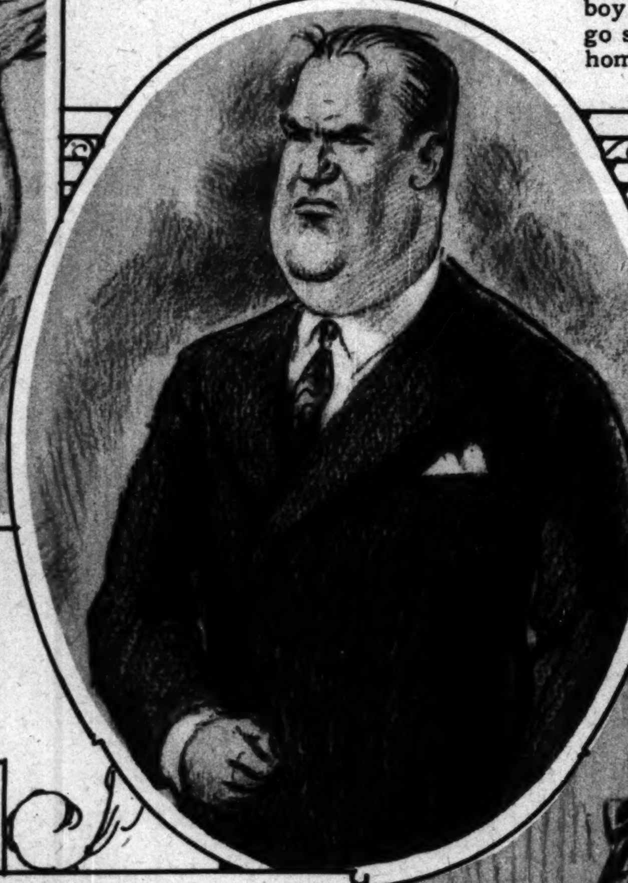
The telephone postmortem. "My dear, you should have stuck around. Harry and Mae got fighting again and Mae called Harry terrible things and Harry threw gin on her gown, and the Holmes boy passed out, and then somebody said oh, lets go somewhere and dance, etc., etc. We didn't get home till four-thirty, and I'm a wreck today!"



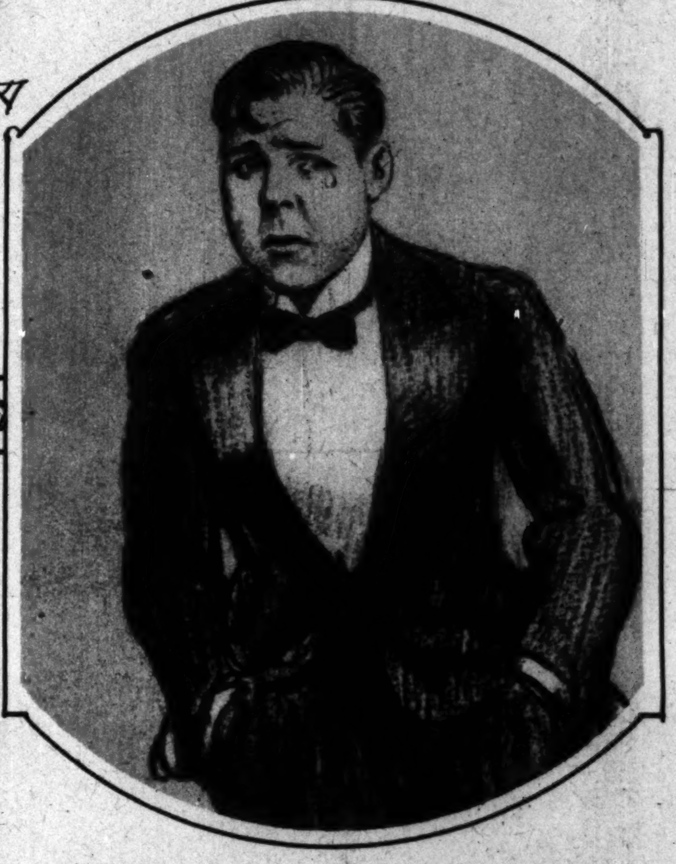
The cute menace. Lois is a scream on a party. You never can tell what she's going to do next with a little gin or Scotch inside her. Lois' best stunt is calling up people on the telephone and making them guess who it is. Then she will kid the life out of them. Sometimes she will call up perfect strangers, like the mayor or chief of police. Lois will make them look pretty cheap before she's finished with them.



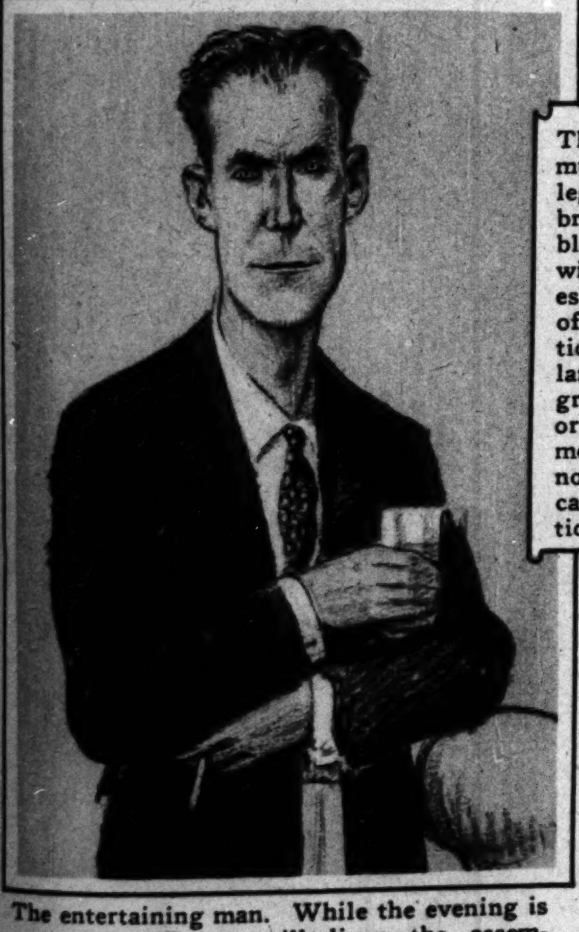
The unhappily married couple. Bootleg liquor seems to unlock all the latent inhibitions and for the time being people are free and untrammeled. Roscoe and Betty can spend whole evenings at friends' houses insulting each other after the second round of cocktails and still have a few insults left for the ride home.



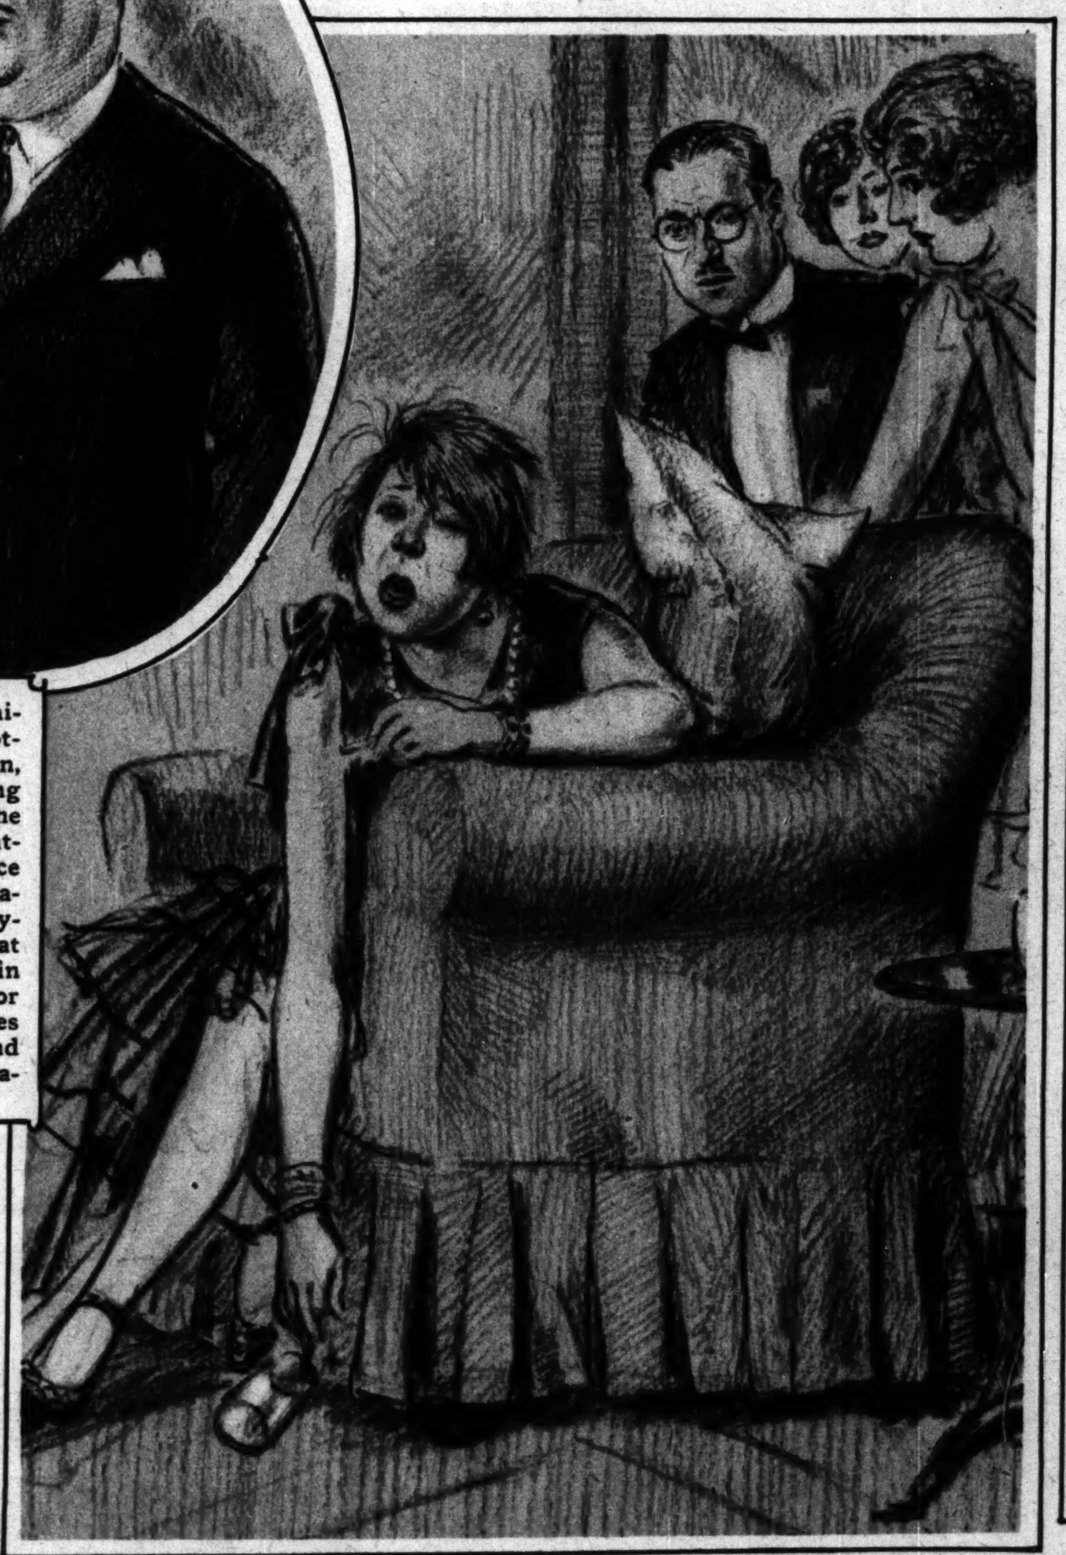
The fighting blood. A minimum amount of liquor, bootleg or even prescription, brings all of Louis' fighting blood to the surface, and he will up and at 'em at the slightest provocation. A difference of opinion anent the population of Hagerstown, Maryland, an insult to his great grandmother's memory, plain or fancy misstatements, or merely a face that Louis does not like will rouse his ire and cause him to demand reparation.



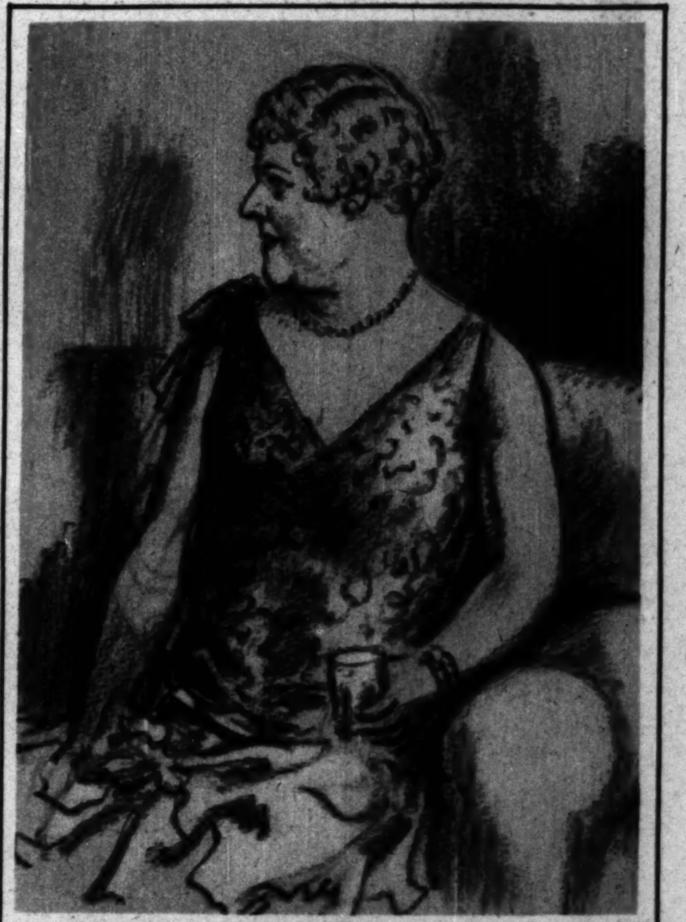
The crying out loud. The cup that cheers seems to have the opposite effect on some drinkers. The longer Richard sits sipping highballs the gloomier he gets. Sobs shake him and big tears roll down his cheeks, what with thinking how nobody loves him for himself alone.



The entertaining man. While the evening is yet young, Roger will liven the assembled drinkers with anecdotes about southern troops in the war. Roger comes from Oswego, N. Y., and has the southern dialect down to a T. Later, about the time when some one returns with more liquor and the party gets its second wind, Roger will go French Canadian and recite "Leetle Batiste" (which most people think means "The Little Baptist"). Roger is very genial and will call you "big boy" if you promise to call him "Rog."



The good sport. Helene is one of those unfortunate girls who can't take even so little as twelve or fourteen rickeys or a like number of cocktails without passing out of the picture. When this happens, her hostess takes Helene upstairs and as soon as she is brought to, Helene comes down and begins all over again. The boys and girls in her set all think very highly of Helene and admire her for being a good sport. On some parties Helene will pass out six or eight times of an evening, so you can see how courageous and sporting she is.



The loosened tongue. Just one highball will start Mrs. Winkley telling a few things that her friends would be just as pleased if she didn't. One or two more and she will relate secrets and scandals that would cause her family to writhe in horror. Just now she is all set to tell us what provision Uncle Ned made for his second wife's children in the will.

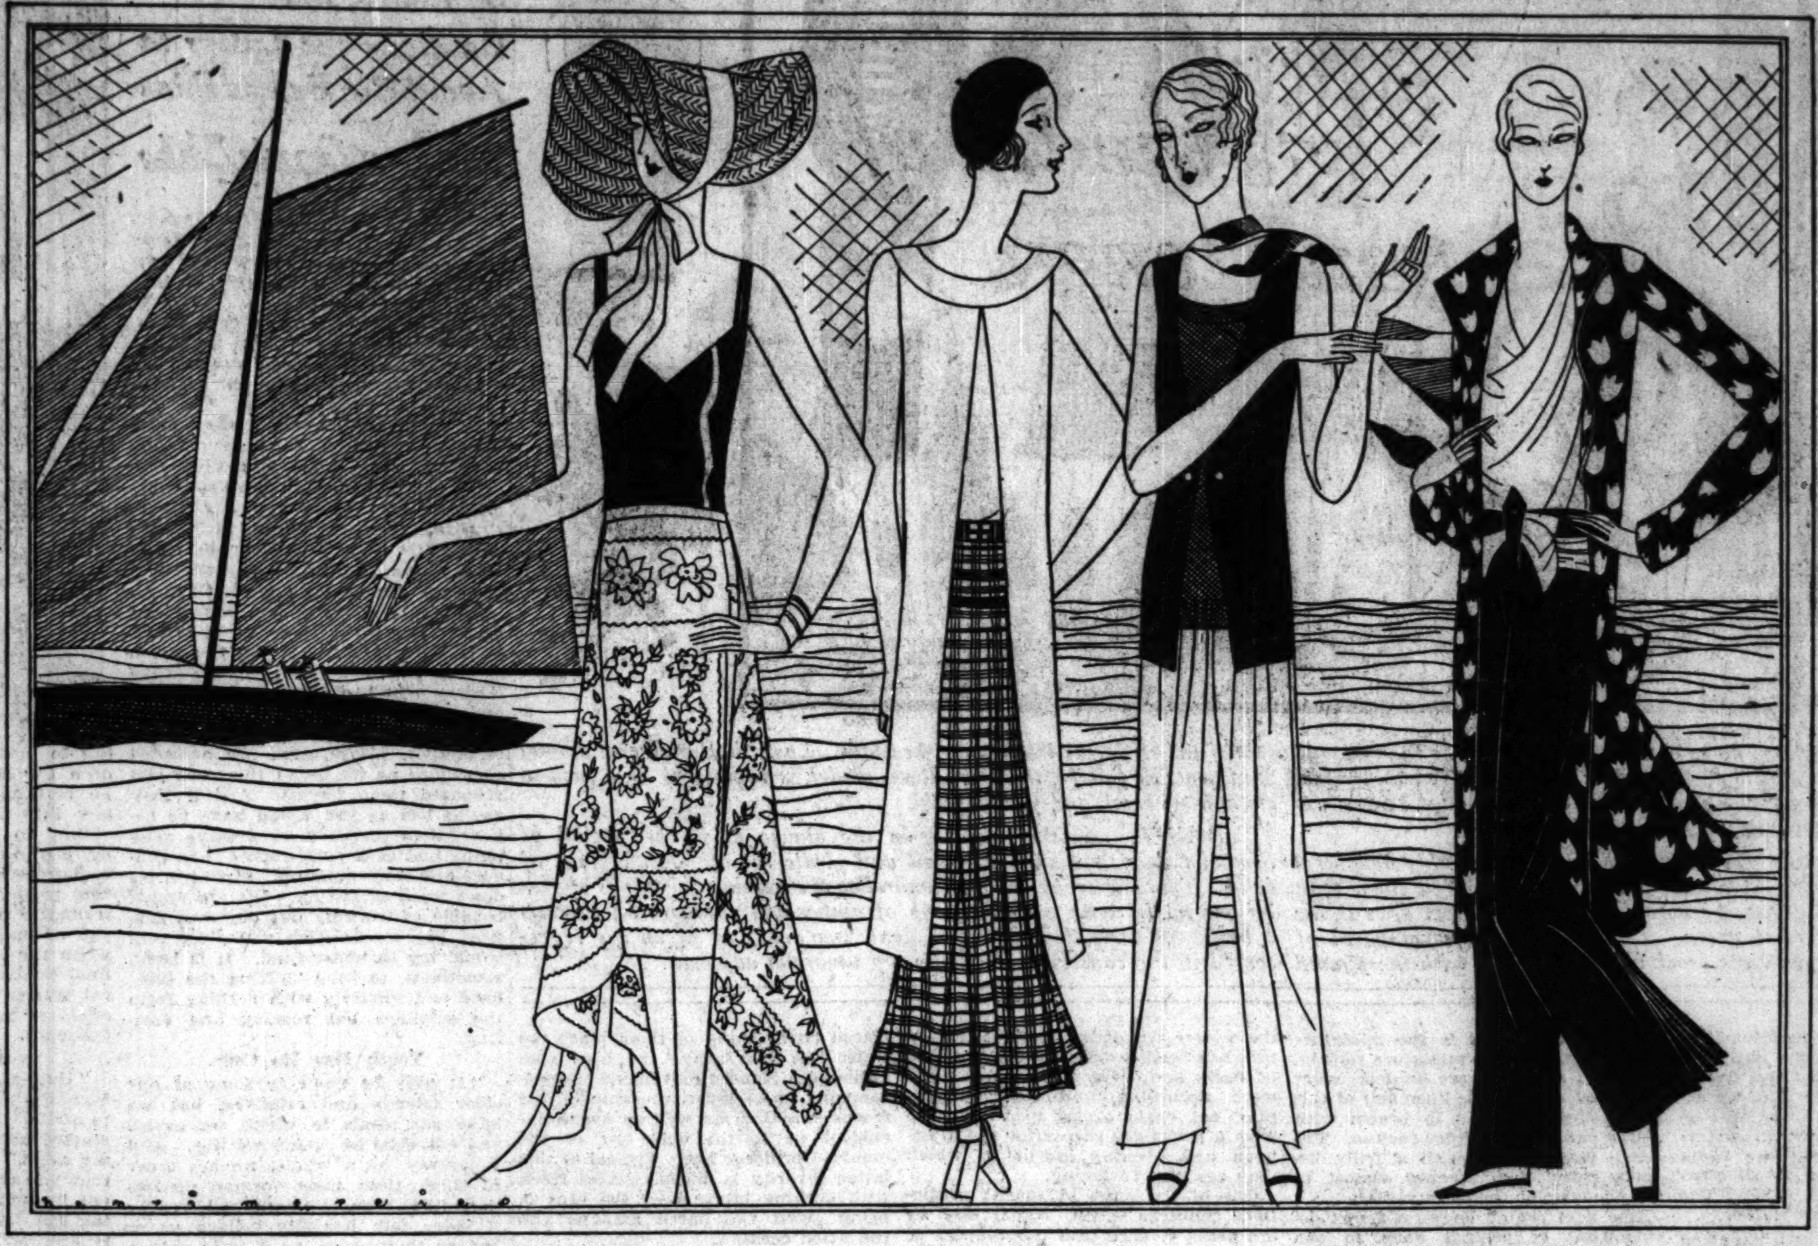
Solving the Wet and Dry Problem of Chic

Whether She Goes in the Water or Is a Decorative Feature of the Glowing Sands, Milady Must Be Smartly Clad at Any Cost.

By Bettina Bedwell.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]



At the left, beach skirt by Mary Nowitsky. Second, beach ensemble from Chantal. Third, ensemble by Worth. Fourth, costume from Jean Patou. The modes are described in detail in the accompanying text.

PARIS.—(Special Correspondence.)—Every woman who goes anywhere near the water this summer is forced to face the wet and dry problem of chic. When the special style division of beach chic, as differentiated from actual bathing chic, was first established it was for the few. Today both beach and bathing costumes are essential to all who have any desire or claim to smartness of appearance—beach clothes for the hours spent high and dry on the sands, and swimming suits for ali who go into the water.

Some of the Paris dressmakers are redividing these two divisions into beach costumes for tea, for the sun bath, etc., etc. These subdivisions, however, are not particularly popular around the French seaside resorts. They are still ultra, but may have a broader future.

At the moment one smart beach costume may serve for all the beach occasions of the fashionabe resort. This costume is always a beach ensemble, with two or three pieces to its credit. You may wear coat, cape, or jacket as a wrap. You may wear blouse, sweater, or bathing suit top as a waist, and for the rest there are pajamas and skirts. Pajamas are much in the majority. Up to this summer, Paul Poiret's prophecy that all women would be wearing trousers within a year, seemed on the point of fullfillment, so far as fashionable beaches are concerned.

This season the skirt has put in an appearance, and in such novel forms as to take hold of the feminine fancy immediately. Another garment which adds force to the feeling of many fashion authorities that femininity is going to rule the beach this summer, is the apron. Some of the most fashionable beach costumes to come out of Paris in the last two weeks have over-all aprons that are slipped on over the real bathing suit. Schiaparelli, originated these aprons, which are made with yokes of organdy and the body of linen. They tie around the waist with big bow ends of organdy. Jackets or capes are worn over the apron, whenever a wrap is desired.

Whether you wear pajamas, skirt, or apron as your own interpretation of beach chic this summer, you will be interested to know color unlimited controls this type of apparel. Soberness, neutrality, and all of the color virtues of the styles for congested quarters are discarded on the beach. Brilliancy rules, and there is no shade too violent to be worn. Generally speaking Paris chic for the beach is interpreted in strong, lively colors, such as Irish green, orange, bright yellow, royal blue and pure, vivid red. Pastel shades are seldom seen. They are too pallid to vie with the sunlight and cerulean tones of the sea, and smart Paris will have none of them. White, black and navy blue are good mixers and particularly effective with the virile colors mentioned.

Beach accessories are of the greatest importance, and there are numberless kinds of details created by Paris for wear with beach costumes. Actually necessary to the simplest toilette are beach hats, beach sandals, beach bag and scarf. Very large hats are the rule on the beaches hereabouts, and they are usually made of rough straw or of flowered material to match some unit of the costume.

Beach sandals have thick soles and little else. Straps of linen, canvas, or straw hold these soles on to the foot. Some of the Paris couturiers make beach clogs to match printed pajamas, skirts or aprons.

The bag for the beach is usually capacious, and is made of materials that match the costume. A bag that carries a parasol with it is made up in linen or chintz to go with some of the smartest beach costumes. This bag is large enough to contain the bathing suit and coat, sweater or jacket, also. Scarfs for the beach costume are usually in different colors and materials, and they may be as gay as you like.

Almost all of the women who frequent European plages carry with them some sort of sunburn oil, so that tan is evenly distributed over the most delicate skin. Beach rugs are affected by certain ladies, these rugs being made to match the costume with which they appear in public.

While pajamas are not so novel as the beach skirt, they are, this season, so feminized as to rival this more traditionally ladylike garb in the charm that is essential to chic. Some of the most fashionable pajamas that go down to the sea this summer have trousers so widened at the bottom as to appear almost like skirts. The beach ensemble illustrated at the extreme right of our sketch has such trousers. Jean Patou makes them of vivid blue, and adds large accordion plaited godets at the sides of the legs to increase their already not inconsiderable width.

With these trousers Patou combines a sleeveless blouse of white crêpe de chine, which is draped in front like a handkerchief tied about the neck. The trousers button on to the blue belt that is placed around a high waistline. The printed coat of this ensemble is made of blue and white silk, with accordion plaited godets to flare it from the patch pockets at the sides. There is also a printed skirt to replace the trousers when this ensemble is worn to the beach tea.

The first figure of our sketch shows the newest beach skirt, which is designed by Mary Nowitzky. This skirt is made of two large squares of printed cotton material, attached at the waist by a narrow band that ties in the back. Worn over your bathing suit it makes one of the smartest beach costumes. Nowitzky also created the big rough straw hat that is tied around the head by a red ribbon. The skirt is in red and yellow.

Our second figure illustrates a beach ensemble from Chantal which will be worn on the beach this summer by many of the most fashionable women who buy their clothes in Paris. The unusual trousers of these pajamas are made of real Scotch plaid woolen in bright colors. The blouse, which is cut with the decolletage of evening blouse, is made of white shantung with shoulder straps of Scotch plaid. Over this Chantal places a three-quarters length coat that is split open from the round yoke at the front and back. This round yoke ends in ties which attach the sleeveless wrap at the back of the neck.

Paris Snapshots.

By Bettina Bedwell.

Red and yellow calico catches the fancy of the smart beach comber along the coast of France this summer. You'll find it in pajamas, in beach aprons, and in coats.

Smart bathers are protecting the lap dog's cushioned paws from sand and sea by snug little boots made of snakeskin which lace up over the leg.

Panama straw in its natural color is now being used by Ducerf-Scavini for beach shoes that stay out of the water. They are bound with Russian leather and a strap of any bright color you choose. When you wear these slippers you carry a flat bag in Panama straw, stitched all around with brilliant leather.

The newest sponge beach wraps are accompanied by beach rugs in the same colors and design.

Beautiful Furniture on View at Summer Show

By Edith Weigle.

ALL of the pictures today are from the summer furniture style show held recently at the American Furniture Mart. They indicate several definite trends, it seems to me. The first and most important is that suites, or exactly matching pieces of furniture, are passe, and ensembles or groups that harmonize in periods and lines are here to stay. Another noticeable point is that simplicity of line is emphasized, and this means that the rage for early American furniture continues. Jacobean oak and chestnut are becoming increasingly popular woods, while maple is as prevalent as ever.

In the photograph of the panel room you see the charm and distinction gained by ensemble furniture. These pieces are all sold together, just as the old suites were, but what a difference! Here one has individuality not possible in the former styles, and beauty of line that was disregarded in the clumsy, overstuffed chairs and sofas.

The period is that of Louis XV., famous for its luxury and beauty, and for the employment of graceful curves in its furniture. The sofa is gray-green, the bergere or chair in the center is of green brocade overshot with gold tinsel, and the occasional chair is brocaded velvet in mulberry with a floral pattern in green, rose and beige. The table is walnut, hand carved, with a burl walnut top, and the lamp is of gold crepe trimmed with mulberry. The dining room furniture pictured is of Jacobean oak and shows how perfectly modern craftsmen reproduce the styles of that English furniture made famous by history. The linen fold design in the stretcher of the table and the doors of the buffet, the backs of the chairs and the doors of the cabinet, is typical of the period.

KODAK

Many of Us Are Dressed in Fine Linen

The Simple Black Suit With Gayly Colored Tuck-in Blouse Is Ideal for the Business Woman.

BY LOLITA.

NEW YORK.—[Special Correspondence.]—The girl who got on the Fifth avenue bus at Washington square might have been consumed greedily by any hungry young novelist in search of a heroine. For she was young and slim; she had blonde hair that looked like the beach under a morning sun; her eyes were the color of a dove's wing and her skin was dazzling white.

Unfortunately, however, there was no novelist to see her mount to the top of that bus and she who might so easily have graced the pages of a best seller was destined for a baser type of "copy." For a fashion writer saw her and she passed rapidly over both emotional potentialities and aesthetic realizations in favor of—yes, the girl was well-dressed. She was so well-dressed that she served as a model for any maiden going to her business office of a summer morning.

First of all, she wore a black linen suit, perfectly simple and perfectly tailored. Under the coat of this peeped a dainty tuck-in blouse of chartreuse handkerchief linen. Her bakou hat, plaited at the short front brim and wide at the sides, relieved its cream color by a band of black-and-chartreuse ribbon. Her slip-on gloves were of chamois and her oxfords were of black linen. Last touch of all—a tiny boutonniere of chartreuse linen!

Yes, this forms an ideal warm weather costume for the young business woman. But such a linen ensemble is not restricted to any one field. The suit of this material, come into its own after long periods of neglect, serves both resort and town purposes and is quite as good for the girl of 8 as for the woman of 28.

Linen suits come in various tones—in dark blue and gray, in dark green and brown. Yet they are at their smartest in black and the costume of the girl on the bus is eloquent of the current choice of handkerchief linen and its tint, although a matter of choice, is frequently recruited from the yellow and green families. Pale lemon yellow, for example, is charming with these black linen suits. As for the accompanying hat, this is often of black bakou and if you wish to link it irrevocably with the one costume you may have it inset with felt in the tone of the blouse.

For resort wear the linen suit is occasionally mated with a sweater. This variation is illustrated at the right of our large group of drawings in a black jacket suit including a wrap-around skirt—it is the type usually chosen — a tailored, mannish jacket and a sweater in yellow and black striped effect. This sweater, by the way, is tuck-in.

But, after all, the suit and blouse are today regarded no more reverentially than is the single handsome ornament around which your gifted interior decorator "builds" his room. It is a suggestion rather than an accomplishment. In this case it suggests, first of all, a yellow straw turban after Reboux. Next are black and yellow beads. Last of all come black shoes trimmed with yellow. The hand bag is also of yellow leather.

CENTER. For the girl of from 8 to 12 comes this delightful linen ensemble trimming both coat and frock of figured linen with bands of plain linen. Next, a wearable model for resort days is the white linen frock dotted in green. Third, an ensemble composed of red linen jacket and plaid linen frock lines the former with the figured fabric and trims the latter with the plain. Last, that aristocrat among the linen suit family, the black linen model, is completed by a tuck-in sweater of black and yellow wool.

RIGHT. Another novelty in the blouse field—this model of Shetland wool lace with its jabot and girdle set off with pipings of color. That the crooks among umbrellas are gaining friends is shown by one model with a curving top of amber-like composition topping a beige silk striped in brown. Next, two tones of green are represented in the conservative stubby top umbrella adjacent.

The place attained by both linen and cotton in the summer mode is so well recognized that one need not dwell upon the various linen suggestions sketched on this page. Suffice it to say that we begin at the left with a linen ensemble for the girl of from 8 to 12. This comprises both coat and frock of cream colored linen figured in blue and set off with plain rose colored linen. It is accompanied by a matching hat bound with rose ribbon, and one is bound to notice that here, as in the adult gowns, the waist line is perceptibly defined and appears in conjunction with the plaited skirt.

Before dismissing juvenile modes in linen one is obliged to mention that there are many of them. A favorite with the small girl is the miniature jacket suit with the miniature tuck-in, and at a recent smart outdoor event one noted an adorable linen suit of this persuasion developed in brown with yellow handkerchief linen tuck-in. The latter was evolved with a frilly lie-down collar that reached almost to the shoulder of the Eton jacket.

Our next sketch shows a smart development of printed linen in one piece styling. Large green polka dots are scattered over a white background and the figured material contrasts with a gilet of plain white linen set off with a big Latin Quartier tie of green silk. Cuffs and belt are also of the plain white.

An admirable suggestion, this, for loafing on the country club veranda. And equally apt is the accompanying jacket ensemble—one which composes a frock of plaid linen in blue, gray, and red with a red linen jacket lined in the plaid. The pipings, bows, and belt of the frock are all of the plain linen.

Even as we buy our last summer clothes most of us are wondering what the winter will bring forth. Already this has been decided by the creators of Paris and New York and a foreword regarding autumnal changes may not come amiss to those who wish a prolonged career for the afternoon and evening gowns in which they are now investing.

One of the most important predictions concerns velvet. Apparently we are going to turn into worshippers of the great god—no, not Pan, but Panne. This type of velvet has been made up into some of the most stunning of the autumn evening gowns and it functions also for afternoon wear and for wraps. Transparent velvet will not, of course, be discarded, but its dominion is going to be disputed by this other member of the velvet family. Both are carried out in black, in the garnet or wine reds and olive greens. Incidentally, these brilliant tones are featured in almost every province of autumn styling.

Practically all the formal models adopt the creed that there is nothing so successful in the way of a silhouette as the moulded top with the low placed flare. Many of them place the waist line just above the hips and, although a bloused movement may accompany this elevation, some of the frocks—daytime as well as evening—subject us to the acid test of the moulded princess line. Typical of this latter severity is a cloth street frock with curving inlays over the hips to bring about the flared hemline and the fitted corsage.

This is going to be a winter of all around exposure. Not only are the infirmities of our physique to be revealed to an unsympathetic world by means of the princess silhouette, but our foreheads are also involved in the probe. There are already landed from Paris some new autumn models of millinery that show off the forehead quite as mercilessly as did the coiffures of Holbein's day. Is this member knobby? Or wrinkled? Or laid out in hollows? Then tant pis, as the French say. For these little turbans pushed way back from the eyebrows show all there is to show.

In compensation for this shortage in front, many of these new models come 'way down in the back and at the sides. Often the frills at the side are gathered to the crown with the effect of a Dutch cap. Also does the longer bob in the back help out the impression of the new rear wing.

Suits are destined to be better than ever and many of the newest models introduce loose lines of a shorter jacket. Fur trimming is a significant part of their creation and is featured both in sports and formal types. Broadcloth is employed widely for the latter and is seen perhaps at its best with trimming of Persian lamb. In the field of sports suits, lapin and beaver are both excellent and mention must be made, also, of a new emphasis upon wolf.

The formal ensemble retains in many cases the tunic blouse which so skillfully individualizes afternoon fashions. Made often in velvet and the more luxurious types of cloth, this ensemble is often topped by the two-thirds or seven-eighths length coat trimmed with long-haired fur. Sometimes it wraps tightly about the figure in the style beloved of Paquin, and is finished either with a flounce or with a deep border of fur.

The ensemble introducing the fur coat as an integral part of its styling chooses various pelts with which to cover the one-piece frock or the tunic blouse creation underneath. In its more sportslike interpretations it frequently utilizes that feature so identified with fabric wraps of the same ilk. One refers to the belt. Whether partial or complete, whether inset or attached, this detail is one of the important features of our street and sports wear for the coming months.

HOW TO USE THE PATTERNS

THIS stunning silk crêpe frock, made by pattern No. 2797, is one that should be becoming to the majority of women. The deep V neck finished with the youthful collar, the close fitting sleeves with deep, turned back cuffs, the two tiered circular skirt with the wide girdle are all interesting points, making a whole that is charming.

The bodice is cut in two parts, and can be finished with French seams. In the sketch you will see that collar and cuffs are scalloped and bound with the color used in the girdle. This is undoubtedly pretty, but if you don't care to go to the work of finishing the scallops, the edges may be cut plain. Then they may be bound or picoted or, if you cut them double, a narrow, wrong side seam is taken around all edges.

Handle the circular ruffles lightly so as not to stretch the edges. After the seams are sewed together the lower edge of each one can either be picoted or bound. Skirt and bodice are joined under the wide girdle, and the bodice is allowed to blouse slightly. The girdle is caught together at the center front with a buckle, and the ends allowed to fall gracefully. The sleeves are cut in one piece, and to put together lay a sleeve down on a lapboard or something smooth, having the upper side of the sleeve on the board with the seam edge away from you, then bring the opposite or under edge over to meet it, pinning the seam together from the top to the elbow, then from the elbow to the wrist. If this under edge is fulled slightly at the elbow, arrange the fullness so the lines go straight across. If a dart is used to make the sleeves close fitting, pin this together before laying on the board.

Then hold the sleeve up and see if either the dart or long seam need to be changed. If the fold down the outside of the sleeve isn't absolutely smooth, release whatever pins are necessary and shift the seam edge of the under side of the sleeve ever so slightly until the fold is smooth.

It will be difficult to make a better choice for a frock for street and general daytime occasions than this, and plain or printed silk crêpe, georgette crêpe, chiffon, rayon voile, and crêpe Elizabeth are among the suitable materials.

Pattern No. 2822 strikes a new note of smartness in its sunburst hipline. Further chic is contributed in the flared fullness that dips the hem at the left side, made by the several rows of shirring. The flattering jabot frill does much towards breaking the width through the bodice, thus giving length to the figure, for slenderness is more than ever essential to smartness this season. The full length sleeves are finished at the wrists with a binding of a contrasting color, and the neck is finished to match. Fabrics in sun-tan shades in silk crêpe, voile, georgette crêpe, and crêpe de chine are interesting suggestions, for it is a model that will lend itself beautifully to any of the lovely fabrics the exclusive shops are showing.

The snug fitting hip line of pattern No. 2541 is a conspicuous feature of the design. The dress is unusually easy to cut and make, and should be a favorite design with many women for these warm summer days when there can hardly be too many thin frocks.

The waist and skirt are cut separately and joined under the narrow belt worn with it. The skirt is cut in two pieces, and a line of small perforations on the front shows just where the shirred panels are attached. As you can see, the dress can be finished with drop shoulders, or full length, one piece sections may be set on the drop shoulders, forming full length sleeves. These sleeves are gathered at the wrists and set into narrow, fitted bands. But the short sleeves, finished with a wrong side facing, will doubtless find favor with many.

The deep V shaped neck is bound and finished at the bottom with two small bows of grosgrain ribbon. You had better have the belt made of grosgrain ribbon, also, using one of the stunning buckles that are so popular at present to fasten it with.

Turn in the upper edge of the panels and shirr them across the top three times, putting the rows of fine gathering stitches three-eighths of an inch apart. After the shirring is done, hold the threads firmly and pull the gathers up tight. Lay them carefully, then let them out, and in putting on the skirt, pin at close intervals, spacing them evenly. Then the basting and stitching may be done. This shirred flounce or panel dips at the hemline, adding to the grace of the dress. The dress is hemmed at the bottom.

Crêpe de chine, georgette crêpe, crêpe Elizabeth, printed silk crêpe are among the many suitable materials for a dress of this kind.

A Dollar for Your Dreams

Have you ever had a dream which later came true? If you'll mail us an account of your prophetic dream we'll pay $1 for every dream published. Address "Dreams," Chicago Tribune.

Filling a Need.

I was needing money rather badly for a number of small things and, because of the pressure of big bills, saw no way of getting it. One night I dreamed that my father came and gave me a bill, directing me to use it for my own needs.

That afternoon my father walked into my living room, and after chatting inconsequentially for a few minutes, took out his bill fold and handed me a five dollar bill.

"This," he said, "is not to be put on any one thing, but on a lot of little things, whenever you want them and don't feel able to get them."

The whole episode so closely duplicated my dream that I was almost too dazed to thank him. R. C. S.

A Ghastly Vision.

Several years ago I dreamed I was standing down on the lake front in Chicago watching the boats, when suddenly there appeared on the deck of a small sailing vessel a woman I recognized as a dear friend. She, to my horror, leaped overboard and was drowned.

Two days later I received a letter from my mother in my home town, where this friend also resided, informing me that this woman had committed suicide by jumping into their cistern the same night on which I dreamed I saw her plunge into Lake Michigan. J. H.

The Younger Generation Speaks

A Letter from a Correspondent Blames Parents for Much of the Wildness of Youth, and Cautions the Latter to Avoid Gin Friendships

by Doris Blake

THE FOLLOWING letter has a double message, one for parents and one for young women who still nurse the impression that popularity waxes on gin. As it is written by one of the younger generation, obviously possessed of the ideals he claims for his contemporaries, his remarks on drinking might well be absorbed seriously by girls. The fact that he represents youth, clear eyed, observant, unwilling to accept parental dictation where there is neither precept nor example to inspire confidence, might set a few parents to thinking of what moral caricatures they must actually appear to be to their young. Anyway, we heartily recommend lending an ear to Virgil G.

"Perhaps the youth of today," he says, "is a little more unrestrained, a little less secretive, than the youth of yesterday, but isn't it all the evolutionary result of changing economic and social conditions? Before you folk of the older generation condemn us, remember, please, that we accepted conditions as we found them—as you prepared them for us. And if they are as bad as you would have us believe, then certainly we deserve sympathy and generosity rather than censure and condemnation. However, we don't want sympathy. We are amply capable of working out our own destiny, but we do wish you older folk would try to understand. It is hard, sometimes, to keep 'hitting the line' hard and squarely with nothing from the sidelines but razzing and scoffing.

Youth Has Its Code.

"It may be news to some of our older friends and relatives, but we have our ideals to which we aspire and our code by which we live. And I daresay, as a whole, we are truer to them than most former generations have been. Sometimes I wonder if older folk honestly believe us as bad as they claim, or if it is only a 'line' they are giving us. If they really believe it, I wonder why? Surely it can't be entirely attributed to the prejudice of old age for youth—and yet, it must be either that or plain stupidity. Look at the average young person—clear eyed, mentally alert, a physically sound young body vibrant with vim and vitality. Can you imagine such a person being guilty of half the excesses of which young people stand accused?

"Even if the conditions commonly painted were true, who would be to blame? The young folks? Guess again! I rather think we are the victims instead of the transgressors. It seems to me that those who lament the passing of the youth of old have a colossal nerve. If they could see as far as the ends of their noses they would realize that this is only an effect; if they were to go back to the cause they would find it to be in the changing calibre of American parentage.

"Scan the records of our divorce courts, or peep into the popular speakeasies—then have you the temerity to tell us we are beyond the pale, that we are disgracing both ourselves and our parents? Have you? Can you expect the building of staunch character where there is no authority? And can you expect authority in homes where parents change with every change of the moon? The sanctity of the American home is only a ghost of the past which hovers over the modern divorce mill. Where was once love and respect of child for parent there is now aloof tolerance—and who is to blame?

Parents Set the Pace.

"Evidently older persons are capable of intricate thought processes which I am unable to fathom, for I fail to see why it is so reprehensible for son or daughter to take hip flasks or a bottle of gin along on a whoopee party when it seems to be perfectly proper for Dad to take his business associates to a popular speakeasy, or for Mother to 'spike' the drinks at her fashionable bridge party. If parents are so averse to young folks drinking, why don't they stop it? Can't they realize that a large portion of the liquor comes out of the family cellar or from the family bootlegger, and that it is paid for from money out of Dad's own bank account?

"If moonlight auto rides with the attendant necking, drinking, etc., are so terrible, why not place a little restraint upon the use of the family car, which in all too many cases, furnishes the setting for the whoopee artists? If parents weren't so prone to shirk their responsibilities; if they weren't so eager to shift upon others the task of imparting the proper moral stamina to their offspring, they would not need to be so concerned about the 'goings on' of the much maligned younger generation.

"Too many hold the desire for pleasure nearest their hearts where the welfare of their children should be. Parentage is no bed of roses—we all know that—but unless a person is willing to make the rearing of his children the dominant issue of his life, he certainly has no right to bring any into the world. He should be willing to give them an even break by providing them with the proper background for their early growth and the proper guidance through their formative years. So few do this and yet so many blame the youngsters when the inevitable happens. In the final analysis, the majority of youthful tragedies are but the cumulative effect of years of misguided parental influence.

Gin Friendships.

"But the foregoing paragraphs, Miss Blake, are not what I intended to write to you. Nevertheless, I got started and I just had to 'get it off my chest.' What I wanted to say was that you certainly centered the bull's-eye in your warning to girls concerning gin friendships. Such popularity is fleeting, indeed, and the price is far more than any woman can afford to pay. Such popularity wanes as moral restraint wanes. That is the reason that practically every whoopee party has its full quota of liquor. It is the bait in the oldest game in the world.

"Girls shouldn't be misled by bantering, cajoling talk of good sportsmanship where liquor is concerned. It is all hokum—and they might as well recognize it for what it is. Men are everywhere pretty much the same, I think. They have higher ideals where women are concerned than is commonly suspected, and their judgment of women is as immutable as the flight of time. Accept a man's liquor and you immediately take a downward step in his scale of womanhood. He may be perfectly honest in his intentions, may have no ulterior motive, and yet he has an instinctive feeling that there is something wrong somewhere—that it is only a matter of time and persistent hammering until the dam of self-restraint cracks and is carried away before the surging flood of passion. It might be well for girls to remember that they are seldom, if ever, given the benefit of the doubt.

Comments that Condemn.

"If only girls could hear the comments which are passed when those who are parties to their gin friendships get together, I am sure there would be a decided slump in the bootlegging business. Perhaps a girl is mentioned who is commonly considered distant, frigid of disposition. Some one, 'You're all wrong, Buddy. That's all camouflage. She's easy. Just take a bottle of "mule" along and play up her vanity. You'd be surprised!' with a knowing smile.

"Perhaps a girl who is considered popular, a good sport, is mentioned. 'I understand that you are going to marry her, Jack,' volunteers one.

"'Listen, buddy, I'm not marrying anyone,' he answers.

"'But if you were?'

"'Well, if I were, I wouldn't be in the market for any demonstrator. I'd be in line for a new model fresh off the runway. D'you get me?' All of which is, of course, really angelic compared to most of the remarks which mark such discussions.

"I have traveled quite a bit. I have been among men in the industrial centers, in camps in various places, in boom oil towns, in the western cattle country, and everywhere I find it much the same. The girl who drinks and is free with her favors, 'the jazz baby,' 'the red hot Mama' is not the girl who is popular as true popularity goes. She may be rushed and 'partied,' but she inevitably finds, sooner or later, that if a girl wishes the love and respect of a man, the liquor route is the wrong thoroughfare to take in order to attain it."

Sally's Next Party Will See Buddy Rogers' Picture

By Sally Joy Brown.

NOW, girls and boys, for a "follow up" party of a kind we don't often get the chance to have!

A few weeks ago a hundred of us met the new young star, Charles [Buddy] Rogers in person, heard him play his "sax" and tell about his film experiences. I don't know how many asked about his next picture, so they could see it! Well, Balaban & Katz will have his next picture, called "River of Romance," at the Uptown theater on Aug. 2, a week from next Friday, and 100 of you will see the picture as my guests!

And you'll see Buddy Rogers at his best, I can promise you! In "River of Romance" he is the son of a peppery old southern gentleman, as first treated by Booth Tarkington in his great story "Magnolia," and is turned out of home because he declines to fight a duel he thinks is foolish. Furious with everybody, he plunges into the hard life of the old Mississippi River steamboats and river towns until he is known far and wide as the fighting daredevil Col. Blake. Then back he goes to his own home town.

But can't all the Buddy Rogers fans tell what's likely to happen then—especially when lovely Mary Brian is playing the rôle of the girl he loves, and spurns him to redeem his name? Of course you can and of course you want to see how it all comes out—so now I'll tell you how you can win an invitation.

I'll choose my guests by picking the letters that show their writers really want to come to this fine party. So that's all you have to do—show me you'll enjoy the party so much that I'll select you among the hundred to receive invitations. Whether you met Buddy Rogers or not makes no difference. If you did and can write an interesting letter you can see his picture now. If you weren't on the other party and write a winning letter, you'll come this time.

Remember, though, to include your name, street address, age and your grade in school and you must have your letters in the mail by Wednesday afternoon at the latest, because I choose the winners next Thursday morning, and the names of my guests will appear in next Sunday's TRIBUNE. So now start your letters to win invitations—and good luck to you!

Now here are the hundred lucky winners for our party at Ringling Brothers and Barnum and Bailey's circus next Thursday. I'm printing their names below. Also, I shall send a letter to each one so you'll get it by Tuesday. In this letter I'll tell you the plans for meeting, so if your name is in the list watch for your invitation and the letter telling you all about it.

What's in Your Birth Date? Numerology Tells

By Yvonne D

Were you or any friend of yours born on the third day of any month?

Then you or he belong to the intellectual world, and possess keen discrimination about ideas. You are capable of assuming large responsibilities, have very determined will, are a leader, a natural lecturer, and something of a prophet.

Your love nature is intense.

There is in you a tendency to scatter your forces too much, to live in unsettled conditions, and to waste energy by overdoing always.

Newspaper writing is one thing in which you could be successful, dentistry and dental surgery are others. Your name will show other possible talents and which is the strongest.

A person born on the third of any month is an "air" person, and his rythm in life is that of a bird—darting, soaring, quick-moving, not liking to stay long in one place or on one subject. He should be easily expressive and have an "air" name; a name with any other number vibration constricts and lessens in quality his activities.

His natural or "lucky" numbers are the "air" numbers—3, 6 and 9; or any number reducing to one of these when the digits are added together. Example: 48 is an "air" number because 4 plus 8 equals 12, and adding again 1 plus 2 equals 3.

On the "air" days of any month you and such a person feel most keen and alive. Consequently you and he should use these days for important work, and the days in between for more routine things when possible. The "air" days are the 3d, 6th, 9th, 12th, 15th, 18th, 21st, 24th and 27th of any month.

Lonely in Nature.

Were you or any one you know born on the fourth day of any month? See, then, if the following characteristics are not true of you or the other person:

You are somewhat enclosed. It is hard to get close enough to you to get your full confidence—you give it to practically no one. You are a person who must square yourself with life; no one can help you very much in this. It makes you somewhat lonely in nature and you like to be alone.

You are inclined not to like changes. And you should not play games of chance in life—to be successful whatever you do must be done thoroughly and squarely.

You are somewhat set in your opinions and ways and should try not to be too argumentative, too exacting or to require too much of others.

It is best for you to eat often rather than much at a time; and always something before going to bed.

You have a natural aversion to much activity and drudgery, but if forced into life's activity you can succeed in the highest degree.

You are a very sensitive person and definitely need praise and appreciation.

A person born on the fourth of any month is a "fire" person—that is, a person with an intense, up and down, clear-cut rhythm in life—and should have a "fire" first name, or one in numerical harmony with his birthday to allow his talents full expression.

Your natural or "lucky" numbers are the "fire" numbers: 2, 4 and 8, or any number reducing to one of these by the addition of its digits. Example: take 287. Adding the digits—2 plus 8 plus 7 equals 17. Adding again 1 plus 7 equals 8—a "fire" number.

Were you or any one you know born on the fifth day of any month?

If so you are naturally a gambler and speculator, one who enjoys taking chances and who has success to some extent in so doing. You are also very investigative, often psychic, and may even be mediumistic. Your nature is a dual one, and you change your environment often.

You are inclined to be somewhat set, opinionated, and persistent. You should cultivate moderation in this and in everything.

You like to eat well, and if negative you are perhaps also given to drinking a good deal. Your digestion is your weak spot, and you in particular should be careful never to eat when excited or disturbed, and should take plenty of time for your meals and masticate thoroughly. Vegetables and fruits should be a large part of your diet.

Among other talents are special ones for business along lines that interest you naturally, such as millinery, restaurants and the bakery business. Other talents will be shown in your name, as will also the talent that is strongest.

A person born on the 5th of any month is sympathetic, adaptable and has a distinct social charm.

His auspicious numbers are the "water" numbers—1, 5 and 7, or any number whose digits when added together reduce to one of these. For example take the No. 289. Adding 2 plus 8 plus 9 you have 19. Adding again 1 plus 9 you have 10. Again 1 plus 0 equals 1. This is therefore a fortunate number for a person born on the 5th of any month.

A Decided Extremist.

Were you or any one you know born on the sixth of any month? If so see if the following facts are not true of you or the other person:

Are you naturally nervous and highly tensed? Is not perseverance your highest vibration and stubbornness a lower expression of the same quality?

Do you not show yourself a reformer along philanthropic lines, and decidedly an extremist? Also, are you not a person who must have a home, companionship and harmony to be successful? The latter is certainly true if you are to live long. For you are inclined to borrow trouble, which habit is sometimes strong enough in action to seriously injure your health.

It is probably very difficult to convince you about anything. And you are mental, are you not, and intuitional, with active creative ability?

If you are born on the sixth of any month you can be very successful in business, especially with a first name harmonious numerically with your birthday number.

You Want to Be Shown.

Were you, or any one you know, born on the seventh of any month? See if the following is not descriptive of you or the other person:

A reasoning mind, with the heart or emotions predominating, however.

An erratic person, who wants things to be proven or shown. One who wishes always to pay for everything received and who usually overpays—with time or money or energy. Someone who is a strenuous worker and who should live to an old age. Who takes others' burdens upon himself and helps many others to accomplish their tasks. Who likes to do things himself rather than ask some one else to do them, even should the other be paid to do so.

Such a person is very reserved about his or her real emotions. He or she is very fond of out of doors and of the theater, and has a gift for handling people. He is not lucky in gambling—with time or money. He should therefore be careful not to be lead into taking chances by people born on the 14th, the 24th, or the 26th of any month; these latter are the reckless but lucky gamblers.

Physically such a person born on the seventh of a month suffers from nervous indigestion and acidity of the blood. He is a "water" person, and should have a "water" first name—that is, one harmonious numerically with his birthday.

A Good Intellect.

If you, or any child of yours, or some one you know, were born on the eighth of any month, the following will describe you or the other person to some extent:

A kindly autocrat, somewhat proud, with a good intellect. Nothing can be kept hidden from you, for so many people confide in you and you are so analytical as well as introspective, and so good at putting facts together, that without any particular wish or effort you usually come to know all about every one in contact with you.

Some of your gifts are the ability to be a good manager, to be a promoter, a leader; to be a person who "fathers" many people; to be a person, upon whom others like to lean, and who wields much influence wherever he may happen to be, for he knows how to handle large numbers of people and how to do it gracefully and profitably. You do well in the field of investments and speculation. As judges, as healers, and sometimes as public speakers and corporation lawyers you eight-born people function splendidly. Producing in one way or another is instinctive with you also.

If the first name is in a contrasting rhythm to the birthday you may have many ups and downs, and may have to struggle with material affairs. If, however the first name of an eight-born person is in harmony numerologically he is apt to be a very successful financier, though he usually has many others to care for.

To be really great you must guard against selfishness.

When there is proper harmony between name and birth the health is good.

As a "fire" person your rhythm in life is an intense one. Everything you do is done with vigor, with a clear-cut, up and down rhythm, and then left definitely for the next.

A Liking for the Dramatics.

Were you born on the ninth of any month? Was any one you know? Do you recognize in yourself or in the other person the following characteristics?

A high-strung, nervous nature, a liking for the dramatic and the emotional, and a love of color and rhythm. Usually much charm.

A nine birth person must do everything on a large scale, or be connected with projects that affect a large number of people. He is not interested in small plans. He wishes to do things for humanity as a whole, and is in consequence philanthropic by nature especially if his name shows spiritual development.

Such a person must make his living through some intellectual or artistic pursuit, although he has also ability for stock raising. Inspirational speaking is one of the gifts of this birth, also acting, musical expression and missionary work of some kind.

A person born on the ninth of any month is an "air" person, with an "air" rhythm, and if his first name should happen to be one inharmonious to his birthday, he will be electric and dominant, but not consistent.

A LONG WAY

by Thyra Samter Winslow

What's the Real Story About the Girl Who Rises from Nothing to Everything—Money, Fame, Husband and Children? Rella Stevens, in a Moment of Candor, Decided to Tell.

RELLA STEVENS put down a curiously carved jade and carnelian cigaret holder that a fat little Indian prince had once given her and touched an invisible flaw on one of her finger nails, that were always too pink and too long, the nails of a woman who could not possibly do anything practical.

"Yes," she said, "I guess I have come a long way."

We had had tea, and having tea with Rella Stevens is always pleasant, with an undertone of something more than the peace and beauty of the surroundings. Everything in that correct and formal living room of hers, the heavy brocaded curtains pulled early to close out the waning daylight, the soft, amber shaded lights, the shade that Rella's decorator knew to be the most becoming, the low bookshelves, the bowl of flowers, reflected Rella as I knew she wanted to be reflected—and as I knew her.

In that softly carpeted room, a shade too formal for absolute comfort, Rella Stevens was herself, as well as the way "her public" knew her. An elegant young matron. An allof star. Socially more important than it is necessary for stage and screen stars to be to achieve popularity. She had gone gracefully from ingénues to leads and then to stardom and then, still starring, to playing young matrons. And in each phase she had reflected her type in her home life.

She was the young matron now. Her screen enemies said that it took innumerable layers of gauze for the closeups to make Rella Stevens even look the young matron. Even so, surely that was nothing to worry about. Rella was planning to leave the screen, anyhow, at the first sign from her producers or from the fans that her popularity—which would mean her salary—was waning. She had everything—this delightful city place, a home in the country, a husband who was devoted to her, two charming little daughters.

THE children had just gone out. For five minutes they had been a pleasant interruption. Sleek, correct, with nice clear eyes, and a sense of fun in them. They had been accompanied by their French governess, clad, of course, in the correct costume for a French governess. The younger had curtsied correctly, but, at thirteen, the older had bowed a more grown up greeting. She was tall and slender, with some of the same calmness that Rella had and, I am sure, some of Rella's early beauty.

Rella was able to give them the best—a good town school in winter, all sorts of summer and winter sports. No wonder they were charming and Rella was proud of them. They had talked without affectation and then had gone out for their walk, leaving me alone with Rella again, to wonder what was under that calm and perfect exterior. What had life done to her? What had made her such a calm figurine? What did she think about? What about her husband, for instance?

I never cared very much for Hal Stevens, though I knew that Hal didn't care what any one thought of him. He was a tall, seemingly inarticulate person, with a narrow forehead and rather calculating blue eyes. He was always correct, nonchalant, a bit superior. Yet I thought I knew what Rella saw in him. Graceful in speech and in manner, he gives a very perfect interpretation of an adoring husband. He has never been much of a money maker, but he never seemed a parasite excepting that he basked pleasantly in Rella's success. He guarded her from overexertion, kept annoying visitors away, saw that she met the right people. He had been her manager for a long time, combining that with one of those indefinite jobs connected with the production end of the theater.

I knew, too, that he managed wisely, foregoing the delights of the stock market which he adored, and which had ruined so many other manager husbands. He and Rella got along very well together. Yes, lovely homes, trips abroad, two charming daughters, and an adoring husband. There was little left to wish for. Rella Stevens had come a long way.

I had met Rella Stevens fifteen years before, when she was just beginning her career. She was the ingénue with "Higher and Higher" then, and had made a very real impression on the critics. I had been sent to get a sugarplum of an interview. Rella Stevens and I had talked pleasantly enough, skimming not even the cream. I had been horribly frightened. It wasn't very often that I got a chance to interview an actress. I had a terrible fear that I wouldn't be able to think up things to say—wouldn't be able to put a good beginning nor ending to my story. I had just started to write, and there were so many others who had come to the city to be writers—who knew more about graceful phrases. What if I couldn't do an interview at all!

Rella Stevens had talked pretty platitudes and I had listened, being just one step too sophisticated for a notebook. And a wonderfully kind editor had printed it. I had predicted that Rella would get ahead. And Rella had got to be a star.

LATER I found that this had been her first interview, and that she had been frightened, too. The story she told me then was the story she always told—sketchy bits about youth in a small town and first struggles—the usual things.

In the years we had grown to be good friends, considering that we were both busy and miles apart in everything. We saw each other at teas given for celebrities, where one eats minute sandwiches and chatters about nothings to folks that one only sees at teas for famous people. We had luncheons, the two of us, occasionally, at the Ritz or the Plaza—Rella's treats, these luncheons!—and I had had dinner with her when she was alone at home or was having only a few friends in.

We had even gone on a couple of shopping trips together, at first on foot and later in a taxi, and then in the Stevens' correct limousine. Yes, I had got to know Rella quite well—knew what books she was reading, whom she was seeing, the plays she liked best—which means that I knew nothing about her, at all.

Now, at tea, for no reason at all, excepting perhaps that she wanted to talk about herself differently than she usually talked, wanted to come through the bisque doll personality she had built up so carefully through the years—Rella stopped pulling on the invisible imperfection at her finger nail's edge and told me the side of her story that she never told. Not that Rella's story is remarkable. It isn't any more dramatic than the story of any one of a dozen stars you might pick out, if you could get underneath the masks they have so carefully made. But this is behind Rella Stevens' mask, and it interested me because of that—and because of the other masks I can't get back of.

"Funny," Rella had mused, "the things we say for publication. Success. Hard Work. O, of course, long hours, that sort of thing. But then, I might have worked just as hard and had no success at all. With me it's been undoubtedly more than fifty per cent luck, though I'd never say that for publication. Beauty? In a way, though every day, waiting on me in shops I see girls lovelier than I ever was. And for years before I went on the stage I was beautiful and no one ever paid any attention. Wouldn't they laugh, the public, if I told them that a funny, little fat woman with piggy eyes, a tall woman whose nose was too sharp, and half a dozen love letters were, in a way, the cause of my success—anyhow the start of it. Yet, if it hadn't been for them——"

I WISH you could visualize Rella Stevens as she looked when she talked to me. It would make it easier for you to see her as she must have looked in the days she told me about. She has a lovely dignity, wide, calm eyes, a mouth that is both sensuous and sad, with curious quirks at the corners that mean tragedy—and humor. Her nose is almost straight, with an interesting, though almost imperceptible, dip to it, and her cheek bones are high, giving a foreign piquancy to her face. She is almost too slender and there is about her a stillness that people like—almost a sense as if she were waiting for something.

Rella had been born in Tenth street, Jasonville, Missouri. I can see Tenth street now, as she told me about it. Not even important enough for a name. The cottages in Tenth street were dilapidated, with occassionally a new flat-roof bungalow to help out. The street was dusty and unpaved its whole length. The more modern of the inhabitants had taken down their picket fences, but some of the fences were still up, so that the street looked like a mouth with part of the teeth gone. In summer it didn't look at all bad, with grass in the best yards and flowers in some and bright red swings in a few as an added color note. Some of the lawns were unkempt and brown. Rella's was one of these.

Rella never remembered her father. He died when she was a little girl—went out completely, having neither debts nor assets unless you count a partly paid for cottage, an inexperienced widow and a daughter who seemed all legs and eyes—a tadpole of a child.

Mrs. Hoffman did the one thing a widow in Jasonville, Mo., could do decently. She "took in boarders." The house hadn't been planned for boarders, and Mrs. Hoffman never was an especially good housekeeper. Mrs. Hoffman was an earnest, worried little woman—Rella must have inherited her calmness from her father. The meals were only so-so, vegetables with too much water left in the dish, inexpensive cuts of meat not browned properly, gravy too thin or lumpy.

There was generally a couple in the front room upstairs and the couple usually quarreled pretty steadily. Perhaps the uninteresting room had something to do with it. The other roomers were usually men who worked in "the yards" or in one of the neighboring factories.

When the three rooms upstairs were all occupied, which was infrequent, Rella and her mother occupied the couch, which opened up, in the front room downstairs, the "parlor." When a room upstairs was empty they took that. Rella was forever transferring her few possessions, her hair ribbons, her little handkerchiefs, her decent white cotton panties, from the bureau of an upstairs room to the drawer in the combination golden oak bookcases and writing desk which was the parlor's pièce de résistance.

RELLA wasn't unhappy. She had no special ambitions. She went to school, two books caught in a strap, joining the crowd who had called for her as they passed. After school she helped her mother, peeled potatoes, ran errands. On Saturday mornings, a towel around her head, she helped with the cleaning. At night she played out on the corner, where you could go barefooted as long a the weather was warm and step, unappetizingly, on beetles that scuttled in the dust, "hook a ride" on the wagons of good natured grocery boys and call derisively at decent pedestrians.

Rella didn't go to high school. None of "the crowd" was going. She was needed at home. She "helped mama." There were several extra "mealers" now, a couple of young clerks, a man who had once had a little store of his own. Rella—her name was Rosie then, waited on table but ignored the boarders, socially, preferring to go with the boys and girls of the neighborhood. Most of the crowd worked. Small commercial positions or in factories. Rella and her best friend, Sadie Morris, "helped at home." You can see Rella, slim, undernourished, pretty, waiting on table or going walking, arm in arm, with "the girls," a calm, quiet, unnoticed little girl.

It wasn't pleasant—not having nice things, but Rella never worried about it—not as much as you'd think. She had blue spells, like all girls, and wondered what life was all about—if anythink was worth while. On the whole, though, outside of the fact that she hoped she wouldn't be an old maid, she didn't look ahead.

Rella was eighteen when she met Harry Brocker. He had come to Jasonville to work at his uncle's, the Brocker Shoe company. Rella saw him lounging in front of the store—Jasonville merchants were always in front of their stores, warm days. She liked him immediately. Good looking. Young. A pleasant, friendly face. To outsiders he was like the dozens of other clerks who leaned against the other store fronts all along the main street of Jasonville. To Rella he was a a new man—romance. She—and Sadie, brought in for moral support—went into the store, all giggles, one Saturday afternoon and, waiting till Harry could serve them, tried on shoes. The next Saturday night they sauntered by the store, again and again, until he couldn't help but speak. The stores were all open in Jasonville on Saturday nights. In twos and threes, you weaved back and forth in the crowd until you found the member of the opposite sex you were hunting for and then you had sodas at the Busy Bee or the Palace.

A week later Rella "became acquainted" with Harry through the official introduction of Sadie's cousin, Bob, who had met him, all unsuspecting the importance of the event, in Abbott's pool hall. From then on, Harry did quite as much of the courting as Rella did. She must have been quite lovely at eighteen, with her wide calm eyes, her high cheek bones. Even her cheap clothes, far fancier than they should have been—could not have hidden her beauty.

The Brockers were far higher socially than Rella. Mrs. Brocker went to afternoon card clubs, and Brocker belonged to the various commercial clubs of the town. Harry roomed at his uncle's, which give him the same social standing as his uncle's family.

Rella was too awed by Harry's position actually to expect marriage. She had flirted with him, first, "for the fun of it" and because he was new. When she found she really was in love with him she didn't dare further the idea of marriage for fear she'd lose him altogether. She'd never been in love before and was happy just knowing Harry, didn't want "anything to happen." When she found that Harry actually wanted matrimony she was too happy to be articulate, went around in a haze of happiness.

THEY were married three months after they "became acquainted." Then "went housekeeping" in a brand new bungalow where the old Sheaffer farm had been, and which was, of course, called Sheaffer Addition. For a honeymoon they went to see Harry's people, who lived on a farm near Jasonville and were awfully nice to Rella, not knowing about social positions in Jasonville.

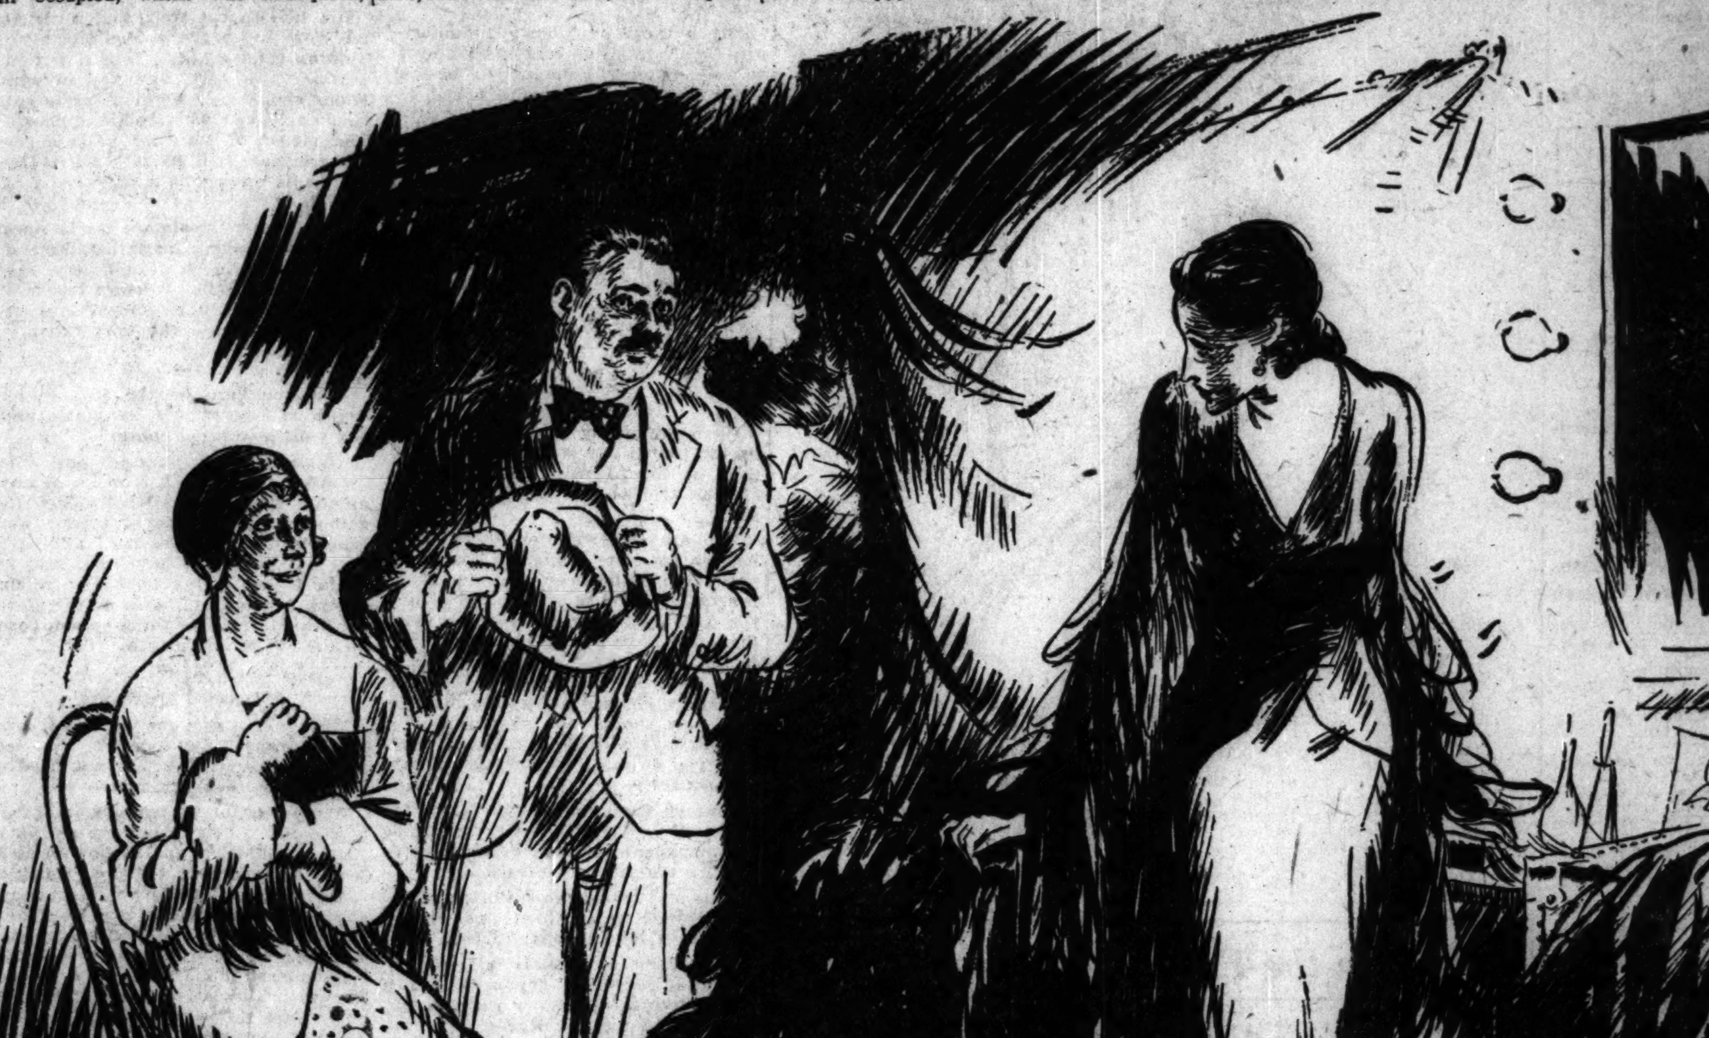
Harry's parents helped furnish the bungalow as their wedding gift and Mrs. Hoffman bought a set of china with those invisible savings that old people always seem to have, and that represenhted, now, hundreds of badly cooked meals. Harry's uncle and aunt, who disapproved of the match, for Harry could have had any girl in Jasonville, gave them a phonograph.

The bungalow was white with green trimmings. Rella loved housekeeping there. She was just about to make a problem of whether or not she should ask her mother to occupy the extra bedroom and give up taking in boarders when Mrs. Hoffman solved the problem by dying. Harry sold the Tenth street house and put the money into the new bungalow.

Rella settled down, liked settling down. She missed her mother a lot, but she had Harry—had everything. It was wonderful! The new house. The tapestry covered suite in the living room, with a big chair for Harry. The new dining room and bedroom sets. The dishes stood proudly in the kitchen cabinet. There were new pots and pans. It was no work at all keeping the little place shining.

The real social set of Jasonville did not pay any attention to Rella. She hadn't expected them to. Harry could have gone with them, all right, if he had got acquainted before he met Rella. Harry, as a single young man, would have been interesting. Married, he was of no conequence. They went with some of Rell's old friends, with the little married couples in Shaeffer Addition.

Rōsie Brocker at nineteen—at twenty, at twenty-one. There was very little difference. Those years flew by. She was happy. She asked for nothing more out of life than this—hadn't expected nearly as much. Cooking breakfast for Harry. Cleaning up the little house, clad in a bungalow apron. Baking cookies, spicy and sweet, putting them into the crock and musing on how long it would be before Harry ate up every one.



"Awfully embarrassed, both of them."

IN the afternoon Rella went out with the girls, joining a neighborhood bridge club. Sometimes it got written up in the Jasonville Gazette:

> A group of young matrons who call themselves the Shaeffer Addition Bridge club, met on Tuesday with Mrs. Harry Brocker in her pretty bungalow. After an afternoon of bridge, where the prizes were won by Mrs. E. C. Clemons and Mrs. Dunk Ankwilder, a dainty two-course repast was served.

Just think, getting into the Jasonville Gazette!

Dinners were always ready when Harry got home. Good dinners, too. Afterwards, they would go in town to the movies—the Airdrome in summer or the Star when the weather grew colder. Sometimes the Romillers went along, too.

The Romillers lived across the street. Fred Romiller was silent, awkward, angular. Margie Romiller was a cute little thing with lots of light hair and a giggle. Her upturned nose was perhaps too large for beauty, her mouth a bit too lax, her eyes a trifle too small, but her skin was fresh and she wore the sort of clothes that showed to to best advantage her well rounded little figure, which was only starting to become plump. Rella thought of her as her best friend because they were neighbors and because she saw her every day. She knew Harry like the Romillers, too.

Rella was still very much in love with Harry. She knew, now, that Harry wasn't the way she had imagined when she first saw him. She knew he was lazy, not specially ambitious, a bit slow. And she was still grateful to him, because he had taken her away from Tenth street, had made possible the new cottage, her pleasant life, and because he loved her in return.

Sometimes she did get tired of dishwashing, of working in the minute garden, of scrubbing the kitchen, but, after all, it was what she wanted out of life. She wanted babies, too, and was a little surprised when there were not any. Even that didn't worry her a great deal. Life stretched out ahead pleasantly. She had no other ambitions nor dreams. She wanted things to go on like this, always.

Harry changed a little. He grew restless. His uncle set him to work writing the advertisements for the Brocker Shoe company. He liked that and labored a long while over them, getting ideas for headlines from the advertisements in the city newspapers.

He sat in the dining room at night, biting at his pencil while he made up sentences about shoes. It was easy to write shoe advertisements, for the shoe manufacturers sent appropriate cuts and suggestions. Harry liked seeing his advertisements in the Sunday Jasonville Gazette. He pasted them in a big portfolio which he kept on his closet shelf. One time he even did some advertisements for the Cash and Carry grocery, which stood next to the Brocker Shoe company. These, too, were pasted into his book.

"I bet I could be a big advertising man if I put my mind to it," said Harry, but as nothing never came of his advertising ability it is possible he never quite did put his mind to the subject.

What did that matter to Rella? Harry had three raises. He might even get an interest in the company. Things were pretty nice just as they were. If she was careful with the household money there was always a little left each week. They were saving for a car. The Romillers had a car already.

RELLA was twenty-two.

"Where does the time go?" she said to Margie Romiller, though she wasn't eager to find out. She read the new magazines, stretched out in the hammock. She played bridge with "the girls," liked all the neighbors but the long nosed gossip who lived next door. O, well, there had to be one like that in every neighborhood! A nice life. She didn't think there was any more to life than that. In the movie magazines, which were becoming popular, and in the theatrical sections of the publication there were stories of stars, and as Rella read the stories she thought what a grand life the stars led, but it never occurred to her to have any definite ambitions. She was not even envious.. These things were too far away. She was the wife of Harry Brocker of Shaeffer Addition, Jasonville.

The Romillers went away for a vacation and she missed them, was glad when they were back again, though she wondered just a little why Harry liked to go over there so much.

Then she found out! It was the long-nosed neighbor who told her. Later she forgot the name of the woman, but she always remembered her face, a sort of witch's face with teeth and eyes that gleamed.

"You better watch your husband and Miz Romiller," she advised. "He and she was over to Plum City on Saturday. Some folks I know seen 'em."

"If you are going to believe an old gossip like that you'll have a lot to do," he told her. "First thing you know, I won't be able to call my soul my own. That dirty old gossip! Of course I like Margie Romiller—but I don't come to you with stories about you and Fred, do I? Yet the other night it seemed to me his arm was around you all evening."

"His arm was at the back of the sofa," said Rella, pleased because Harry was jealous. If your husband is jealous it means he loves you, doesn't it?

There were other signs, later, that Rella couldn't ignore, though she tried dreadfully hard to be "a good sport."

"Of course, Harry loves me," he told herself, "I'm just imagining things. If I get suspicious I'll spoil everything."

She tried not to get suspicious. She laughed at things that seemed too important to laugh at. She tried to feel there wasn't anything serious underneath Harry's foolishness. If it were serious she would have to do something! She wanted to feel that everything was all right. These pleasant things, this little cottage, the quiet of Auburn street. Surely they were real, just as Harry's loyalty to her must be real, too. She tried all of the futile things she had read about to "get her husband interested." She dressed up for him, tried to make him jealous. Surely, in the end, everything would be all right.

THEN, one evening, there was something she couldn't close her eyes to. She had gone downstairs quietly and gone into the living room, hadn't turned on the lights. She thought Harry had gone over to Romillers. And Margie and Harry were on the front porch talking. And she heard. You can't ignore things you hear, yourself. Why—Harry, her boy—Harry and Margie were in love!

The next day she went next door—told the woman with the long nose her troubles. After all, that woman already knew how things were, had hinted a dozen times. Now she was more than consoling.

"I told you it had been going on for a long while," she said. "Everybody knows it but you. I'd put a stop to it, you bet, if it was my husband."

"I'll tell you something else," the woman volunteered. "They write love letters. I heard them talk. They're pasted in some sort of an advertising book. I guess you know the book they mean."

Rella went home and got the book down off the shelf. Why not? Harry had been suspicious of her, had once read a letter an old friend had written to her, had teased her about it until tears came to her eyes.

The woman was wrong! There were no letters in the book! She looked at the pages, those advertisements of shoes Harry had taken such pride in. Then, just as she was going to put the big book back on the shelf it opened almost by itself to the last page. Curious, that last page. It seemed sort of stuck together—the pages and the cover. She went into the kitchen and got a sharp knife.

The letters were there! Things were far worse than she had expected. Tender love letters. Harry had never written her love letters. They had never been separated—she never knew that he could write them. Why, they wanted to get married and she—she and Fred—stood in the way. Margie Romiller with a nose a little too big and little eyes and a mouth always wet and sulky looking. Why, Margie and Harry had been seeing each other for months, had been writing letters whenever there was the least excuse for writing.

The thing that came over Rella was rage, but it was more than rage, a combination of pride and hate and rage and love, all in one. All the time that she had been washing dishes and planning little things for Harry—making desserts—and cookies to fill the cookie jar—he and Margie——

Had they made fun of her, she wondered. Had they laughed behind her back when they kissed? She hadn't known what was going on! Hadn't known anything, at all! She put the letters back, pasted the pages together, put the book on the shelf again.

She couldn't stay here, now. That was certain. She didn't know what to do. What could she do? She was twenty-two. And she had been married four years—and Harry, whom she loved, loved another woman.

SHE mopped at her eyes until they were red. Then she packed her suitcase, the little new suitcase she had bought last summer for an outing. Why, it had been an outing with the Romillers in the Romillers' car—and Margie and Harry had been together in the back seat most of the time. Had they held hands? Had they kissed? Had they laughed about her? She remembered, now, a hundred little things.

She crammed her clothes into the bag. She looked over the little house. What could she take with her? There were so few things she owned. A picture of her mother taken when she was a young girl. What curly bangs they wore in those days! She started taking some little things Harry had given her for Christmas—a chain, a funny little pin. She put these back in her dresser drawer. Margie could have them. She didn't want anything at all. She was glad she had a little money left out of the household fund.

She jammed on her hat, grabbed her coat, slammed the door after her. It was the only thing to do. She never knew until years later that they said in Jasonville that she had eloped with a traveling man. She never specially cared.

She caught a train to Chicago because she had always wanted to go there. She had an awful day in a day coach, sobbing most of the way. She asked a cabman about a rooming house and found a terrible, dingy little room on the north side. She hadn't much money.

She got a job there as a waitress and kept it for six months, hating it, herself, everything, but almost afraid to look further. She didn't know she was too pretty to be a waitress.

Through one of her regular customers she got her first chance to go on the stage. A funny little vaudeville house had a "tab" show. They used six girls and one of them was ill, he told her.

She learned the easy numbers almost automatically, managed to hook herself into the costumes that were a size too small.

Then she went into a pépertoire company—summer stock—and then, got a "bit" with a legitimate show in Chicago.

Hal Stevens was the company manager. Whether he recognized Rella's possibilities and looked for an easier life for himself, or whether her beauty attracted him, or whether he really fell in love with her no one ever knew. Hal never talked about things. He got in touch with Jasonville and found out that Harry Brocker was already getting a divorce.

Hal and Rella were married. Rella was lonely, wanted some one to depend on. The men she had met had all worried or bored her. Now she had got over some of the pain of losing Harry, liked Hal awfully well. Under Hal's management Rella started getting ahead almost immediately. Hal knew who people were, how to reach them. They went to New York as soon as they could raise the money. Hal changed Rella's name—and got her a job in a real show. Luckily, she always looked younger than she really was.

A better part each season, now. Stock in summer for experience. Studying all winter, in spare time. Skillful publicity. A chance at the movies. Rella had a good movie face, and Hal knew how to take advantage of opportunities.

WHEN Rella started out in Chicago, luck guided her. Even going on the stage had been an accident. Under Hal's direction she was skillfully managed. An ambition she never knew she possessed woke up. If, sometimes, Hal made it necessary for Rella to use her feminine attractions—why not? Would not she have had to do that—more—if she were alone? Hall saw to it that she worked hard—and that, from the first she had an aura of success about her.

By the time the daughters were born she was already on the road to fame, taking off a few months when they arrived didn't hurt her progress. Hal wanted the children as much as she did. Just at first, it had seemed to her that perhaps he wanted them so that she couldn't get away. Of course that seemed silly, now.

It all seemed to happed naturally enough, somehow, when it was happening—those first small parts, the good parts that followed, the skillful publicity, the luxury that the good parts brought, the children, the sleek, sure success and position.

They went ahead, almost automatically, from a room in a Forty-fifth street rooming house, smelling of mildew and of poor cooking, to a theatrical hotel in the same neighborhood. A little better, but still cheap. A room with a torn carpet and a bras bed. Then, a furnished apartment in the theatrical district with a terrible little kitchenette behind a door, but with a bedroom separate from the living room. Almost a home.

They had a fairly decent hotel after that, a suite of rooms and breakfast in bed. Next, an apartment of their own. A real kitchen and bath, bedroom and living room apartment, though a bit more simple than the ornate lobby had

NEW YORK.—[Special Correspondence.]—Mothers may differ in the extent of their desires about having their small daughters grow up into beauties. Some mothers are sincere in their expression about not wishing their girl or girls to be too devastatingly attractive. Other mothers carry the wish to have their female progeny eligible for beauty honors to an extent that is not good for the growing girl. Silly parents, the latter, rearing girls to believe that beauty will be all that's asked of them through life.

Happily, the great majority of mothers are content if their girls reach maturity with wholesome, strong bodies and minds, and if they are as attractive as attention to the obvious rules of hygiene and health permits. However, the modern mother doesn't sit by and leave the pursuit of health and the ordinary items of physical attractiveness to the direction of schools and occasional medical consultations. She realizes that there are certain items in connection with her child's looks for which she has the responsibility, as in the matter of teeth, the condition of the child's skin, or of her hair or her eyes, and so on. These are simple duties that go with mothering and child rearing. As regards teeth, mothers deserve a great deal of credit for the advance of recent years. They watch the first teeth, the early permanents, and corrective work is done, when needed, at once.

Good Posture Important.

The zeal with which straight hair on tiny heads is brushed and tended until a riot of curls is provoked indicates this phase of parental pride is not neglected, either. But there is one very, very important factor in early child-building that mothers neglect, and woefully. I don't know whether they expect schools to do the corrective work for them, or whether they are blindly ignorant of the importance of good body mechanics as it is represented by posture.

The children's bureau of the U. S. department of labor is eager to have more parental coöperation on this phase of child development. Dr. Armin Klein, director of the posture clinic of the Massachusetts General hospital, says in a booklet issued by the labor department that poor posture is far more prevalent than good posture. It is present in children of the lower school grades and is not outgrown in later life. In fact, he says defects of posture noted in small children of school age are duplicated in college students, and vice versa.

Posture at present, Dr. Klein adds, is not taught correctly in the family, at school nor by the medical profession as a whole, as is shown by the results of physical examinations at schools and colleges. The program of the future is to train the individual from early life so as to prevent many of the present ailments which are due to poor posture. From the viewpoint of thinking persons, the teaching of good posture should be looked upon as preventive medicine.

Aside from the purely physical disadvantages of poor posture, mental alertness and vigor is impossible in its company, too. For example, if the head is held equipoised above the shoulders so that there is no undue strain on the muscles of the neck, the blood will flow easily and freely to the brain and this makes for mental alertness and vigor.

But we will not stress so much the health advantages of fine posture. We are talking to mothers of growing girls and we want them to try to realize what they can do in the matter of looks for their girls. By the time our present crop of youngsters is grown this matter of posture is going to have the same importance in womanly attractiveness as a mouth of good white teeth has now.

Three Types of Figures.

In the illustrations prepared by Dr. Klein you will see that girl types are broadly speaking, three—the stocky, the thin and the intermediate. The charts beneath each type carry lessons for a watchful mother's benefit. She can readily tell into which class her girl falls. For her further information, let it be known she can get free upon application to the children's bureau a concise and instructive booklet called "Posture Clinics" which includes valuable information on corrective exercise work for the poor postured child.

A sidelight is thrown on the different types in the information Dr. Klein gives. The broad types, he says, usually are fitted anatomically for slow, heavy, laborious work; the thin type for work requiring speed or agility; the intermediate type for either kind of work according to whether their physical characteristics incline more to one group or the other.

Each type calls for a slightly different order of corrective mechanics. The broad type whose poor posture fault is leaning backward only in the upper spine has to be taught to mobilize the chest and keep it raised in order to straighten the spine.

The problem with the thin type is greater. The long, thin, willowy bodies are easily contorted into almost grotesque shapes. Some persons of this type seem to be laboring under the effects of a compressing load at the upper end of the spine. In corrective work, the pelvis has to be rolled backward, and the upper chest must be balanced over the pelvis and lower back, which requires patience and diligence.

The broad type includes the heavy looking, broad backed persons with large skeletons. The neck is short and chunky. The torso is broad and relatively short. Flexibility is lacking in this sturdily built spine. The extremities are large and broad. This is the type that tends to the obese.

Luck and Good Luck.

A lucky stone has
A hole clear through—
If I find one
I shall give it to you.

If you give me
Your lucky stone,
I'll find a clover
For you to own.

I'll find you a clover,
Leaves green and four,
And you hang the lucky stone
Over my door.

A FRIEND IN NEED
by Sally Joy Brown

I want to be the medium through which the friends in deed and the friends in need may be brought together. It may be you have some discarded article which has not outgrown its usefulness that will make some less fortunate one happy and you would gladly give it if you knew how to go about it. Write to me and I shall be happy to be of service to you. Please write on one side of the paper.

When information is wanted by mail a stamped, addressed envelope should accompany the request. Please do not send article to The Tribune, but write for the address of the applicant and send direct.

Offers a Bible.

"I have a Bible, large print, which I would be glad to pass on to some one who would like to have it. MRS. L. C."

Are you interested in securing this Bible? If so, I shall be happy to have you write me for it. Please do not telephone.

Wants Mineral Specimens.

"I am preparing to study mineralogy and wonder if some of your readers have mineral specimens or crystals they could give me. They would be of great help to me. A. C."

If your interests run along similar lines you may have these helpful specimens for our correspondent about to take up this scientific study. He will be most grateful for any material you are able to send.

For Invalids.

"I have several pairs of crutches and one or two canes you might be able to dispose of among your invalid readers. I shall be glad to give them to any one you suggest. MRS. J. C."

If you are temporarily disabled because of an injured foot or ankle, I am sure you would find these crutches or canes most efficient aids in getting about. Write me if you can make use of them; please do not telephone.

Boys Need Clothes.

"Mr. B. is blind and there are five small children in the family. Mrs. B. does not speak much English, but she is quick to learn and adopt American customs. They are badly in need of a mattress for a double bed, and shirts, shoes and trousers for the little Mexican boys aged 10, 8, and 6. If any of your readers have any of these articles the B.'s would be so grateful. "C. K."

You mothers of growing boys could help this family with the clothing they need so badly. Won't you keep them in mind when you are disposing of the next batch of outgrown garments?

For Feet That Sweat and Give Off Offensive Odors

—A—Says Moone's Emerald Oil Must Give Complete Satisfaction or Money Back.

Don't wait another day. You can remove the disagreeable odors instantly with a few drops of this powerful penetrating Antiseptic Oil.

Druggists everywhere who know say that Emerald Oil is the speediest and most effective preparation they have ever handled for tired, aching, perspiring, ill-smelling feet.

The very minute that this wonderful healing oil touches these sore, tender, aching feet, you will get relief. It's simply amazing how quickly it acts, and no matter what others may tell you, there's nothing just as good.

Moone's Emerald Oil is guaranteed to end your foot troubles or money back.

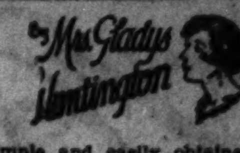
First Aid Knowledge Is Valuable

Mothers Will Find It Is Essential to Know Something About Emergency Treatment of the Common Accidents That Befall Children.



by Mrs Gladys Huntington Bevans

SOMEHOW the baby got hold of the knife and cut off the end of his thumb. In spite of her panic, his mother, so she told me, managed to get to the telephone to call up the doctor.

"Do so and so," he said, "and whatever you do," he almost shouted this, "SAVE THE PIECE!"

And now when you look at that thumb, you would scarcely know the boy had had an accident.

"So," continued his mother, "whatever else you may do in an emergency of that kind, save the piece."

Everybody who has the care of children—parents, teacher, nurses—should have a general knowledge of what to do in the sort of accidents that so often happen to children.

To be sure, when the injury is serious, or we're in doubt, we call a doctor. But there are times when you can't get a doctor, and if you have a working knowledge of first aid you can attend to minor hurts efficiently and take care of major ones intelligently until the doctor comes.

As far as taking care of small injuries is concerned, there's nothing like first hand practice. The woman who is a mother or who has had much experience in taking care of babies and children learns many things which are not found in any book. If she nurses her own children through slight and serious illnesses under the direction of a good physician, she can become very skilful. This knowledge and the actual technic that she acquires in caring for bumps, cuts, bruises, fevers from various causes and infections, is much of it the kind of thing that can't be described, but needs actual first hand experience to be understood.

A Bit Hard on First Child.

It's too bad mothers have to practice on their first child. Still, if we make it our business to know a few fundamental things, we can quickly develop an ability to meet emergencies with intelligence. Also, we can learn lots from observing others.

"He ran a rusty nail deep into his foot and I cleaned it with iodine and then put a big close bandage on it—and O, what a time we had as a result! I should have left it open to the air." We note such remarks. Every caution can't get into a book or into general advice. A booklet containing detailed directions of the little things many experienced mothers know would be invaluable to younger mothers—I'd like to compile one, myself, on how to take care of the little accidents that happen to a busy baby or a runabout child, or an older one, if I had time. You know the sort of thing we learn in the course of time, like: How to take care of a bump or bruise with no skin broken; how to take care of a bruise when the skin is broken; how and when to use iodine on a cut; whether and how to bandage after it; how to keep open an infected spot; what to do when you can't get an injury thoroughly clean.

First Aid Literature.

A number of sources open to the general public for this sort of information were written to by this department and the following seemed most simple and easily obtainable for the average person:

"What to Do in Case of Accident"—Miscellaneous Publication 21, U. S. Public Health Service, Washington, D. C. Booklet of 68 pages of good general directions.

"First Aid to the Injured"—Abridged text book of the American Red Cross, Washington, D. C. Book of 229 pages. 60c without postage.

"First Aid to the Injured"—Folder of six short pages. Sent free by the American National Red Cross, Washington, D. C.

"Health Hints for Vacationists"—Bulletin of July 31, 1928. Obtainable from Chicago School of Sanitary Instruction, City Hall, Chicago, Ill.

Publications similar to these referred to are obtainable from practically all state and city health departments.

The LONG NIGHT

by FRANK R. ADAMS

In Retrospect:

PROF. ERIC DAHLSTROM, amateur explorer, is aboard the steamship Rangefinder on a research expedition in the Arctic. A radio message relayed to the New York Chronicle reveals that the vessel has been wrecked and is drifting in the ice, with the explorer, a companion, George Cavendish, and Capt. Anderson as sole survivors. Stephen Hard, war correspondent and fiction writer, is calling on Mike Levens, managing editor of the Chronicle, when the message is received. Levens asks Hard to find Dahlstrom's daughter, Eve, and to apprise her of the explorer's situation. Eve, a beauty who had accompanied and assisted her father on all his voyages until this last disastrous one, is attending a dancing party at the home of Mrs. Herbert Beverleigh. She has just refused a proposal by the wealthy Leroy Collier, one of numerous suitors, when Hard arrives. A born stoic, Eve receives the fateful news with characteristic coolness. Mistaking her demeanor for heartlessness, Hard storms out of the house vowing to speed relief to Dahlstrom without her assistance. Eve offers to marry Collier if he will finance a relief expedition.

INSTALLMENT II.

Visitors from the Sky.

FROM a hastily established base at Dalrymple rock in Baffin bay there had cruised every day for three days a huge tri-motor monoplane. The word day is used only in the twenty-four hour sense, because at that season of the year there was no sunlight and would not be until March of the following year. The plane returned, however, every twenty hours to refuel and allow the pilot to get a little sleep. The pilot was a young Swede, Karl Lindbloom, who had been engaged in the rescue of the Nobile polar party and was as familiar with arctic flying conditions as any living man. He happened to be in New York, lecturing, at the time The Chronicle relief expedition was hastily organized, and Mike Levens hired him on the spot. His reputation was such that his participation in the work had distinct news value. He was an old friend of Stephen Hard. The two had met as fellow correspondents from their then neutral countries as far back as 1915. Steve knew something of flying technique, and was able to relieve Lindbloom at the controls at intervals when the plane was in the air.

But mostly Steve spent his time scanning the monotonous ice field for some sign of the Rangefinder. Even flying low, as they were able to, because of absolute absence of fog at that season and in that locality, there was not much chance of sighting the ice locked ship unless there were some light signal. Whether the survivors of the wreck would be able to establish a beacon or not was the question upon which the only possibility of rescue hung.

Therefore, when, on the third slow tour of the possible district, Stephen sighted a finger of light that pointed with puny steadfastness toward the infinity of the universe he knew that in all probability their search was over. But their own problem was only begun. To land an airplane on the jagged, rough ice was a practical impossibility. Amundsen had done it in 1925, but that was in daylight and he had been able to find a small stretch of open water. Nothing of the sort existed now and, even if it had, there was no possibility of seeing it. Therefore, the carefully rehearsed plan they had agreed upon was carried out.

First the plane circled low and slowly around the beam of light. Through an open port Steve dropped carefully packed and padded bundles of supplies, clothing, and a small amount of solidified oil and alcohol fuel. Each bundle contained some of everything so that if any were irretrievably lost the total amount of supplies would be decreased in proportionate ratio, but there would still be nothing entirely missing. Directly over the ship he dropped a small parachute carrying a load of stimulants, more sensitive radio parts, and other breakable supplies. This load carried a large electric flashlight, with the lamp turned on, by which they could observe its flight toward the ground and determine roughly the velocity and direction of the wind. From that experimental parachute they discovered that the air current was practically a negligible factor. Lindbloom then pointed the nose of the plane upward and began to climb, still circling. Steve laid out a large parachute, which had been kept absolutely dry in a vacuum package, and strapped it to his shoulders. There was not even a good-by. That was understood; that and the fact that Lindbloom was to steer by magnetic air compass an absolutely direct and presumably retraceable course back to the base.

STEVE stepped through the port and let go. An absorbed but invisible audience of phantom heroes of the air gave a thunderous silent cheer as he did the thing that made him eligible to their brotherhood. Perhaps it was even their swift and skilful fingers that opened the crackling silken folds of Steve's parachute and guided it into a bank of drifted snow. He detached himself from his parachute so as not to be dragged across the rough ice, and looked around for the light. It stood, cold and lonely, within two hundred yards of his landing place. Steve looked at it thoughtfully for a few moments until his eyes became accustomed to the focus and he could make out dimly the blurred outlines of a snow banked ship. He noted also that there was a faint glow aft, a radiance such as might come from an uncurtained window.

Arctic hurricanes had blown away the masts of the schooner, and only a pair of ice silvered stumps indicated where the spars had stood. The rigging had been mostly cut free, but a few shreds clung to the stay bolts and hung like starched cobwebs over the sides. In the stiff, silent moonlight the ship stood high above the ice. Two floes closing together had squeezed her up like a seed out of a lemon. This was in accordance with the architectural design of all arctic ships since Nansen's Fram. The hull is built, not to resist pressure, but to evade it.

The Rangefinder, for it was presumable that Steve had come to the end of his quest and that the vessel before him was the wreck of Eric Dahlstrom's ship, was canted considerably to one side. This was evidenced chiefly by the slant of the forlorn stumps.

The pillar of light, however, stood straight enough from a point just forward of a cabin transom that was placed amidships. The pediment of that column of cold radiance Steve could see as he approached was a huge searchlight which apparently drew its power from storage batteries, as there was no hum of a motor to indicate an electric generator.

THE sides of the ship were banked so steeply with snow and ice that Steve could not reach the deck until he had walked nearly all the way around it and found a stairway which had been cut in the frozen slope. These steps were bottomed with short sections of wooden crating, similar to trench duck boards, to prevent slipping.

As he set foot on the frozen deck the boards cracked under his weight like protesting pistol shots. Steve expected all hands to turn out to repel marauders, but nothing happened. There was no living thing in sight. He noticed from where he stood that the lens of the huge lamp was covered by an extra piece of clear glass, taped on, to prevent the formation of ice on the refracting surface.

Around the lamp were footholds cut in the ice and also protected by cratings in the bottom. The tracks led aft to a companion hatchway. It was through that entrance that the other and fainter light came. It struck Steve as strange that illumination should emanate from a stairway that led to the interior of the ship, the entrance to which would certainly be closed under severe weather conditions.

Steve made his way aft. Animal instinct warned him that the lack of any sound save of his own creating was unnatural, dangerous. The only weapon he possessed was a sheath knife which Mike Levens had given him. It was a sort of Boy Scout multi-purpose tool, with a trick hollow handle and top that unscrewed, for a supply of dry matches. Steve smiled at the boyishness of the man whose fancy had been so intrigued by the ingeniousness of the toy that he had bought it and made Steve promise to carry it. Mike had Steve's name engraved on it in long shadow letters that could be read only by holding the knife blade nearly horizontal with a light and looking across it. Steve loosened it in its sheath, and kept his hand on the handle. His feeling of uneasiness was not diminished when he stood at the head of the companionway and noticed that neither the top battens nor the lower doors were closed. He could look down into the silent, illuminated cabin.

Surely no one would go away leaving the doors open in that temperature and certainly no one would stay there without attempting to shut out the arctic night. There seemed no plausible explanation.

“Hello!” he hailed, half way down the steps.

There was no answer. At the doorway of the cabin he stood a moment to survey the scene. A ship's lamp was fixed in the ceiling. Directly below it was a heavy table, surrounded by swivel chairs, all fastened to the floor, the familiar furniture of a dining salon.

The dark end of the room was centrally occupied by the slanting butt of one of the masts. Forward of that was a closed door which presumably led to the galley. Other doors, obviously entrances to private cabins, were all closed. Against one wall was a radio receiving set of the battery type.

The cabin was not even faintly warmer than the atmosphere outside. The yellow radiance of the oil lamp and the flickering glow of the stove might just as well have been something painted on canvas.

STEVE'S attention focused on two presumably human figures which occupied the center of the room. They were both somewhat past middle age. One of them, sitting in a swivel chair, leaned forward, his head pillowed on his arms on the heavy table. Across from him, on the floor, the other lay face downward.

On the table was a dictaphone or recording phonograph. There was a conical wax cylinder in place and the mechanism was running noiselessly. The needle was about midway of the cylinder. Obviously some one or something had started it not ten minutes before. Who?

Steve looked around apprehensively. Surely there was something there besides the bodies of these two men. The lighted lamp, the stove, the beacon up on deck all pointed to the presence of human beings recently, and yet the attitudes of the men and the fact that the doors stood open argued the presence of some sinister force.

Steve went to the man on the floor, who immediately struck him. Quite alive, he was obviously feeble. Steve lifted him to a chair.

“Easy there,” counseled Steve.

The voice awakened the dazed faculties of the half frozen man. He opened his eyes and his feeble resistance ceased. In his glance was bewilderment at seeing a strange face. Then his expression changed to one of horror. He seemed to be looking past Steve's shoulder.

“Look out!” he whispered. “Look out!”

Steve started to turn, but as he did so something crashed down on his head, something that brought instantaneous and black unconsciousness.

Into the white beam of the searchlight on deck floated a gigantic silver moth. It might have been a wisp of cloud. Later it reappeared at a lower level and drifted slowly across the light lane once more. This time it had a wide, bulging belly, a blunt, inquisitive nose, and a long lazy tail. It hovered speculatively over the ice-banked ship, then began to spew rope lines that unrolled to the ice.

Down one of these ropes came a man, sailor fashion. He landed not on the deck of the Rangefinder, but a little to starboard. He found the cut-in stairs and climbed on board, where he made his line fast to the bulwarks, repeating the operation as rapidly as possible with several other lines.

The dirigible overhead tugged first at one side and then at the other as the wind currents swung it gently from port to starboard. The sailor looked doubtfully at the mooring lines, apparently decided there was nothing he could do to improve the situation, and signalled to his commanding officer by tugging at a light, free line that had been tied around his waist, diver fashion.

Almost immediately a basket, supported by ropes, came down through a trapdoor in the bottom of one of the substructure cabins of the airship. From this basket, when it was guided to rest on the ice a little to starboard of the schooner—the light wind held the dirigible to that side—stepped a man and a woman.

“It's strange no one is on deck to receive us,” said the girl. “I'm afraid there is something wrong.”

“Hadn't we better wait until the others come down,” suggested the man.

“No,” Eve decided. “Besides we may be able to stay only a short time. Capt. Sachs was very doubtful about this calm holding for long. Look at that.”

One of the mooring lines was suddenly snapped taut with a crack like a whiplash.

She led the way aft. “Let me go first, Roy, but follow close behind. There is something——” Eve was down the cleated companionway stairs by this time and stood at the open doorway to the cabin. “O!” Her hand suddenly went to her heart as she stood there, half swaying.

Collier caught her and eased her gently to a seat on the steps before he himself really looked to see what it was that caused her exclamation of dismay.

THERE were three men in the cabin. Two, rather elderly, sprawled across the table, and a younger one half lay on the floor and half hung on a revolving chair. From the head of one of the seated gentlemen was flowing a thin thread of blood that froze instantly as it touched the cold top of the table, making an irregular red blot.

On the table in front of this man was a dictaphone or what remained of one. It had apparently been badly smashed up by a fall or by the blows of a hammer or some similar heavy weapon.

In the hand of the man on the floor was a clumsy, improvised crutch, held upside down.

There was something in the pallor of the fantastical group that made the scene unreal and shocking. In the lamplight the faces were waxlike. The freezing blood had reflecting crystals in it. The shadows at the far end of the cabin were so sinister, revolting, one scarcely dared look in that direction.

Even Collier, who was not a squeamish man, was a little frightened.

“Jemand” proved to be Herbert Beverleigh, a member of the expedition probably because his wife had insisted upon his going when she herself was barred. He came down to the cabin and immediately took the situation in hand. He got Eve inside, shut the doors, and put fuel on the fire.

By that time two other members of the dirigible party had arrived, one John Gael whom people sometimes addressed as “Cap” and sometimes as “Jock.” The last person to enter was a thin, busted-in-the-middle sort of chap whose name was Christophe Brinker, nationality Danish, education Oxford, and employed by a Swedish newspaper printed in Stockholm.

“Better be careful how we move these chappies,” suggested the Dane. “Looks a bit like a disgusting example of foul play of some sort.”

But Eve had recovered herself by this time and had gone to the side of the man with the wound in his head.

“Father!” she exclaimed. “Speak to me. This is Eve. He's not dead. Where is the doctor?”

“I don't think he came down,” replied Christophe Brinker.

WHILE he was away the newspaper man busied himself with making a sketch of the interior of the cabin, together with a floor plan on which he indicated the position of every object and figure.

“Seems to be broken, what?”

Beverleigh examined it also. “Quite completely smashed, I should say. Here's his box of records under the table and here's a loose one on the floor.”

He picked up the cylinder and examined it. “This has been through the machine.”

Christophe Brinker took it from him. “This was all by itself, you say, lying loose on the floor?”

“Yes.”

“Probably it is one he just made,” Beverleigh said. “I'd put it with the others. It might be something he'd want to have sent to the Smithsonian institution.”

Dr. Waters murmured a word of sympathy and took the wrist she had been holding. After a moment he shook his head.

“I'm sorry, but we are too late. He is gone.”

Eve took it silently, stoically, as she would.

The doctor examined Steve.

“This man is alive,” he said. “Has been badly manhandled or beaten up, but I think he will come out of it unless his skull is fractured. Apparently he is a cripple.”

DR. WATERS was already at the side of the other older man, the one across the table from Eric Dahlstrom.

“This must be Judge Cavendish,” suggested Roy Collier.

“Yes, that's the judge,” corroborated Mr. Beverleigh. “I remember once I was hauled up before him on a suit to void title to the holdings of the Acme Drop Forging company.”

“Hush!” admonished the physician. “This man is alive, too, but very feeble. His hands are cold and his heart action has almost stopped. He needs warmth and a stimulant right away. A little warm water with a few drops of liquor.”

There was an unobtrusive rapping on the door. Gael opened it.

“Bitte, Herr Collier!”

Leroy turned. “What is it?”

The German mechanic said the wind was coming up and the pilot of the airship insisted they get under way again before he was torn loose from his improvised anchorage. The dirigible was too low for safety.

“All right, we'll hurry,” Beverleigh agreed.

“We can't hurry,” the doctor told them. “This man cannot be moved for days perhaps.” He indicated Judge Cavendish.

“What can we do?” Roy demanded.

“Alone?”

“You didn't think I'd go, did you?” asked Eve, dry eyed. “The doctor and I can handle everything.”

“But Eve,” protested Roy, “think of me and——”

She stopped him with a glance. He knew that look.

“I should like to ask permission to send back my father's scientific records. Now that his body is dead, they are his life.” She indicated the box of wax cylinders that had been used on the phonograph. “There are probably other cases of these stored somewhere about, but if we do not have time to find them I wish that these might go anyway.”

“Of course,” agreed Roy impatiently. Women were hell to deal with. This woman in particular. “Maussler,” he spoke to the mechanic in German, “send this box aboard. And signal the pilot to hold on as long as he dares. Some of us will be up in a few minutes.”

“Now,” said Roy, “you gentlemen can settle among yourselves who is to go and who is to stay.”

“Of course, I'll stay,” said Mr. Beverleigh.

“This is my first vacation in two years, and I'm in no rush. For the first time in my life I'm going to go to bed early and sleep all night, besides, Lily would never forgive me if I left Eve alone here with Dr. Waters.”

“Well, of all the damn fool ideas!”

“I'm staying,” suggested Roy. “I will protect my fiancée from this horrible menace.”

“What you're thinking about,” declared Beverleigh with a trace of bitterness, “is who will protect your Dr Waters from Eve?”

MAUSSLER, the mechanic, returned.

“Der Herr Hauptmann Sachs abgegangan hat!”

“Und dass Schiff, auch,” the mechanic repeated and then added, “Naturlich.”

More questions elicited the information that an increasing squall outside had whipped the dirigible about so violently that one of the lines had broken and the pilot and captain had cut the others and risen promptly to a higher altitude to escape complete disaster.

“He'll hang around in this neighborhood and drop down again as soon as the wind lets up,” Roy explained confidently.

“At any rate, it settles the problem as to who stays and who goes,” Beverleigh pointed out. “Apparently we all stay. I guess we'd better get about the business of making this place habitable in case we have to remain overnight.”

“Do you mean six months?” queried Christophe Brinker, startled.

“No, I was only thinking of twenty-four hours.”

“From the looks of the supplies twenty-four hours will seem like six months,” contributed John Gael.

During the interlude of discussion and the discovery that they were marooned on the Rangefinder the doctor had managed to restore a fluttering pulse to Judge Cavendish, and under his direction Leroy and Mr. Beverleigh were now lifting Stephen Hard to the table where they could get a better look at his injuries.

“Who is that?” asked Beverleigh. “The captain, I suppose?”

“You know this crocked up chappie, what?” Brinker came forward.

Roy set his chin unpleasantly. “Yes, I know him. Look here, dear.” He addressed Eve, who was doing pitiful, futile things for her father. “This is that newspaper chap who was so insulting that night he brought you word of your father.”

“Is it?” For a second, resentment flared in Eve's eyes. But it died down and apathy swiftly succeeded it. “He got here first, then.” She mused on that a moment. “He might have saved my father.”

“What do you mean? What are you saying?” Roy asked.

“It looks jolly well obvious to me,” declared the journalist. “These two Johnnies quarreled about something and knocked each other out, what? I told you the crutch was upside down, didn't I? Isn't that the way a cripple uses his prop for a weapon? I don't know, I'm asking you.”

“By George, it is,” assented Leroy. “Why, the dirty——”

He dropped Stephen's head against the table top and began looking around as if for a weapon.

“Here, here,” reminded the doctor, “you're helping me, you know, not acting as an instrument of vengeance. After all, he's a wounded man and is entitled to a little care, no matter what you may think of his character. Guilt is not assumed until proven, and we have to give criminals the benefit of the doubt.” Dr. Waters had been bandaging up Steve's head as he talked. “Now if you fellows will help me put these two men to bed, I think a little warmth and rest will bring them both around inside of a few hours.”

JUDGE CAVENDISH and Stephen were put in staterooms, and the body of Eric Dahlstrom was carried forward to another part of the ship.

“The airship will be back for us pretty soon and we'll have to collect all your father's records,” Collier told Eve.

“I think most of them were in the case we sent.”

“O, but there'll be other records. The ship's log, for instance,” contributed John Gael, who had once been a sailor. “It belongs in the charthouse, on deck for'ard, but in this case it is more likely to be in the captain's cabin.”

Eve looked up. “It will probably be right here in this saloon or in one of the adjacent staterooms. North of the circle the officers all camp together to save having extra stoves.”

“It would take a day or two to go all the way through this,” he explained, “but I suppose we can get an idea of what happened by looking at the last few entries. Here's one only a month back that sounds like the beginning of trouble. Listen! ‘Sept. 28, latitude 82 degrees 41 minutes, longitude 58 degrees 10 minutes. Increasing winds N. N. E. Cloudy except for a few minutes just at noon. Probably our last shot at the sun for six months. Were unable to pick up stores cached at Cape Britannia, as piled-up floe ice made landing impossible at that point. May be able to come back for them under more favorable conditions.

“‘Sept. 29. No sextant reading. Increasing N. N. E. winds. Colder. Ice forming on deck. All hands working all day to keep the gear from freezing. Seaman Svenjold overboard in attempt to release a jib block. Lost.

“‘Sept. 30. Forced by on-shore winds to beat up in general N. N. W'ly direction. Colder but water still open. Dangerous ice all about, but so far we have been able to dodge in and out of navigable lanes.

“‘Oct. 1. Struck submerged iceberg. Sinking. Both masts cracked at butts, chopped them away. Two more men disappeared. No one noticed exactly when or how. Everybody now at auxiliary hand pumps.

“‘Oct. 3. Ice floes have closed in on us and we are stationary at last. This is better than not knowing what we are to hit next.

“‘Oct. 4. No more pumping for a while. The ice floes have closed together and are holding us up.

“‘Oct. 5. Pinched by lateral pressure, the Rangefinder has been lifted nearly four feet straight up, thanks to Nansen's “Fram” hull design. Place where the hull is cracked clearly visible. Practically no possibility of repair except in drydock. Crew discouraged and talking a good deal among themselves.

“‘Oct. 6. Kept all hands busy for twelve hours banking the sides of the ship in case we are frozen in for the winter. If we're not we'll hit the bottom at the first thaw. Parks died last night.

“‘OCT. 7. Boatswain Knudson, speaking for the men, asked me to abandon ship and make for the nearest land, probably Commodore Peary's base at Grant Land, before we drifted farther away. I refused on the ground that we had only one dog team and that there was little chance of finding solid ice all the way. Besides, neither Prof. Dahlstrom nor Judge Cavendish would be apt to stand the journey across the ice.

“‘Oct. 8. Bill Dayne, mate, announced that Knudson and some of the men are expressing dissatisfaction. They have sounded him out on the proposition of going with them if I refuse. Naturally they would need a navigating officer to lay out their course. I asked him what he replied and he said he had not listened further, as their proposition was practically mutiny.

“‘Oct. 9. I think Dayne lied. He has been talking to the men a good deal lately. Today I came upon him conversing with Knudson out on deck, not exactly the place for a tete-a-tete in this kind of weather, and when I approached Dayne was saying, “I knew a man with a name like yours in Portsmouth. He was a carpenter.” Of course, they had been talking about something else when I came along.

“‘Oct. 10. Something is wrong on board the ship or else something is wrong with me. They say men go crazy during the long night in the arctic. I seem to be suspicious of everyone. Perhaps I was not designed by nature to be the commander of men. I feel an undercurrent of rebellion.

“‘OCT. 11. The men abandoned the ship yesterday, leaving only Dr. Dahlstrom, Judge Cavendish and myself. At six bells of the second watch when I was in my cabin some one rapped at my door. When I stepped outside my arms were pinioned by Knudson and Hengels, one of the engine room crew. Most of the other men were in the main saloon, where they had no business to be, and among them Mate Dayne, held by a couple of men. He was making an awful fuss about it and I advised him to quiet down until we heard an explanation. Knudson told me the men were going to abandon the ship and try to reach land over the ice. They asked me again to lead them. I refused. Knudson then said, “What if we force you to go with us?” I replied that if we ever did gain the land I would charge them with mutiny before the first court I could reach. Knudson said they would then be forced to leave me behind and asked Mate Dayne the same question. Dayne finally agreed to go as a prisoner and not to prefer charges if they reached civilization. As he said that he winked at me as if he meant to imply he was only making promises under stress of threats. I feel convinced this was put on to deceive me and save Dayne's face. And yet until yesterday I could have sworn he was a good sailor and a Godfearing man.

“‘They are gone, all of them. They took with them all the supplies they could load on the one dog sled and on themselves. They have left us with very little—short rations for three or four weeks. Dayne offered to take with him and deliver to the proper authorities all of Prof. Dahlstrom's scientific data and the supply of radium, but I refused. Dayne assured me he would send a relief expedition out for us, but I know that is not possible. They do not dare let me be rescued if they value their own necks and liberty.

“‘Oct. 12. Have managed to figure our position and tonight will endeavor to send it out by wireless. I am not a very good operator, but I know the code well enough to send slowly. Wish poor George Parks was here.

“‘Oct. 13. Godawful blizzard. I think I should prefer being on board the Rangefinder to being out in the open with the men. I am sincerely sorry for the poor devils.

“‘Oct. 14. Considerable excitement. Last night we were listening to an excellent radio program from WBZ when the announcer cut in with a message for us. They had received our call of day before yesterday and had been broadcasting for us ever since to say they were going to try to reach us by airplane from Dalrymple Rock. Mr. Dahlstrom was quite hopeful until I pointed out that they could not possibly see us from the air until after next March when the sun comes up.

“‘Oct. 15. More radio news. Another expedition will be organized at Spitzbergen to attempt our rescue by dirigible. This scheme is being fostered by Miss Eve Dahlstrom. She was with us on our last trip and knows something about conditions up here inside the circle. Even I am beginning to share Mr. Dahlstrom's hopes.

“‘Oct. 16. Blizzard has gone down a little. Spent the day rigging up our big searchlight on deck to use as a signal for the relief parties. We've only got just about enough storage current to run the big lamp forty-eight hours. Unless we hear by radio when the hopoff happens we'll have to guess when to start.

“‘OCT. 18. Saw a polar bear today and went after him with a rifle, but he got away. Bear steak would help out our menu. Stefansson says it is quite simple to live off the country up here.

“‘Oct. 19. Absolute calm today. The only noise is the occasional booming of the ice. The air feels threatening. Barometer steady enough. I think I can understand how the strain of continuous night sometimes drives men to murder'.”

The various members of the rescue party had gathered around the table to listen to the reading. When Gael stopped Leroy demanded, “What next!”

“Nothing. That's all the captain wrote,” Gael explained.

“But there must be more. That was over a week ago and the captain isn't here to tell us what happened during that time.”

Gael considered thoughtfully. “Apparently whatever it was that happened since this last entry must have happened to Capt. Anderson. And it must have been serious, too, because no good sailor would neglect his log while he was able to be about.”

“There isn't a trace of his body anywhere,” contributed Brinker.

“I'm going up on deck,” announced Gael, “to see if there are any signs of the dirigible coming back. Perhaps we can signal the captain to leave us some supplies.”

In a few minutes he returned.

“It has started to snow,” he said, “and the searchlight isn't as bright as it was. I don't believe you could see it over ten feet in this kind of weather.”

“If we do, the dirigible won't be able to find us,” pointed out Collier.

“True,” Beverleigh admitted, “but unless we save a little juice to signal with when it is clearer they'll never be able to find us at all.”

“And then where'll we be?” Brinker asked.

INSTALLMENT I.

On a bright little beach pushed into the coast of Brittany like a primrose in a girl's brown hair, for the rockweed was a burnt sienna with the tide far out, Mr. Pomeroy Penfold sat in a folding canvas chair studying a Taride road map of France. It was late afternoon of a golden day in August. The bay was glazed in a flat calm, over which a scattered fleet of sardine boats crept in what looked to Mr. Penfold a futile fashion.

Mr. Penfold was a widower, not far to windward of fifty years, who looked and felt and acted as if at forty he had found in his travels a fountain of youth that had arrested the advance of age at that meridian. His late consort had left him nearly the whole of a large fortune, inherited not many years before her death, and since that time Mr. Penfold had indulged his love for luxurious traveling. He had always been a sort of social register, both domestic and foreign, and he loved to visit the houses of rich friends and relatives, at home and abroad. Because of his cheerful, harmless but enlivening gossip and other amiable qualities, he was invariably welcome, never a nuisance or a bore. Of later years he had developed and improved the large acquaintanceship of his youth with many excellent connections, and he kept a sort of card index system for recording births, marriages, deaths, divorces, and affairs, which latter he treated with indulgence, as an ancient Greek poet might record the amours of Olympians.

He was at this moment passing a fortnight at the chateau of a French portrait painter of distinction who, when on a visit to New York just before the war, had married Mr. Penfold's youngest sister. Alicia Penfold had been at that time a very lovely girl of twenty-four, and the marriage had been approved by Mr. Penfold because the Comte de Rennec, though a widower of thirty-eight with a little daughter of ten, was of the old Breton noblesse, of acknowledged talent, in every way creditable, charming, and manly, and in possession of his ancestral home with a small income that, supplemented by his earnings and his American wife's patrimony, was sufficient for them to live in modest elegance.

Mr. Penfold was a welcome guest at the Chateau de Rennec for obvious reasons, these supplemented by the fact that his sister and her two young children were his natural heirs. Mr. Penfold always brought them presents. He brought also a present for Maia de Rennec, his step-niece, if there is any such thing. Maia, now twenty, was the daughter by the count's first marriage to a Russian girl for whom some sort of Lithuanian noble hereditaire or boyar blood was claimed. She had the light and warmth of a tongue of ruddy flame, but one that is carefully trimmed and tended, a bright candle in a sconce. Except for the first few years of lessons with an English governess, until she was thirteen, Maia had been educated in England, at Malvern, and she had spent the last year in America. She had also visited at Newport a family friend who had married a United States naval officer, Capt. Clive Pierpont, who had rescued his wife from a curious and desperate situation on Belle Isle en Mer. Maia had returned in May and gone to London to be presented at the court of St. James, no difficult achievement, thanks to her father's old and distinguished Breton family and the efforts of Mr. Penfold, who was intimately acquainted with the marchioness of Shields, by whom Maia was presented.

Maia came down to the little beach as Mr. Penfold was pleasantly engaged in drafting an itinerary for his motoring tour after leaving the chateau. The Taride road map was spread across his knees, with a notebook and stylo, and beside him within easy reach a bulky address book that contained his continental visiting list, friends and relatives resident abroad and with whom he maintained social contact. Mr. Penfold was a faithful correspondent, and in the back of his visiting book there was a neatly written appendix of chronological order in which the names were marked by a star, a W, a cross, a B, and occasionally a D, these symbols indicating births, weddings, deaths, and that qualified tragedy which is divorce. To these anniversaries, barring the last, Mr. Penfold had never been known to fail in sending a gift, a letter, or a cable. He was in this respect as infallible as the tax office, but his reminders more pleasant.

Maia's golden eyes rested on the bulge in the canvas chair with affection as she came down the steep path. She had reason to feel warmly toward this courtesy uncle who was no blood kinsman of hers. Mr. Penfold had given her a very beautiful sapphire pendant for a presentation present. It had belonged to his wife, whose only apparent passion had been for precious gems, and who had indulged the impulse to purchase them from time to time.

Most men of leisure have their hobbies, whether yachts or horses or golf or antiques or travel. Mr. Penfold's sociable nature craved visiting. The whole routine of his life was directed toward this end. He had turned over his New York house in Fifty-sixth street to a maiden sister and her companion, and when in that city he visited there.

Besides this penchant for visiting and epicurean good living, Mr. Penfold had another fad that none of his intimate friends or family knew anything about. Like many men of genial but elegant bonhomie, his nature had its secret places, and in one of these Mr. Penfold kept hidden a knowledge of precious gems that was probably unexcelled by any of the professional specialists who dealt in them. This study, based on an innate perception of beauty, whether in natural objects or those of art, had been started partly through induction from his late wife's passion for jewels, partly through an inherited New England thrift that could not tolerate the idea of Mrs. Penfold's being cheated in the indulging of her costly craving.

At this moment, reclining placidly in his beach chair, Mr. Penfold was wearing in a pocket of the comfortable silk elastic belt about his middle three beautiful diamonds averaging ten carats each, of first water and masterly brilliant cutting. They would have been a fair bargain enough, even for speculation, but Mr. Penfold happened to know of a New York dealer who was trying to assemble a necklace of precisely such stones and having some difficulty in matching them.

Thus preoccupied, he failed to discover the close presence of Maia until her bright bathing peignoir flashed within his arc of vision. Looking round then he saw that she was in swimming suit and sandals and carried a shrimp net and a little pail. The peignoir was merely hung over one shoulder, and revealed long, round, shapely limbs by this time tanned a rich, old ivory color and a body as strong and supple as that of a sea otter.

Furnishing a Man's Apartment

The Jacobean Period Seems Particularly Adapted to a Masculine Apartment.

DECORATIONS and furnishings for a man's room need not be clumsy and uninteresting, as is so often the case, Certain types of period furniture have a distinctly masculine air and may be used to advantage in creating a distinguished and comfortable room for a man. Furniture which is too large in scale, and pieces upholstered in cheap imitations should be avoided. Upholstered furniture can be of good lines and reasonable size and still be luxuriously comfortable. Materials, even though inexpensive, may be authentic in texture, design and scale, instead of being poor copies of leather, tapestry, velvet or other goods. Jacobean furniture, with its atmosphere of sturdiness, lends itself admirably to the furnishing of a man's rooms.

Today we are showing illustrations and a floor plan of the living room and bedroom in a man's apartment. Both rooms are done in Jacobean style. Even though the rooms are not large, measuring 10 to 13 feet, they comfortably accommodate all the necessary pieces of furniture, as is shown on the floor plan figure 1.

The living room serves, also, as a library, and occasionally as a dining room. Built-in bookcases against the walls at each side of a triple casement window supply an element of color and homelikeness that cannot be introduced by any other means, and the many books help to make the room livable and interesting.

In one corner of the room near the book shelves is a comfortable reading chair, shown in figure 2. This is upholstered in vermilion leather, and though not definitely Jacobean in design, it is plain enough to fit in admirably with this type of furniture. If a less expensive upholstery is desired, the chair might be done in bronze-brown mohair. Beside the chair is a small oak stool, with sturdy understrappings, used as an end table. This holds smoking accessories and other small conveniences at will. An iron reading lamp, with a bronze finish, is fitted with a parchment shade, decorated with fine vertical lines and bound with red leather.

Against one of the longer wall spaces is a flat topped desk of oak, with Florentine leather appointments. A bronze lamp with a metal painted shade is deep blue on the outside and decorated with a formal border in dull gold and bronze. A Jacobean desk chair has its seat and back panel covered with leather and finished with dull brass nails. Another chair matching this stands beside the desk.

Balancing the desk arrangement is a comfortable sofa done in deep blue rep, to match the background of the window draperies. This is piped with vermilion glazed chintz. Extra cushions are of the printed linen. At one end, beside a door leading into the bedroom, is a bronze finished bridge or reading lamp, with an adjustable bracket and convenient tray. The lamp shade is of parchment, decorated with an old English street scene.

At the other end of the sofa is a gate-leg table of oak. It serves here as an end table, but may be opened out to use for dining purposes when occasion demands. The desk chair and its companion, with the two carved oak chairs from the bedroom, make a comfortable seating arrangement when a meal is served in the room.

The fourth wall here is taken up by three doors, stained oak and waxed to an antique finish. These give the appearance of a beautifully paneled wall to the end of the room. One door leads out into the hallway. The other two open back to disclose a tiny and miraculously complete kitchenette, usually referred to, in this instance, as "the bar." Deep plum colored carpeting covers the floor in this library-living room. A few hunting prints in narrow red frames lend interest to those walls which are not devoted to books and paneled doors.

Opening directly from one corner of the living room into the bedroom is a door matching the one which leads into the hallway. Walls, woodwork, and glass curtains in the bedroom match those in the living room. The most important piece of furniture here is the bed itself, shown in figure 3. It is a fine four poster of oak, its massive posts supporting a solid wooden top. The headboard is pleasingly paneled. Colorfully blocked linen in a Jacobean design makes draperies for the bed as well as for the windows. The background of this linen is soft green. Heavy plain green linen makes the bed cover, which is boxed to fit in a well tailored fashion and finished with a narrow fringe repeating the colors in the printed linen.

A small oak night table stands at one side of the head of the bed. This holds a pewter two branch candlestick lamp, with a painted metal shade, as well as small accessories. Against the wall, at the other side of the bed, is a good oak chest of drawers of Jacobean design, used as a bureau. Mirrors were not generally in use during the Jacobean period. However, to meet modern requirements a mirror is hung above the chest of drawers. A frame of simple and substantial looking oak molding brings the mirror into harmony with the rest of the furniture. Flanking the bureau is a pair of side chairs with carved oak backs and cane seats.

Completing the furnishings is a comfortable armchair, standing in a corner, at one side of the window group, and a threefold carved oak screen standing in the other corner. The chair is accompanied by a little table holding an ox-blood pottery lamp, with a parchment shade. Dark, soft green rugs are used on the floor.

Next week we will describe the same apartment, furnished in a different manner, to meet the requirements of a business woman.

$5 Apiece for Bright Sayings

Little Helen, aged 4, came into her father's office, and because she was a friendly little child, the patients waiting for the busy doctor engaged her in conversation.

"And have you any little sisters or brothers?" asked one.

"No," responded Helen, "I am all."

Knowing that there was an older brother, I said:

"Why, Helen, I thought you had a big, grown up brother, George."

"O, yes," responded Helen with a sigh, "he used to be my brother, but another girl married him."

A LONG WAY - - By Thyra Samter Winslow

seemed to indicate. Then came a hotel that had "class" to it. Then, really nice things, and the babies and a place in the country and a house in town.

IT was all simple enough. Usual, even. A smooth rise, once you started.

"So you see," said Rella, "there's no story in it, after all—at least not after I left Jasonville, and I don't tell that. I guess what I do tell—about getting ahead—is more truthful than most stories of success, at that. I don't exactly stress how much Hal has done for me. Why should I? Most stars don't get ahead altogether on histrionic ability, if it comes to that. I couldn't have got any place without Hal, I know that. The things he taught me, about the stage, about books—people—everything. I try to give him as much credit as I can. More than he wants. Yet, if it hadn't been for—for that woman next door—for things there——"

"What became of Jasonville?" I asked, a bit hesitant. "Did—did Harry and Margie get married?"

"Yes," Rella answered. "I saw them, about five years ago. They came back to my dressing room to see me. Awfully embarrassed, both of them. Harry was rather a pudgy little man. I had visualised him taller. He didn't know what to say to me, nor I to him, for that matter. I was dreadfully worried that night about a contract, and about one of the children. A hundred little things of my own were in my head and somehow I couldn't get Harry inside.

"I couldn't quite take it in. There was Harry—a funny little man who didn't know what to do in a stage dressing room. A bit overcome, I'm afraid, by what I had become. By Rella Stevens. I don't think he quite found Rose Brocker, at all. He muttered some things about being happy about my success. I didn't have the heart to tell him about the love letters. He'll probably never know about those. Somehow, from something he said, I believe he thinks I would have succeeded if I had stuck with him—would have come out at the same place in the end. He felt a bit cheated out of things because he wasn't here with me instead of Hal. Funny.

"And Margie. She was fat and had eyes like a little pig. I'd never noticed how small they were before, Dowdy, and with an oily little smile. A bit pleased, too, being in New York—and married to a star's ex-husband."

"You didn't love him when you saw him?" I had to ask it.

"Goodness, no! In fact, I never thought of that at all. Funny, I didn't even think how much I had loved him. You get over things. I love Hal better than I can ever love anyone else. Not the way I loved Harry at first, but you don't love that way, after you get older. I wouldn't go back to Jasonville, to that funny little cottage, for anything in the world. I can see that cottage now with its furniture. Those dreadful sets! That terrible street with its gossip—and the Romillers across the way. I don't see how I stood it. That is, I don't see, now. But sometimes I think of those days, the way they seemed to me then: Different. Different from the way they seem now—and different from the days I have now, too.

Will You Walk Into My Parlor?

Who killed Teddy Morgan? And who was the master mind of the English band of forgers? Questions that are intriguingly posed and thrillingly answered in this gripping mystery story by Sapper in this section

Next Sunday

"MAYBE it was youth that colored them and the curious kind of love that comes with youth. I don't know. But they were different from anything that has happened since. Jasonville and that little cottage, paring potatoes for Harry and listening for his step as he came up the walk—and looking into the kitchen mirror, quickly, to see that there wasn't a smudge of flour on my face. And straightening my hair and drying my hands as I went to the door. And Harry there when I opened it.

"And those evenings with Harry, reading, sometimes, or going into town, under the stars, to the movies. Those Jasonville streets! There was wistaria growing there, and roses, and the trees seemed bigger and darker than city trees.

"I can remember our bedroom—the funny mahogany furniture. I can't play in a scene with furniture like that. Hideous stuff, of course. Still, back there in that Jasonville cottage——. Would I have kept on being happy, if things had lasted, there, or would something else have happened——

"I'm awfully content with the way things are now—Hal and the girls—all this. I wouldn't change it for all the world. Why, of course, I would have changed things if I wanted them different.

"It's pretty hard to know what to say when you are interviewed," Rella put a fresh cigaret in the jade and carnelian holder, "to tell how you become successful—or even to tell what success means to you. Interviewers always ask: 'To what do you attribute your success?' What's the answer? I wonder. It isn't just talent. Nor study. Nor hard work. I know that. Nor Hal, altogether. Jasonville—and the woman across the street and the woman next door? I don't know. Those were all such a long time ago. Yes, I've come a long way."

The TRIBUNE COOK BOOK

Nothing Is More Refreshing and Cooling on a Hot Summer Day Than an Icy Cup of Sherbet.

All recipes have been scientifically tested by Miss Eddington with current market materials and are indorsed by her.

By Jane Eddington.

THE great mountains of the world, with their tops snow capped even in summer, seem to have suggested the sherbet about which there is so much of ancient lore. Different writers have enlarged upon the facts of the origin of the "ices," once so great a luxury, and so got much attention just as "high society" does or has for ages long. These pertained to it. On highly dramatic occasions such items as pearls were dissolved in sherbets.

As to the origin of this cooling refreshment here is what we find in Cassell's Dictionary of Cookery: "Sherbet is a favorite beverage in the east, universally used among wealthy Mohammedans, to whom the use of wine is forbidden by the Koran. It consists of water, the juice of lemon, orange or other fruits, with sugar, flavored further with honey, spices and even perfumes. Its pleasant acidity blended with sweetness renders it well calculated to assuage thirst in a warm climate. The poorer classes who cannot afford to have it so rich drink water prepared with a little sugar and fruit juice. In India this is carried about in goats' skins for sale."

Illustrative of the fact that a thousand years are but as a day in the most fundamental matters of getting refreshment, we find the poorer classes of the world doing much the same thing as here described. The Roman tradition, of snows flavored with fruit juices, survives on the hot sidewalks of poor Italian communities to this day—those sidewalks where the people really mostly live. I have seen with my own eyes there freezers holding five gallons doing good work, although what was being frozen had hardly more than the juice of one lemon to a gallon of water, slightly sweetened. It was frozen to a mushy or slushy consistency and sold at one cent per tumbler.

It was a more or less safe and seemingly gratifying drink. One of the Italian names for a freezer is "sobrettiera," and it is pleasant to believe, what is not unlikely, that some of these are busy today on the very spots where the Caesars trod two thousand years ago.

Italian Ices.

Even to this day Italy is influencing the highest grade menus of the world when it comes to ices. Just a few years back it was the "spumoni" that excited our interest—and so soon was cheapened. Today it is the "cassata," which is also a fancy ice cream, how fancy we can only guess, as we have not recently been in Italy. Years back it was the "Neapolitan," or an ice cream in layers of different colors, which is still served, though rarely with this name. The Italian name for the water ices is "granite," a flavored and slightly sweetened water frozen to a mush.

Like any sherbet thing, it is best if the water and sugar used are cooked to a sirup, in this case the thinnest of sirups. By this method the frozen mush does not taste watery, as much more expensive sherbets may if the sugar and water used are not cooked thus together.

Lemon water made by brewing slices of lemon in it makes for extreme economy. To make such a brew pour one quart or even two quarts of boiling water over one lemon cut in quarter inch slices. Let this keep hot, but do not boil it, for two hours. Remember, it is brewed and not cooked, and since a sirup must be cooked, this is sweetened with a little plain and thick sugar sirup. By the other method a thin sugar and water sirup is made and cooled and then lemon juice added.

Orange Sherbet or Ice.

The following is my own best sherbet or ice: Wash a fine and large orange or as many as you wish. Grate off—instead of this you may peel thinly and chop fine—the yellow skin of the orange only. Mix the skin from one orange with one tablespoon of sugar and let stand over night. In the morning add the juice from the orange to this, and then strain this mixture through a cheese cloth. Add the strained part to a sirup made of one cup of sugar and one-half cup of water which has been cooked for five minutes and cooled. Add to this before freezing the juice of two more oranges.

I like to fix up a truly fancy service for this sherbet by preparing oranges thus: Take off the stem bit of skin and pull out the pith attached. Cut a thin slice from the other end of the orange so that it will stand up. Cutting from the stem end almost to where the slice was removed, make thin strips of the skin and turn these in. Push open the orange or open out the carpels or sections, chill and when ready to serve the ice, spread the carpels open with a spoon and heap in the ice at what was the heart of the fruit.

Pineapple Sherbet for Two.

While I gloried in the orange ice, which recipe had a decided touch of my own, my readers showed a good deal of interest in the following: Shred or cut one-fourth cup or a little more of fresh juicy pineapple. Cook one-half cup of sugar with one-fourth cup of water till it spins a thread. Pour this over the pineapple and let it stand until it cools. Add to it lemon juice to taste to strengthen the flavor, being careful not to use so much that the whole will seem to lack sweetness which is not always the same thing as being sour. Beat the white of one egg until stiff, and fold the other preparation into it.

It is not necessary to have a freezer for this small amount. Instead have well chilled a half pint glass jar, pour the preparation into it, put a butter paper over and then clamp on the glass cover. Pack this in half ice and half salt mixed, for about one hour and a half or an hour may suffice to bring it to that half frozen stage which is all right or even best for a true sherbet. In multiplying the quantity a freezer must be used. When a freezer is used the preparation is half frozen before the egg white is folded into it.

When the small amount is made in a glass jar it is necessary to pack it the minute the preparation is folded into the egg white, otherwise the heavy sirup may separate from the egg, but the mixture of half ice and half salt is quick acting, and if the work is rapid there will be no separation. The larger the quantity, however, the more danger of separation, but in making a large quantity without a freezer a number of small jars could be used. The method is recommended, however, mainly because only a few people have the one cup size freezers.

Watermelon Ices.

Drinks or ices of exceptional attractiveness may be made with watermelon, the juice of which is easily extracted because it constitutes 95 per cent of the melon. Add about one-half cup of sugar sirup to each two cups of watermelon juice, the juice of one orange and a little lemon juice. This can be put into a jar with rubber to make it air tight and packed in ice and salt—over and under and around. In one-half hour it will be well iced for a drink if the melon in the first place was cold. It is best if well chilled only or but slightly frozen. The freezers churn these mixtures, and this is necessary when egg white or gelatin is used, if there is a quantity.

Cantaloupe Ice. Cantaloupes vary greatly in sweetness. Some are sweet enough to have their juice good for a sherbet with a minimum of sweetening. Three cups of cantaloupe pulp which is almost water or just the juice to one cup of sugar—you can make a sirup of it or not—and the juice of one lemon will usually be just right. If the pulp is used it should be sieved to get it to a puree stage. Add orange juice if you like. This can be merely chilled to the freeze stage and not churned. To be economical put all the seeds into a bowl, cover with water, let stand a little and drain off water for the cantaloupe ice.

Lemon Sherbet in Variety.

There is hardly a sherbert that is not the better for a little lemon juice, even one of sour cranberry. And what is really a lemon sherbet may be made to seem like that of some other fruit by adding some strawberry or cherry juice to make a pink sherbet, etc. For a four to six portion lemon sherbet cook one cup of sugar with one-fourth cup of water to a rather thick sirup which can be diluted considerably and this must be done while it is hot. When allowed to cool before it is flavored a sirup must be thinner.

For this sort of lemon sherbet pour the thick and hot sirup into the strained juice of two lemons. At this point some grated peel may be added to make the lemon flavor go farther, but if this is done the whole will have to be strained before the freezing. When this compound of sirup and lemon is thoroughly cold, add to it two cups of cold water and put the whole in the freezer to get well chilled before it is churned, sunk in the ice and salt mixture. When half frozen, stir thoroughly into it two stiffly beaten egg whites, or one will do, or for a granite effect use none at all. When the eggs are added there is an opportunity to sweeten it further, if it is necessary, perhaps using powdered sugar if no sirup is available. One has to learn the propitious moment for folding in the egg white, and nicely

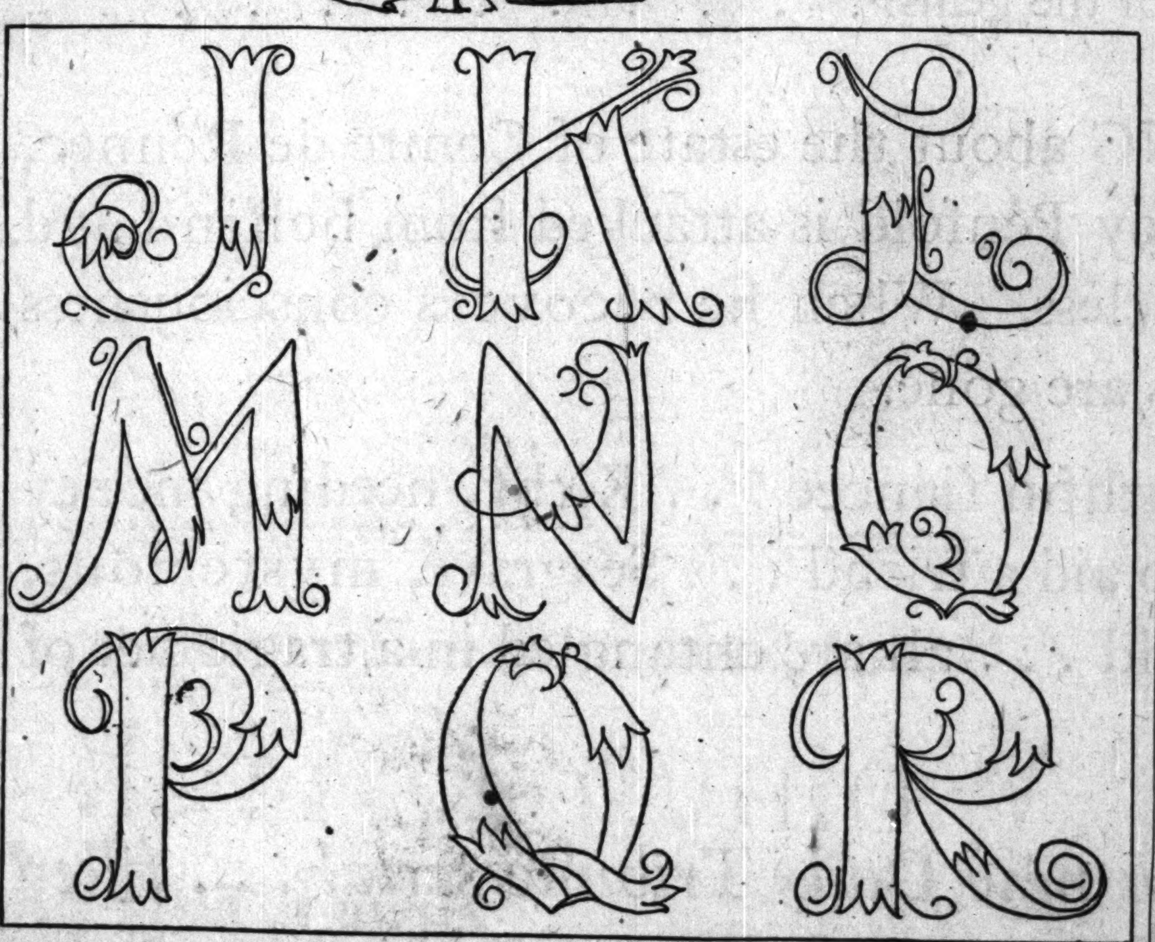
Practical and Fancy Needle Work

By Clotilde



A Knowledge of the Embroidering of Initials and Monograms Is Always Useful

DURING many of the lovely summer afternoons when at home it is nice to have some pick up work, and it is surprising how much is accomplished during these spare times in the way of needlework. If you, for instance, are getting your linens ready for a fall wedding, or are making a gift for a prospective bride in the way of household linen or lingerie, one of these letters done in the laid or satin stitch will add much to the beauty of a piece.

This alphabet is enough different from those usually seen to make most interesting work, and in places the outline stitch as well as the seed stitch can be worked in with good effect.

Buy some transfer paper at an art supply store and transfer the letter to the material. Be sure before you begin that the material is smooth, then fasten the material and transfer paper to a board with thumb tacks so you won't make any imperfect lines during the transfer work.

Outline the letter you are using with a single strand of darning cotton, using a small and even running stitch. The next step in the work is the padding. This is done by taking a couple of strands of the embroidery floss and taking chain or running stitches, keeping the stitches short on the under side. The filling must always be heavier in the center of the space, thinning down as the outlines are reached.

The satin stitch is always taken at right angles to the edge. It is an even over and over stitch, and should always be done in a frame. It has to be done slowly if the work is to be evenly done. Where there are curves the stitches are taken unusually close together on the inside, and on the outer edge the spacing must match the rest of the work. On the inside they must never lap.

The seed stitch is done by taking rows of tiny back stitches about three-sixteenths of an inch apart, the stitches of each row being placed between instead of opposite the stitches in the row next to it.

A little practice will make it possible to do beautiful work, and where one is inexperienced time will be well spent by practising first on an ordinary piece of cloth. It is one of the most fascinating forms of needlework, but unless it is well done there is no beauty in it.

The last installment will appear next Sunday.

This One Brings Tears If You Weep Easily

"FATHER AND SON."

Produced by Columbia Pictures. Directed by Eric C. Kenton. Presented at the State-Lake theater.

THE CAST.

Frank Fields....................Jack Holt
Grace Moore...............Dorothy Revier
Miss White..............Helen Chadwick
Jimmy Fields.............Mickey McBan
Anton Lebau............Wheeler Oakman

By Roberta Nangle.

"FATHER AND SON," which occupies about sixty minutes of the State-Lake program this week, is made to order for persons who admire Edgar Guest and who sigh with satisfaction at the story that points a good old fashioned moral. The plot should have no trouble with the censors, for it is built around a little child who leads his fond but susceptible papa to the realization that his beautiful second wife is far from what she pretends to be.

The picture combines the sound and silent treatment, with subtitles serving to carry the action along through the quiet interludes, while the more emotional scenes are emphasized by bursts of audible dialogue. There is a musical accompaniment throughout. Synchronization is good and the voices, as reproduced, are clear if not sweet.

It's Jimmy's Birthday.

The first scene shows a large and handsome dwelling, wherein reside Frank Fields and his motherless young son, Jimmy. It is Jimmy's birthday and his dad surprises him with a recordograph, in other words, a phonograph on which one may make records. This machine, by the way, is later responsible for a sort of "Canary Murder" twist to the tale.

The next day Mr. Fields departs for a month's business trip abroad, leaving Jimmy to the care of the servants and the friendly solicitude of the nice young lady who lives next door. In Paris he becomes enamored of a wistful blonde, makes her Mrs. Fields and takes her home to his lonely son. The boy will have none of her, and she shows no love for him.

Jimmy consoles himself by placing flowers before a portrait of his dead mother. The second Mrs. Fields settles this by having her predecessor's likeness removed, and then the fun begins. The father, poor man, is torn between his affection for his boy and his new wife. For a while it seems as if the wife is to win at Jimmy's expense.

Recordograph to the Rescue.

Finally, her dark past rears its ugly head and for reasons I shall not disclose she meets a violent end. A trial follows, with circumstantial evidence aplenty to convict the Fields, senior and junior, of murder. Thanks to the aforementioned recordograph, their innocence is proved and all is well again.

At times the picture is almost maudlin in its play on one's sympathies, but those who have easy tears to shed will probably approve of it. Mickey McBan, as the son, is most appealing and lovable. Jack Holt fans will probably think he is too good for the rather stilted rôle of the father. Dorothy Revier is fairly competent as the vampire and the other rôles are satisfactory. The direction, at times, is negligent.

THE LADIES of THE TRIBUNE Sunday room, where stars frequently come calling on Mae Tinée, are almost blasé in the matter of visiting movie celebrities. Stars may come and go without arousing more than a passing interest on the part of feminine workers. Only the exceptional personality makes these girls bat an eye. Rudolph Valentino, of course, caused something like a riot and the recent visit of little Davey Lee brought them all running from their desks. The latest caller to succeed in distracting these critical females from their typewriters was Victor MacLaglen, who dropped in while he was in town last week.

While the Fox star didn't make their hearts palpitate as did the late Valentino, he did, to put it mildly, leave a large and favorable impression on all and sundry. He is handsomer in person than on the screen, frank and cordial of manner, and an entertaining talker. He is now on his way to New York to appear at the opening there of "The Cockeyed World," a sequel to "What Price Glory," in which Mr. MacLaglen was sky rocketed to fame. It was directed, as was its predecessor, by Raoul Walsh, and while he wouldn't brag, the star intimates that it's a darn swell picture.

FIRST NATIONAL sent a request recently to all casting agencies for types needed in "The Isle of Lost Ships." Part of the list reads as follows: "Wanted, 12 bullet heads, big stubble beard; 16 well battered pugs; 3 hunchback dwarfs; 4 peg-legs, various sizes, all tough; 3 evil looking one armed sailors; 7 thin, shaking heebie jeebies; 9 limps [men with crippled legs]; 11 bald pates, any age, if tough; 7 Finn sailors; 9 Negro Kanakas; 8 big Swede squareheads, vicious." . . .

A SCHOOLHOUSE built on the Fox lots for actors, according to California law, now has an average daily enrollment of 25 pupils.

MORAN AND MACK, the famous stage team, have signed a contract to make another picture for Paramount. 'Tis said their salary is to be $100,000, to be split 90-10, with Mack receiving the larger sum.

MISS ROSITA MORENO AND THE SHOW-GIRLS IN THE HAT-BOX BALLET

WHEN the curtain fell on the first performance of "Pleasure-Bound" in the Grand Opera-House, five weeks ago, not all the applause of a happy audience was for the black-type celebrities in the revue. The first-night crowd took quickly to a graceful little stranger, Miss Rosita Moreno, after she gave her pas-seul in a song-and-dance about millinery-maids and their paraphernalia, and again when she danced in a sultry number about life and love in Spain, the land of her nativity. Mr. Donaghey, in reporting that performance, wrote that Miss Moreno was quite unlike any other of the numerous Spanish dancers who have won attention in this country since the days of Carmencita; and the Chicago public seems to be of that belief, judging by the joy that is a nightly reaction to her contributions to the gay show.

Reading 'Tween the Lines Makes Role Memorable

It's Something Not in the Score That Counts.

By Edward Moore.

ABILITY to depict psychology in plays has been a favored topic of discussion ever since Shakespeare wrote the lines of Lady Macbeth. The dramatist sets down the psychology, the actress portrays what she thinks he meant, or perhaps what the stage director told her he meant. Why not extend the discussion to opera? It is a fruitful subject.

As a matter of fact, people are doing just that, even now. Every time a new contralto, mezzo, or truncated soprano comes out as Carmen a hum of argument at once arises in the air over whether or not she really understands the character and is able to transmit her ideas to the audience. Fiora in "L'Amore dei Tre Re" is another operatic lady who is getting herself talked about, though not enough people have taken the trouble to read the libretto and find out what Benelli was driving at to make the conversation epidemic. So far as this department knows, no one has had the temerity to psycho-analyze Leonora of "Il Trovatore," but since the value of psycho-analysis consists in a logical explanation of the apparently illogical, such a process might bring forth some enlightening information.

Something Beside the Score.

Why has Mary Garden always been such a topic of discussion ever since the music critics began to say that she was a great actress and the drama critics that she was a great singer? It is because she never fails to put something into her characterizations that is not in the least indicated by the musical score. Why is Lucrezia Bori the famous figure of opera that she is? It is because she does the same thing, plus the fact that she seldom permits you to quarrel with what she is doing, and that she ends by charming you with her logic and with her own magnetic self.

Wherefore, you are hereby urged to take a glance at the Ravinia schedule for the current week. It is not quite complete, because at the time this is being written the Saturday night attraction has not been announced, but up to the time of that blank spot it includes six studies in feminine psychology as conceived by six operatic playwrights.

Beginning with tonight there is the Elsa of "Lohengrin." Richard Wagner, who thought well of himself as poet and philosopher as well as musician, produced a character here who can not possibly keep from asking questions. Even in the presence of the mystical white knight to whom she had given her promise, curiosity is too much for her, and as soon as the wedding march is over she starts her cross examination on the very subject he had warned her against.

La Rondine Tomorrow.

Magda of "La Rondine" will become visible and audible again tomorrow night. Here is a woman who has been stepping out on what used to be solemnly called the easiest way. Having taken the step with which the opera is concerned, she suddenly realizes that it has been in the direction leading to unhappiness, makes what really must have been a hard decision, and turns her course back to Paris.

Marguerite in "Faust" Tuesday night is the unsophisticated though not entirely uninhibited young girl who is victimized—betrayed is the technical expression—and deserted by a handsome young hero, a favorite theme at all times. Cho-Cho-San in "Mme. Butterfly" Thursday night has much the same idea, though leading to a messy form of suicide at home instead of insanity and death from a strangulated high note in a prison cell. But "Mme. Butterfly" seems to have been founded upon an earlier "Mme. Chrysantheme," from the pen of Pierre Loti, and Loti was apparently a more accurate and certainly a less sentimental observer than John Luther Long.

Violetta in "La Traviata," scheduled for Wednesday night, is, as has been pointed out in this column, an elder and more serious minded sister of Magda in "La Rondine." She goes through the same sort of sacrifice of her personal inclinations, but makes more of a fuss over it. One must not forget that there were no tuberculosis sanitariums in those days.

And the sparkling and joyous "Marouf" is up for Friday. Here there are two women right out of the pages of the Arabian Nights, the virago in the first act who starts Marouf out on his troublous adventures, and the alluring young princess who later in the piece becomes his reward. Oriental story tellers do not annoy themselves to any great extent with psychological problems, but sometimes, as in this case, they work out a highly entertaining story.

Concert of German Music.

In addition to the operatic performances which have been outlined, there are other items of interest in the week's program. This afternoon "An Afternoon of German Music and German Composers" will be featured, the program to be played by the Chicago Symphony orchestra under the able direction of Eric DeLamarter, including works by Beethoven, Mozart, Handel, Mendelssohn, Wagner, Goldmark and Weber-Weingartner. Jacques Gordon, violinist, will be the soloist and will present the Prize Song from "Meistersinger," by Wagner; "Waltz in E Minor," by Brahms and arranged by Mr. Gordon, and "Contradanses," by Beethoven, arranged by Elman.

The guests of honor will be W. Schueller, German consul of Chicago, and Dr. Herman Schmid-Krutine, vice consul. Mr. Schueller will speak. It may be mentioned in passing that "Lohengrin," the opera which is to be presented tonight with Mme. Rethberg and Mr. Johnson in the two principal rôles, is an appropriate choice for a day which will be given over to German music.

Carnival on Thursday.

Next Thursday afternoon will be carnival day at Ravinia, and while this marks the high spots of the MISS CHATTERTON, who has made more talkies than any other stage star to date, is to be seen in "Charming Sinners" this week at the Oriental. Miss Revier shares honors with Jack Holt and Mickey McBan in "Father and Son," now playing at the State-Lake theater.

"Who Is Sylvia, What Is She?" Ask Ina Claire, Gloria Swanson!

By Rosalind Shaffer.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

HOLLYWOOD, Cal., July 20.—[Special Correspondence.]—"Who is Sylvia, what is she, that all the maids desire her?" is the Hollywood theme song right now. The answer is: Every little movement has a meaning of its own; for Sylvia is a very much sought after and skilled masseuse over whom several actresses have been battling with their wits. Ina Claire at latest hearing was the victory.

Sylvia until recently was employed by Alice White every morning at 6:30 to keep those White legs in the proper form. Ina Claire coveted her and told the masseuse to tell Alice as an inducement that "Miss Claire will give you free dramatic lessons, if you release the masseuse to her at 6:30 every morning." Alice said, "Thank you, no"; she needed Sylvia, but to show her good will Alice offered to give Ina lessons in screen acting.

The episode reached a climax in Ina's favor when the Pathé studio, where Ina works, hired Sylvia to look after Pathé stars exclusively. This includes Gloria Swanson, Jeannette Loff, Ann Harding, Ina Claire and others. So now Alice has lost the services of the much sought-masseuse after all.

Only a Carrot.

A matter that has been agitating the lovely women of Hollywood ever since Buster Keaton gave a farewell party for Norman Kerry some time back has at last been settled. It seems that during the height of the merriment at the party, which was held in the gardens of the Keaton residence, Norman Kerry had dashed up to the water lily pool, caught a goldfish, and swallowed it right before the eyes of the ladies. Several of the girls fainted, some turned pale green and left early, and still others roundly berated Kerry.

It has leaked out that what really happened is that Buster and Kerry framed the thing ahead of time. Buster procured a carrot, which he whittled

Gotham Folks Reveling in Park Casino

Haut Monde Flocking to New Social Center.

By Burns Mantle.

NEW YORK.—[Special Correspondence.]—The rediscovery of Central park by the haut monde is not the least dramatic of recent local happenings. "Tony" Biddle (Anthony J. Biddle Jr.) of the Philadelphia Biddles, I understand, is chiefly responsible. He and two or three other scions of wealth, including young William Randolph Hearst Jr., got together some months back and decided that something should be done about the old park and the old park casino in particular.

Here was the spot, said Tony, around which the real social life of the city might be made to rotate, if it were properly organized. And here, too, was a darned good business venture if the proper arrangements could be made. What the casino needed, said Tony, was the right people to take hold of it. And he knew the right people.

Little Known to Populace.

The old casino has long been one of those low, rambling structures that, even when newly painted, barely could be seen through the deeper shrubbery that closes it in and was little known to the milling thousands who gather in the park. It has for years been leased to this concessionaire and that one, usually a political friend of the administration and run as a refectory of sorts. Usually as a cheap refectory—a thick sandwich and cold-cut luncheon place; a restaurant of the lower middle class type; a soda and gum filling station; a tearoom for those who mostly drink coffee or carry their own gin; a thoroughly democratic but none too showy place, and none too clean.

These concessionaires paid, I believe, $5,000 a year as rental. Mr. Biddle offered $8,500 a year and agreed to spend a half million dollars fixing the place up, provided he were given a ten year lease. At the end of ten years the building is to revert to the city with all its major improvements intact. Mr. Biddle, or the Dieppe corporation for which he spoke, was given the concession.

Urban Draws Plans.

The half million has been spent. Joseph Urban, who fixes up the "Follies" for Mr. Ziegfeld, did the decorating and drew the plans of reconstruction. The place now is rich and handsome, has sweeping porticos, airy dining salons, and enough uniformed servitors to run a hotel.

We drove up to the carriage entrance last night in a humble and somewhat rattly taxicab. There was a string of private cars ahead of us inching their way toward the major domo who opened their doors and helped out their chiffoned ladies and dinner-coated gentlemen. Evening dress looked strange in the glare of the descending sun. The boys in conventional tux and pumps probably felt even sillier than they looked.

We decided there must be a party on and that the graceful thing for us to do would be to back out as modestly as the taxi man could make it. But there were traffic officers to keep us in line and we had to go through with it. Then I began to notice other taxis and other business-suited common folk and felt better.

We arrived, we ascended the stairs,

This and That Thing About the Theater

And This Means About the Actors, Also.

EUGENE O'NEILL, it is now told, has resumed writing for the stage; and it is added by one who is said to know that the dramatist has put out of his mind the plan to write a trilogy. It may be recalled that "Dynamo," one of the ghastly failures of last season, was designed as the first play of the trilogy; and some of the O'Neill adulants explained that "Dynamo" would not have failed had the populace known that it was merely Part I of a monumental work. However, the same spokesman who tells that O'Neill is working again gives the further information that the play in-hand is "quite unlike any play O'Neill has already written." But, then, isn't that said of everything Mr. O'Neill undertakes?

A piece with tunes named "Fifth Million Frenchmen" has—for the present, at least—been abandoned; and the cast engaged for it has been dismissed. The runes are by Cole Porter.

Walter Huston, who has been a Hollywooder since the unexpected New-York failure of "Elmer the Great," is to resume acting in "Commodore Trunnion," which Arthur Hopkins is to stage in September. The play is by Kate Parsons, who is not otherwise identifiable as a dramatist.

And, speaking of "Elmer the Great," it is said that George M. Cohan will take up one of the principal roles in "Gambling," to be shown next month in New-York. He was not in the piece when it was performed in Philadelphia, where the inhabitants regarded it as a masterpiece.

George White is said to be putting up the best he possesses in the form of argument to place Ed Wynn in the impending issue of the Scandals, although the comedian prefers to be in something of his own writing. . . . And, although Mr. White some time ago told the world that only Miss Frances Williams and Harry Richman would be carried over from the last issue of the Scandals, it turns out that Willie and Eugene Howard also have been reëngaged.

Nazimova and Miss Eva Le Gallienne have parted company, it is stated. The former was a member last season of Miss Le Gallienne's New-York stock-company. She is said to be making a sound-movie in California.

To Tom and Jerry, who write in to tell me that I may have the free use of Chinema (which they unblushingly say is their own pun) when I wish to write about sound-movies, I reply (a) that it is months old as a pun, (b) that it was first sprung by somebody other than either of them, and (c) that it is my notion of a bum pun, for the reason that the proper pronunciation of cinema is kinema.

The American importer of "The Garden of Eden," a notable New-York catastrophe of two years ago, thinks that he may salvage part of his original investment by turning the piece into a song-and-dance show.

Adolphe Menjou, who is in some sort of a film, is bulletined to become an actor in the Autumn in a piece named "The Fast Set."

"The Road to Rome" was recently exhibited in Vienna, where it was liked so well by its first audience that the author, Robert E. Sherwood, was able to take eight curtain-calls and to hear a deal of cheering in tribute to his playwriting.

Fiske O'Hara, who doesn't believe persons who tell him that he is out of style, is preparing to reëmerge in something named "Jerry for Short," by William A. Grew.

Mr. Ziegfeld, who last Winter told us that he would have a theater of his own ready for the Chicago exhibition of "Show-Boat," is to put it into the Illinois about September 1. . . . And Miss Claiborne Foster, whom the Palace management announced for this week's bill, isn't in it. It is said that she will act in a new play called "The Third Day."

Miss Helen Menken is talked of as the star of "The Return of the Soldier," which is John Van Druten's dramatization of Rebecca West's like-named novel.

Mrs. Fiske is to have a new piece called, at present, "The Mixed Jury." It is by Fred Ballard, who was identified here last week as the author of "Young America" and "Believe Me, Xantippe!" and also as co-author with Charles Bickford of "The Sandyhooker," wherein Miss Lenore Ulric is expected to perform.

Reading 'Tween the Lines Makes Role Memorable

It's Something Not in the Score That Counts.

By Edward Moore.

Thursday afternoon series of concerts and entertainments which are presented for the children, it is expected that this year adult interest will be just as keen in the carnival as is that of the little ones. The program will be entirely different from any other carnival which has been given at Ravinia in years past, for it is to be "Army and Navy day," and through the coöperation of the officers at Fort Sheridan and the Great Lakes Naval Training station, hundreds of soldiers and sailors will be present with their bands, to present many sorts of drills and maneuvers.

The exercises of the day will be held out of doors on Ravinia's north campus where there will be plenty of room for drills and a spacious stadium for the audience. The soldiers will be the first on the field, opening the afternoon's events with a grand march. This will be followed by the impressive guard mount ceremony and marching of the guard, and then will come a physical drill with rifles. Close order drill will bring the army's part of the program to an end.

Two companies of sailors with their band, drum and bugle corps will give a naval grand march and presentation of the colors. Then will follow in rapid succession a drill under the command of Lieut. Jameson, a physical drill without arms, a semaphore drill, a physical drill with arms, a review and finally formation for singing in which both jackies and audience will join. The afternoon's events will end with a grand march by the army and navy headed by their respective bands. Children 12 years of age and under are admitted free to the carnival and seats will be free for every one.

Second Thoughts on "La Rondine."

Second thoughts on the first performance of "La Rondine":

That for two acts it is a sparkling jewel of a piece, with tunes so attractive that it might almost be an operetta, but that the third act in more serious vein does not quite strike the same high level.

That at the present moment it seems inconceivable to present the work without Lucrezia Bori as Magda.

That Florence Macbeth has developed into a marvel of a comic in the part of the maid, alert, dainty, and unfailingly amusing, and that Armand Tokatyan is an equally effective associate.

That in matters of scenery, costuming, lighting, and accuracy of small as well as large details of performance it represents one of Ravinia's high spots.

That in the performance tomorrow night Mario Chamlee will appear as Ruggero, the part sung by Edward Johnson last Tuesday night.

Hamilton Forrest's new piece, to be produced by the Chicago Civic Opera company next season, will be called "Camille," just as the play was and as the Verdi opera founded thereon was not. In treatment it would seem to be a modernized "Camille," founded upon the Dumas tale but with certain liberties in the plot to bring it down to date. Its music is also modernized, even to the point of using current song hits from the world of jazz.

The Civic Opera company tells that it will have an entirely new treatment in its staging. The first act is in two scenes, and the first scene is divided into four subscenes, with changes taking place in full view of the audience. It represents the box floor and the interior of a box at the Opéra-Comique, Paris.

The cast calls for nineteen singers, a pianist, and four silent rôles. It has already been told that Mary Garden, Charles Hackett and Chase Baromeo will head the cast.

Of recital events for the week, on Tuesday afternoon there will be a demonstration of the training of boys' and girls' voices at the Central theater by Rev. William J. Finn, once of Chicago and now of New York; on Wednesday afternoon a recital at Kimball hall by the artist pupils of Josef Lhevinne, Karleton Hackett, and Mrs. Dan Brown; on Wednesday evening a joint recital at the Bush conservatory by Marjorie Barton, pianist, and Edward Otis, baritone, and on Thursday afternoon a concert at the Central theater by the Chicago Musical College Symphony orchestra, directed by Rudolph Ganz. In the last event Edward Bredshall, pianist, will be the soloist, playing the first movement of the Grieg Concerto. Orchestral numbers will be Weber's "Euryanthe" overture, one of the Haydn symphonies, and short works by Grieg, Brahms, and Sibelius.

It is quite evident that the radio and the audible film—up to date the best name devised for the latter has been "chinema"—are having their effect on putting music into one of its periodical states of transition. So far, it does not appear to have crystallized, but the Musical Courier cites two rather interesting items, not to be considered as conclusive, but as part of the evidence in the case.

One relates to this country. It is to the effect that Richard Strauss has just issued a set of five new songs, his opus 77, and that the manager of the publishing firm in New York to which the American copyright has been assigned proposes to make them known to the American public through the means of the radio and screen. It will be interesting to learn the results. In the theater the audiences will be more or less helpless, unless the maneuver builds up their sales resistance. Naturally, when its comes to radio, they are at liberty to turn the dial at any moment that seems desirable.

The other comes from France. It tells that radio fans have made their wishes well known that they prefer classics. Consequently, the French stations with the exception of Toulouse have practically banned jazz. According to the report, Beethoven, Mozart, Schubert, Wagner, Schumann, Verdi, and Debussy have the call, and the French listeners do not care for lectures, children's hours, or political speeches, either. When they want dance music they tune in on a relay from England.

This department is in receipt of a pamphlet telling of the complete published works of Philo Adams Otis. Mr. Otis has had a long and honorable career in the musical life of Chicago. He has been a resident of the city since 1857, he was one of the founders of the Apollo Musical club in 1872, choirmaster of the First Presbyterian church for over twenty-five years, a member of the Orchestral association since 1894 and the secretary of its board of trustees since 1895.

His publications include four books, two cantatas, about thirty-five anthems, and various songs and instrumental numbers, the last including some interesting combinations such as violin, cello, harp, and organ. Most of these works are published by the Clayton F. Summy company, Chicago, but there are some from the presses of Richard G. Badger, Boston; Edward Schuberth & Co., New York; H. W. Gray company, New York; Breitkopf & Haertel, New York, and J. Hamelle, Paris.

Musical Bits.

"We were particularly interested in opera in Germany and German artists," says Herbert M. Johnson, business manager of the Chicago Civic Opera company, who returned a short time ago from Europe, "as we had promised the Chicago public last year that if a sufficient interest was created in the German repertoire, we would be willing to present a larger number of German works during the coming season. The response was sufficient to justify us in engaging German artists, and announcements of our plans in connection with the German répertoire will be made within a short time."

From Paris comes an announcement by Sol Hurok telling of a number of important and interesting events with which he will be connected during the coming season. One concerns the famous Russian composer, Alexander Glazounoff. He will arrive in New York about Nov. 15 and will introduce himself to America by conducting his own piano concerto, which will be played by Helen Gavrilova. Thereafter he will tour the country as did Richard Strauss a few years ago, accompanying his compositions throughout the principal cities.

The Russian Grand Opera company which was organized in Paris last winter by Maria Kousnezoff-Massenet will now go to South America and Cuba for a tour, arriving in this country in February with plans for another. Its Paris repertoire included "Prince Igor," "Sniegourotchka," "Tsar Saltan," and "Kitege," all staged in what was said to be a highly elaborate manner, and it now promises to add two more works, "The Lake of the Swans," and "Sorochinsky Yarmarka."

Vicente Escudero, announced as the greatest Spanish male dancer, and his company will also arrive in February. Another dancer, but from Germany, Mary Wigman, is likewise coming for a brief engagement. Yasha Youshny's "Blue Bird," which has been arousing comment in Germany, will reach here in March, and the Isadora Duncan dancers will come again in September.

For the German Grand Opera company, scheduled for another tour, Johanna Gadski, Juliette Lippe, and Sonia Sharnova have already been reengaged, and among the new artists will be the tenor, Johannes Sembach, who used to be at the Metropolitan.

WINSOME

IN THE OPERATIC WORLD

ARMAND TOKATYAN. YVONNE GALL.

[Bert Photo.]

HERE is a pair of operatic artists, each one of whom has had a liberal share in assisting opera to become the popular form of entertainment which it is. Mr. Tokatyan, a tenor, is finding most of his professional engagements in America. He is a member of the Metropolitan Opera company during the winter and of that at Ravinia in the summer. Mme. Gall, soprano, claims France as her home, but both Europe and America claim her when opera is being considered. She is well and deservedly liked in many countries.

COLORATURA

[Apeda Photo.]

Most of the coloratura parts and a good many that classify as lyric are assigned to this artist during the summer season at Ravinia. She is an American, a native of Minnesota, to be exact, but more important than nationality is the fact that she is a first rate artist and a talented musician.

THE WEEK AT RAVINIA

This afternoon—"An Afternoon of German Music," program by Chicago Symphony orchestra, Eric DeLamarter, conductor, Jacques Gordon, violin soloist.

Monday—"La Rondine," with Lucrezia Bori, Florence Macbeth, Mario Chamlee, Armand Tokatyan, and others; Ruth Page, Edwin Strawbridge, and ballet; conductor, Gennaro Papi.

Thursday afternoon—Annual children's carnival.

Saturday—To be announced.

Immortal Books Kept 1,400 Years by Italian Monks

MONTECASSINO, Italy.—(AP)—Delegates to the world congress of librarians at Rome, including many of the leading librarians of the United States, saw some of the most wonderful books on earth when they visited here the monastery founded by St. Benedict, just 1,400 years ago.

During the dark ages, when barbarians were sacking libraries and burning them, the Benedictine monks of Montecassino patiently copied immortal works and thus preserved for today priceless books that would otherwise have been lost forever. Among them are "The Golden Ass" and the "Metamorphoses" of Apuleius, the "History and Annals of Tacitus," Cicero's oration, "Pro Cluentia," and his essays, "Republica" and "About the Laws," "The Nature of the Gods," and Ovid's "Fasti."

The oldest grammar in history was also preserved intact by the Benedictines. This was Varrone's "Latin Language." Montecassino kept unharmed the only original copy. Upon this all grammars, down to the English grammar taught in American schools, have in part been based.

The work of the Benedictine monks in preserving priceless books of the church has been even more remarkable. Original works of St. Jerome, St. Augustine, St. Cyprian and St. Ambrose; the most ancient papal decree, that of John VIII.; the oldest text of a decree by Gratian, famous codifier of laws, have all been saved from the depredations of time and of men by the Benedictine brethren.

Lichtenstein Has Its Problem: No Poor to Relieve

VADUZ, Lichtenstein.—(AP)—There is no unemployment problem in this tiny state, which, in point of population, is the smallest country in the civilized world. Last year the total appropriation for unemployment doles was only $15.

The community is exclusively agricultural and its steadily working peasantry has been little affected by post war conditions in Austria, Hungary, and other European neighbors.

Lichtenstein, with its parliament of fifteen "solons" and under the reign of a benevolently minded prince, is happy except for one thing. Its ruler, Prince Franz Paula, who recently succeeded his brother, "Good Prince John," resides in Vienna. A delegation recently went to the Austrian capital to beg the prince to transfer his residence to Vaduz.

They have hopes that their mission will prove a success. Prince Franz recently sold several fine paintings to provide money for improvements in Vaduz. The castle is being renovated and new buildings are being erected to house government departments.

Treasure Chest Filled with Gold Pulled from Mud

WITTENBERG, Germany.—(AP)—A treasure chest full of gold and silver coins of the eighteenth century was pulled out of the mud by a dredge on the Elbe river.

Most of the money consisted of silver coins dated from 1740 to 1811, but there also were a number of French Louis d'or. Though the find was made in broad daylight, it became known only when a policeman saw a child near the dredge playing with money. The greater part of the money was traced to two bargemen.

It is assumed that the treasure was loot from the Napoleonic wars.

Bathing Beauties Evade Sunburn! Why Not You?

Have all the fun of the beach this summer, without ruining your complexion. Protect it from wind and sun with a dainty coating of [illegible]. Get this from your druggist. Mix in a half-pint water and two tablespoonfuls glycerine—takes but a minute to make a large jar of satiny cream. Rub this into face, neck, arms, shoulders, limbs. It vanishes, leaves a lovely surface for powder, and keeps a becoming veil of protection between you and the sun. Try it.

selves in a lovely lobby with spacious dining rooms on either side. Their entrances, however, were guarded. The usual velvet ropes and the usual harassed head waiter with lists of those who had had the forethought to reserve places.

Formal Attire Is Mandatory.

One dining room was crowded. We turned to the other which was more than half empty. But it was the formal room. No dinner clothes, no dinner places. No open vest, no soup.

"If I brought a letter from my mamma, saying that I have a dinner suit at home, would it be all right?" I asked the guardian of the rope.

He sniffed a superior sniff.

"Silly," I continued brazenly, "who wants to dress this early? Nobody but Charlie Dawes. Why don't you send for Charlie Dawes?"

He sniffed again.

"He wouldn't come if you did," I went on, thinking I might as well make him as happy as possible while he was waiting. "He wouldn't come because Mr. Biddle wouldn't let him smoke his pipe here. And you know how Charlie feels about his pipe."

But we weren't getting any place. I couldn't even tuck in my vest and looked dressed because it was a gray vest. So we puffed out our chests in good old fashioned democratic resentment, recovered our hats for a dime a piece and walked across the park. Down past the bandstand, where a couple of thousand honest, music loving commoners were waiting for the free concert; past the dear old Mall and the lovely lake and wide meadows; past some of the worst of the statuary and a lot of the grimiest of youngsters spread out restfully with their elders—until we came to Columbus circle.

Mr. Biddle Loses Two Customers.

Then, still feeling the democratic urge, we went over to Mr. Childs' 59th street place. The cold slaw, I may as well tell you, isn't what it used to be when Mr. Childs himself was looking after the cooking, before Mr. Barbour, the attorney, put him out and began messing up the menus. But something of the old Childs spirit and the lure of the lady and the butter cakes in the window still obtain.

So Mr. Biddle not only lost two potential boosters but a couple of new dollars as well.

Doctor Orders a Vacation.

This being get-away week, a vacation having been ordered by the doctors and agreed to by the bosses, I should like to take up the accumulated correspondence and be rid of that.

Item: A letter from Annette Broun (no relative of Heywood's, so far as I know) asking what I think of a scheme for a new sort of reading guild that will keep many people "au courant with the significant articles in the better magazines." I think awfully well of it, Annette, if you can get people to read the significant articles.

Item: A letter from Helen Shepard Handin asking me to listen in the first Wednesday night I'm home and see what I think of her and her partner, Marcella Shields, the "Two Troupers." I did and I think they're great.

Item: A letter from Anna Stumpf who says: "Although I disagree with you entirely as a critic I agree with you most heartily in your endeavor to bring Sunday night performances to Broadway."

(This was rather an interesting campaign. The Actors' Equity started it by putting the question of Sunday night shows to a vote. New York is about the only major theatrical center in the country that does not permit dramatic performances Sunday night, and we wanted to see how the people felt about it. We printed a coupon in the paper and the replies were five to one in favor of opening the theaters.)

Milwaukee Girl Writes a Play.

Item: "A letter from Kathryn Wallace of Milwaukee, asking me where one should send a newly completed play. Addresses have gone forward, but disappointment, I fear, follows after.

Item: A letter from Rosalie Day Hall, wondering whether I've heard that Marilyn Miller's next production is to be a musical version of "When Knighthood was in Flower," with a Ziegfeld production, a Jerome Kern score and a William Anthony McGuire book. If I had, I had forgotten, and I'm sure it would be grand.

Item: A letter from C. Harrison of Oakley, O. [and a half dozen letters from Cincinnati, O.], in answer to a letter printed some time back from "A Mother" who wants to know if vaudeville isn't cleaner than the movies. And where should she send her growing daughters.

This was also an interesting campaign. So many people answered "A Mother" and so many of them favored vaudeville that I suspected a conspiracy on the part of the vaudeville theaters. But unquestionably a lot of the letters were genuine and their writers sincerely grateful for the high standards the vaudeville theaters do maintain in the character and quality of their bills.

Item: A letter from a gentleman named McGuire, who thinks that any reviewer of plays who doesn't think Earl Carroll's "Sketch Book" is a great show must be too blasé, too tired, too much of a dud to know what he is writing about anyway. And he may be right.

Plays and Such of Ten Years Ago in Chicago Theaters

SUBJOINED are news of and comments on plays and shows printed in The Sunday Tribune of July 20, 1919—the date most nearly corresponding to today. The excerpts are verbatim, and not rewrites or summarizations.

Clyde Fitch's old farce, "The Blue Mouse," in which Miss Mabel Barrison once appeared, has been turned into a musical comedy and renamed "The Little Blue Devil" by Harold Attridge and Harry Carroll. Joe Weber will produce it with Bernard Granville in one of the leading rôles.

Nothing happened as a result of the inspiration. Farce does not offer the best basis for a song-and-dance play.

When the new edition of "Chu Chin Chow" is presented in New York, August 4, Miss Marjorie Wood will have the leading woman's part. She played the rôle of the Desert Woman in the Auditorium production last season. Lionel Braham will play the title-rôle.

Miss Wood and Mr. Braham had the respective rôles in the Chicago engagement, early in 1919. Their New-York predecessors were Miss Florence Reed and Tyrone Power.

Miss Louise Mink, who has been a popular singer in many musical comedies in this section, will become a member of the "Honeymoon Town" cast at the La Salle this week. She succeeds Miss Helen Bolton, who plans to appear next season in Walter Hast's production of "An Exchange of Wives," by Cosmo Hamilton, author of "Scandal."

Changes in the cast did nothing to boom the box-office for "Honeymoon Town," which was not a good piece. . . . And "An Exchange of Wives" did not make the season of 1919-'20 notable.

Somerset Maugham's comedy, "Cæsar's Wife," in which Miss Billie Burke is to appear, has been played 126 times at the Royalty Theater in London. Miss Fay Compton is the star of the London production.

Although written by the gifted Maugham, "Cæsar's Wife" is in the annals of the American stage as merely one of the plays wherein Miss Burke has performed.

Twenty Years Ago

GOING back through the files to twenty years ago, or to the corresponding Sunday of 1909, the interests of theater-goers were catered to in The Tribune of July 18 by the paragraphs that follow.

Powers' Theater will be the first of local playhouses that are shrouded in linens and darkness to re-open for the season of 1909-'10. Monday, August 2, is the date set for the Chicago première of "The Climax," which is to be the inaugural attraction. This simple little play by Edward Locke, with incidental music by Joseph Carl Weil, has been declared unanimously by Eastern critics to be "a gem of purest ray serene," and its New-York success has been the sensational surprise of the Spring and Summer season.

"The Climax" was the cause of a great deal of unnecessary and bewildering noise. It was a flat and stupid little play.

"The Beauty-Spot," a musical comedy by Joseph Herbert and Reginald DeKoven, will succeed "The Blue Mouse" at the Garrick Monday, August 9. It has been one of the joys of the Summer season at the Herald-Square Theater, New York. Jefferson De Angelis and petite Marguerite Clark are the featured players at the present time; but Miss Clark will withdraw from the cast before the Chicago engagement begins.

"The Beauty-Spot" was not highly regarded in Chicago, although it was far from bad as entertainment.

The Olympic will not resume its former vaudeville policy; for, beginning August 29, it will house "The Queen of the Moulin Rouge," a musical entertainment which gained a questionable name for itself during its all-Winter run at the Circle Theater, New-York, last season. It seems likely, however, that Chicago is to be spared the suggestive features which characterized it in the East; for it is promised that, when it is seen at the Olympic, nothing worse than Harry B. Smithiness or Clyde Fitchiness will be in evidence.

"The Queen of the Moulin Rouge" would be regarded as mild, indeed, in 1929; and, as a matter of fact, its offense in 1909 was less that it was dirty than that it was vulgar and inelegant.

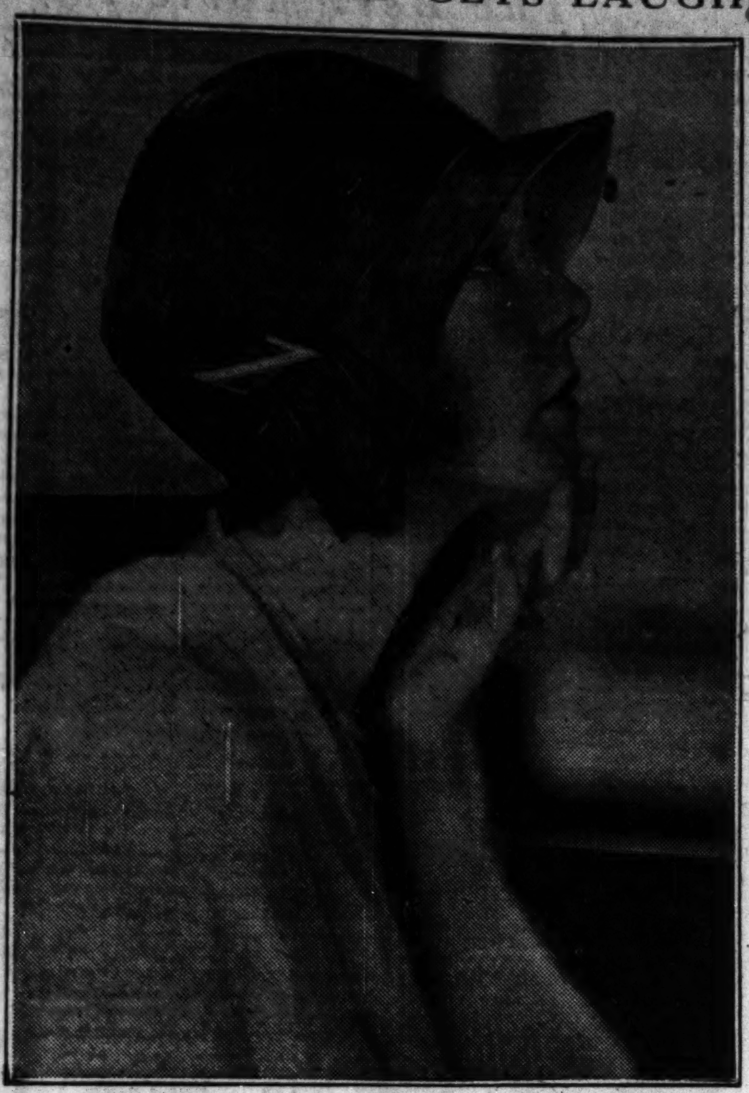
And Toss Away the Key.

Several people we know thought "Maya" was a good play. No one outside district-attorney circles, as far as we could discover, considered it obscene—the mere fact of its having prostitution for its theme not constituting, in an intelligent mind, obscenity. If the stage has any effect on public morals (and it probably has, as what hasn't?), the type of entertainment which should worry a district-attorney should be the gag-stuff in revues and farces which depends for its laugh on a dirty connotation. "Maya" was admittedly a fairly-good play, treated with intelligence and sincerity. It was discontinued because the theater-owner chose not to face the possibility of a year's padlock, under the Wales law. As long as the padlock is to become the symbol of artistic expression, we urge upon some altruistic theater-manager that he boldly meet the challenge, devote his playhouse to art, and let it be padlocked—first making sure that the guardians of public morals are inside. —From the New-Yorker.

Women Who Motor— Freshen Your Skin!

The dirt and dust accumulated on a motor ride get into the pores of your skin, make the complexion dead and dull, and often cause blackheads. You can delightfully refresh your skin and cleanse every particle from the pores by sprinkling a little Calonite powder on a hot, wet cloth and rubbing it gently over the face. Try it tonight before retiring and note the wonderful improvement in your complexion.

LEADS 'EM AND GETS LAUGHS



MISS LUCILE OSBORNE

SHE'S the "captain" or leader of the Donahue-Boyle unit of dancing-girls in "Pleasure-Bound"; but to the audiences in the Grand Opera-House these nights she is one of the comic performers in that revue. The fact is that Miss Osborne goes in for some clowning that has the on-lookers fooled for a time in the first part of the show. Later, she takes applause not only for the clowning, but also for having fooled the crowd.

Ticker-Talkies.

Why not a talking ticker-tapes,
  By Warner Brothers or by Fox,
To vocalize the latest quotes
  Of all the market's active stocks?

When prices are ascending swift,
  Let Galli-Curci trill them out;
When bears are on a rampant rage,
  A thundering bass would boom the rout.

And just imagine at the close
  The thrill that you would have in store
When Barrymore proclaims "That's all
  There is—there isn't any more!"

Film-Director's Son Makes Touch.

"You turn your head slowly as I come in, Dad. Your face lights up with pleasure as you see me. Register pleasure even if it pains! You put aside your paper. You stretch out both arms in welcome. Everything about you shows how tremendously glad you are to see me. You put your arm proudly around my shoulder. You needn't choke me, though! You notice my worried look. You ask me if it's money that worries me. You generously take out your wallet. You withdraw a twenty-dollar bill. A twenty, I said. You ignore my gesture of refusal. You place the money—owooo! All right: I'll get out. But you shouldn't have kicked me, Dad. That isn't in the continuity at all."

A Jessel Experience.

George Jessel says he had an amusing experience. As he tells it, he had not been long in Hollywood from New York when he was accosted by a hale and hearty fellow, who gave him a resounding thwack on the back and bellowed, "Hello, Epstein." The little comedian shook himself and said indignantly, "My name isn't Epstein, it's Jessel. I don't know you and if my name was Epstein is that any reason that you should knock me down?"

The slapper looked at the irate little fellow and answered: "Say, what's it to you, what I do to my friend Epstein?"

Katherine Dale Owen, stage star from New York, playing opposite John Gilbert in "Olympia," was kept a day late in starting on a vacation jaunt by the aviators, Mendell and Reinhart, making their recent endurance record in Los Angeles. The field over which the flyers circled for ten days was near the M-G-M studio. All one day the company tried to get shots of John and Katherine doing a love scene with a dialogue in a pretty little summer house out on the back lot. But Mendell and Reinhart's plane and the other aircraft going up to photograph and refuel it made so much noise that it was of no use.

After wasting a whole day, the studio finally had the little house taken down on the outside lot and transported bodily, vines, roses and all, inside a soundproof stage, within the studio walls.

Helen Hayes, who is here in a stage run of "Coquette," was noticed at an exclusive Hollywood boulevard shop buying pretties of a diminutive size. The interesting event in the family of Helen and her husband Charley MacArthur, dramatist, will not take place however, for a considerable time.

Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer has been trying for some time to give the palpitating femmes of fandom a chance to see William Haines dressed up in a sailor suit. A while back this bright boy was working in "The Gob," which proved too gaa-gaa and the story was thrown overboard. A second start on the same picture suffered a similar fate. Now a third version entitled "Navy Blues" is to go into production. Clarence Brown is to direct. A sea story will be something new for Brown.

IN NEXT WEEK'S NEW SHOW

MISS NA·YAN PEARCE

SHE'S of the Chicago cast of "Follow Thru!" due a week from tomorrow night in the Apollo. Miss Pearce's specific duties in the piece are not known to the writer of this memorandum; but it seems fairly safe to assume that she sings, dances, and speaks lines, for the reason that there are songs, dances, and lines in "Follow Thru!"

Some time during the summer an exhibit of his recent sketches is promised. It will be a most interesting occasion. The two examples I have seen from this trip are fascinating. Mr. Werntz is one of the ablest artists Chicago has.

THE ARMCHAIR PLAYGOER

By Fanny Butcher.

At Ravinia.

On Tuesday the time honored "Faust" will be sung, and that gives armchair playgoers a chance to do a good deal of literary research work. The Faust legend—the bartering of one's soul for one's desires—is not peculiar to Goethe, although he made the most grandly epic use of the material. Marlowe's "The Tragedy of Dr. Faustus" preceded it by two hundred years. In the middle of the century which saw the production of "Dr. Faustus," Calderon, the noted Spanish dramatist, used the same legend for a play called "El Magico Prodigioso" [The Mighty Magician]. The first part of Goethe's "Faust," which is the most direct progenitor of the opera version, was published in 1808. It was literally the life work of the greatest of the German poets and it is unquestionably the greatest epic poem in German, many critics feel in any language. It was projected and partly written in the stormy youthful years between 1773 and 1775. "Faust, a Fragment," appeared in 1790. The second part was completed in 1831, the year before the poet's death. The last version is a dramatic poem, "Festus," by Philip James Bailey, which was published in 1839 and which attracted widespread attention. For a comparison of the four principal versions of the theme and a critical study of them there is no better thing to be found than the chapter on the Faust legend in an excellent book called "World Literature," by the late Prof. Richard Greene Moulton.

JOHN LUTHER LONG.

"Madame Butterfly" will be sung on Thursday night, delighting opera audiences even more than it did many years ago, when it was one of Mr. David Belasco's realistic productions. The opera and the play had their source in a short story with the same plot and title written by John Luther Long. Mr. Long wrote other stories—some of them appear in a volume with "Madame Butterfly," but they are all forgotten and his name is green on account of one short tale only.

NOTES—about books suffering a sea change into something rich and strange for the theater.

"Scarlet Sister Mary," Julia Peterkin's novel, which was awarded the Pulitzer prize recently, has been dramatized by Daniel Reed and is to be presented to Broadway by Ethel Barrymore on New Year's eve. Could anything be funnier to contemplate than a blackface Ethel Barrymore? She is taking the title part. . . . Mrs. Peterkin's previous book, "Black April," is also being dramatized and Arthur Hopkins is, they say, taking over the "Porgy" cast to act in it. . . . A dramatization of "Giants in the Earth," by O. E. Rolvaag, has just been published, but it is not promised for production thus far. . . . Thomas Mitchell, who assisted Floyd Dell in the dramatizing of "An Unmarried Father" in "The Little Accident," has turned Vina Delmar's "Bad Girl" into a play which is listed for fall production.

Playwriting Contest.

The Drama league and Longmans, Green & Co., publishers, are sponsoring for the third year three playwriting contests. All winning plays will be published by Longmans-Green. The full length play which wins the prize will be produced by the New York Theater guild, the winning full length religious play by the Pilgrim players of Evanston, and the winning one act Christmas play by the American Academy of Dramatic Arts. The national judges will be Hatcher Hughes and Kenyon Nicholson, Alexander Dean for the publishers and the New York Theater guild for the producers in the full length play contest. The judges of the Biblical plays will be Dr. Norman L. Richardson, Prof. Harold A. Ehrensberger, and Mrs. A. Starr Best. The purpose of the contests is the discovery of new authors and the development of native American drama.

Speech in Yank Talkies Puzzles Fans in Britain

LONDON.—(AP)—It is spelled the same and it looks the same, but it doesn't sound the same.

The movie going British populace has sadly found this to be true of the English language which both Americans and British claim to speak.

The influx of American made talkies in Great Britain has brought with it the "American accent" which, when slightly distorted through the mechanism of the talking machinery, is practically unintelligible to the Britisher, who says "chawnce" for "chance" and "extrordnry" for "extraordinary."

But the lure of the "cinemas" has proven greater than the inconvenience of not knowing what the hero and heroine are saying and the London picture palaces are crowded daily.

"Grown-ups, too, have caught the fever," bewails the motion picture critic of a London daily, "and to counteract it the development in this country of the manufacture of good talkie films is a matter of national importance. In the whole of England, there is only one feature film showing today in which pure English can be heard."

KONJOLA

The New and Different Medicine

IF you were told that one single medicine had brought relief to thousands of men and women who had suffered from common stomach disorders, indigestion, and general weakness, it would sound impossible, wouldn't it? Yet, it is all true, and this medicine, Konjola, is accomplishing these results right here in Chicago. Reports of amazing relief are described by local proven merit. Konjola is a cleanser for the general neighbors. Get the facts from one of the Konjola Men, listed below.

This new medicine contains the juices of 22 plants and herbs, combined with other medicinal ingredients of proven merit. Konjola is a cleanser for the general system and helps Nature to restore the inner organs to more healthy, normal action.

More Letters from Movie Fans

A Few Words from "Papa."

Dear Miss Mae Tinée:—Your comments on "Mother's Boy" doubtless are just, as to the story, but why particularize, as 95 per cent of all movies insult the intelligence?

This morning I saw one in which a soap box orator within two years grew to be king of the wheat pit, and for love of an ordinary girl, deliberately threw away his gains, calling "tails" on the throw of a coin having two heads. Trouble with you is that you sit aloft and instruct your readers; you are fit, but I doubt their absorbent capacity—in fact, I don't even doubt it.

Fortune keeps me in the 10c and 15c shows, though I avoid rough riders, dogs and Leatrice Joy. But I sit among the crowd, hear their comments, and realize that those ridiculous, impossible situations have, if not their understanding, at least their sympathy, and it is safe to assume that the business end of Hollywood finds profit in sympathy.

When a young man I knew well a brother of Kyrle Bellew and a poor player in a small stock company. To some criticism of mine he replied: "If we can make an audience laugh, weep, or enthuse, the rest can go hang." I never could digest much of Herbert Spencer's writings, but often think while viewing Hollywood comedies there was some verity in one of his remarks: "The American funny man is a national calamity." Yet the crowd about me laugh, laugh, and just laugh. PAPA.

If you would like your letters printed in this column, please write on ONE Side of the paper ONLY. If you want a personal answer send stamped, self-addressed envelope—PLEASE!

Editor's note: Papa, you wrong me. I don't sit aloft. I don't instruct. I merely comment as the spirit moves on what these old eyes have seen.

Here's a Protest.

Dear Miss Tinée: This is a protest against certain incidents in the pictures "The Bellamy Trial" and "Thru Different Eyes."

Both of these films showed close-ups several times of men and women during the trial scenes who at no time were revealed as having any connection with the plot. The Bellamy film picked out at least one man from the rows of spectators and a woman, I believe, to depict them as showing unusual interest, lips twitching and furtive glances, etc., to indicate they were greatly frightened by something that might develop. "In Thru Different Eyes," such a rôle was played by a rather well known player, Nigel Du Briguer, or a name similar.

I am not referring, of course, to those characters who came from the ranks of court fans to take a prominent part in both of these productions. In addition to the high school professor and his sweetheart in the Bellamy case and the young woman, characterized as Elsie Smith, I believe, in "Thru Different Eyes," there were these other extraneous characters who played no part in the dénouement.

Honest detective story writers, you know, do not drag in persons to confuse and mystify and then wind up without explaining their part in the happenings. It's not cricket, Miss Tinée. Let's get up a petition or have a tag day for these film players who seemingly must be employed whether the picture needs them or not.

Sincerely, E. J. PEARSON.

That's Certain.

A mountain school teacher corrected a boy who said, "I ain't gwine thar."

"That's no way to talk. Listen: 'I am not going there; thou are not going there; he is not going there; we are not going there; you are not going there; they are not going there.' Do you get the idea?"

"Yessur. They ain't nobody gwine!" H. J. B.

Sings on De Cracks.

There was once a woman who thought she had a wonderful voice. She had a foreigner as her accompanist while she sang. Becoming disgusted one day, he cried: "I play on de white keys and I play on de black keys, but you sing on de cracks!" I. G.

Moss on 'Em.

"Did you write all those jokes in your book?

"Sure—all of them."

"Allow me to compliment you; you are much older than I thought you were." J. G. V. B.

Tit for Tat.

A fellow from a big town came to a smaller city the other day just to look around and find fault. He approached a fruit stand, picked up a large melon, and asked with a sneer: "Is this the largest apple you have in Chicago?"

"Hey," bellowed the owner of the stand, "put that grape down." C. G.

Good Method.

Waiter (to customer)—How do you want your eggs?

Customer—Make any difference in the price?

Waiter—No.

Customer—Then cook 'em with a slice of ham. E. R.

The Best Movie I Ever Saw

If you will tell us what movie, in your opinion, rates above all the others you've seen, and why this particular movie is deserving of praise, we'll pay $1 for your letter if we print it. Address Best Movies, Chicago Tribune.

More Close Harmony!

The best movie I have ever seen was the talking picture starring Nancy Carroll and Charles [Buddy] Rogers entitled "Close Harmony." It was so true to life and the unsophisticated and youthful vigor that these two persons displayed made it very realistic and equally interesting. The musical score I thought was the best part and I will always be simply wild about the singing of Nancy Carroll and Charles Rogers. Also, enough could not be said of the harmonious singing of "Skeets" Gallagher and Jack Oakie. Me for more like "Close Harmony." A. G. Z.

Jannings at His Best.

The best movie I have ever seen is "Betrayal." Emil Jannings, so human in all his pictures, struggling between a great father love and jealousy in this picture is truly at his best.

That scene on the mountain where he is pulling his son back. Well I sat on the edge of the seat and pulled, too.

The role of the wife and the lover were well played and the two little boys were "darlings."

"Incomparable."

So often today we forget that there are thousands of people living the hardest life possible, the life of an ex-convict. "Weary River" presents this side of life perfectly.

To me "Weary River" is incomparable. It is a story of real life which I have never seen equally pictured before. It is the first time I have realized what the life of an ex-convict must be. He has great hopes which are dashed to pieces by humans unmindful of another person's feelings. Life is hard on most of us, but in "Weary River" every one has a splendid opportunity to sympathize with the ex-convict instead of regarding him as an outcast of society.

The song "Weary River" is really half the play and Richard Barthelmess sings and portrays it perfectly.

If you have not already seen the play, do not miss it. It is not only Richard Barthelmess' greatest production, but the best movie I have ever seen. L. W.

"Covered Wagon" an Epic.

Like most urban Americans I enjoy "roughing it," either actually or vicariously. Consequently one of my greatest pleasures is to see a movie depicting the "winning of the west."

Such being the case, it may well be seen why I considered "The Covered Wagon" the greatest film ever produced. I shall never forget some of the striking scenes of the picture, especially the crossing of the Missouri river and the fight with the Indians. Then, too, I shall always have in my mind's eye the principal characters of the production, particularly dashing Warren Kerrigan and demure Lois Wilson.

To me "The Covered Wagon" is one of the many celluloid epics we ought to preserve in the historical archives of our country. J. L. A.

Modernists Dominate Current Shows

Cooling Devices Make Institute Summer Resort

By Eleanor Jewett.

Last Thursday the summer exhibitions were opened formally in the east wing galleries of the Art institute. However, first mention must go to the splendid success which has crowned the efforts of the Art institute in making these galleries cool. They used to be the hottest spot in Chicago on a hot day. A giant fan has been installed, and various other devices, with the result that a cooling and refreshing breeze sweeps constantly through the rooms and the temperature never goes above a comfortable level. The sincerest congratulations and appreciation are in order to the men who are responsible for the delightful change.

So the summer shows are now a pleasure to review. In fact, there is almost a temptation to stay with them longer, much longer, than is necessary. The hot and dusty streets outside have nothing half as attractive to tempt one as what you may find in the cool lengths of the picture covered walls. Interesting traps to catch the attention have been spun this year with these exhibits. There is not as much sheer beauty offered as in former years, but challenges bristle on every hand. Letting the loan collections go for the moment, consider first the one-man shows.

A Few Impressions.

It is amusing to fire off impressions. In very brief, the Macena Barton paintings are brisk (vigorous, sincere, honest and robust); the Eda Sterchi paintings are delicate (charming, wistful, exquisite); the William S. Schwartz paintings are restless (turbulent, clever, exhausting); the Frances Foy and the Gustav Dalstrom paintings are depressing (like blotting paper when it is soggy); fogged with repressed sentiment, hothoused in the forcing grounds of modernism; steeped in the gray palette of melancholy days and the development of poor specimens of humanity. The Claude Buck paintings, which are scheduled, were not hung when I saw the exhibits on Monday.

Of the five painters whose exhibits I have seen, four are Modernists. One, Eda Sterchi, may or may not be; from her exhibit she would seem to be a conservative, painting in a gay manner her impressions of the romantic people and streets of Tunis. Her paintings are small in size but enormous in atmosphere; they are delightful paragraphs in a story of travel. Other painters have brought back similar treasure from Tunis and Algiers, but Miss Sterchi presents her impressions with never a thought of those who have gone before her. She has a great delight in sheer white, with against it the green plume of a palm. Her "Desert Tomb," "Oasis: Nefta," and "Mosque at Sidi Bou Said" illustrate the simplicity with which she imprisons values of great worth. Among the other most pleasurable of her impressions are "Boy with Pomegranate Blossom," "A Desert Market: Nefta," "Street—Sidi Bou Said," "Home—Sidi Bou Said," and "Camels."

Miss Barton's Paintings Robust.

Across from these shimmering butterflylike paintings, are the robust paintings by Macena Barton. Miss Barton has an unfailing flair for strong color and sturdy composition. She paints in a sure manner. Her lines are good, her compositions unaffected. It is rather as if she were afraid of delicacy or sentiment, and, to be sure to avoid those feminine foibles, wrapped herself in a masculine greatcoat and armed herself with an ax—and then went gardening.

The result of her most vehement efforts is beauty. She strikes hard, but her blows are all for the best. She prunes relentlessly and her work is the stronger for the simplification. She knows what she is doing, what effect she is working for, and how to get it. There is anything but ignorance back of those consciously simply arranged figures. The "Salome" reaches, possibly, the highest point of beauty. There is exquisite brushwork in those jewels and beautiful painting in that flesh. There are all sorts of insinuated wickednesses in those half-shut eyes and the tilted face. Salome is not a dim figure in biblical history, but a creature of whims and jealousies and sudden gusts of passion. Miss Barton has caught her justly in her fascinating portrait.

Stunning Study of Woman.

The "Geraniums" is another stunning study of a woman, effective, red-blooded. Her "Self Portrait" is a brilliant piece of color and effrontery. Often artists painting themselves sentimentalize a bit; not so Miss Barton. Her portrait has a devil-may-care look; a sweeping and dashing flavor of the buccaneer—it is much less calm, for instance, than the neighboring rather stolid, though handsome, likeness of Mojica. The portrait of her father is equally carelessly dashed off, no feeling, but lots of gusto and Fourth of July sentiment. This is not derogatory criticism; the portraits are full of a difficult to describe young femininity at bay—challenging life and the world and itself and anything that gets in the way of that self. They are like torrents of cold water sluicing your spirit, or a piercing cold wind surprisingly hurtling against your face on a hot day.

The "Sunday Morning" is a delightfully prim painting, and so is the "Sisters." The still life of the "Rubber Plant" is just one of those things that are, and "Reflections" is possibly the most popularly tuned painting in the group, a really gorgeously beautiful nude back, splendidly done, belonging to a pretty woman whose face looks at you from the mirror in her hand.

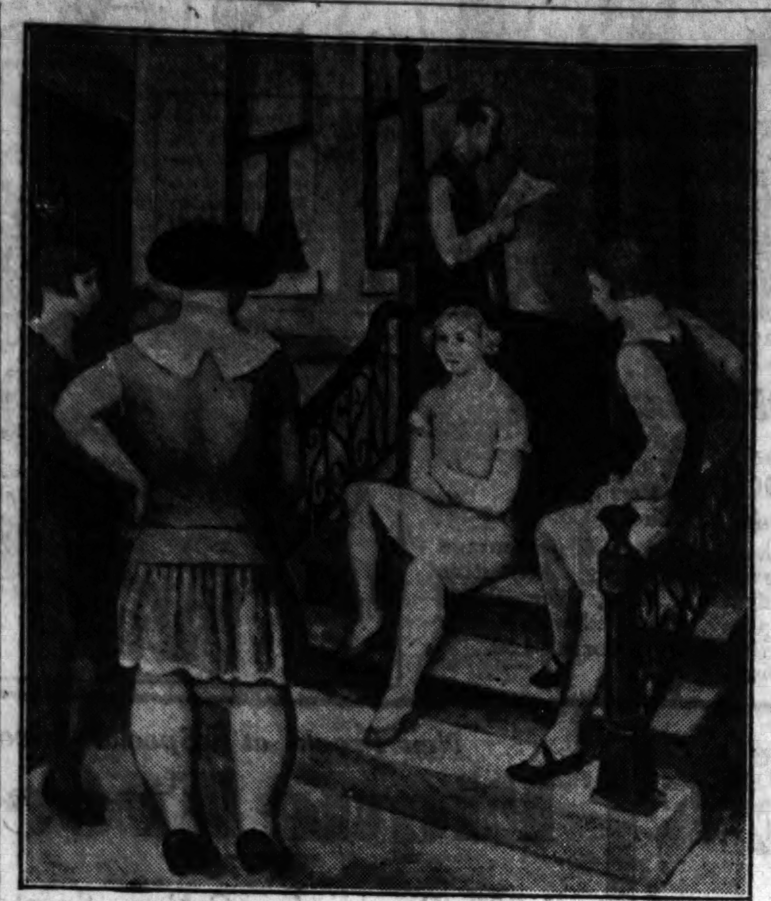
Atmosphere Drops.

When we go to the gallery where hang the paintings by William S. Schwartz, Frances Foy, and Gustaf Dalstrom the atmosphere perceptibly drops. On one hand there is the turbulent and violent dark-possessed Mr. Schwartz and on the other the a little faded, a little strained, a little artificial, more than a little melancholy Miss Foy and Mr. Dalstrom. It is odd, too, that Frances Foy and Gustaf Dalstrom should affect one like this, for they are two of our most eager and ardent young modernists. They are afire with the blaze of novelty. The tracks of conservatism are of no use to them. They both are keen in the business of breaking new trails.



"FRONT STEPS," by Gustaf Dalstrom, to be found in the one-man exhibit of Mr. Dalstrom's paintings in the east wing galleries of the Art institute. He shares a gallery with Frances Foy and William S. Schwartz. The Art institute summer shows opened Thursday and some of them will continue through Oct. 14.

Their new trails, however, are sad affairs. Just look at that line of pictures. The gayest bit of color and the sincerest piece of atmosphere (if atmosphere comes by the piece) is Frances Foy's "The Cheese Vender," with its conquering yellow canopy. Where again is that point touched? Her portrait of Beatrice Levy is clever work, but is not it too sadly infected with the germ of melancholia? Is it not depressing—that undercurrent of minor colors, that fear of gayety, that hunger for suppressing beauty and life?

Frances Foy is responsible for several paintings of persons and things. There is one capital still life. But compare it and its grayness with the capital little still-life, exquisite in color and beautiful in painting, by Edward T. Grigware, one of the treasures in Paul Schulze's loan collection in a farther room. There is no comparison. The Grigware painting wipes out the stolid arrangement by Miss Foy just as a rainbow wipes out all thought of the puddle and rain left at your feet. It is the butterfly and the grub; the bud and the flower; the trouble seems to be that the modernist school to which Miss Foy belongs has not discovered either flower or butterfly yet, or if they have discovered them they keep it a secret. They walk in their own sense of beauty, as impossible for the conservative to see as were the Emperor's new clothes for the demanding infant.

Merit but No Enthusiasm.

Dalstrom is one with Miss Foy in running the gaunt gray wolf of suppression into its lair and there being mothered by it as were the Roman twins of historic legend. He shows us a simple "Portrait" that has merit but no enthusiasm. He gives us "Front Steps," a comic group in color, and the skaters who have less of the comic and the colorful about them but are not much more impressive for all that. Look at a Karl Krafft winter scene of skaters, for instance, and you will realize how far short in snap and zest and vitality and cold good cheer, Mr. Dalstrom falls.

But the most prevailing atmosphere given off by these paintings is one of sadness and frustration, a perfectly absurd feeling to have concerning these two particular painters for they are doing just what they want to and in their own way. It makes one think that Modernism here again is being a hard task-master.

Across from these are the Schwartz paintings. Again we find Modernism rampant, but a different type of Modernism. Mr. Schwartz enjoys his painting. His pleasure leaks through into the canvases. He must have had rare pleasure in painting "Pat's Pig" and "Kitty's Lunchroom" for example and he must have enjoyed the old toper, too, with his magic bottle of dissolving dreams. And the fantastic cubist-flavored group of two girls, he must have liked that. In truth Mr. Schwartz paints richly and enthusiastically.

Mercolized Wax Keeps Skin Young

DO you know that just beneath that soiled, discolored, faded or aged complexion is one fair to look upon? Nature causes the normal skin to peel off in tiny, unseen, flour-like particles, a little each day, renewing the complexion of youth naturally, but there comes a time when this skin shedding slows up. Worry, overwork, sickness, inactivity are reasons that cause the face to be blotchy, discolored, pimply and old looking. The thing to do, if you wish to look your prettiest at all times, is to assist nature in the process of absorption by using pure Mercolized Wax. Get an ounce at any drug store or beauty counter and use as directed. It gently but surely peels away the outer scarf skin, removing freckles, pimples, blackheads or a muddy complexion. The underneath skin, now in evidence, is clear, pink, fresh and velvety, and the entire face looks years younger. Mercolized Wax brings out the hidden beauty.

To quickly remove wrinkles and other age lines we recommend a face lotion of unusual merit. One ounce powdered saxolite and one-half pint witch hazel.

Joyous Summer Refreshment
—so convenient to serve—so delicious!

Fruit Punch: To one pint of Welch's add the juice of one orange and two lemons and dissolve a cup of sugar in it. Then add two pints of water and serve cold. —Enough for twenty punch cups.

With Lemonade: A real thrill awaits you in your first glass of Welch lemonade. The glowing purple juice gives new charm, new taste, new pleasure.

With Sparkling Water: Welch's blends deliciously with other fruit juices—and is particularly appealing if you add sparkling water. It picks you up and refreshes you.

With Ginger Ale: Partly fill tumblers with Welch's—then fill with ginger ale. Chill well before serving. —A subtle blend that men especially appreciate.

For Breakfast: Fruit nourishment, energy value, mineral salts your body needs—all these are present in the juice of luscious Concords. —And what an eye-opener, what a time-saver! A pint serves five; more if diluted, and some prefer it so. Try it for tomorrow's breakfast. A welcome change!

Whence Came 'Dixie'? From a 10 Dollar Bill!

"Dix," Said the Tenspot, Talking in French.

By J. Frank Aldrich.

WHO knows the origin of the word "Dixie?" How many can tell the story of the song? One "authority" indicates that the word "Dixie" had something to do with the "Mason and Dixon line," that imaginary line which before the civil war separted the free states from the slave states.

Another "authority" indicates that the word "Dixie" was derived from a New York slave owner named Dix who sold his slaves into the south, much to their sorrow, and who mourned for their old home and master back in New York.

Still another "authority" was quite sure that the name sprang from the song "I wish I was in Dixie," but that theory, like the others referred to, seems to me to be utterly untenable. Certainly the word "Dixie" antedated the song "I wish I was in Dixie." As to the "Mason and Dixon line," which took its name from two English astronomers, Charles Mason and Jeremiah Dixon, who made the survey to establish the boundary reported under the Missouri compromise and in the Louisiana purchase, there would seem to be no ground for thinking that that situation had anything to do with it, although, as Dr. W. A. Evans of THE TRIBUNE and an old Mississippian said to me, "the word Dixie and the sentiment controlled by 'I wish I was in Dixie' were in wide use and favor long before 1859, and it is quite likely that more than one circumstance contributed to tie up the word and the sentiment, and it is likely, too, that many assumed that the word came from "Mason and Dixon line." This suggestion, however, does not appeal to me as having any foundation in fact and I have dismissed it as a theory too remote for consideration. No more does the suggestion that it came about through the sale and transfer to the south of slaves by a New Yorker named Dix and that in their lamentations they composed a song "I wish I was in Dixie."

Came from French "Dix" Notes.

The lead given me by John Fox, now of Chicago but a native of Louisiana, seemed to promise the more logical explanation. His understanding was that the word "Dixie" originated among the planters whose pay for their cotton in early days was made in large part with the old ten dollar private bank notes which, because of the large French population about New Orleans in those days, were printed in French and on both sides of which was the word DIX [pronounced dees and meaning ten]. It was the most popular form of currency then in circulation in that part of the country, so DIX continued to grow in favor and it wasn't long before the Mississipple region became known as "the land of the dixies," finally being dubbed "Dixie Land."

At the suggestion of Fox I addressed a letter to Walter Paker of the New Orleans chamber of commerce, who it was suggested might be able to throw further light on the subject. My letter was referred by him to the curator of the Louisiana state museum, Robert Glenk, who says:

"The Citizens bank (which had been referred to by Mr. Fox as the bank of issue of the currency referred to) was organized in 1833 and ceased to exist on Jan. 30, 1911. Indeed, the Citizens bank was so closely identified with the south that it gave it the name Dixie Land since preserved in the famous southern war song, 'Dixie.' It came about in this way: Prior to the civil war the Citizens bank had the power to issue paper money notes just as the Bank of England does today. These bills were issued in denominations of $10 and $20, but preferably $10 to the extent of a few millions. These were known and good all over the country. These $10 bills were engraved in French, and on the backs was the French word DIX very prominent, and the ignorant Americans living along the upper Mississippi river, not knowing how to pronounce the French word, called the bills 'Dixies.' Finally the bank's money became so popular that Louisiana was referred to as 'The land of the Dixies,' or 'Dixie Land.' Afterwards the term was made to apply to all the southern states."

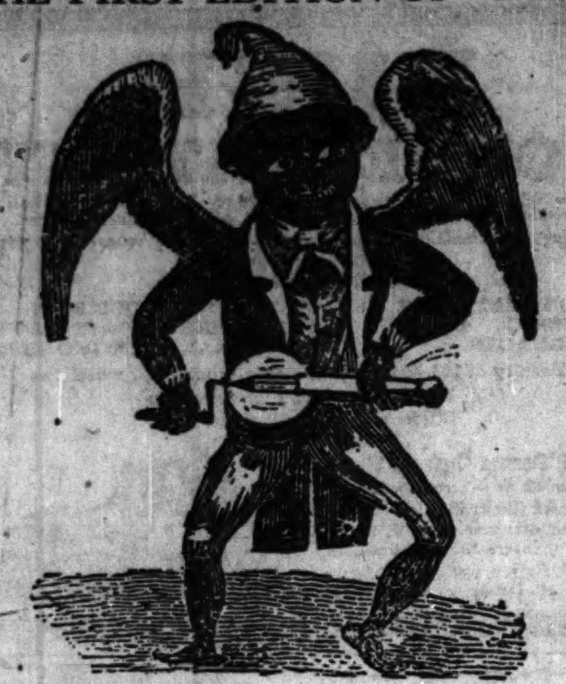
Composed by Daniel Emmett.

The original song, "Dixie Land," was composed in 1859 by Daniel Decatur Emmett, as a "walkaround" for Bryant's Minstrels. He had frequently heard the expression "I wish I was in Dixie" and embodied it in the song. This crude song was afterwards rewritten by Gen. Albert Pike, who gave it the dash of the thrilling battle song which will live in history with the fate of "Dixie Land."

In New Orleans, early in the war, a performance was given in which it was necessary to find a war song for the chorus and after many had been tried out, "Dixie" was adopted. It spread like wildfire and soon spread to the battlefields where it becamo the great song of the southern soldier.

THE FIRST EDITION OF "DIXIE"



DIXIE'S LAND.

I wish I was in de land ob cotton,
Cimmon seed 'an sandy bottom—

In Dixie's Land whar I was born in,
Early on one frosty mornin.

Chor.—Look away—look 'way—Dixie Land.

Chorus—Den I wish I was in Dixie,
Hooray—Hooray!

In Dixie's Land we'll took our stand
To lib and die in Dixie. (Repeat

Away—away down South in Dixie?

Old Missus Marry Will de weaber,
William was a gay deceaber;

Look away, etc.

When he put his arm around 'er,
He look as fierce as a forty pounder,

Look away, etc.

Chorus—Den I wish I was in Dixie, etc

His face was sharp like bucher's cleaber
But dat didn't seem to grieb her;

Look away. etc.

Will run away—Missus took a decline, oh
Her face was de color ob bacon-rine-oh!

Look away, etc.

Chorus—Den I wish I was in Dixie, etc

How, could she act such a foolish part,
As marry a man dat break her heart?

Look away, etc,

Chorus—Den I wish I was in Dixie, et

Here's a health to de next old Missus,
And all de galls dat wants to kiss us;

Look away, etc.

Now if you want to dribe away sorrow,
Come and hear dis song to-morrow!

Look away, etc.

Chorus—Den I wish I was in Dixie, etc.

Sugar in de gourd and stonny batter,
De whites grow fat an de niggers fatter!

Look away, etc.

Den hoe it down and scratch your grabble,
To Dixie's Land I'm bound to trabble,

Look away, etc.

Chorus—Den I wish I was in Dixie, etc

Hopkins, printer, 823 Tchoupitoulas-street, New-Orleans.

A FACSIMILE of what is believed to be the first appearance in print of the song of the south, "Dixie Land." This facsimile was sent to Mr. Aldrich by Robert Glenk, curator of the Louisiana state museum.

Ex-Sultan's Son, a Cafe Violinist, Lives in Squalor

BUDAPEST.—(AP)—Once an heir to splendor, Prince Abdul Kadir of Turkey, son of the late Sultan Abdul Hamid, is making a bare living here as one of the violins in an Hungarian gypsy orchestra. He receives $2 a night for playing in a café, and on this pittance must support six of his children and the last of his seven wives, as well as pay alimony to one of his former spouses.

He has tried his hand at composing and has produced, among other works, a military hymn which he said he would dedicate to the man who shall restore the Turkish monarchy. He has also completed two operettas, four tangos and a barcarole, and has attempted jazz in the form of half a dozen fox trots.

But there is no market here for this production. He has found Hungary glutted with gypsy airs and folk songs and with no demand for classical operatic forms or syncopations of the Tin Pan Alley school.

Lives in Squalor.

Sitting in a dark, dingy room on the top floor of a ramshackle tenement in the Ghetto of Budapest, where he lives in squalor with his wife and six children, the 50 year old prince chatted with the Associated Press correspondent about the opulence in which he was born and the misery to which he has come.

"I was born in a golden cradle," said the prince, his haggard face showing traces of the bitter privations he has borne since Turkey expelled his father. "I was born not only with the traditional silver spoon in my mouth, but with jewels on my hands and rubies on my feet. But today I have scarcely a roof over my head, and am glad when I can earn enough as a musician to buy bread for my wife and children.

"There have been many nights when we have gone to bed without a morsel to eat. The money and jewels which my father left me have long since been sold, as has also my fine Stradivarius violin which my father gave me when I became of age."

Gets $2 a Night.

The prince, who spoke in faultless French, explained that it was very difficult to get employment in a country which has not enough work even for its own musicians.

"I am now playing in a café for $2 a night. When I go home in the early morning hours after my twelve hours' work, I jot down notes which I afterwards try on my violin to see how they fit with present day jazz music."

Although reduced almost to beggary, this former sultan's son retains all the manners and graces of court life. He is excessively polite, and soft spoken. He feels it to be no disgrace to have become an ordinary musician.

Abdul Kadir had means when he fled from Turkey, but three years of extravagant living brought him to the edge of the abyss. His six wives deserted him. The latest Irene Irmer, a Hungarian ballet girl whom the prince married at the age of 17, divorced him and later obtained a judgment for alimony for herself and her baby. Four others ran away with Hungarians.

His first wife, Madjida Sultana, by whom he had three children, fled to Smyrna and will soon marry a wealthy Turkish merchant there. The prince's present wife, Princess Muzide, who is 18 and ravishingly beautiful, threatens to leave him and take her six months old baby with her.

Waters Imperil Great Cathedral of Mexico City

MEXICO CITY.—(AP)—Holding of the first religious services, following settlement of the government's dispute with the Roman Catholic church in the great national cathedral of Mexico City, an event looked forward to by millions of the devout, failed to materialize because of the dangerous condition of the four-century old shrine. For years it has been threatened with partial collapse.

The massive cathedral, said to be the largest and oldest on the American continent, has been closed for weeks with workmen busy in its repair. It likely will require months, perhaps a year, thoroughly to strengthen it and repair the ravages of time and the elements on the beloved shrine.

Collapse Feared.

The suggestion that the cathedral be thrown open, despite its condition, for the resumption of services, was given careful consideration, but finally votoed because it was feared this act might cause collapse of the cathedral, endangering thousands of lives.

Announcement has been made that the repairs may cost as much as $1,000,000. Much of this money will be spent in damming underground streams which have washed away the supports of the great mass of stone and caused it to settle at an incongruous angle.

These streams, together with a great lake of mud underlying Mexico City, often wreck the best laid plans of builders and architects here, sometimes within a few years after construction. The slight subterranean shocks, often felt in Mexico City, usually start and then help along the sinking process.

Plan to Sink Caissons.

Beneath the cathedral it is planned to sink great caissons down to the underground currents, and into these pour tons of cement for the combined purpose of damming the destructive waters and of supplying a solid base for the cathedral supports.

Once this is done, the workmen will attempt to straighten the inside supports of the building and will try to rectify in some respect the slanting walls. Cracks caused by the settling will be patched later.

The cathedral, occuupying one entire side of the national plaza or Zocalo, is probably the most famous memorial of the conquistadores of New Spain. Started soon after the conquest on the site of, and with stone taken from, a great Aztec pyramid, the shrine was more than a hundred years in building. A large part of it is constructed of hewn volcanic stone, brought to the spot by the Aztecs or their predecessors, the Toltecs.

SHOW RING AT FORT SHERIDAN.

THE horse show given recently at Fort Sheridan for the benefit of the Army Relief society was attended by a large assemblage of military and social notables from Chicago and the north shore suburbs. Mrs. Ralph R. Richardson's party included her son, John D. Richardson III., her daughters, Mrs. Frederick Spencer, and Miss Frances Richardson, and Miss Christy Mann. Mrs. Press Hodgkins watched the contests with her sister, Miss Florence Carr, and Miss Carr's house guest, Miss Gretchen Bremer.

Record Breaking Parties Begin One Day and Finish the Next

By Mme. X.

IT'S a gay and amusing world that enjoys life in the countryside about Chicago. The ball starts rolling betimes in the mornings and sometimes continues rolling until well after sunrise the next day. Fourth o' July was so conveniently dated this year that it could be stretched to cover a good, long week-end, which began Wednesday afternoon and stretched on for four grand days of holiday junkets.

There were in that period two record breaking parties in Lake Forest where merriment reigned from one day until well into the next one. The house warming dance, given July 5 by the William E. Clows Jr., was at the beginning threatened by disaster in the shape of a forbidding rain which soused the charming outdoor platform set with little tables and adorned with beautiful globes of light arranged in clusters like bunches of grapes or huge oranges. The first guests to arrive found a charming interior, but outside, what seemed like a tragedy under the trees that shade the terrace, where the dance floor had been laid and which glistened with the rainfall.

Without a Wink.

But Dame Nature isn't so cruel as we think, and by 1 a. m. the platform was dry enough for the terpsichoreans. The music was moved outside and from then on until breakfast was served at 6 o'clock, the company made merry. One guest, a well known citizen, adjourned direct from the Clow mansion to the Onwentsia club where he took a dip in the swimming pool, dressed, had breakfast and departed for town without a wink of sleep.

The following night another gay party was staged in the same festive community, when the William V. Kelleys gave a dance for their son, Gordon Kelley, and his friends. The Kelley's place is a spacious and beautiful estate on Green Bay road, a charming setting for a ball. Mr. and Mrs. Kelley retired at what seemed to them like a late hour and evidently found rest and sleep, for the host was surprised, on descending the next morning for his breakfast at 9 o'clock, to find some of the guests still there in "glad rags," and enjoying their morning coffee. It's a long candle that can be so burned at both ends and yet have a middle that will assure the continuance of light and life.

Another festive occasion was a farewell dinner given by one of the most delightfully humorous and imaginative hostesses in Chicago in honor of a prominent and popular couple about to sail for that festive French watering place, Dinard. The rest of the guests were asked to bring for them the most useless possible farewell gifts. One brought a bowl of goldfish; another presented the departing pair with carefully made out printed cards admitting them to the privileges of various clu in remote sections of this country, i cluding Oshkosh, Nome, Saskatchewa and so forth.

The hostess gave them a hen in cage with a new laid egg to comple the picture. The hen added to th joy of the occasion by cackling duri the whole evening. One couple can late wheeling an empty baby carriag It is needless to say "that a pleasa time was had by all," and the mer ment continued well into the night.

The season when North Shore ga dens are thrown open to the public drawing to a close. The opportunit to see some of the charming country places which are such a feature of Chicago's surrounding countryside is a privilege which should be appreciated and cherished by those who make use of it. It has up to now been used with care and consideration by most of those who avail themselves of it. It is a matter of regret that it is beginning to be abused by a small, but definite element, in a manner which may result in making owners of fine places reluctant to open them to unknown visitors.

Inquisitive Strangers.

Recently Mrs. William McCormick Blair's lovely garden was one of the quartette shown to Saturday visitors by the Lake Forest Garden club. Warned by others who had recently permitted their places to be on view, Mrs. Blair was careful to have every door and window fastened to keep out the over inquisitive. Visitors were there in great numbers, trying the doors and peering through the windows, into the rooms, many of which are on the ground floor. Seeking privacy in the upper story during the inspection of the wandering throngs, Mrs. Blair found a strange woman exploring her bedroom. Asking how she got in, Mrs. Blair was informed that the intruder had at last, after much prying, found one window with a catch unloosed through which she had made her way. She was promptly escorted down stairs and out.

But the incident was one more of many that may tend to make owners of fine estates unwilling to give the inquisitive public an opportunity of visiting their gardens, which would be a real deprivation to many, to whom a sight of a blooming and beautifully laid out place is a real inspiration and delight.

It is not the first season that those who have given their gardens to public inspection have been so annoyed. I remember one Lake Forest house and garden owner, who a few years ago described his irritation when, on one of these open days, he had retired to read in his library, only to be disturbed by seeing a lot of strangers peering into the room, cupping their eyes with their hands the better to scan the room and its contents, and viewing him as if he were some strange, wild animal, instead of being, as he was, the generous owner of a lovely place thrown open to the public for a fine Saturday afternoon. He was forced on a perfect summer day to pull all his curtains and light his lamps in order to go on with his reading.

Back to the Farm.

In an age and environment where the universal tendency is to move from one setting to a new one, spurning the past with an indifferent kick, Mrs. John A. Carpenter maintains her well earned reputation for originality and for following her own inclinations. Having cherished a desire to make the acquaintance of Lake Michigan and also to contract her immediate surroundings, a few years ago she gave up the spacious, high ceilinged old mansion on Rush and Huron streets and took her belongings and household to a small apartment on the outer drive, overlooking the lake. She soon found that the smaller quarters irked her and that the lake was noisy and dreary company. So now she and Mr. Carpenter are returning to her old stamping ground at 700 Rush street on Aug. 1.

A Rainy Day Trip.

On one of the rainiest days that have so far beset the summer and made it one of the greenest ever known hereabouts the X family made an expedition to Geneva, Ill., drawn there by hearing of its quaint charm and other attractions, including a famous tea-gift-house-shop. Down poured the rain with increasing fervor. Swirls of water on either side of the road rose from our rubber-tired wheels in huge waves. Lightning flashed and thunder bellowed, but having started out for a certain goal we did not know how to turn around and go to our comfortable, water-tight abodes, so on and on we sped. At any rate we said to ourselves, we'll find nobody else there.

Little did we know human nature. There were lots of people when we reached our goal—moist, inquiring, searching they knew not what; they swarmed through those charming low ceilinged rooms, fingering the various articles, examining everything, while outside the rain came down harder and harder. We had, however, a delightful visit there and enjoyed the excursion.

Geneva, Ill., lies between St. Charles and Batavia, resembling not a little a prim, self-respecting New England spinster sitting between a horny handed son of toil and a hardworking man of business. Its houses have a distinctly New England quality. Its streets are shaded and orderly. Even its shops look quiet and aloof. Its main business street might be in Lime, Conn., or Deerfield, Mass., so quaint are they. The town has that indefinable quality called "charg." One of its most famous residents is Colonel Fabyan, the great authority on the deadening of sound. His place on the Fox river, that runs through Geneva, is the goal of innumerable visitors from all over the world. It has many curious features, among which are his monkeys and collection of wild animals scattered in cages about his estate.

Works for Worthy Ideals.

He himself is a remarkable personality, a man who, once met, is never likely to be forgotten. Of medium height, well built, white haired, with a well-cut beard and flashing dark eyes, he has a vivid manner that holds one's attention as he describes his pet hobby, the abolishment of useless sound. He has attached to his house an experiment station where he tests every device that is offered for the protection of human nerves from one of our era's worst by-products, noise.

Adam and Eve lived in a world that knew not noise as we know it in modern cities. In fact, it was only with the introduction of machinery less than a century ago that the metallic clamor that escorts so much of today's life became not only the background but even a part of the very fabric of today's life. In an age that so carefully guards our water supplies; that enacts laws protecting us from impure food and tainted milk; that is constantly improving our disposal of garbage; that seems inclined to abolish flies and mosquitoes; in short, that is constantly on the lookout to make our lives safer and more agreeable, the continuance of the infernal clamor that night and day invades our lives both in cities and neighboring countrysides, to the destruction of our finely adjusted nervous systems, is contradictory of all professions of concern as to the welfare of modern mankind.

No matter how oblivious one may be of this hideous racket it is nevertheless battering at our brains and undermining the fine balance which our nervous systems establish between matter and mind.

And one of the most intolerable and senseless forms of this noise mania which afflicts us as a nation is our method of celebrating the Fourth o' July. From all over the country come complaints of the unbearable and protracted clamor of this Independence day of 1929. Every community in the length and breadth of the land should take the matter up and see to it that nothing like it ever happens again.

Engagement Announced.

News from the east last week announced the engagement of lovely Louise Winterbotham to George McKay Schieffelin of New York and Morristown. Miss Winterbotham is the daughter of Joseph Winterbotham of Burlington, Vt., and Mrs. Eleanor Hall Winterbotham of New York City. The bride-to-be is a lovely, slender blonde, young, intelligent and generally beloved. She has taken a two years' course of nursing at the Presbyterian hospital in New York. For one year her cousin, Miss "Ginny" Carpenter, daughter of the John Alden Carpenters, was a student with her there.

When married the young couple will live in Morristown, where Mr. Schieffelin is in business. He is the grandson of Charles Scribner, the well known publisher, and is in that firm.

Mrs. Winterbotham spent last winter abroad, part of the time in her apartment in Paris and part of the time visiting friends, among whom were the Roy McWilliamses, who have a lovely place near Biarritz. She also was the guest of Mrs. Hugh J. McBirney in the beautiful villa the latter occupies each winter on the heights overlooking Florence. Mrs. Winterbotham likewise spent ten days at Warsaw, whither she went to attend the wedding of Charles Dewey's daughter, Miss Suzette Dewey, to young Frederick Alger.

Mrs. Winterbotham and her daughter are now with the former's mother, Mrs. Edward J. Hall, at Morristown, N. J. In August, however, Mrs. Winterbotham is going to New York, where she is following so many other capable and enterprising women of today by going into the decorating business.

English women set the fashion for this thirty years ago. At that time, however, interior decorating had not been made a profession and those earlier women, seeking an outlet for their energies and a source of income, used to set up millinery shops on Bond street in London. They established the custom of serving tea there and these smart little establishments became the chic rendezvous for London's gayest set.

Today it has become so accepted a thing for a woman who wants to do so to go into business that those of the fashionable world who do so are merely joining a large throng of their kind, though the writer confesses that when any of her friends does take such a step she is always thrilled and wishes them success from the bottom of her heart.

Journalists Visit Chicago.

Interesting visitors last week were the eleven visiting journalists who stopped in Chicago for a couple of days. They were twelve when they started for this country, but one of them, while taking photographs in the Yellowstone park, stepped backward into a geyser and was so badly burned that he died in a day or two after much suffering.

The writer met two of these tourists, Dr. Bihlman from Latvia and Mr. Petridis, a Greek newspaper man who makes his home in Paris but is correspondent for a Greek paper. It was interesting to get their viewpoint on modern conditions as seen here. Dr. Bihlman expressed wonder at the efficiency with which the average American woman drives an automobile, saying that in his country only one or two women can do so.

His is such a newly created country that it was interesting to learn that its chief national impulse and direction comes from an American, Dr. Karl Ulmanis, formerly professor at the University of Nebraska. He is called "the founder of Latvia," and he and the first president of Latvia, John Chakste, are making it a coherent nation. He is teaching the Letts agriculture of an advanced and profitable kind. At his suggestion a numerous outfit of the Latvian farmers replaced wheat growing, wherein they came in competition with Russia's greatest industry, with dairy farming. In the first year of this experiment they exported ten million dollars' worth of dairy products, a much greater figure than any wheat or other grain exports they had ever made.

That keen-eyed country, England, recognized the importance of this source of the necessities of life and acknowledged the independence of Latvia seven days before the nation declared itself a free and self-governing republic. The Letts will not soon forget this.

In response to my request that he say a phrase I gave him in Latvian, Dr. Bihlman spoke syllables that did not suggest any language I knew. It hadn't even the curious husky guttural of the Russian speech, nor anything of the German or Scandinavian tongues. When I asked him whence came his native language, he said, "From the Sanskrit." All our occidental languages sprang originally from this source, but most of them took quite a different route to today's speech from that taken by the inhabitants of this Baltic province.

Part of a Bishopric.

Latvia originally was part of a bishopric which included as well Esthonia and Kosnov, and for centuries was governed by a bishop whose power was backed by the church, the country, or see, being known as Livonia.

If Dr. Bihlman's appearance and manner are national in type, his countrymen are a round headed, small featured, blonde race, with a sturdy, noncommittal attitude toward life. He and his Greek confrère expressed themselves as much impressed with this country, but commented on our apparent materialism. The Latvian visitor said he would urge an active participation on the part of his nation in our world's fair of 1933.

Quiet Wedding, Engagements Mark the Week

Mrs. Snowden Marries Dr. John Lundie.

By Nancy Randolph.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

NEW YORK, July 21.—[Special.]—Insofar as little bits of gossip are concerned, town is quite dull. Nonetheless, experience has taught society that summer breeds a crop of scandal that matures in the fall. The divorces of November have their beginnings in July and August and the whispers that are coming from Newport at present will be loud noises in town later on in the year.

People continue to come and go in New York, but for the time being every one is so busied with summer resort activity that nothing of any importance, save a few weddings and engagements, is to be met with. All the clubs are dim caverns of emptiness, and one can realize the extent of the desertion by the fact that the windows of the Union and University clubs are undecorated by a single pink face and benevolent pair of eyes bent on seeing who is walking the avenue.

Wedding and Engagements.

A quiet little note of the week was the wedding of Mrs. Albert A. Snowden and Dr. John Lundie in the Lady chapel of St. Ignatius' Episcopal church with the Rev. Jerome Harris performing the ceremony.

Mrs. Snowden, widow of Dr. Albert A. Snowden, was formerly Miss Alice Eddy of Ypsilanti, Mich. Dr. Lundie, a noted engineer and inventor, had as witness, his brother, William Honeyman Lundie and Mrs. Lundie of Chicago. A wedding breakfast followed at the bride's home.

Of engagements, the week brought two of note. One was that of Zoe Banks Belt, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles W. Belt of 20 East 60th street and Quogue, L. I., to Alfred De Ropp Jr., son of Baron Alfred De Ropp of Coronado, Cal.

Last week Zoe's brother, Charles Banks Belt, became engaged to Emily W. Keyes, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Edward L. Keyes, and Zoe took the opportunity to insist upon her parents announcing her engagement to Alfred De Ropp.

Zoe, one of the most important of the post debutantes, is a granddaughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Charles Banks of New York and a descendant of Sir Joseph Banks, British explorer of the eighteenth century. She attended the Spence school and is a member of the Junior league, the Colonial Dames of America, and of the Colony club.

Young De Ropp is a Leland Stanford graduate and a member of the University club of San Francisco.

Debut Lists Appear.

The second engagement of the week was that of Leigh Haskins, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Stanley Haskins, to William S. Hammersley of New Bedford, Mass. Leigh is also a post debutante and attended both the Walker school at Simsbury, Conn., and the Nightingale school in New York. Bill Hammersley is a graduate of Yale, class of '28. Both weddings will take place in the early fall.

It may be somewhat premature, but even as the Derby race books are made up months in advance, so the winter debutante lists are compiled while the hot summer sun is still blazing.

Already the choicest dates of the winter are being taken for debutante dances and suppers, and mothers at Bar Harbor, Southampton and Newport are being driven to distraction preparing for daughter's bow.

Much must be done in preparing for debuts, and one of the striking notes is the way the genealogical tree is burnished in order that daughter's importance may be truly recognized. Never in years have I been so gratified to realize how many of our buds are descended from the gay Norman blades. Metropolitan mothers, unlike Shakespeare, do not put too much faith in the fact that "kind hearts are more than coronets, and simple faith than Norman blood." They take it for granted that daughter has a kind heart, but inform all and sundry of the more important matter of her having Norman blood.

However, there is no doubting that Mary Delafield, whose debut is set for Dec. 20 at the Park Lane, is of our very best blood. The daughter of Edward C. Delafield by a former marriage to Margaretta S. Beanley, she is a direct descendant of John Delafield, who came to America in the eighteenth century, as well as of Judge Maturin Livingston.

Long, Illustrious Line.

It is, rather beside the mark that Mary's name was originally De La Field, and that she comes direct from Hubertus De La Field, one of William the Conqueror's men. John Delafield married Ann Hallett, daughter of Joseph Hallett, a revolutionary patriot. His son, Joseph Delafield, married Julia Livingston. As a result, Mary is allied to the representative families of New York, which is a much more important point than being descended from Bill the Conqueror—as so many of our debs, according to the best genealogists, are.

Mary's step-mother is Clelia C. Benjamin, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Romeyn Benjamin. Mrs. E. A. Ingram, the former Mrs. Enrico Caruso, and Mrs. Arturo Ramos, are cousins of the present Mrs. Delafield. Mary is a sister of Mrs. William B. Kip, the one time Margaretta Delafield; of Maturin Livingston Delafield and of Edward C. Delafield Jr.

Will Be Married July 27.

Ethel King Norton is to be a July bride, her parents, the Skeffington S. Nortons of North Meadow farm, Jericho, L. I., having sent out the invitations for the 27th, when Ethel will become Mrs. Gurdon Saltonstall Howe in the Church of the Advent, at Westbury.

A special train will leave from town to take the guests to the wedding and will bring them back to town following the reception at the farm. Ethel, a graduate of the Brearley school, is a sister of Mrs. Esther Norton Soule and of Skeffington S. Norton Jr., who married Susan Scott. Mrs. Cornelius Vanderbilt Whitney, at present in Reno awaiting her freedom from Sonny Whitney, is a cousin.

Young Howe, most naturally, is a son of Boston and a graduate of Harvard. He and Ethel met through their love of art, she being interested in painting as much as Gurdon, who has studied in Paris and Rome.

Lido Party Will Star the Week at Onwentsia

Christening of Pool Is the Event.

By Roberta Nangle.

WITH many of our noted citizens vacationing at points far from home, Chicago's social life is concentrated these days in the north shore and western suburbs. Those persons who prefer the sublimated rusticity to be enjoyed in and around Chicagoland to the more strenuous delights of foreign travel have settled for the summer in Lake Forest, Wheaton, Hinsdale, Winnetka and other nearby exclusive villages.

The country clubs are now functioning in full swing, with athletics and informal parties holding first place on society's daily calendar. Onwentsia, where most of Lake Forest's notables congregate daily for lunch, swimming and golf, is to be the setting next Saturday for an affair known as a "Lido" party.

The party was inspired, we heard, by several members who thought that the club's new swimming pool should be christened, as it were, with a fitting ceremony. Pajamas, lounging robes, and other beach apparel of informal cut and brilliant hue will be worn by those who attend. The climax of the evening will be a mock bathing beauty revue with the beauties of the north shore contesting for the title of "Miss Lake Forest."

Some of the instigators of the affair insist that they will go garbed as "Miss America of 1889" and other seasons when sun back suits and pajamas were unheard of. The beach party will be preceded by a dinner dance.

Tennis Draws Crowds.

The interclub series of tennis matches is also bringing crowds to the country clubs. The contests are for both men and women and will continue throughout the summer. Nathan William McChesney has donated a cup to be given to the winning club in the finals on Sept. 8. The clubs entered are Skokie, Exmoor, Winnetka, Indian Hill, Evanston, and Knollwood.

The team from each club is to include four players, both the men's and the women's, with two players for singles and two for doubles, so that for each intermatch, there will be two singles matches and one doubles. Every player will play for every other one once during the season, and the two gaining the greatest number of points will qualify for the finals to be played off at Knollwood on Sept. 8.

Chicagoans at Harbor Point.

Referring again to our absent citizens, we learn from our correspondent at Harbor Point, Mich., that a sizable colony of Chicagoans is now installed there for the summer. Among those who have opened their cottages are Mr. and Mrs. Henry K. Chapin, Mr. and Mrs. O'Neill Ryan, Mr. and Mrs. Byron T. Gifford, Mr. and Mrs. John S. Burnet, Mrs. Catherine Barker Spaulding, Mr. and Mrs. William Waller Jr., and Mr. and Mrs. Edward P. Russell.

An athletic program which includes weekly lessons in boxing, tennis and swimming has been arranged for the children of the colony. The schedule includes weekly bonfires at the end of the point and overnight hikes up the dunes. There are weekly sailing races among the members of the Harbor Point Yacht club and later in the season there will be regattas and water carnivals, similar to the one being held this week at the finish of the Mackinac races.

Correct Service for a Luncheon

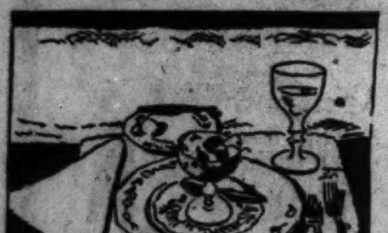
(It is the aim of this department to serve as a practical guide in every day problems of etiquette. Self-addressed, stamped envelopes must accompany each request for information. Address Miss Helen Bartlett, Sunday Department, Chicago Tribune.)

By Helen Bartlett.

"DEAR MISS BARTLETT: My daughter is planning a series of luncheons for friends of hers who are just home from school. I am arranging to have one waitress, and would be greatly obliged if you would outline each step of the service. Of how many courses does luncheon usually consist?

"MRS. M. S."

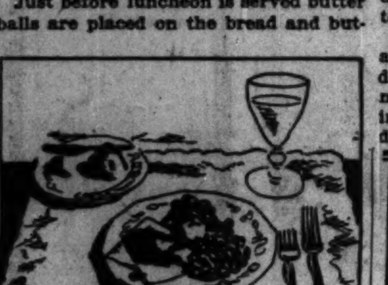
Three courses are adequate for any informal luncheon, and four are ample; for a formal luncheon you could add a fifth. I take it for granted that your daughter's entertainments will be informal. One large table or several small ones may be used for such a luncheon. They may be laid with a luncheon set consisting of a centerpiece and doilies, with a luncheon cloth or with a runner and place doilies. Flowers and small dishes or compotes of candy and salted nuts complete the table decoration. Place cards are not necessary, but, if used, they are small, plain white cards with the guest's name written on them, placed on the napkin at the left of each cover or laid against the water glass. With some informal luncheons no knife is necessary, in which case two forks, one for the main course and one for the salad course, are placed at the right of the service plate, with the luncheon fork on the outside. If a knife is necessary it is placed to the right, with the forks on the left.



No. 1. Cover for first course.

Napkins are folded in three cornered shape and placed at the left hand side of each plate, with the long edge parallel with the forks. Bread and butter plates, with butter knives laid across them at the top, are placed above and to the left of the service plate. The water goblet is placed just above the silver on the right of the service plate.

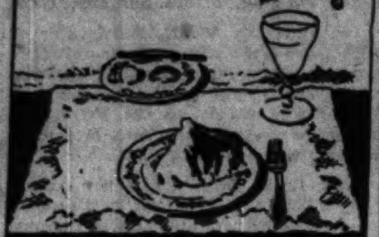
Just before luncheon is served butter balls are placed on the bread and butter plates, water glasses are filled, and the fruit cocktails (if they are on the menu) are arranged on the service plate, with spoons laid across the under plate. In serving an informal luncheon it is correct to have the first course, unless it happens to be soup, in position at each cover when luncheon is announced. The waitress passes, serves, places, and removes everything from the left, excepting beverages and extra silver, which are passed or placed at the right from the right. The hostess is served first, then the person to her right, and so on around the table.



No. 2. Cover for main course.

Here are the steps in service.

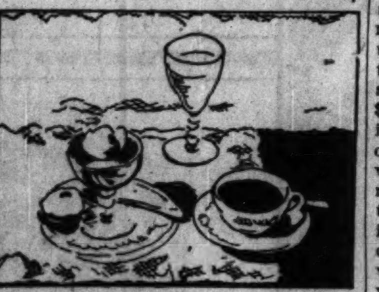
1. When the cocktail course is completed, remove the sherbet glass and plate with the left hand, from the left side, and place on the serving table, leaving the service plate in position. Repeat and take two plates to the kitchen at once.
2. The main course is arranged on the hot plates in the kitchen. Carry two to the dining room, using the serving table for one while placing the other. Remove the service plate with the right hand and place the luncheon plate with the left hand from the left side. Place the service plate on the serving table.
3. Pass tea biscuits in the same order as the main course, hostess first, then guest at her right, and so on around the table.
4. Pass relishes in the same order as the main course.
5. Remove the luncheon plates in the same order as the cocktail service.
6. Arrange the salad on individual salad plates, bringing two to the dining room at once; use the serving table for one while placing the other with the left hand.
7. Pass the toasted crackers, cheese crackers, toast rounds or any accompaniment to the salad.



No. 3. Salad course.

8. Remove the salad plate with the left hand and bread and butter plate with the right hand, clearing the place.
9. Remove the salts and peppers and any unused silver, using a tray.
10. Remove the crumbs, using a napkin and tray. Refill the glasses, if necessary.
11. Dessert, which has been arranged in sherbet dishes in the kitchen, is brought in with the dessert spoon in place and served as the salad course was.
12. Pass the cakes.
13. Bring two filled coffee cups in. Use the serving table for one while placing the other with the left hand. Place to the right of dessert plate and repeat until all are served. Pass the cream and sugar. Finally, pass the candy and nuts.

This may be further simplified if the waitress, or hostess, should she be serving, removes the plates two at a time to the kitchen without using the service table and follows the same plan in bringing filled plates into the dining room.



No. 4. Dessert course, with coffee.

For formal luncheons there could be five courses, the addition being soup. Instead of having the fruit cocktail on the plate when guests seat themselves, it is brought in by the waitress. No bread and butter plates are used and the napkin is placed in the center of the service plate.

More silver is necessary, of course, and finger bowls are generally put down when the dessert plates are removed. Coffee is served in the drawing room, rather than with the dessert.

Wrecker Finds Copy of Tribune 60 Years Old

Paper of Dec. 20, 1869, Is Perfectly Preserved.

SHEBOYGAN, Wis.—[Special Correspondence.]—While wrecking the abandoned Masonic temple here recently, H. Miller, a laborer, found a copy of THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE printed under date of Dec. 20, 1869. The paper, printed on 24 pound rag stock, is in perfect state of preservation. It is ten columns wide and thirty inches long. Four columns on the front page were devoted to display and classified advertising, and the remainder to news and TRIBUNE "prospectus" for 1870, in which attention was called to THE TRIBUNE'S distinguishing characteristics, anticipated issues for 1870 were listed, and ways of meeting them were suggested.

The paper was termed "The Great Republican Organ and the Leading Newspaper of the West," and as "emphatically the people's advocate." It informed readers that THE TRIBUNE maintained a "corps of correspondents and special reporters equal in number and intelligence to those of any New York paper." News of the world was brought to mid-western readers two days earlier than any eastern paper could give it to them, THE TRIBUNE said.

Numerous Improvements Planned.

The leading editorial on page 2 referred to the fact that the tax levy in Cook county in 1869 was $550,000, "of which $225,000 will be required to pay interest on the debt." It reminded that the county planned numerous improvements, "some of which are needed and some not," and that an insane asylum costing $100,000, a normal school, and a courthouse were under construction. It revealed that the actual value of all real and personal property in Cook county was $300,000,000, of which $270,000,000 was in the city of Chicago. The editorial objected that while nine-tenths of the valuation was in Chicago, Chicago had representation of only one-tenth on the board of supervisors, the remaining nine-tenths representing the other districts of the county, whose assessed valuation was only one-tenth of the whole. THE TRIBUNE declared the membership of the board irresponsible and deplored the poor credit of the county as a result of mismanagement of affairs.

Diversified News, and a Serial.

Two other editorials of considerable length and a short one appeared, and the remainder of the page was devoted to news from many sections of the country and to display and classified advertisements.

FACSIMILE of a portion of page one of The Tribune for Dec. 20, 1869. This excellently preserved copy of "the leading newspaper of the west" of sixty years ago was discovered by a workman while helping raze the old Masonic Temple at Sheboygan, Wis. One headline, "Murder in a Municipal Hospital," is evidence that crime as a metropolitan problem is not coincident with our times.

Easthamptonites Hold Flower Market

EASTHAMPTON, L. I.—[Special Correspondence.]—An Italian flower market was held this week at Clinton academy. Members of the Easthampton Garden club arranged the booths and tables, and among those in charge were Mrs. William Sherman Jenney, Mrs. Henry Cook, Mrs. W. W. Benjamin, Mrs. Edward N. Hewett, Mrs. Samuel Ordway, Mrs. John N. Cole, and Mrs. Robert Appleton.

The "Easthampton Revels of 1929" will be given on Aug. 2 and 3 at the Maidstone club. Among the younger people who will take part are Florence Rice, Jane Erdmann, Augusta Willoughby Ellis, Adelaide and Peggy Moffett, and Barbara Van Renssaler.

Women the World Over

Miss Lisl Goldarbeiter, the Austrian beauty who was crowned Miss Universe at the international beauty contest at Galveston, Texas, this season, is a Jewess.

The average weight of clothes worn by the average American woman in the summer is two pounds and ten ounces, or about three times less than that of the average man.

Mother Mary Magdalene, Italian noblewoman, who established the first convent of Poor Clare nuns in Omaha, Neb., may become America's first saint.

Mrs. Lillian M. Gilbreth of Montclair, N. J., will be one of the few women present at the world engineering congress in Tokio, Japan, in the fall. She is an engineer, educator, author, and the mother of eleven children.

Mrs. Wilhelmine Alff of Cherokee, Iowa, continues to establish a record as a motion picture fan. Although she now is more than 87 years old, she has attended the theater 3,500 consecutive nights.

Miss Helen Fernald, assistant curator of the department of far eastern art of the University museum in Philadelphia, Pa., is making a five month tour of China to buy any interesting pieces obtainable.

Miss Jeanne Axford Thomas, California society girl, plans to go after a non-stop record from Los Angeles to New York as soon as she gets her pilot's license. She proposes to buy her own plane.

Summer Visitors Fill White Sulphur

WHITE SULPHUR SPRINGS, W. Va.—[Special Correspondence.]—Many continue to arrive for the summer. Mr. and Mrs. Graham Harris of Chicago were among those coming this week, as were Mr. and Mrs. V. L. Alexander, Mrs. Elmer M. Wakeman and Maj. and Mrs. A. F. Burns of Washington.

Luncheoners at the Casino this week included Mr. and Mrs. Walter H. Close, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Botts, Henry Eaters Taft, Walter G. Mortland, George W. Crawford and L. Frederick Bruce of Baltimore.

First Glimpse of Mountains.

My greatest thrill was the fulfilling of a long felt desire. The first thirty-five years of my life were spent on the plains of Iowa and Illinois and I longed ardently to behold a mountain. Pictures of mountains always absorbed me and I was eager to see them at close range.

During the summer of my thirty-fifth year I went to visit a sister in Oregon. Leaving Chicago at night, I wakened on the second morning to find myself suddenly in the midst of mountains. I saw drab, gray buttes, rust colored mounds of stone, and mountains sparkling with rays of color in the sunshine, and snow covered peaks in the distance.

I was so thrilled I could scarcely draw my eyes away from the window long enough to dress, and I spent almost all that day on the [illegible] covered observation platform drinking my fill of the mountains around me.

Hears Daughter Over Radio.

My twelve year old daughter June was going to speak over the radio. I didn't go with her to the broadcasting station as she wanted me to listen over the radio and tell her how it sounded.

The announcer began to announce the names of the performers.

"June Judin," I heard the announcer say.

"J-J-June, my June, she's going to speak now," I stammered.

"The Skating Contest," I heard my pride of the day say. I was so happy that I scarcely heard anything else she said.

I've had many thrills in my life, but none that thrilled me as much as when my twelve year old daughter, June, spoke over the radio.

MISS ALICE BRADLEY

The Rich, Mellow Flavor is Certainly Due to the Ageing

"I was greatly impressed when I visited the plant at Millis, Mass., by the extreme care and cleanliness with which Clicquot Club Ginger Ales are made. And I was completely convinced that Time plays an important part in the perfection of the flavor. The rich mellowness is certainly due to the ageing."

ALICE BRADLEY

Between Meals
..extra pep without loss of appetite

Clicquot Club Golden ginger ale, the delicious food-beverage, is the dietitian's answer to the question, "What shall I take to renew my energy in the mid-morning and afternoon?"

OFTEN you need something to "brace you up" in the late morning and afternoon. Not heavy food, of course. That would work havoc with your mealtime appetite. Something light, delicious and quick in its energizing effect.

Try Clicquot Club Golden between meals. Doctors and dietitians recommend it because Clicquot Club gives quick energy without bulk. In five minutes it carries "invert" sugar—liquid energy—to your tired cells. Yet it will never "fill you up" or give you cause to think of your weight. And what a delicious flavor this famous ginger ale has! The flavor of pure Jamaica ginger, mellow syrups of pure fruit juices, sparkling double carbonation—plus thorough, patient ageing.

The aged ginger ale in the economical bottle

Clicquot Club Golden is the famous ginger ale that is aged for mellow, perfect flavor. It comes in clean, new, full pint bottles, the best, most economical size in which to buy ginger ale. Larger sizes are wasteful, for part of each bottle is apt to go flat. Ounce for ounce, Clicquot Club costs no more than ordinary ginger ales. And you can detect the difference in quality—instantly!

Buy Clicquot Club Golden in twos, sixes, cartons or by the case. Since Clicquot Club Golden comes in the 16-ounce, full pint size, you can always open just what you need and have it fresh and sparkling. At your dealer's.

Note: If you like a "dry" ginger ale, rather than the "golden" flavor, ask for Clicquot Club Pale Dry. If you like an extra dry ginger ale, ask for Clicquot Club Sec. An overwhelming favorite in clubs, in hotels, and in the club cars of the great limited trains.

There is no nicer thing to offer the guest who drops in on a warm afternoon than a glass of gingery, bubbling Clicquot Club Golden with its fine aged flavor. Try serving it every afternoon—see how much better you feel!

Newport Residents Entertain Young Tennis Players

NEWPORT, R. I.—[Special Correspondence.]—This last week has been a most active one. For the latter part of the week the casino has been the center of activity, with the international tennis matches between the Oxford-Cambridge and Harvard-Yale teams bringing out the notables.

Much entertaining has been done in behalf of the young players, all culminating in the dance which Mrs. Edward V. Hartford gave last night at Seaverge, which she purchased some two years ago from the Gerry estate. Several hundred guests were invited and a special dance floor was built for the affair.

Grand Stand and Boxes Filled.

The colony turned out on all three days of the matches. Among those who were in the grand stand and boxes were Mrs. Arthur Curtiss James, Mrs. William Watts Sherman, Mrs. Roderick Terry, Mrs. H. McK. Twombly, Mrs. Hamilton Fish Webster, Mrs. William Goadby Loew, Mrs. Oliver Jennings, Vincent Astor, Mr. and Mrs. Perry Belmont, Mr. and Mrs. Stuart Duncan, Mrs. Moses Taylor, Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Lewis Gillespie, Mrs. Lewis Cass Ledyard, Mrs. T. Suffern Tailer, Mrs. Henry O. Havemeyer, Mrs. Duncan Cameron, Count and Countess Alfonso P. Villa, Mr. and Mrs. Elisha Dyer, Mr. and Mrs. Ogden Bacon, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Goelet, Princess Miguel de Braganza, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Washburn Child, Dr. and Mrs. Alexander Hamilton Rice, and Mr. and Mrs. J. Norman De R. Whitehouse.

Dinners and luncheons are in full swing. During the week there were several notable gatherings. Mr. and Mrs. Willing Spencer gave a dinner at the Beeches and Mr. and Mrs. George D. Widener had one at the Anne villa for thirty guests. Countess Laszlo Szechenyi had a luncheon for some twoscore guests at the Harry Payne Whitney villa.

Women's Doubles.

The women's doubles tournament was got under way early in the week, with the participants including Mrs. Lewis Gouverneur Morris, Miss Ruth Vanderbilt Twombly, Mrs. George D. Widener, Ruth Pruyn, Cornelia Szechenyi, Kitty Wickes, L. Romaine Bristow, Florence Loew and Louise Iselin.

Miss Julia A. Berwind is to give a dance at the Elms in August, at a date to be announced later. The Stuart Duncans will give the annual tennis ball at Bonnie Crest on Aug. 24.

Many cottagers are arriving daily. Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Drexel Biddle Jr. have come from New York and are at Chetwood. Mr. and Mrs. Ogden L. Mills arrived on their yacht, Icalda, to pass the season at Ocean View. Mr. and Mrs. Guy Fairfax are at Elm Court.

King George Adds $50 to Old Age Fund for Old Kate

LONDON.—(AP)—King George has donated $50 to a fund being raised by a London newspaper to provide "Old Kate" with a home for her old age.

"Old Kate" is the race card seller who called at Buckinham palace last winter when the king was dangerously ill to inquire how his majesty was getting on. The royal family heard about "Old Kate's" call and his majesty's secretary wrote her a letter of appreciation.

Washes Type Ribbon.

When I started as an office boy in a large concern in the city there was a girl in the office whom I wanted to impress.

One morning a senior clerk told me if I wanted to "make a hit" with this girl I should gather up the old type ribbon that she took out of her machine and wash it for her. I fell eagerly to work and it took me considerable time to wash all the ink out, as I wanted it to be as white and clean as possible.

Then I presented it to said young lady, who opened her eyes in surprise. Of course, the whole office was in convulsions by this time, and needless to say, that was my most embarrassing moment.

Out Hopped the Frogs.

One spring several of us decided to go fishing. We took rods and worms and went to a river not far from Chicago, carrying our lunch in a small old traveling bag. The river did not prove a good fishing spot, but its banks were alive with frogs. We were determined not to go home empty handed, but to catch enough frogs for a dinner of frog legs. After catching about two dozen and stuffing them in our now empty bag, we started for home by way of the street car. When we got up to leave the car at the transfer point, the lock of our bag flew open and our frogs began jumping out as only frogs can do. Imagine our embarrassment when squealing passengers jumped to their seats and we grabbed frogs from everywhere.

Believe me, we made a hasty exit when we had them once more in our bag.

Even Leaves Change.

Married less than a year, my husband and I still address each other with endearing terms.

The other day in the market I was buying a steak, and to my surprise and embarrassment I said, "And a piece of suet, too, dear."

I was in so much of a hurry to get out of the meat market that I started to leave without getting my change.

Slipper Sticks in Tar.

"I was walking to a north side beach in bathing suit and robe. Sheridan road had just been tarred and the hot sun made it soft.

"I began running across the street against the lights. The heel of my pump wedged itself in the tar and refused to come out. To avoid being run over, I had to leave my shoe in the middle of the street and run to the sidewalk. To increase my embarrassment, I had to go out in the middle of Sheridan road again, one shoe on and one off, and tug at my slipper until it finally came out of the tar."

Babson Points to Statistics as Church Hope

Many announcements of church services today intended for this page were refused because they did not reach this office until after Wednesday noon. The editor of this column would be glad to have brief items of interest concerning the parochial activities in the various churches. Each item must bear the name and address of the sender if it is to receive consideration.

By the Rev. John Evans.

PRESENT day prophets of Protestant church union are continuing the search for foundations upon which a united church may rest. The problems underlying efforts toward union are written in terms of the warfare between economics and doctrine. To the average layman the peculiar doctrine of his church seems often to mean very little, but as a deacon, elder, trustee, vestryman, or steward, to whom is committed the job of financing a local church and raising the parish quota for the national body, he is vitally concerned with the economics of the business.

The clergy, as a rule, however, are more concerned with doctrine, or the specific teaching of his general church body, and as a result the very rift which divides the various church bodies often separates the clergyman from his parish leaders. When ministers get together the conversation frequently runs in the direction of their exploits in getting "their men" to raise money for the worldwide promotion of the specific doctrines of their church.

The merry war goes on and the lay officials tell each other that their minister "is no business man"; and the clerics whisper the famous conundrum to each other, "When is a business man not a business man?" And reply, "When he is a vestryman."

The argument is futile because the opposing sides do not have a common premise. They are far apart and only are able to beat the air so far as the real issue is concerned. The lay official thinks of doctrine in terms of business or economics, and the parsons think of business in terms of doctrine. Thus, in regard to the real difficulty they are both wrong.

The same is true in regard to church union. Federation must fundamentally rest either upon economic foundations with the doctrinal matters incidental, or upon common doctrinal principles with the economic factors incidental. The churches must decide which is which before they may happily be united.

Babson Gives Views.

Roger W. Babson, a Congregational church leader and a well known economist and statistical expert whose genuine interest in the welfare of the church is recognized, has written extensively on the economic values of Church union. In an article for the church press he declares that only by a united Protestantism can Protestantism survive.

He puts the value of the church strictly upon a quantity basis in his appeal for consolidation of parishes where over-lapping is discovered.

"Time will come," Babson stated, "when the federations will keep statistics on church attendance and make other comparative studies of the relative efficiency of the churches, weeding out the inefficient and strengthening the more efficient. They will aid the churches of their respective cities in getting better preachers, paying larger salaries and making the churches stand for more in their communities."

Babson continued by indicating the efficiency gained by union in publicity and in the use of radio, but his most startling suggestion is that the churches should pool their givings by creating in each center a "church chest" similar to the war time "community chest." Savings secured by organized getting and spending of funds, he indicated, would much more than pay for the union overhead and give much greater confidence to the giver. By way of illustration he refers to the purchase of coal and other miscellaneous supplies by the churches.

Seeks Co-operative Purchasing.

"The Protestant churches of several cities each spend over a million dollars a year on coal, miscellaneous supplies and labor in addition to the salaries of the preachers. By co-operative purchasing, through a central agency, 20 per cent could be saved from this figure. If this 20 per cent were divided between the churches of said city and the local federation, it would give each $100,000."

On the other hand, the doctrinal leaders of the various churches declare that a quantity basis of judgment on a parish is unjust, and that real results are not measured by statistical yard-sticks. Dr. C. Wallace Petty, pastor of the First Baptist church of Pittsburgh, a member of the summer faculty of the Divinity school of the University of Chicago, and a well known liberal leader recently declared in an interview that neither he nor his church could become enthusiastic about Church union because of the restriction of the freedom which federation would bring and for which his denominational fathers were persecuted. Representatives from many denominations easily could be found, though differing widely from the Baptist doctrinal position, who would concur enthusiastically with Dr. Petty's statement, that the economic advantage gained by federation or union would tend toward the wiping out denomination individuality. This, they say, would allow the economic generals in the federated councils to teach a doctrinal "goose step" to the members of the church militant which would be as distasteful as it would be efficient.

John Lovell Pickells, graduate of Englewood High school and son of the Rev. John R. Pickells, formerly rector of several Chicago churches and now rector of Grace Episcopal church, Freeport, was ordained deacon recently by Bishop Clattery of Massachusetts in the chapel of Cambridge Divinity school, Boston. The Rev. Mr. Pickells was presented by his father, and will begin his ministry in eastern Oregon with headquarters at Burns.

NEWS OF CHURCHES

[Lavecchs Photo.]

The Rev. Joseph F. Eckert, S. V. D., pastor of St. Elizabeth's Catholic church, Wabash avenue and 41st street, whose leadership of the colored Catholics on the south side has attracted widespread attention. Father Eckert was appointed pastor of St. Elizabeth's church eight years ago by Cardinal Mundelein. During that time a school of 1,000 colored pupils has been developed, thousands of adult colored converts have been presented for confirmation, and the new million dollar Pentecost hospital, now under construction, which makes no distinction of creed or color in its ministrations, has been successfully promoted. During the past spring Father Eckert presented what is said to be the largest class of converts to the Catholic religion in America to Auxiliary Bishop Sheil of Chicago for confirmation.

The Drexel Park Men's class will hold a welcome service for their president, George Bly, today at 12:15 p. m. at the Drexel Park church, 64th street and Marshfield avenue. While this is a men's class, the meeting will be thrown open to women that they may hear Mr. Bly tell of conditions in Scotland and Ireland today.

The Rev. Joseph Higgins has been appointed assistant on the Cathedral Shelter staff by the Rt. Rev. C. P. Anderson, Episcopal bishop of Chicago, according to an announcement from the Episcopal headquarters. The Rev. Father Higgins is a graduate of the University of Ireland and has been some time serving in California. He has been in charge of St. Edmund's mission on the south side until the appointment of the Rev. Samuel J. Martin.

The Rogers park daily vacation Bible school will hold its final exhibition session at the Rogers Park Baptist church, 1902 Greenleaf avenue, on Friday evening. The Rev. C. Wesley Israel, director of the school, stated that the purpose of the exhibit is to acquaint the parents and others who may be interested, with the work of the institution. One hundred pupils are enrolled in the school.

The second biennial convention of the American Federation of Lutheran brotherhoods will be held in Chicago with headquarters at the Palmer house, Oct. 30 and 31, according to plans recently announced. More than 2,000 members of the federation from all over the nation will be in attendance and will represent all the synods and brotherhoods of the Lutheran church. According to the Rev. P. O. Bersell of Ottumwa, Ia., the main effort of the convention will be to unite the ten bodies of the Lutheran church into one body. The 400th anniversary of Luther's catechism will also be commemorated.

Chicago Episcopalians have contributed a total of $35,000 to the St. Luke's International hospital, Tokio, Japan, according to figures announced by the special Chicago committee headed by the Rev. Dr. George H. Thomas and Mrs. Robert B. Gregory. Approximately $1,000,000 has been raised throughout the country toward a fund for St. Luke's which eventually will reach $5,000,000.

Makes Her Own Skin Bleach

Known for having one of the most beautiful skins in New York, Miss Mildred Ball, favorite artists' and photographers' model, recently made the statement that most of the New York models use a skin bleach of their own making.

According to Miss Ball, "we get three ounces of Orchard White from the druggist and add to it the juice of two lemons. This makes a full quarter pint of a perfectly harmless yet marvelously effective bleach. Applied to face, neck and arms, it bleaches any dark or discolored skin a beautiful rosy white. It also makes any rough or coarse skin soft and smooth. Many of the girls use it, too, for a tan and freckle bleach. Nothing like this wonderful mixture can be bought ready to use because it acts best when freshly prepared. The cost for several weeks' supply is only a few cents."

My Best Party

Bluebird Party.

The nicest party I ever attended was a pre-nuptial shower called a bluebird party. Cleverly rhymed invitations, bearing a bluebird sticker in one corner, were mailed. On arrival, the guests found the home decorated with scores of life size bluebirds cut from crêpe paper. These were strung on one thread many yards long, at intervals of about 15 inches. After a pleasant hour spent in visiting and making tea towels for the bride to be, the hostess and her sister sang the song entitled "Some Little Bird Is Calling You," some of the words of which had been changed to suit the occasion.

At the words "Follow wherever they may lead you" the hostess took down one end of the string of bluebirds, which was near the piano, and handed it to the bride who then realized that she was to follow the string to the other end. Following the walls of the living room and out across the big porch, she found the flying birds leading her back through the bedroom, across the dining room, out through a window, across the lawn back of the house, and up to a nest in a tree.

The nest, which was probably two feet in diameter, was constructed of wire, covered outside and in with dried grass and leaves and twigs. As a step ladder was not far away, one of the girls helped her move it to the tree and she mounted the ladder, took down the nest, on which were perched the last two bluebirds which were filled with daintily wrapped gifts. After these had been unwrapped and admired, the hostess served delicious refreshments in which the bluebird idea was carried out again, as included in the lunch were cupcakes covered with white icing and with cunning little bluebirds of candy perched on each one. Mustapha Kemal to Put O. K. on Own Mausoleu

ANGORA, Turkey.—(AP)—Turks little and big are digging into their pockets for piasters to contribute to the building of a mighty sepulchre worthy of housing the body of Gazi Mustapha Kemal when the first president of the Turkish republic dies. The while they pray that his life may be long, the citizens of the young republic have decided to construct his tomb at once so as to be sure that it meets with his approval.

Millions of liras are to be expended on the erection of the Pantheon which is to rise on the ruins of the ancient fortress that towers over the new capital city of mushroom growth. For miles in every direction from the plains that surround Angora, the lofty tomb will be visible and commanding.

The building is to constitute a memorial to the Turkish republic, while in its catacombs will one day be placed the biers of President Kemal and whatever other leaders of the new régime may be voted worthy of such honor by the national assembly.

Turks' Move Against Missions Gets Rebu

ANGORA, Turkey—(AP)—The Turkish government has dissolved an anti-missionary society projected by a group of Turkish publicists and intellectuals.

This group has been attacking foreign schools in Turkey, particularly the American and French schools, on the ground that they were still missionary in spirit even though ostensibly conforming as to curriculum with the republic's blanket rule against religious instruction in its own or in foreign schools.

The anti-missionary society was to pledge itself to the driving of the last foreign missionary out of Turkey, but being obliged, as are all groups in Turkey, to get official sanction and receiving the government's flat order to disband, they are now powerless to launch any group action.

BRIDE-TO-BE

MISS JESSIE LUREY.

The engagement of Miss Jessie Lurey, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Morris Lurey of 2641 North Troy street, to Jack C. Schur, son of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Schur, is announced. The wedding will take place in August.

English Trees Sent for Tomb of Sun Yat Sen

LONDON.—(AP)—An oak sapling and a young birch tree are to be sent from Kew Gardens, London's lovely park, to be planted in the grounds surrounding the mausoleum of the Chinese statesman, Sun Yat Sen, at Nanking.

The trees are presented by request of the Chinese Nationalist government that Britain should send typical specimens of her arboriculture. Other countries are acting similarly.

Reports from the east say that when the mausoleum of the first Chinese president and its surroundings are completed, they will form one of the world's most beautiful spectacles.

Morrison Hotel
Tallest in the World
Most Central in Chicago

HARRY C. MOIR
PRES. & GEN. MGR.

The New Morrison, when completed, will be the world's largest and tallest hotel—46 stories high, with 3,400 rooms.

Scene in the Boston Oyster House

THE chefs of the Terrace Garden and Boston Oyster House are specialists at the art of developing "July appetites" in Morrison Hotel patrons—the keen enjoyment that tastefully prepared dishes can give, even in the hottest months.

An Adaptable Cuisine

Through long experience and perfect organization, the different kitchens are able to vary and modify their menus at shortest notice, to suit sudden changes of temperature. The dine-and-dance entertainments in the artificially cooled Terrace Garden are a favorite summer diversion even on the warmest midsummer days.

1,944 Rooms, $2.50 Up

The guest rooms, though their equipment and appointments represent the same high standard as the cuisine, are rented at little more than half the rates charged elsewhere for similar rooms. This is due to the central location, and the correspondingly high revenues drawn from sub-rentals.

Every Room With Bath

All rooms are outside, with bath, running ice water, bed-head lamp, telephone and Servidor. Every floor has its housekeeper, and all guests enjoy garage privileges.

The Greatest Two-Week Vacation Trip Ever Offered
Circle Tour East
Through the Switzerland of America

In America's finest Motor Coaches—equipped with washroom and lavatory, high back deep-cushioned seats and ice water containers. The most comfortable and easy riding cars ever built.

If you are fed up on the "usual" tour offerings, here's a two weeks' vacation trip that will thrill you—it has that romantic "something" we call adventure, it has scenic beauty, real natural scenery, points of historical interest and many other things that no other vacation suggestion has to offer.

NEXT TOUR
July 21st
and Weekly Thereafter

Every minute will be an interesting one. You'll enjoy the picturesque Irish Hills, the trip across romantic Canada, and your visit to that never-to-be-forgotten wonder Niagara Falls. You'll love the Thousand Islands, the forested ranges of Adirondacks, beautiful Lake Placid and you'll be thrilled with your visit to Ausable Chasm and your trip across Lake Champlain. Your journey thru the Green and White Mountains, over the Berkshire Trail, thru the Berkshires, along the Hudson River on the Storm King Highway, over the Poconos, thru the Delaware Water Gap and Watkins Glen, will provide scenes you'll never forget and things to talk about, for the rest of your life.

And Gloucester—you'll never forget your half day on romantic Cape Ann, you'll enjoy Salem, the witch city, and you'll never forget your visit to Marblehead, that brine-drenched town by the sea.

Then there's a day in Boston—two full days and three glorious nights in New York—with a heavenly night and an enchanted day at Alexandria Bay, and the grand climax—a trip across Lake Erie.

All of these scenic thrills are packed into the greatest vacation trip ever offered, the result of six years of successful operation and experience.

An illustrated folder will be mailed you upon receipt of your request to

RENEW BATTLE TO EXTEND BAN ON OPEN BRIDGE

North Central Group Appeals to U. S.

The bridge committee of the North Central association will confer tomorrow morning with Lieut. Col. William C. Weeks, U. S. engineer at Chicago, in another attempt to obtain relief from the numerous traffic delays resulting from the opening of bridges across the river in the loop district. The objective of the committee will be an extension of the recommendations of closed bridge hours recently made by the city council. A decision on the council recommendations has not yet been handed down by the United States war department.

The committee, which is headed by James C. Cox, will demand that the bridges remain closed during the morning rush hour until 10:30 o'clock and will also urge Col. Weeks to advocate a closed period from 12 o'clock noon until 1:30 o'clock.

The city council has asked that the bridges remain closed until 10 o'clock in the morning, but failed to include the noon period in its recommendations.

Other members of the committee appointed by the North Central association to represent the north and west side business men and civic organizations are N. W. MacChesney, Maj. Gen. Roy D. Keehn, Col. L. H. Whiting, Col. William N. Pelouze, William S. Kline, William R. Ross, Edward Skindgier, William O. Fraser, Mrs. Helen T. Pelouze, Alonzo C. Mather, G. J. Houston, John Drake Sr., David Sawyer, A. W. Shaw, Mrs. George Pierson, and Charles C. Hayes.

The committee will be armed with letters supporting their demands received from many business men's associations, women's and men's clubs, and other groups. Numerous other letters from members of the North Central association and other organizations desirous of eliminating the traffic jams into and out of the loop have been sent in advance to Col. Weeks and government officials in Washington.

Anxious for Noon Closing.

Although the committee will request the half hour addition to the morning closed period, they are particularly hopeful of obtaining the midday restriction on bridge openings. They are interested in protecting the thousands of employés in the many buildings in and near the loop during the lunch hour. Pedestrian traffic at this hour is the greatest of the day and the automobile traffic is only slightly less than during the morning and afternoon rush hours, William C. Calvert, executive secretary of the North Central association, said.

That the present laws regulating the opening of bridges across the main branch of the river are totally unfavorable to the existing traffic conditions in and near the loop was the opinion expressed by many property owners, merchants, and other business men of the near north district when questioned by a reporter last week.

A majority of the persons quizzed declared that the city council and the United States war department should immediately coöperate toward eliminating the traffic jams and saving the time and money lost by motorists and pedestrians, due to the frequent openings of the bridges. They condemned the present condition whereby traffic on many important thoroughfares is brought to a standstill several times an hour to permit tugs, sandsuckers, and other local shipping to proceed up the river. Only a few of the bridge openings, they pointed out, are due to shipping which is of benefit to other than private interests.

Michigan Avenue Vehement.

On Michigan avenue, where the traffic jams often extend as far north as Oak street, the complaints were vehement over the conditions.

"The constant delays in the movement of traffic are injurious to our business," C. S. Mann, manager of a gown and hat shop at 615 North Michigan avenue, said. "Many of our customers in driving down to do their buying are late for their appointments because of the bridge openings. The bridges should not be opened during the day for sandsuckers and other local shipping."

As a solution to the tie-ups the business men urge that the bridges remain closed during specified periods of the day to all river traffic with the exception of inter-lake shipments. Others declare that local shipping should be permitted only at night.

On three occasions during the morning rush hour before 11 o'clock last Thursday traffic was backed up as far north as Oak street, Ray Kussman, traffic policeman at Michigan and Chicago avenues, said. The cars were at a standstill for four minutes each time and approximately 30 minutes elapsed after each occurrence before traffic was again moving properly. There were other bridge openings during that morning also that caused less serious jams.

High Water Adds to Delay.

The situation during the last few months has been worse than usual, Policeman Kussman added, due to the high water level of the river which necessitates bridge lifts for many tugs and barges which ordinarily can pass under the spans.

Here are some more of the comments made by near north side business men:

R. C. Cook, 161 East Erie street, property owner—The frequent bridge openings should not be permitted. Why can't they have small boats and barges that will pass under the bridges?

Joe Reinfeldt, 819 North Clark street, furniture dealer—There should be some other way of bringing supplies and products into the city without interfering with traffic in the most

INDIAN MAIDENS AND FAIRIES TO ROMP ON GLENCOE LAWN

The annual midsummer frolic of National Kindergarten and Elementary college, Evanston, will be held Wednesday afternoon at Craigie Lea, Glencoe home of Mrs. Andrew MacLeish. A thousand north shore children will make up most of the audience. These pictures show Miss Charlotte Moore and Miss Helen Bennet as Indian maidens, and Miss Helen Stroupe as a fairy.

[TRIBUNE Photos.]

Craigie Lea, the Glencoe garden home of Mrs. Andrew MacLeish, will be turned into a wishing ring for children of the north shore next Wednesday afternoon and Indians, elves and fairies will romp and dance for their entertainment.

MISS EDITH SIMONSON.

More than a thousand children are expected to attend this, the annual midsummer frolic of National Kindergarten and Elementary college of Evanston, and student players of the college will take part in the entertainment, which is being produced under Mrs. Caroline Crawford McLean of the college summer faculty.

Stage Is Rolling Lawn.

The stage will be the rolling lawns of Craigie Lea, with the lake as background and the large audience scattered under the trees. More than sixty girls are taking part, with Miss Edith Simonson, 1014 Forest avenue, Evanston, as the lead. Miss Betty Rombaugh of Tulsa, Okla., and Miss Marion Henke of Minneapolis, Miss Helen Stroupe, Miss Charlotte Moore, and Miss Helen Bennet are also in the cast.

All the work of the frolic has been undertaken by the students in elective courses as a part of their summer school work and is a regular feature every year. Costumes are made by them and the arrangement of the setting planned.

Among the sponsors of the event, members of the governing board of the college, are: Mrs. Philip D. Armour III., Mrs. Merritt Starr, Mrs. B. F. Langworthy, Mrs. Charles N. Stevens, Mrs. Frederick H. Scott, Mrs. N. Landon Hoyt, Mrs. Arthur H. Woodward, Mrs. Douglas Smith, Mrs. E. J. Buffington, Mrs. Ralph Church, Mrs. John E. Wilder, Mrs. Albert H. Ullrich, Mrs. Conrad H. Poppenhusen, Mrs. Frederick P. Vose, Mrs. George H. Bills, and Mrs. Alfred S. Alschuler.

Ticket Chairmen Named.

Chairmen of ticket sales in the several towns are: Mrs. Markham B. Orde, Glencoe; Dr. Ida Laird Barroll, Winnetka and Hubbard Woods; Mrs. C. P. Dubbs, Wilmette; Mrs. Alfred R. Bates, Evanston.

Refreshments will be served after the frolic, which starts at 3:30, and Mrs. MacLeish has invited all who wish to do so to wander through the gardens of Craigie Lea.

Howard Business Group to Hold Dance Thursday

The annual summer dance of the Howard District Business association will be held Thursday evening in the ballroom of the Broadmoor hotel. Members of the committee in charge of the dance include Dr. George Regan, Ray Gray and Joseph Brader.

North Town Boy Scouts Go on Hike of Three Days

Members of the North Town Boy Scout troop made a three day hike to Dunes park, in Indiana, last weekend under the leadership of William Woertz, scout leader. The scouts carried complete camping equipment for the excursion.

Kiwanians Hear Gayton.

OUR TOWN

Paragraphs About Some Folks You Know.

BY FRED PASLEY.

VINCENT SCHENCK, the tree surgeon and nature lover of Glenview, dropped in on Harry Dornbos, the hardware merchant next door to Fred Bach's meat market, and asked for a curry comb. "What's a curry comb?" asked the automotive minded Harry. Vincent then explained that a curry comb is a comb to curry a horse with, the joke, of course, being on Harry, as practically all of us are familiar with this useful article.

Emmet L. Kivland, one of Uncle Sam's leading mail carriers hereabouts, is enjoying a well earned vacation in the Eagle river country of Wisconsin, and his friends are anxiously awaiting his safe return from its mysterious wilds. Many of the best known men in local public life have vanished there, it will be recalled.

FELLOW TOWNSMAN WILLIAM D. M'JUNKIN, who has a building named for him in the center of the Wilson avenue chop suey district, was a caller the shank of the week in ye ed's village of Wilmette, his décolleté Pierce Arrow gas buggy causing no end of flurry in our fliv, Chevvy and part payment plan Buick midst. It has an expensive, gold plated, five pointed star in the middle of the radiator reading, "Personal Staff of the President of the Cook County Board." It was the first time any of the village taxpayers had been privileged to view one of President Cermak's Swiss Guards, and needless to say one and all join in thanking him for letting Bill come out and not charging us anything for the spectacle, and likewise expressing the hope that some day we may see a complete parade of the personal staff in full uniform.

G. T. Peterson of 1851 Farwell avenue is a fisherman of note. His spare hours are generally spent at Dunns' lake, but last week he put in a few hours over in Michigan. As a disciple of Izaak Walton he prefers Wisconsin, since four hours with his fishing pole in Michigan netted him just one six inch perch. Meanwhile, friend wife waited patiently for the fish dinner he had promised and got it at the hotel.

EMERY T. ERICKSON, executive secretary of the Central Lake View Association of Commerce, says the Lincoln and Belmont neighborhoods have now been rid of panhandlers and peddlers. "Beggars deserve no sympathy," he says. "Most of them work for syndicates with which they split, and most of them make more money than the people that donate to them." Trailing a supposed blind beggar last Saturday, he said the man and his escort, a woman, slipped around to a side street and drove away in a new six cylinder sedan.

"Did I ever tell you," queried Arthur Evans, "about the time Bill Harrah tried out his French on the Paris taxi driver? Bill was convoying a bevy of Chicago aldermen on a junket of the continent. Arrived in Paris, Bill hailed a cab and in his best frog informed the chauffeur they wanted to be driven to the Arc de Triomphe. "Oui, oui," reassured the chauffeur, and drove them to the morgue."

JIM PATTERSON went to Milwaukee with the other Ravenswood Kiwanians and took his golf clubs, he being an earnest dub. He and Henry Bach, ditto, sneaked out for a round at the Tripoli course. Each had a half dozen new balls when they started, but by the time they reached the fourteenth hole each was playing his last one. The hole is a short mashie shot over a water hazard, which was where Henry's ball went. Jim's soared up and on to the green. They could see it gently rolling. They hurried over. Jim had visions of a par; maybe a birdie. When they arrived—no ball. They searched everywhere in the adjacent sand traps. No ball. Baffling. Jim was telling James Ward, president of the Ravenswood Kiwanis, about it coming back on the train. "Well, well," said Mr. Ward, an experienced golfer," too bad, I'm sure. You should have looked in the cup."

COMMERCE BODY OF WILMETTE TO PICNIC ON AUG. 14

The Wilmette chamber of commerce is sponsoring a picnic to be held on Wednesday, Aug. 14, to take the place of the usual Wilmette day celebration. The picnic will be held in the forest preserve west of Wilmette on Harms road.

Cars will parade from the village hall to the grounds with a bus for those who have no other way to reach the grounds. Games and stunts will take up the afternoon and those who want to play golf will be able to at any time during the day at the nearby Northwestern links.

The entertainment committee of the chamber, Dr. C. H. Eldred, chairman; Daniel M. Davis, S. C. Meyers, Dr. George A. Stone, and Hans von Reinsperg, will be in charge of arrangements.

Finish Street Lighting Plan for Devon Avenue

A new street lighting plan for Devon avenue between Broadway and Clark street has been completed by a special committee of the Devon District Business Men's association and will be presented to the property owners for approval next week, Emery T. Erickson, executive secretary of the association, said yesterday. R. W. Howard of the Commercial Light company addressed the business men at a meeting last Wednesday.

ALD. ROSS TO ASK INQUEST IN DEATH OF GIRL REOPENED

Ald. Joseph C. Ross [40th] will ask Coroner Herman N. Bundesen this week to reopen the inquest into the recent death of Gertrude Meyers, 8 years old, 3003 Montrose avenue, as a result of an accident at the intersection of Montrose and Sacramento avenues. The coroner's jury returned a verdict of accidental death.

A petition was presented to Ald. Ross by 300 residents of the neighborhood asking him to take steps to reopen the inquest. The petition also includes demands that stop and go lights be installed at the intersection immediately.

Gertrude was killed on July 9 while crossing Montrose avenue at Sacramento. She was struck by a truck driven by Jack Cohen when he attempted to pass another car. He did not see her until it was too late, according to testimony, and his truck was overturned in an attempt to avert the accident.

The driver of the other car testified that he was going 30 miles an hour, according to Ald. Ross, and that being the case, Cohen exceeded the speed limit in passing him. Three fatal accidents have occurred at the intersection in the last year, Ald. Ross said.

2 Civic Opera Clubs Formed on North Side

Officers of two north side civic opera clubs were elected at the organization meetings held recently under the direction of the Civic Opera Service company. The civic opera clubs are being organized in all communities throughout Chicago as part of an educational program to be given in connection with the coming opera season, the first in the new opera house.

In Albany Park an opera club which will be limited to a membership of 300 was formed at a banquet in the Terminal Inn, Lawrence and Spaulding avenues. Mrs. B. A. McGee was elected president of the Albany Park club. Other officers named are: first vice president, Mrs. W. L. Johnson; second vice president, Mrs. J. E. Stral; secretary, Miss Edith Marquiss; and treasurer, Morton Nielsen.

Club Directors Chosen.

Directors chosen are: Mrs. C. G. Cooper, Miss Marian Hoffman, Robert Hecht, the Rev. John M. Schneider, and Dr. Arthur Hoffman. Committee chairmen include Mrs. T. C. Johnson, who will direct the membership drive, and Mrs. I. A. Rabens, program chairman.

Miss Dema Harshberger and O. O. Bottorf of the Civic Opera Service company addressed the Albany Park residents who attended the meeting.

The Rogers Park Civic Opera club was also organized recently at a meeting in the Rogers Park Woman's club, Ashland and Estes avenues. Dr. G. M. Hambleton, 7444 North Seeley avenue, was elected president.

Other Officers Elected.

Other officers chosen are: Vice president, Mrs. W. G. Pigott; secretary and treasurer, Mrs. G. Finley Baker; membership chairman, Mrs. Leopold de Mare; program chairman, Mrs. Samuel Ross; and publicity chairman, Thomas F. Myers Jr. The club will be limited to 200 members.

The motive back of the formation of the clubs is to develop in the members a greater appreciation of opera and music. Programs will be given twice a month during the opera season and the civic opera has prepared 20 programs from which to choose. The programs will constitute a curriculum in music, drama, period furniture, period costumes, jewelry, lighting, makeup, stage setting and general equipment. Clubrooms in the new Civic Opera building will be provided for the organizations.

North End Body to Picnic.

The North End Improvement association of the Forty Fifth Ward will hold a picnic next Sunday in the forest preserve at Milwaukee avenue and the city limits. John Wolf, secretary, made this announcement last week.

Pastor Marries Three Generations in Family

Fifty years ago the Rev. R. A. John married Mr. and Mrs. William Schuetz. Twenty-five years ago when their daughter was married to H. G. Keidel, he officiated, and it was before him that Flora Louise daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Keidel, and Ralph William Christie took their vows last Wednesday at the Edgewater Beach hotel. Plan Festival to Celebrate Wider Ashland

A great community festival in celebration of the widening and paving of North Ashland avenue between School street and Winnemac avenue is being planned for August by the Ashland-Irving Improvement association, Felix Coune, president, announced yesterday. A call for volunteers to assist the officers in planning the celebration was made at the latest meeting of the association.

According to Mr. Coune, the improvement will be completed before Jan. 1, 1930. All claims of the property owners are now being adjusted and those who have vacated and released property necessary for the widening are being promptly paid, he said. The supplementary assessment is to be paid out of the public benefit fund, he announced, and consequently the property holders will not be burdened with additional assessments.

Nearly Finished to Irving Park.

The section between Irving Park boulevard and Addison street is nearly completed and only a few buildings remain to be moved back. The stores and houses have been set back ten feet or more. Work on the stretch from Irving Park boulevard to Winnemac avenue is being pushed rapidly. From Winnemac avenue to the intersection of Ashland avenue and Clark street the widening has already been completed.

Store owners and other business men on Ashland avenue point out that the completion of the improvement will provide another important north and south thoroughfare, extending from Rogers Park to the Lincoln and Belmont avenues shopping district.

The reconstruction of the Ashland avenue district has been accomplished by the Ashland-Irving Improvement association, one of the newest organizations of the north side. It was formed early in the year, with Mr. Coune, the president, one of the leaders in the movement for the development of the community.

Officers of Association.

Other officers of the organization, which now numbers nearly 100 in its membership, are: Vice president, Carl J. Radack; secretary, Alfred Nelson; treasurer, Louis Kreuzer, and directors, August C. Hey, Dr. George Lotz, Frank Effinger, Arthur Klein, and Edward Kruse.

The Ashland avenue merchants are now planning to install a new lighting system, to promote a better and more frequent street car service and to obtain improvements for the schools in the community.

Evanston Fishermen to Learn Stance for Casting

Evanstonians in the Izaak Walton league are now going to be taught the proper stance while casting, fly, bait, or what have you. About 25 men are reported as willing to join a class, and A. McDonald, 2646 Ewing avenue, Evanston, a member of the Lincoln Park Casting club, has volunteered to be teacher, on condition a platform can be built on the edge of Evanston's lagoon.

Three Life Guards Added at Rogers Park Beaches

Three more life guards have been added to the beach patrol of the North Shore Park district, Howard Savage, president, announced last week. The new guards are Walter Glass, 7612 Bosworth avenue; William Handt, 1635 Morse avenue, and George Sheridan, 1104 Columbia avenue. The North Shore park board controls ten street-end beaches between Devon avenue and the city limits.

Kimball Avenue Widening to Be Finished Next Week

The work of widening and paving Kimball avenue between Grace street and Lawrence avenue is being rushed and will be completed next week, Ald Joseph C. Ross [40th] announced last week. When the section is completed, Albany Park will have a 40 foot thoroughfare from Diversey parkway to Foster avenue.

Herbert Whiting Virgin, D. D., LL. D.

THE REV. H. W. VIRGIN.

The church has included in its program the extension of a cordial invitation to residents in all parts of the country to attend its services when they chance to be in Chicago. Thus, while many of the members may be away during the summer their places are taken by visitors. A card with pencil is provided in the pews and guests are asked to register. A check has shown as high as thirty different states in the audience.

At last Sunday's services there were tourists from Missouri, Tennessee, Kentucky, Iowa, Kansas, Ohio, Louisiana, Florida, Georgia, Colorado, Pennsylvania, California, Texas, New York, North Carolina, Wisconsin, and Michigan.

From 343 to 1,300 in Six Years.

Dr. Virgin began his sixth year with the church when he returned two weeks ago from a four months' trip aboard. During the period of Dr. Virgin's pastorate the membership has increased from 343 to more than 1,300, and the Sunday school has grown from 300 to 1,700 in membership.

The church and community house, valued with the land at $350,000, was dedicated in 1921. The physical equipment of the modern structure in every department has now been outgrown, and there are plans for a large development in the future.

The church was organized Sept. 18, 1905. A small chapel was erected in 1906 at Leland and Racine avenues. It served until the present structure was built. The pastors have been the Rev. William Boynton Morris, 1905-'08; Dr. Ingram E. Bill, 1908-'13; Dr. J. Scott Ebersole, 1913-'17; Dr. William Henry Jones, 1918-'23; Dr. Herbert Whiting Virgin, since 1924.

Dr. Virgin's previous pastorates were at Kansas City, Mo.; Roanoke, Va.; Amarillo, Tex., and Jackson, Tenn. He is a graduate of Georgetown college, Kentucky, and specialized at Southern Baptist Theological seminary, Louisville, Ky. He holds the honorary degrees of doctor of divinity and doctor of laws.

Tours Land of Bible.

Most of Dr. Virgin's time during his recent trip abroad was spent in Palestine, Trans-Jordania and Syria. On shipboard, en route home, Dr. Virgin gave a lecture on the Zionist movement as it had come under his observation. He has lectured twice on the subject since his return.

Dr. Virgin says that while there has been an exodus from Palestine during the last two years, the movement has now become stabilized in its development, and he cites four reasons why he believes it will succeed: Haifa will make a great port; the Jordan river has been placed under control, which means the development of tremendous electrical power; a contract has been granted to bring forth potash from the Dead sea, which will mean much in rehabilitating the soil; flocks of goats and sheep have been restricted to limited territory, so that natural bulbs may develop into saplings and trees in the movement to reforest the country.

The outlook, according to Dr. Virgin, is bright for Zionists and for Palestine. Roads are being developed, hygiene being introduced, schools opened up, and every encouragement being given to the cultivation of the soil and the introduction of new industries.

Finds Topography Changed.

Dr. Virgin says that, from a biblical standpoint, it is necessary to study the land in order to reconcile it with the Bible because of the changes that have taken place through the centuries. The topography does not always reveal to a casual observer the biblical descriptions. However, a more careful study reveals the changes and their significance, and it is not long before one finds himself reliving the situations as described by the Scriptures.

North Shore Baptist church has a thriving business men's Bible class in connection with the Sunday school. It meets at 9:45 o'clock Sunday mornings with from 500 to 700 men in attendance. Clayton J. Howel is president. The organization has three features—social, devotional and study, and philanthropic. The class holds bowling, golf, and other athletic tournaments throughout the year, and also gives a series of banquets. It has rendered material assistance in numberless cases where there has been legitimate need.

250 Business Women in Class.

Another active group is the Philathea class, made up of 250 business women who meet monthly for social programs. Three or four banquets are held by the class each year. The class makes a special point of looking after members who are on the sick list. Mrs. James L. Kraft is teacher

FIGHT ANEW FOR IMPROVEMENTS IN RAVENSWOOD

Association Demands Repaving of Winnemac.

Property owners in the Ravenswood district are appealing to four public officials in another attempt to obtain many needed improvements which were demanded late in the spring, but have not been made by the city. At the latest meeting of the board of managers of the Ravenswood Improvement association a resolution was passed instructing the officers to take up the community's problems with the city officials with the view of getting immediate recognition of their demands.

Foremost among the demands of the Ravenswood residents is the request that the city immediately pave the section of Winnemac avenue between Paulina and Clark streets. According to Benjamin Herbert, secretary of the association, the inconvenience suffered by the thousands of motorists using Winnemac avenue is sufficient reason for a fight for this improvement. In a letter to Ald. Curtis F. Mellon [50th] the association asks that the street pavement be laid without further delay. The property owners also have repeated their request that sections of Wilson avenue be repaired.

Criticize Ashland Paving.

To Michael J. Faherty, president of the board of local improvements, the property owners have mailed a statement in protest against the manner in which workmen under the direction of the department are paving North Ashland avenue, between Irving Park boulevard and Winnemac avenue. Many property owners have complained that the laying of asphalt over asphalt will be unsatisfactory as a permanent pavement. They furthermore contend that the crown of the pavement will form so great an incline as to cause skidding, particularly when the pavement is wet, thereby causing many accidents.

Ald. John J. Hoellen [47th] has been requested to give his co-operation in affording relief to the traffic problem at Montrose and Greenview avenues. The association asks that a traffic policeman be stationed at the intersection in the evening, in addition to the policeman on duty during the morning. A recent serious accident at the corner moved the property holders to renew their demands for traffic regulations.

Complain of Garbage Service.

Numerous residents on North Ashland, Greenview, and North Hermitage avenues also complained about the irregularity in garbage collections. They also suggested that street repair gangs inspect all pavements in the district at least once a month. They contend that this is essential in order to keep the streets in proper repair.

A second protest against the disturbance made by boys in the playground at the Ravenswood school, Paulina street and Montrose avenue, on Sundays has been sent to President Caldwell of the school board. The association first sought relief from Ald. Hoellen, chairman of the city council committee on schools. It asked that the grounds be closed Sunday mornings because the noise disturbs the services in three nearby churches.

PARK ATHLETES TO HOLD FIELD MEETS THIS WEEK

The annual track and field championship meets in the small parks of the Lincoln park district will be held this week, E. L. Wheeler, supervisor of athletics, announced last week. The events for men and boys will be run on Tuesday and Thursday evenings at Chase park, North Ashland and Leland avenues, and the women's events will be held on Wednesday evening at Welles park, Lincoln, Montrose and Western avenues.

The events for boys less than 16 years old, including the 100 yard dash, 440 yard dash, broad jump, high jump and pole vault will be given on Tuesday evening and the senior championships, which will include the 100 and 440 yard dashes, one mile run, broad jump, high jump, shot put and four lap relay are scheduled for Thursday evening.

The women will compete in the 50 and 100 yard dashes, high jump, broad jump and basketball throw.

G. O. P. WAR VETS OF 49TH WARD GO ON PICNIC TODAY

The annual picnic and outing of the 49th ward branch of the Illinois Republican Service Men's league will be held today in the Glen View forest preserve, Glen View, Ill. The members of the managing committee in charge of the entertainment are Joseph F. Novotny, Maj. Percy Owens, L. T. O'Brien, M. J. Keither, Howard P. Savage, William G. Knox, A. H. Salkind, George Sugarman, and Everett Allison.

The committee chairmen include: Reception, Charles W. Schick; grounds, R. D. Hall and Arthur Schroeder; games, Glenn Fleshman and Harold Miller; athletics, Al Eiden and Vincent Fanning; transportation, James T. Arnold and Col. Charles Kraft; prizes, George Richarts; printing, J. H. Hinshaw and William C. Bausch; refreshments, Bert Wimmerstedt and Frank Nepper, and publicity, Fred Case.

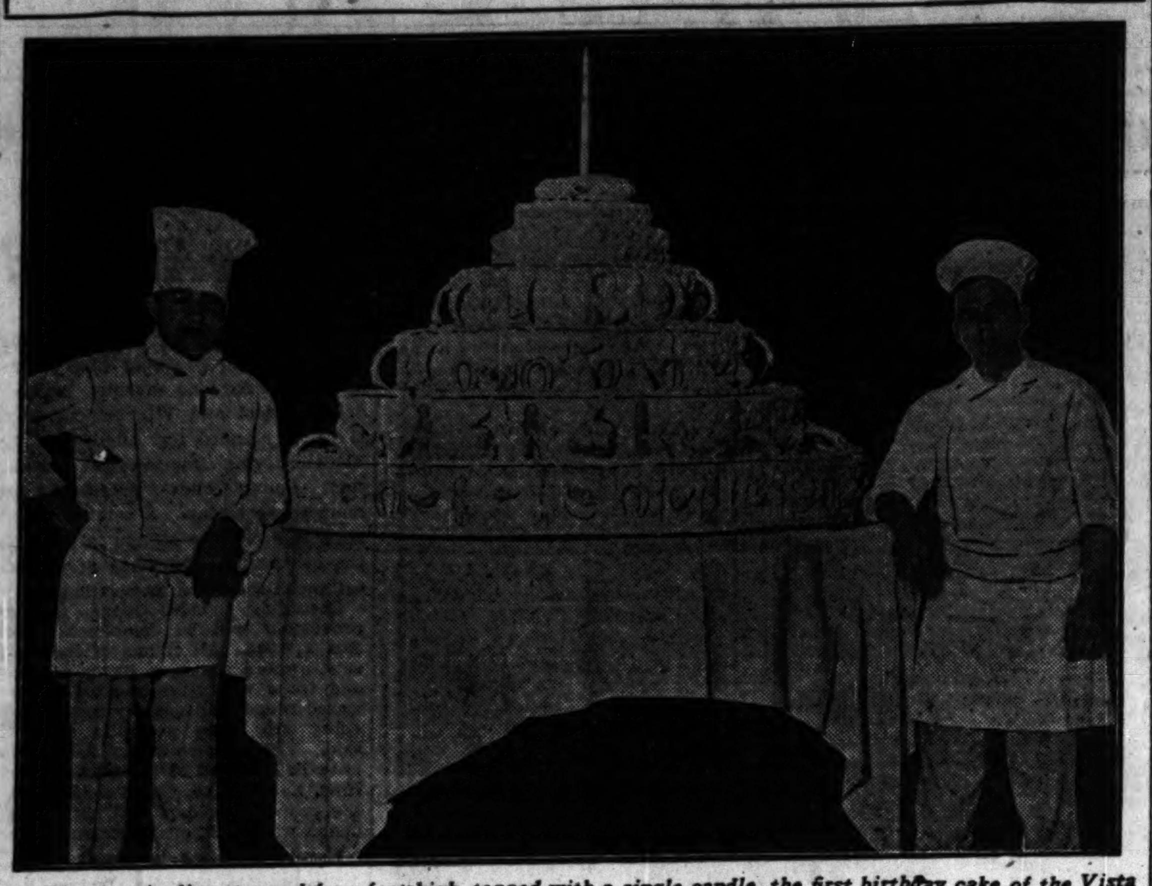
Rogers Park Fire Captain Leaves on His Vacation

Capt. Joseph Conway of the Rogers Park fire station left last week on his vacation. Other members of the station who are on their vacations are John Haley and Henry Reitz. Lieut. Dan Flynn, who has been confined to his home with illness since early in May, will return to the station next week.

Appointed to Church Post.

Mrs. Margaret Kehoe Bigley of Western Springs has been appointed director of religious education at St. Luke's Episcopal church in Evanston to succeed Miss Marion Stacey, who resigned to resume her studies at Columbia university.

MAMMOTH CAKE SERVED ON CLUB'S BIRTHDAY



Five feet in diameter and four feet high, topped with a single candle, the first birthday cake of the Vista del Lago, north shore beach club in No-Man's-Land between Wilmette and Kenilworth, was cut for the 400 members who took part in the birthday celebration Wednesday evening. The bakers of the cake are seen with it: Chef Fernand Pontreau at the left and Pastry Chef John Kennedy at the right. Ralph A. Baker is manager of the club.

WILMETTE PARISH CHURCH TO MOVE TO NEW BUILDING

THE REV. HORACE G. SMITH.

Contents of the corner stone laid in the old structure of the Wilmette Parish Methodist church in 1908 will be read to the members as a part of the symbolic abandonment of the building today.

The ceremony will start with the closing of the doors of the old church and a procession to the new wing now completed. The old church will be razed shortly to make way for the central section in the new plans, and until it is completed services will be held in the wing which is planned to house the Sunday school department and recreational activities.

Dr. Horace G. Smith, pastor of the church, will be in charge of the ceremonies.

congested section of the city. The bridge closed hours should be extended to protect the motorists and pedestrians.

J. S. Martin, Michigan avenue near Chicago avenue, service station owner—The traffic conditions due to the constant opening of the bridges are terrible. Local shipments should be permitted only at night, in order that the bridges may be kept closed as much as possible.

J. Martin Park, 65 East Chicago avenue, pharmacist—The traffic problem is great. I do not know what can be done, though, to solve it.

Accepts Present Condition.

T. O. Murray, 925 Rush street, florist—The traffic situation caused by the bridge openings is a municipal problem that cannot be solved by the convictions of a few. The present control is not so bad and the people must make the most of it.

G. A. Tatch, 642 North Michigan avenue, radio dealer—Most of the bridge openings are due to sandsuckers and tugs. These should be allowed to operate only at night. The traffic is badly tied up at times.

L. A. Horn, 1163 North Clark street, jeweler—The traffic jams caused by the bridge openings have not bothered me to any great extent.

R. M. Kirtland, 646 North Michigan avenue, advertising—The bridges should not be opened to sand boats and other such equipment during the day. The traffic jams during the morning delay the motorists ten minutes or more.

Rogers Park-Clark Street Group to Picnic on July 28

The annual picnic of the Rogers Park-Clark Street Business Men's association will be held next Sunday at Harms Woods forest preserve, Frank M. Schuts, president of the organization, announced last week. The feature of the outing will be a baseball game between the business men of the east side of Clark street and a team composed of merchants on the west sides of the street. Ralph Johnson, secretary of the association, will umpire the game. S. G. Salka is chairman of the committee in charge.

Start Repaving Foster Ave. West of Kedzie Next Week

Street repair gangs will begin paving Foster avenue between Kedzie and Central Park avenue next week, Ald. Joseph C. Ross [40th] made this announcement last week. A section of Central Park avenue next week. Ald. channel will also be repaired.

Heads Sorority Council.

SHERIDAN CENTER SEEKS ADDITIONAL POSTAL SERVICE

Petitions are being circulated by the Sheridan Center association requesting Postmaster Arthur C. Lueder to establish a district postal station in the Sheridan Center community. Members of the association declare that the two substations in the district, bounded by Sheridan road, Broadway, Grace street and Irving Park boulevard, are inadequate to handle all the postal business of the residents and merchants.

L. G. Ross, business manager of the association, announces that the traffic congestion caused on Halsted street by the Halsted-Bradley streets terminal of the Chicago Surface Lines has been eliminated. A transfer point has been established at Waveland avenue and Broadway to facilitate the movement of south bound street cars out of the Bradley loop.

Appointed to Church Post.

Mrs. Margaret Kehoe Bigley of Western Springs has been appointed director of religious education at St. Luke's Episcopal church in Evanston to succeed Miss Marion Stacey, who resigned to resume her studies at Columbia university.

PAYS 25 CENTS FOR TURQUOISE BROOCH REALLY WORTH $32

The Tribune will pay $3 for each story of a best bargain obtained in a neighborhood store printed in the Metropolitan section. Address Bargains, Metropolitan Section, The Tribune. Make them short and snappy, writing on only one side of the paper, and print your name and address plainly.

Wilmette, July 14.—My best bargain was obtained during the Christmas week rush. In searching for a brooch in a handful of assorted ones I came across a battered bluish green affair. The saleswoman said I could have it for 25 cents. Sensing a bargain, I gleefully purchased it and hurried to a nearby jeweler. There it was polished and the battered silver bent back to its original position. When I returned to get it, the clerk informed me that what I had bought as a piece of junk was a real turquoise. Its extraordinary size was what made it worth the magic sum of $32.

ETHEL J. SHARP,

FRENCH JACKET FOR $1.98.

Chicago, July 13.—What I consider my best bargain is a peacock blue French flannel jacket. My cousin gave me a beautiful flannel skirt that I could never wear because I had no jacket. I dropped into a neighborhood store and spied a jacket of the same color. The clerk saw me hesitate and let me have it for $1.98. I went home happy with a perfect match in a French flannel jacket.

WEARS $25 CAPE 6 YEARS.

Chicago, July 14.—Six years ago when capes were in style I bought a lovely one for $25 at a neighborhood store. I wore it two years and then made it into a coat, trimming it with an old mink scarf. I have worn it every winter since and look forward to wearing it a good many seasons, and then it will probably be passed along to some one, as it looks like new.

PLAN CEREMONY FOR NORTH TOWN POSTAL BRANCH

Civic Groups to Celebrate Opening July 29.

Business men's associations and other civic organizations of the North Town district are making plans to participate in the dedication exercises of the new North Town postoffice, Devon and North Talman avenues, which will be opened for business on Monday, July 29. The business men and postoffice officials intend to stage a community celebration in connection with the opening, for the postal branch has long been needed in the far northern area, the movement for its establishment having been started nearly two years ago.

The new postoffice will serve the territory bounded by Damen avenue on the east, Bryn Mawr avenue on the south, the city limits on the north, and on the west, Crawford avenue south of Devon avenue, and Kedzie avenue from Devon avenue to the city limits. The new territory was formed out of the Rogers Park and Ravenswood branch areas.

Erickson Superintendent.

The new building, which was recently completed, has a floor space of 8,000 square feet. Herman J. Erickson, assistant superintendent of the Northcenter branch has been appointed superintendent of the new postoffice and Clement J. Horsch, special clerk at the Wicker Park station, has been promoted to assistant superintendent of the North Town station.

The staff, which is composed of former carriers and clerks of the Rogers Park and Ravenswood branches will include forty-one carriers, four collectors, two parcel post carriers, eighteen clerks and three laborers. The appointments were announced last week by Henry C. Smale, superintendent of delivery.

Second New Station.

The North Town postoffice is the second new station built in the far north side in the last nine months, the new building of the Rogers Park branch having been dedicated last November. Among the organizations that will assist in the dedication exercises is the North Town Business and Improvement association, which led the campaign for a postoffice in that community. John Powers is president of the association. Other organizations that will join in the ceremonies are: North Town Kiwanis club, 50th Ward Citizens club, Peterson Community center, West Ridge Improvement association and the Greater North Park Improvement association. Congressman Carl R. Chindbloom, Alderman Curtis F. Melin [50th] and postoffice officials will attend the dedication.

BUSINESS MEN PLAN FESTIVAL IN ALBANY PARK

Preliminary plans for the first annual summer festival for Albany Park were discussed at the first meeting of the festival committee recently appointed by the Albany Park club, an organization composed of business men in the district. The celebration, which the committee expects will exceed anything ever before held in Albany Park, will be staged on Lawrence avenue and adjacent streets for six nights, from Sept. 9 to 14.

J. Arthur Levy, president of the Albany Park club, yesterday said that "the time is right for such a festival. Other business centers throughout Chicago have sponsored trade expositions successfully, and with the cooperation of all business men of the community our celebration will attract visitors from the entire city. There will be entertainment and programs that will interest every resident on the north and northwest sides, and both the residents and merchants will benefit."

A popularity contest will be one of the features of the festival. Elaborate street and store front decorations will be erected and numerous contests with prizes and other entertainments are planned by the committee. Headquarters of the committee have been established at 4753 North Kedzie avenue. Mr. Levy will be general chairman of the celebration, assisted by Herman Elenbogen, treasurer, and W. L. Johnson, in charge of publicity. J. C. Eggoe has been engaged as business manager.

The Albany Park club was organized in March of this year with a charter membership of 30 business men. The purpose of the club is to furnish a medium whereby business men and professional men of the district may become better acquainted and have an opportunity to discuss together the problems of the community. Meetings are held at the Albany Park Masonic temple.

In addition to Mr. Levy, the president, other officers of the club are: Vice president, Martin Nielsen; treasurer, A. H. Hollander, and secretary, Mr. Johnson.

VILLAGE BAND TO GIVE CONCERTS AT LIBERTYVILLE

Residents of Libertyville and cottagers at the surrounding lakes may now listen to the strains of an old time village band. Beginning last Thursday night the Libertyville Village band inaugurated a series of weekly outdoor concerts, free to all music lovers who care to attend.

The band is composed entirely of residents of Libertyville even to the director, Percy G. Snow.

"When I was a barefoot boy," said Mr. Snow, "the weekly band concert was a great American institution. Then came the movies and automobiles and the band concert went the way of the 5 cent cigar and wooden Indian. Now people have a yearning for the old time comradeship that centered around the concert and with our band we are able to meet the community demand."

The concerts will be given in Cook Memorial park every Thursday night during the summer.

"A Busy Little Mother" Wins First Prize

"A Busy Little Mother," showing Audrey Elaine Jones and her dolly, this week won for Shelby C. Jones, 1509 Spencer avenue, Wilmette, the first prize of $5 in The Tribune's play picture contest for amateur photographers of the north side. R. A. Corlett, Homewood avenue, Libertyville, won the second prize of $3. His picture shows Warren and Edith Nicholas, Sunset drive, Libertyville, and their dog, Boy. The bewhiskered young gent is Jimmy Jones, 1347 Chase avenue, who won the third prize of $2 for Miss Kathryn Jones of the same address.

Evanston Jail Spotless and Prisonerless

The Evanston police station went in for house cleaning last week and cleaned itself out of even prisoners. Spotless cells, with no one in them, painted walls and restained woodwork are only a part of the redecoration and rearrangement put through.

Lieut. Carl Ekman, head of the detective bureau, had a new private office for himself with a jar of flowers on the desk and everything. And Chief William O. Freeman got a nice paint job done in his easy to get into but hard to get out of office.

City Dads Try Jail Fare.

Last Tuesday night was gala opening and show-off night for the rehabilitated station and the city fathers and other officers were taken on a tour of inspection, jail fare was served up to them and they seemed to like it and they were mugged in the rogues' gallery.

The rogues' gallery, by the way, has gone under something of a readjustment, too, with larger quarters for it and other of the paraphernalia of the identification bureau, which under Fred G. Bennett has acquired an enviable reputation among cities of the size of Evanston.

Rows and rows of the two way pictures, persons arrested in Evanston as well as of some Chicago criminals, are on file there, as well as fingerprints, and a laboratory has been added to enable the department to make tests supplementary to those of the coroner's office. Dr. David C. Hedberg is consulting physician for the office and, with his aid, physical examinations are given regularly to the police staff.

Try Hunting Fingerprints.

But the item of greatest interest to the inspection tour was the thingamajig that you crawl around the floor with to locate the elusive fingerprints. Rumor has it that most of the aldermen had to send their suits to the cleaners to have those telltale paint marks removed from the knees.

Chief Freeman set out early Wednesday morning for his vacation, leaving Capt. Charles F. Paasch holding the bag.

N. U. CHILDREN'S THEATER CLASS TO GIVE 'ALADDIN'

The children's theater class at the Northwestern university school of speech will revive "Aladdin," one of the most popular plays ever presented by the Evanston Children's theater next Friday afternoon and evening.

Dean Farnsworth and Winifred Ward of the school of speech faculty will direct and the cast will be made up of adult and children students in the dramatic classes. Settings, lighting effects, costumes in their bizarre oriental effects will all be worked out by students attending the summer session.

The play will be presented at Annie May Swift hall on the Evanston campus instead of at the Haven or Nichols school, where the Children's theater productions are given during the winter. It was selected because of its popularity with child audiences as a demonstration play for students who will direct children's plays in other cities.

Kenilworth Woman Talks to Tennessee Garden Club

Mrs. John Lind, 316 Richmond road, Kenilworth, was guest lecturer of the Lookout Mountain Garden club, near Chattanooga, Tenn., last Friday. She directed a study class in the morning and presented a stereopticon lecture on "The Intimate Garden—the Changing Garden," in the afternoon. Mrs. Lind, who is a member of the Kenilworth Garden club and has talked on gardening over W-G-N, left for Chattanooga last Wednesday where she was the guest of Mrs. Seymour Morris of the Lookout Mountain club.

Albany Parkers to Make Boat Trip to Milwaukee

Members of the Albany Park Community center will make their annual excursion today to Milwaukee on the S. S. Christopher Columbus. Alexander H. Glick is chairman of the committee in charge of the outing.

Stages "Tom Thumb"

MISS MARIE A. FOLEY.

The Jack and Jill players, under the direction of Miss Marie A. Foley, announce that they will present "Tom Thumb," by Henry Fielding, in their new quarters at 40 East Oak street; beginning Aug. 2 and continuing every Friday throughout the month. The cast will include Miss Beatrice Brooks, J. A. Ainley, Henri La Bori, Arthur Franz and Alfred Fischer. "The Loves of Lionel" will complete its run next Friday.

SWEDISH PICNIC TODAY TO DRAW CROWD OF 20,000

More than 20,000 Swedish-Americans are expected to attend the annual picnic held at the Swedish Societies' Old People's home in Evanston today. Secretary of Labor James L. Davis will be the chief speaker.

A festival of music and other entertainment will be provided for the crowd that will fill the large grounds around the home. The United Swedish singers of Chicago will give a program of choral music and refreshments will be served throughout the day.

Receipts from the picnic will go toward the upkeep of the home, which several Swedish groups cooperate in financing. John P. Miller, superintendent of the home for many years, is in charge of the general arrangements. A feature of the day will be the raising of the honor roll.

Other speakers on the program besides Secretary Davis are Mayor Charles H. Bartlett of Evanston, George E Q. Johnson, United States district attorney; Congressman Carl R. Chindbloom, and George P. Jansen, president of the Danish Old People's home in Norwood Park.

The home, which is regarded as one of the best in the country of its type, was visited three years ago by the crown prince and princess of Sweden on their tour of America.

Lake Forest's Budget for New Year Reduced

In spite of its increased area, Lake Forest this year will require a smaller municipal budget than last. The appropriation ordinance, passed at the last meeting of the city council, carries a total of $564,000. Last year's total was $589,121. The tax levy ordinance, included in the above figure, but covering only the amount to be raised by taxation, provides for a total of $394,800, against last year's figure of $422,470.

CENTRAL UPTOWN GROUP ASKS NEW PARKING RULES

Find Ban Interferes with Business.

Business men in the Central Uptown Chicago district again are appealing to Ald. John A. Massen [48th] for a change in the parking regulations.

The traffic and parking situation, which Ald. Massen declares is the greatest local problem with which he is compelled to deal, was believed to have been solved on March 1 when parking between the hours of 8 and 9:30 in the morning was banned on three streets in the district, but the business men have found that this ban complicates rather than relieves the conditions.

Aimed at All Day Parking.

The restriction prohibiting parking on Wilson avenue from Magnolia street to Sheridan road, on Lawrence avenue from Broadway to Sheridan road, and on Broadway from Sunnyside avenue to Lafayette street, was fathered by Ald. Massen upon the demands of a majority of the business men of the Uptown district, including many members of the Central Uptown Chicago association. The ordinance was adopted primarily to prohibit the all day parking of cars by residents of Evanston, Rogers Park and north Edgewater districts, who drive to this area, park their machines and proceed to the loop on the elevated.

The store owners and other business men contended that these cars prevented people living in the Uptown district from parking and doing their daily shopping. They now complain that the no parking ordinance prevents the local residents from parking during the morning period and consequently the shoppers are inconvenienced and some business is lost.

Fix 20 Minute Limit.

Ald. Massen, in another effort to please the business men, has arranged with the police department that motorists parking not more than 20 minutes during the morning period will not be liable to arrest. The business men believe that this plan will be successful and that shoppers will be able to do their business in the district and at the same time motorists from the far north side and the north shore will not be permitted to park their cars for the entire day.

Loren Miller is chairman of the traffic committee of the Central Uptown association of which John Bowers is president.

WOMEN VOTERS OF LAKE FOREST ELECT OFFICERS

The Lake Forest League of Women Voters at its recent annual meeting elected the following officers for the ensuing year: President, Miss Martha Sarver; vice presidents, Mrs. Frank Hixon, Miss Catherine Colvin, Mrs. Roger Bronson, Mrs. Walter R. Bridgman; secretary, Miss Florence Underwood; treasurer, Mrs. Philip Speidel.

The following were elected members of the board of directors: Mrs. George W. Blossom Jr., Mrs. William Courley, Miss Madeline Newell, Miss Frances Gould, Mrs. Stuart Prosser, Mrs. George Richardson.

At a meeting Thursday at the home of Mrs. Frank Hixon a study group was formed to gain information about impending bills before the state legislature.

SEEK SENTIMENT OF EVANSTON ON UNIFYING PARKS

Move May Hinge on Tax Boost Possibility.

The proposal for a city-wide park district in Evanston, dormant for more than a year, was revived in a meeting last Monday night of members of the original park board committee called by Mayor Charles H. Bartlett.

The meeting came on the heels of the formation of a park district in northeast Evanston to buy up the plot of ground at Central street and Ridge avenue, leased by Gustav E. Seegren from Northwestern university as an apartment building site.

The new district will be the second in Evanston. The First park district of Evanston was formed several years ago in a portion of the Third ward, south of Greenleaf street and along the lake. Other parks are owned and managed by the city.

Conflicts of Jurisdiction.

The resulting mixtures of jurisdiction have given impetus to the all Evanston park district idea.

At last Monday's meeting, according to Mayor Bartlett, the consensus of the committee members, including one alderman from each ward and two representative citizens, was that a unified park district co-extensive with the city limits would be advisable now if the taxpayers wished to increase their taxes. Such a district could provide more parks and spend more on upkeep, since its bonding power, 3 per cent of the assessed value, which would amount to a maximum of about a million and a half in the case of Evanston, was greater than that of the city.

"Those objecting to the park district," said the mayor, "pointed out that the commissioners have no restrictions and are under no authority. Also that they are elected for a five-year term, with only one commissioner retired each year."

Seek Sentiment of People.

The meeting decided to adjourn until September and meantime to get expressions of opinion from the townspeople. Even those opposed to the district were in favor of having the proposal put to a vote. This may take the form of a city bond issue for $250,000, which, if passed, will show that higher taxes are not a bar and be followed by a vote on the district.

Included in the committee are Hubert Burnham, Mrs. Charles W. Spofford, H. Dyer Bent, Mrs. Thomas Eddy, Daniel McCann, R. D. Cunningham, George F. Baker, Mrs. Harry Hurd, David C. Malin, Dr. James Dolson, Mrs. Arne Oldberg, David Helson, Mrs. Harold Cook, William Judson Harper, Mrs. Arthur Knox, Lambert Kaspers, Christian Golee, Mrs. Mae Wood Simons, George Dalgety and the following aldermen: Robert T. Sherman, Clinton Merrick, Augustus Knight, Albert E. Hobbs, Peter N. Jans, Herbert S. Simpson and W. H. Knapp.

If the park district should be set up it would remain for the city council to decide whether it would give up the parks it now has jurisdiction over.

TWO HOSPITALS IN LAKE FOREST HAVE BUSY YEAR

The report of the Lake Forest Hospital association for the year just ended shows that Alice Home and the Contagious Hospital, the two operated by the association, are well appreciated by Lake Forest residents. The report shows 953 patients spent 7,845 days in these hospitals last year. Of these, 509 were surgical, 329 medical and 115 obstetrical cases. In addition there were 144 accident cases and 53 emergency operations.

The activities of the hospitals were not confined, however, to regular hospital work, the report shows. In the last year 681 X-ray pictures were taken, and 149 X-ray and 395 physiotherapy treatments given. The hourly nursing service, recently established as an experiment, made 393 calls and devoted 476 hours to this work.

Not all the expense of hospitalization is paid in the patient's fees. Consequently the hospitals in Lake Forest depend upon their friends and charitable organizations to make up the deficit. The annual Onwentsia Club horse show contributes its proceeds to the association; the Trading Post rummage shop, operated full time by a group of society women in Market Square, donates its profits, and many individual contributors help to make up the difference between the $6.66 average receipt per person, and the $10.76 average cost.

45th Ward Group Picnics.

The annual picnic of the women's auxiliary of the Forty-fifth Ward Nonpartisan Booster club was held last week in Lincoln park. Ald. William H. Feigenbutz [45th] was a guest of the club at the outing.

"UNCLE TOBY" TO DO HIS CLOWNING FOR LEGION MEN

Advertising Post to See Circus Character.

Advertising Men's post, No. 38, of the American Legion will have Clinton A. Connell, known as Uncle Toby in the circus world, as a special guest at the meeting tomorrow noon in the Louis XVI. room of the Hotel Sherman. Toby will make his appearance through the courtesy of Ringling Bros. and he will put on his act early, in order to get back to the "big top" for the afternoon performance.

The speaker of the meeting will be Dr. D. P. Boder, staff phychologist at the Michael Reese hospital and professor of psychology at Lane Technical High school. This feature has been provided by a post member, Dr. Bradley C. Downing.

The first week of an intensive membership drive by Harold A. Taylor post, No. 47, resulted in twenty-five new members being signed up. A quota of twenty-five new members per week has been assigned the members of the post by Walter E. Ernst, commander, for the next seven weeks, which is expected to bring the Taylor post membership to 1,000.

With a "Howdy, folks!" the first issue of the Breeze introduces itself to the members and friends of Jackson Park post, No. 555, all ex-service men and to its community. The staff comprises Commander Charles N. May, William H. Powell, and Carl A. Peterson. Jackson Park post meets the first and third Fridays of each month at the Southmoor hotel.

Auto hikes or picnics are held every other Sunday at some nearby forest preserve by Square post, No. 232. Today's hike will be held near the 95th street entrance of Fairmount cemetery. A sign will be placed at the entrance that will direct to the spot for the picnic. Those interested are asked to call Iris Brown, Radcliffe 0951, for further information on these events. The meeting place for the hike on Aug. 4 will be 79th street and South Park avenue. Meeting time, 9 a. m.; time for shoving off, 9:30 a. m.

The next regular meeting of Van Buren post, No. 401, will be held Tuesday night in Hotel Atlantic. Commander Leon M. Hanna announces that the post's drum and bugle corps will perform next Sunday at the Arthur C. Lueder baseball and field day at the Logan Square ball park. The post's annual basket picnic will be held Sunday, Aug. 4, at Mueller's grove.

Sunday, Aug. 4, is the date Chipilly day falls upon this year. "Save this date," urges Chipilly Chips, publication of Chipilly post, No. 310, "and get set now to join in the picnic and celebrate in Chipilly Ridge forest preserve—on the Dundee road, two miles west of Glencoe. Harry Cheney is the executive committeeman who is boss of the show, and for his committee he has picked the same trio of expert picnic managers who made last year's picnic such a howling success—namely: George Mundt, Herman Meyers and Frank Martin. It is a little early for details, but we are privileged to state that the annual ball game between the north and south sides will be held as usual and that the north side will be captained by Eddie Quinn, while the south will be led by Jim Epperson. Coffee will be furnished on the picnic grounds, but you must bring your own cups or other containers."

A big meeting is scheduled for Tuesday, July 30, at 8:15 p. m., when the membership of La Societe des Forty Hommes et Eight Chevaux gathers in the Hotel La Salle to elect delegates to the state and national Forty and Eight promenades. Other business to be transacted by the voiture at this session will be the balloting on candidates seeking admission into the order. Applications must be in the hands of the investigating committee prior to July 25. "The Two Plumbers," a humorous Legion skit put on by Charles Kamp and Fred L. Boissy, members of the Forty and Eight, will headline the entertainment program. Further Forty and Eight forthcoming activities include a picnic on Aug. 11, at the Forty and Eight chalet, when Voiture 220 will be hosts to all Legion posts in Cook county, and the annual Forty and Eight golf tourney which is scheduled to take place some time in August. This is but part of the social program which Chef de Gare Elmer Taylor is outlining for the year to come.

Woodlawn post, No. 175, boasts of having four brothers enrolled in its organization, Lester, Charles, Frank and Joseph Robinson, all of whom have been members of the post for the last six years and take a prominent part in its many activities. Members of the post are curious to learn what other post can equal this record.

In a letter to all commanders, officers and members of the American Legion, Mayor Chester Thompson writes that it affords him great pleasure officially to invite them to Rock Island in September to attend the annual state convention of the Legion.

"Rock Island," the mayor says, "is proud to be host to the outstanding group of ex-service men and will do its utmost to see that all are properly taken care of and entertained. Rock Island is the home of the Rock Island arsenal, which is the largest military establishment of its kind in the world, and something that I am certain all members of the American Legion will take great interest in. We are prepared to show you a wonderful time. This preparation is not only made by members of Rock Island post, No. 200, but by the community at large. Rock Island will be the property of the Legion while they are with us next September, and I earnestly request and invite every Legion post in Illinois to be represented at this 1929 convention."

"A shoot fest is something that can't be explained, announces Chipilly Chips, the publication devoted to the interests of Chipilly post, No. 310. "You have to go on one to find out what it's all about. All that can be said is that shoot fests were originated by "Borgy"—good old Capt. Borgmeier—who was for many years the leading spirit of company A of the old First infantry. Now, on Aug. 17 and 18, Chipilly post will hold its first shoot fest. Mike Hickey is the executive committeeman in charge of putting on the show which will be held at the rifle range at Camp Logan, just north of Zion City."

Indications are that Chicago and Cook county will be represented by a large delegation of Legionnaires at the national convention of the American Legion and the American Legion auxiliary to be held at Louisville, Ky., Sept. 30 to Oct. 3. Advertising Men's post, No. 38, has in mind arranging for chartered Pullman cars to leave Chicago Saturday night, Sept. 28, and arrive in Louisville Sunday morning, Sept. 29. T. J. Bates is chairman of the "On to Louisville committee."

Yarbo-DeVere post No. 469 is making preparations for the dedicatory exercises in the near future of the Jewish War Veterans' section in Oak Ridge Jewish cemetery, Mannheim and Roosevelt roads. Among those who will make up the general committee of arrangements are: David L. Shillinglaw, state Legion commander; S. C. Maixner, state Legion senior vice commander; George M. Kellogg Jr., Cook county Legion commander; Capt. James C. Russell, Edward Clamage, Harold R. Schradzki, C. E. Taylor, chef de gare of the Forty and Eight society, and Gen. John J. Garrity, past national commander of the Spanish War Veterans, Col. Howard P. Savage, past national commander, and Laurence E. McGann Jr., national vice commander.

Tribute to the late Thomas H. Byrne has been paid by Logan Square post, No. 405, in a resolution which called attention to the loss of one of the post's staunchest supporters. A paragraph read: "By his untiring industry and intense devotion to duty, by the high quality of his work and example, and the quiet dignity and gentility with which it was done, Thomas H. Byrne endeared himself to each member of the post. His many unsolicited acts such as providing us first with a beautiful silken banner and later with a complete set of drums and bugles for our corps, proved him a faithful friend whose services we exalt and whose memory we would revere." The resolution was signed by Commander Arthur E. Neilsen, Adjt. William H. Schwenk, Past Commander Stanley P. Baldwin, L. J. Fenlon, J. W. Skogstrom, A. S. Hyldahl, Charles V. Falkenberg, T. H. Fleming and Leo S. Miller, and by George A. Rohde, commander of the drum and bugle corps.

GLENCOE NAMED FOR COVES AND EX-MAYOR'S WIFE

Settled During '60s by Notable Chicagoans.

This is the sixth of a series of articles concerning the naming of north side streets and suburbs.

BY VIRGINIA SCHMITZ.

First guesses on the source of the name Glencoe are usually, "It's an old Indian word," and a second try brings the answer, "It's from the Scotch town of that name." But the real origin is closer at hand than either.

A composite name is Glencoe, given to the north shore town by Walter S. Gurnee—the Glen because of the aspect of the countryside there, and the Coe tacked on because it was his wife's maiden name and seemed to fit.

Early settlers shied away from the spot because the deep ravines and coves and glens made hard traveling and the heavy woods made it poor for farming. And so, while towns were springing up to the north and south, it wasn't until the 1860s that Glencoe was developed.

Gurnee a Former Chicago Mayor.

Among the first to make their homes in this then wild country were Chancellor L. Jenks, Dr. John Nutt, W. H. Judson, and L. L. Greenleaf, all notable men of the time. Gurnee, who had been mayor of Chicago in 1851 and 1852, owned a good piece of the land, but never built.

His chief business was a large tanning concern, but he was interested in property along the shore as far as Highland Park, and the Gurnee Ford, over the Des Plaines just east of Libertyville, is supposed to have been name for him. Gurnee lived in Chicago many years, but spent the latter part of his life in New York, as did many of the Chicago pioneers.

And he didn't live to see the town he named become a fashionable suburb of homes retaining much of the natural configuration which made it undesirable for utilitarian purposes.

Indian Trail Tree Still Stands.

Perhaps the most interesting spot in Glencoe is the old Indian trail tree now marking the boundary line between Cook and Lake counties. It was recently rededicated by the Chicago chapter of the Daughters of the American Revolution and is one of the few such trees standing at its original position.

These trees are believed to mark old Indian trails through the woods and were made by bending young saplings in a peculiar manner. White oak and white elm were used, and as they grew in size they became easily noticed markers. Most of them have been cut down and many others moved to different sites, but the one in Glencoe stands as it did decades ago at what is now County Line road close to the North Shore and North Western lines.

MOTHER SEEKS BOY, 14, WHO RAN AWAY TO START WORKING JACK KING.

Somewhere in Chicago or around about is a boy, 14 years old, who did not want to go to school any more and set out for the open road. He left his home at 2237 Bissell street early in May and his mother, Mrs. Lema King, has been searching for him ever since. Jack King is his name and he's five feet seven inches tall and weighs about 127 pounds. His hair and complexion are dark and his eyes are black. If Jack sees this his mother wants him to know that she misses him and will let him go to work instead of school as he wanted to do if only he'll come home.

N. SIDE GIRLS PLAY AND REST AT Y. W. CAMP

Three Play Spots Open Until September.

As the summer season advances, increased activity is noticeable in the headquarters of the Central branch of the Young Women's Christian association, 59 East Monroe street. A continuous stream of young women and girls may be seen at practically any hour of the day, going in and out of the offices where they register for one of the Y. W. C. A. summer camps in wooded districts not far from Chicago.

On the shores of the Fox river near Piano, Ill., stands an old vine covered mill. A relic of a picturesque past, it was abandoned some years ago by its owner and purchased in 1920 by the Y. W. C. A., which founded for younger girls a camp now called Millhurst.

Operates Two Other Camps.

The other two camps operated by the Y. W. C. A. are Forest beach at New Buffalo, Mich., for business and professional girls and the forest preserve camp for industrial girls at Glenview, Ill. The camp in the forest preserve is an old farmhouse which has been remodeled into a recreation spot. Forest beach is located on a high dune overlooking a wide beach and Lake Michigan. Here Hoover hall, the recreation house, with its open fireplace, bookshelves, piano, and wide, inviting porches, is surrounded by twenty-five cottages. One hundred fifty-two girls may be accommodated at this camp.

Thus, Chicago business girls are provided with a delightful and healthful vacation at a minimum cost, probably less than their living expenses in Chicago. The three camps were opened June 26 and will close early in September. Large numbers have already spent their vacations at camp, while others are planning eagerly for the week or more when they can escape the city's heat and rush.

These Girls Registered.

North side business girls who have registered for Forest beach for the next two weeks include the following: Miss Gertrude Blier, 3933 Clarendon avenue; Miss Ida Branovitch, 5345 North Sawyer avenue; Miss Stellae Caravelli, 339 Sigel street; Miss Gussie Carter, Waukegan; Miss Pearl Cassel, 4730 North St. Louis avenue; Miss Hazel Collen, Waukegan; Miss Ella Greinke, 3322 North Leavitt street; Miss Gussie Caret, Waukegan; Miss Gwendolyn Griffiths, 1020 Lawrence avenue; Miss Dora Housman, 3138 Clifton avenue; Miss Helen Jamroz, 2622 Stark street, and Miss Doris Rose, 5915 North Whipple street.

93 ROGERS PARK BOY SCOUTS BACK FROM CAMP TRIP

10 Churches Represented at Owasippe, Mich.

Ninety-three Boy Scouts of Rogers Park, the largest number of north side boys to attend a scout camp in recent years, returned yesterday from Camp Dan Beard at Owasippe, Mich. They represent ten churches in the community, and were accompanied by four leaders.

27 Boys from Troop 839.

Charles Lellinger is activities director of the camp and will be assisted by Charles Barbier. Other directors include August Bobrytzke, handicraft supervisor; Arthur Driess, nature study; James Eppen and John Arndts, first aid directors, and Oscar Wetstein, bugler.

Present Drama as Benefit for Disabled War Veterans

The Academy players, under the direction of Mrs. Myrtle R. Madden, presented a playlet, "Wages for Wives," last week in the auditorium of the Wilson avenue Y. M. C. A., 1735 Wilson avenue. The proceeds of the performance were given to the Daughters of the Republic to be used in their work among disabled war veterans. Included in the cast were: Frank Lapes, Miss Mary Malone, Carl Lundein, Miss Margaret Wagner, Arthur Green, Miss Jane Madden, Robert Atz, Miss Ruth Brown, George Carson, James C. Madden and Miss Beatrice Story.

SCOUTS INSTALL KOSHER KITCHEN IN SUMMER CAMP

No longer will the orthodox Jewish parents of Chicago forbid their sons to attend the Boy Scout camps at Owasippe, Mich., because the religious duties of the youngsters will be overlooked. Directors of scouting in Chicago recently inaugurated at Owasippe the only kosher kitchen at any scout camp west of New York, and thereby made it possible for Jewish boys to carry out the 12th scout law, namely, "A scout is reverent."

More than fifty boys have been eating in the kosher dining room regularly this summer, and even a larger attendance is expected to eat at the table as the camping season progresses.

The food is prepared and served under the direction of a Jewish religious adviser, who also conducts services for Jewish youngsters at the various Owasippe camps.

KDKA and KYW Granted Construction Permits.

Final approval was given by the federal radio commisison recently for the removal of the transmitter of the world's oldest broadcasting station, KDKA, from East Pittsburgh, where it was first opened in November, 1920, to Saxonburg, in Butler county, 22 miles northeast of Pittsburgh.

At the same time authorization was granted to move the transmitter of station KYW from Congress hotel in the downtown section of Chicago to Addison, Ill., 23 miles west of the city. Both stations are owned by the Westinghouse company. Like KDKA, station KYW is a pioneer, having opened on Armistice day, 1921, and is the fifth oldest station in the United States.

According to Walter C. Evans, superintendent of radio operations of the Westinghouse company at Pittsburgh, both stations will have brand new equipment designed especially for these stations, which should mean a good deal in the way of general reception to the listeners of the country.

Giant Tubes in Use.

A newly designed 100,000 watt tube, about 7 feet in height will supply the power for KDKA, while a 50,000 watt tube will be used for KYW. This will mean that though KDKA will use 50,000 watts, the highest power authorized by the radio commission, it will be necessary to operate the great new tube at half power. At present 5 smaller tubes are doing the work at KDKA. Station KYW has been granted a construction permit for 50,000 which explains the large tube for that transmitter.

The transmitters are being removed from East Pittsburgh and downtown Chicago for entirely different reasons. In the case of the former, it is the hope that the element of fading may be reduced. This condition is believed to be caused by the semi-mountainous country in which KDKA is now located.

Out of Steel Area.

The transmitter of KYW is being moved primarily to get away from the steel area of the congested portion of the city, where the steel in the tall buildings absorbs the strength of the radio waves. Both stations will retain their old waves and the actual broadcasting will continue to be done in Pittsburgh and Chicago as in the past.

The removal of such a historic station as KDKA marks another era of broadcasting in this country. Although a temporary experimental license was granted the station Oct. 22, 1920, the first issued by the United States government, it was not until Nov. 2 that the Westinghouse company inaugurated the first general broadcasting from station KDKA, when it broadcast the returns of the Harding-Cox presidential election.

Its short wave achievements have been particularly notable. As early as 1923 it succeeded in transmitting a program to Great Britain and early in the next year one of its programs was relayed from London and heard clearly in Calcutta, India.

VICTOR YOUNG, VIOLIN VIRTUOSO, COMES TO W-G-N

Victor Young, violin virtuoso and conductor, has come to W-G-N, THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE station on the Drake hotel, to join the forces of Jean Goldkette's dance orchestra. He comes to radio from the position of assistant musical director of Balaban & Katz movie theaters.

Young is among the foremost American orchestrators, transcribers and paraphrasers and his work is expected to open an entirely new realm of possibilities for Goldkette and his orchestra.

There is a striking similarity between the life of Victor Young and the biography of Leon Kantor, the little music master in the movie "Humoresque." There is that same triumph of genius over poverty and discouragement. At the age of 10, Young left the impoverished home of his family on Chicago's near west side. The boy's grandfather, a tailor of Warsaw, invited him to Europe. He studied and his talent was discovered. Jarembsky, Lotto, Barcevicz, and Statkovsky—all the master musicians of Poland—became interested in him.

During the war, Young was caught in the midst of the Russian revolution, and, being a musician, was thrown into prison. The boy spent years in one prison or another. Not until after the war did he finally escape to American shores.

OPEN EVENINGS

Inside the Loud Speaker

BY QUIN RYAN.

Conditions are pretty tough at present among the musicians. Of the theater musicians in the Chicago branch of the union, approximately 60 per cent are out of work, due to the talking pictures. Of the whole brotherhood in Chicago—dance hall musicians, café instrumentalists, brass band players and small jobbers—there are about 2,000 out of employment.

A YOUNG MAN, Bill Carlson, a native of Ironwood, Mich., and a student at the University of Michigan, has just returned from a sojourn of fourteen months with the Hobbs geological expedition in Greenland. He writes to us about radio reception up there:

TH' MUSIC GAME AIN'T WHAT IT USED TO BE UNION MUSICIAN

"Dear Mr. Ryan—When we went into the hinterland, a hundred miles over mountains from our nearest neighbors, a small colony of Eskimos, we were left entirely without any means of communication aside from our radio apparatus. We were entirely dependent upon our radio equipment for any emergency call we might have to make, and we relied solely upon our receiver for our entertainment.

"I must tell you that we had a wonderful news service by tuning you in at one in the morning, or ten o'clock, your time. Throughout the months preceding the presidential election last fall we were able to follow the activities of the contending parties.

"I remember election night especially, when we could hear you giving the election returns from THE TRIBUNE office. We listened to you all night that night, and we could hear the applause when the results were announced in the Chicago hotel between dance numbers.

"On Christmas day we sat down to a meal of real stuffed ptarmigan, mashed potatoes, cranberry sauce, pumpkin pie, peas, cheese, cigars and coffee, with a real program from W-G-N that made us feel as though we were at home. And on New Year's eve, imagine the contrast between our surroundings and the revelry we could hear down there where Coon Sanders' orchestra was playing. We became so enthured over the W-G-N program that we forgot all about the time, and the new year was a half hour old in Chicago before we realized it!

"Being a Michigan man and extremely interested in football—I was a track man at Ann Arbor—I followed you every Saturday in your football games from the different places in the Big Ten. Boy, how we used to yell, as we could hear the crowds whooping during those tense moments in the big games. . . . The long Arctic night, the monotony of the silences and the raging blizzards, those bugbears of the older days no longer hold the northern explorer in their grip. Radio has changed all this, and today the well-equipped expeditioner keeps in touch with the outer world."

Ho, here's the bugle call already, paging the two horses in our race. Say, there's a thrill in that "Boots and Saddles" call, isn't there? Nice looking hosses in this race—Mr. Pickwick and Jasper B. Here they come now.

Mr. Pickwick is going to have the rail, with Jockey Jimmy Corcoran up. Jockey Pete Sampson is riding Jasper B. . . . Good day today, and a fast track. The fine weather has brought out a big crowd; the boxes in the club house are well filled today. . . . There's a stiff wind blowing from the left, which means the steeds will have it at their backs on the home stretch. . . . Out in the parade ground the flags are whipped by the wind until they stand straight out. . . . Look down the front of the brandstand here . . . that's quite a crowd! There doesn't seem to be a favorite, between these two—Mr. Pickwick and Jasper B. . . . Well, the horses are leaving the paddock now, and the fans, too.

Here they come, out on the track, the lead horse and Mr. Pickwick and Jasper B.—the silken red shirt of Corcoran and the white and green shirt of Sampson billow away from their backs . . . their feet perched high and their knees crowded up to their chins.

THEY'RE OFF!

Jasper B. was standing in the middle of the track and leaped into a good start—and he's loping down here a length ahead of Pickwick, on the rail. . . . He's stepping faster ahead, and here they come toward us, flying with the wind. . . . They're clumping past us, and Jasper's a length and a half in the lead. . . . There they go rocking around the first turn. . . . Jasper has crept over to the rail on the curve and the jockies are beating them on. of Pickwick. . . . They're sliding along the fence, making the semi-circle and they look like rocking horses. . . . JASPER LEADING BY MORE THAN A LENGTH AT THE QUARTER POST! . . . Now they're swerving into the back stretch and tney run headlong into the stiff wind. . . . They're slowing up a little, and the jockies are beating them on. . . . Pickwick is inching up now, plowing into the wind—closer—and closer—and closer—Jasper is only a length ahead. They're sweeping along the back stretch. . . . Jasper B. is leading Mr. Pickwick by a full length at the half distance. . . . Jockeys' heads are ducked behind the horses' heads. . . . They're coming to the turn now, and Jasper looks to be tiring. . . . Pickwick is gaining as they hit the bend. . . .

Here they come around the curve. . . . Pickwick is picking up and he's a half length behind as they steer into the home alley. . . . Gee, now watch this finish!

At three quarters, Pickwick is a neck behind Jasper. . . . The folks on the lawn are jumping into the air. . . . Both horses have the wind with them now, and they're a neck apart. . . . Jasper has had the lead since the start and he's fighting madly to keep a neck ahead. . . . Look at them come! . . . Here they are, right out here! . . . The jockeys seem to be riding in the air. . . . Jasper a neck ahead. . . . They're coming to the line. . . . OOOP, Jesper B beats Mr. Pickwick by a neck!

U. S. Signal Corps' Station Is Farthest North in N. A.

The signal corps radio station at Point Barrow, Alaska, is the farthest north radio station on the North American continent. In June, 1928, the secretary of war directed the signal corps to connect Point Barrow, a remote settlement on the Bering sea, with "the outside." In just 51 hours after the order was given a radio station was functioning at Point Barrow and communication established with Seward, 800 miles distant. Private Richard Heyser, radio operator, and his station equipment were flown by commercial plane 500 miles from Fairbanks to Point Barrow.

FOUR CZECH STATIONS.

At present there are four broadcasting stations in Czecho-Slovakia, located in the capital city of Prague, Brno, the capital city of Moravia, and Bratislava and Kosice, in Slavakia. The number of broadcasting hours in 1928 totaled 9,500 for the entire republic

WORLD PROGRAMS SOON WILL BE REBROADCAST

Special Events Only Will Go on Air.

Citing the successful transmission of the king's thanksgiving services from London to Australia and the United States as an example of progress, C. W. Horn, newly appointed general engineer of the N. B. C., declared that the day was in sight when we would be rebroadcasting programs all around the world. Mr. Horn, who has just made a trip to Europe, said that our introduction to this era would be through the broadcasting of special events, rather than by the regular exchange of programs.

Taking the case of England, for example, he pointed out an obstacle to the exchange is the five-hour difference in time between here and there. For instance, they would be interested in our sporting events, notably prize fights. If we broadcast a fight at 10 or 11 o'clock at night, as is usually done, it would be received in England between 3 and 4 o'clock in the morning, which would naturally prove quite a drawback. As things stand now it is mechanically possible to rebroadcast a great European event in this country.

Must Pay License Fee.

As for the routine programs, after the novelty wore off, there would be the question of how much the English, or those of another nation, might care for our programs, or we for theirs.

Mr. Horn said the European broadcasting systems, as compared with ours, represented a difference between rigidly controlled government ownership there and a highly competitive system here. There the public is given what the government thinks it should have and here the listening audience receives what it demands. There they must pay a license fee but here no charge is made for listening and it is altogether a good will proposition.

"Monotony is the enemy of radio," Mr. Horn said, "and if I made any criticism of European programs, I would say it is their monotony. They will have solid hours of heavy musical programs, heavy lectures or educational talks. However, they have their hours for dance and lighter music.

Different Temperaments.

"It is not fair to them or to ourselves to say which countries have the best programs because that would involve a difference in the temperaments of the nations. But here I will say that the European transmission is good, but their receiving sets are not up to our standards. This is due to the low purchasing power of some of the countries. New sets are not purchased as frequently as they are here and many litseners still use earphones.

"Another disadvantage is the variation of the wave bands. They have about what we have here but they go as high as 1,600 meters, with a commercial band in between. Thus it really requires two sets to cover this wide range."

East and Dumke in New Nightly Feature at W-G-N

East and Dumke, the mirthquakes of W-G-N, THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE station on the Drake hotel, are appearing in a new nightly feature at 10:10. In their new show they take the rôles of just a couple of family boys trying to get along. They have their love affairs, their family quarrels, their troubles making both ends meet. They plan to broadcast little dramas of real life, proving themselves the ambassadors of good cheer.

JEAN GOLDKETTE . . . .

Jean Goldkette is the big man in American music. He has molded the crisp spirit of American life into music. He held to no tradition; not even to the tradition that "jazz" must be raucous and discordant. New standards have been set, and Goldkette is the only dance music master able to play up to them. Jean Goldkette and his W-G-N Dance Orchestra have startled the world with the new music. When programs end, listeners wire impatiently for more. Victor Young's orchestrations are modern to the highest degree. Each man is skilled and enthusiastic. That's what makes this big band with the big name. 1:30, 2:25, 11:15.

PATRICIA ANNE . . .

It's gonna be a swell party. Patricia Anne Manners, the little soprano you heard in the Student Prince will be in the middle of it. She'll put over this show the same way she floored the dial twirlers in Los Angeles. Not that she needs assistance, but the Symphony Orchestra, a hot harmony trio and a violin choir all offer Mlle. Manners their best for a big background. The Symphony Orchestra livens and quickens to a new wiggle of Gaston du Moulin's baton. The trio is so hot it's dangerous on anything but the Therm-O-Proof program. The violin choir consists of four real fiddlers. They're the Therm-O-Proof Entertainers, 7:45.

LEAKING TRUNK PUTS SPOTLIGHT ON MICHAELSON

Gives Dry Congressman Lots of Publicity.

BY ARTHUR EVANS.

The leaking trunk mystery, the cracked bottle of Scotch that shed its peatsmoke fragrance on the desert air of the Jacksonville, Fla., trainshed when a merry congressional party returned from a West Indies cruise with wet souvenirs, made a front page headliner for a time this year of Congressman M. Alfred Michaelson of the Seventh district. It was the most publicity he has had since Fred Lundin first took him by the hand and led him into the primrose paths of politics.

In May a Florida jury at Key West found Michaelson not guilty of importing and possessing liquor from Havana. The jurors reached a verdict after being out four hours and taking ten polls. The congressman's brother-in-law, Walter Gramm, described by the federal lawyers as "the fall guy," stepped up and claimed ownership of the trunk which leaked. He told the jury Michaelson had brought the trunk in for him under his "congressional free entry" without knowing of its contents. Stark ignorance was claimed of the thirteen quarts of assorted whiskies and the ten gallons of rum which the federal authorities alleged were inside.

It's Still a Mystery.

Brother-in-law Gramm stood on his "constitutional rights" whenever the matter of wet goods in the trunk was mentioned, and he at no time admitted ownership of the beverages. Failing memories were a feature of the defense end of the trial, nobody remembering anything about liquor anywhere, anytime.

So as to how the liquor concealed itself in the luggage of the Michaelson sight seeing party it is still a mystery. After giving his demonstration of brotherly-in-law love, Mr. Gramm himself was indicted by a federal grand jury in Jacksonville.

What gave the whole episode its greatest savor was the fact that Michaelson is a dry voting congressman who has had the benison of the Anti-Saloon league. He voted for the Jones 5 and 10 law while he was under indictment by the Florida federal grand jury and before his trial and acquittal.

His District Largest.

Congressman Michaelson is a product of the old Lundin-Thompson machine. He represents the 7th district, the largest in Illinois, which last year cast 316,500 votes on governor. This was more than were cast in the 8th [Kunz], 5th [Sabath], 1st [De Priest], 4th [Doyle], and 9th [Britten] districts combined.

Michaelson was born in Kristiansand, Norway, in 1878 and was brought to the United States at the age of 7: He was a teacher in the Chicago public schools from 1898 to 1914. He became alderman of the old 33d ward in 1914, serving to 1918.

Michaelson, as a protégé of Fred Lundin, who, in those days, was calling himself "the poor Swede," became Mayor Thompson's floor leader, preceding Louis B. Anderson, Negro alderman from the 2d ward, in that important position. He was noisy on the floor. One of his favorite words was "sinister," which had a high rating in those days in the Lundin-Thompson lexicon. He had a sequence of three phrases which he used as a sort of refrain for his speeches—"It isn't right, it isn't fair, and it's illegal."

What M. V. L. Thinks of Him.

At the end of his first term the Municipal Voters' league said Ald. Michaelson had made "a miserable record; alderman of the 'spoils politician' type." Continuing, the M. V. L. said: "Michaelson is the alderman who went about on the evening of the October 'dry spell' lining up alderman to make the Argonautic trip to the golden gate; fought against fundamental rights of council."

The "Argonautic trip" referred to was the expedition of the Lundin-Thompson crowd to San Francisco immediately after Mayor Thompson's promulgation of the famous Sunday closing order in October, 1915, when they started booming Thompson for the presidential nomination.

The M. V. L., among other criticisms, said: "Michaelson's effort in behalf of Mesce, the real estate and political expert, is still fresh in the council's memory." Frank H. Mesce was one of the city hall building experts and he had been a boarder with Michaelson.

Beaten in First Race.

In 1917 a boom was started for Michaelson for congress by the Lundin-Thompson outfit, the lead being taken by George Hitzman, committeeman from the old 33d ward, and Charles J. Peters, committeeman of the old 35th. Michaelson was unsuccessful. Congressman Niels Juul beat him in the September, 1918, primaries by 1,400 votes.

Two years later, in 1920, Michaelson beat Juul in the primaries by 15,000, and was elected to congress. In 1922 the issue of Thompsonism was raised by Frank M. Padden, Democratic opponent of Michaelson. Padden pledged himself to make every effort to compel the city hall real estate experts to pay income tax on some $3,000,000 collected from the taxpayers through the machine.

"Two years ago," said Padden, "Michaelson was supported by the wets and at his first opportunity in congress he voted dry. Now the Anti-Saloon league is backing him.

"Michaelson is the sentinel of the city hall crowd in Washington, an errand boy for Lundin and Thompson."

Made Plea for Small.

Michaelson, during the campaign that year, in a speech in Wicker park hall made an appeal for a legislature which would refuse to impeach Gov. Len Small. He called Small "the man who is fighting your battles."

In the election that November, Michaelson won by 8,300 plurality over Padden out of 130,000 votes cast, which was regarded as a small margin for the Seventh, which is strongly Republican. Michaelson had the indorsement of the Anti-Saloon league in its preëlection report.

In that same 1922 election, in voting on the referendum on beer and light wines, the 7th district went wet by 80,000.

In the 1924 campaign, Michaelson was criticized by his opponent for activities in blocking Chicago waterway legislation. That year he had got permission to print in the Congressional Record an undelivered speech attacking Senator Medill McCormick of Illinois and THE TRIBUNE in connection with the battle in Washington over water diversion from Lake Michigan for the sanitary district. Representative Nicholas Longworth, now speaker, demanded the speech be expunged as a violation of a congressional rule, and the congressman withdrew his address for revision.

Accused of Trickery.

The 1926 campaign in the 7th district was embittered by political trickery. John S. Hall, the Democratic candidate, charged that his withdrawal from the race was a forgery and the result of a conspiracy to throw Lundin Republican votes to Democrats on the county ticket. Secretary of State Emmerson, now governor, who had accepted the withdrawal as bona fide, heard the complaint, and ordered Hall's name to be included in the list of candidates certified.

Hall charged that Michaelson and the Lundinites had entered a deal to throw the Lundin vote in the district to Harry A. Kohl, Democratic candidate against County Reviewer Charles V. Barrett, who was to be knifed by the Lundin crowd if the Democratic bosses succeeded in getting Hall off the ticket. Michaelson denied he had made any such deal, and the Democrats said Hall had withdrawn himself and then reneged. In the November election Michaelson beat Hall by 24,000.

Remains with Lundin.

After the split between Lundin and Thompson Michaelson remained with Lundin. Little was heard of Michaelson for quite a period until last spring, when the episode of the leaking trunk and the indictment was made public.

Scott McBride, head of the Anti-Saloon league, hastened into print with denials that the league had indorsed Michaelson, who in February had voted for the Jones 5 and 10. Judge Padden, who ran against Michaelson in 1922, and Emil Selten, Democrat, who ran against him last year, at once brought out rebuttals against Mr. McBride. Padden declared the league report in 1922 carried Michaelson as "indorsed," while Selten declared the league befriended Michaelson last year and the lack of open indorsements at that time was most largely due to the distaste of candidates to carry the league's banner, regarding it as a political burden. Only one Cook county congressman bore the league's public indorsement last fall and that was Elliott W. Sproul of the Third.

KENILWORTH TO RECEIVE BIDS ON NEW ROAD PAVING

The Kenilworth board of local improvements will consider bids for the opening of Coventry road through block 36 in Kenilworth and for the paving of the proposed new section at its meeting tomorrow night.

The extension of the street will necessitate the removal of a garage, plumbing shop and real estate office but will make a short cut to Ridge road and south routes for Kenilworth residents living east of the tracks.

Block 36 through which the cut is made is bounded by Kenilworth and Railroad avenue. Glendining road and Ashland avenue. When the road is cut through it will leave a section of land on which the proposed new Kenilworth village hall and fire station will be built.

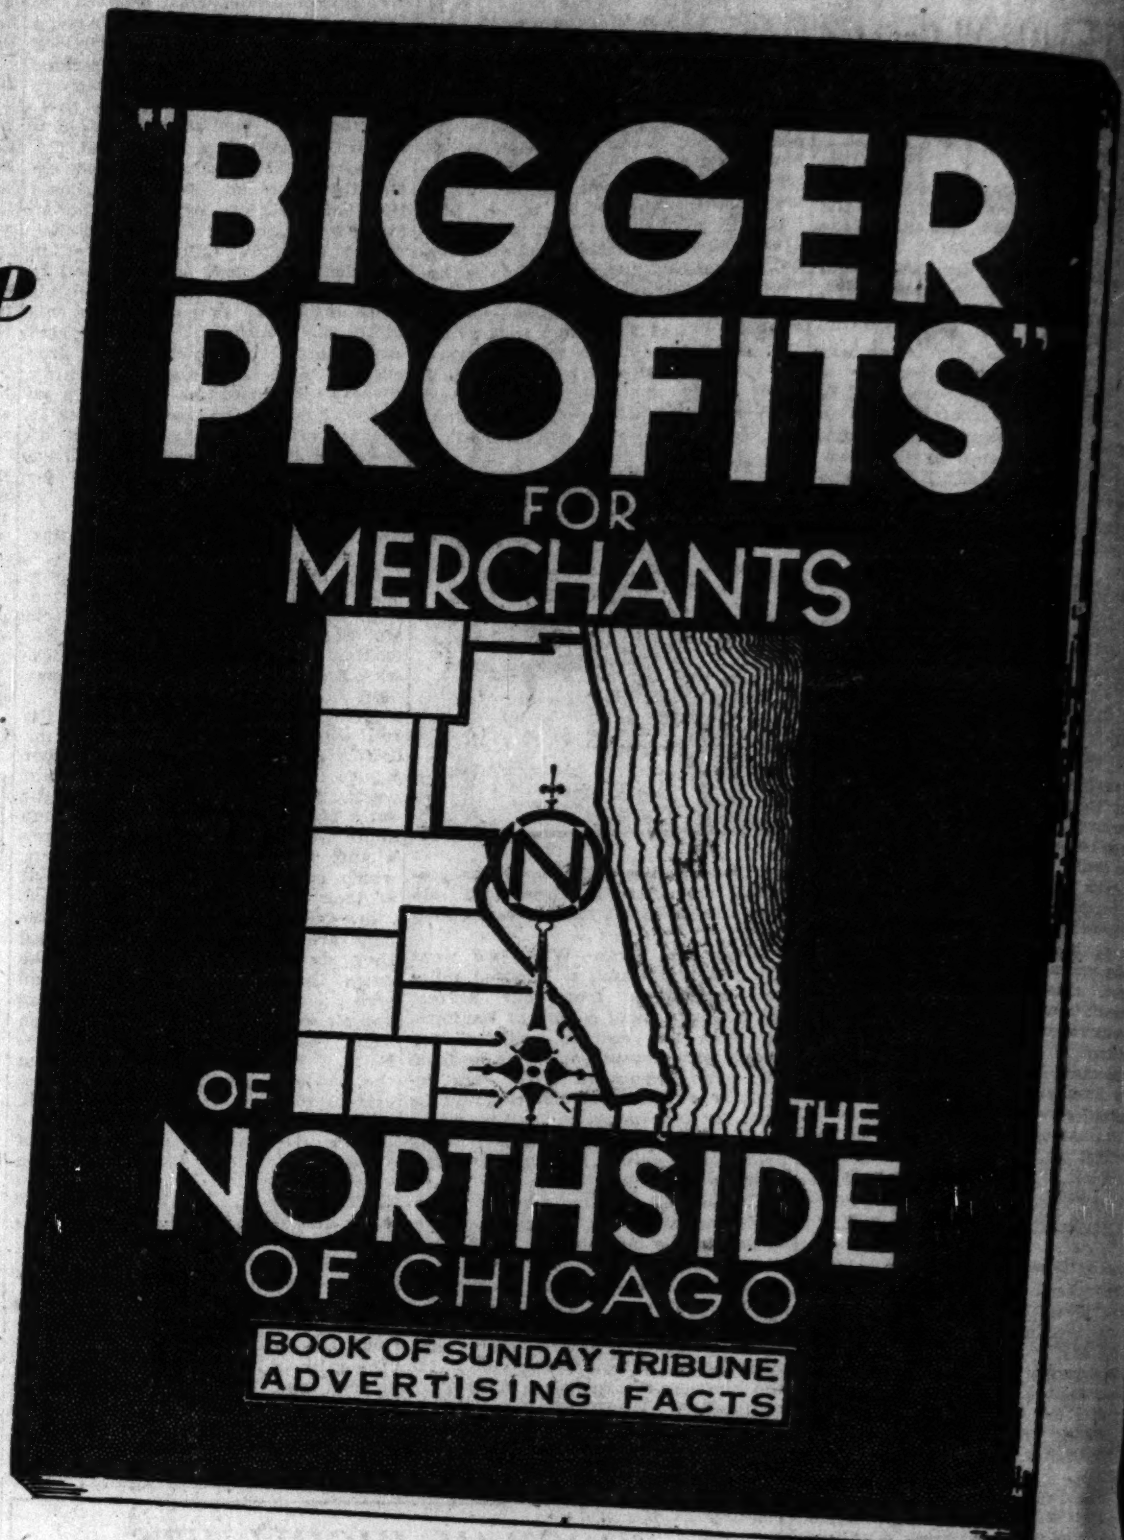
North Side Merchants!
Are You Getting Your Share of the Half Billion DOLLARS spent by people on the North Side?



WELL over half a billion dollars!—that's the annual retail expenditure of the 211,718 families who live on the prosperous North Side of metropolitan Chicago—as much as is spent in Pittsburgh or San Francisco!

These prosperous families spend 111 millions for food alone every year—and another million for stoves and ranges to cook it on—more than the value of all the gold and silver coined by the United States mints in 1926.

They spend 30 millions a year for automobiles and 14 millions for gas and oil to keep them rolling. Tires and accessories increase the bill another 6 millions. Furniture and house furnishing merchants take in 31 million dollars a year. Clothing stores selling to the North Side divide 69 millions. Drug store cash registers ring up 21 millions more. These are just typical items in the golden harvest waiting to be reaped on the prosperous, bustling North Side!

YOUNG CICERO HAVING ITS HOT WEATHER FUN

Legion Junior Ball Teams to Start Series

The finals of the Cook county qualifying games of the American Legion Junior Baseball tournament will start tomorrow and run until Aug. 3. All the teams are sponsored by American Legion posts. The Cook county championship games are being conducted by Al Goldberg, chairman, and L. A. Twomey, secretary of the first district.

The state championship series will be held at Cubs park, Aug. 8, 9, and 10, and the winners will go to Topeka, Kan., to play teams from Iowa, Missouri and Kansas for the championship of the middle west.

Police Post Team in Race.

MAYWOOD JUNIOR DRAMATIC CLUB REHEARSES PLAY

The junior dramatic club of the Maywood playgrounds department is rehearsing for a play, "In Little Folks' Town," to be presented the first week in August. About 200 children are taking part.

The playgrounds department announced last week that 85 boys will be escorted to the Cubs game Tuesday and that 35 women would be taken to the game on Friday.

Under the supervision of the Maywood playground board children of the village are taken to the program for youngsters given at the Field museum every Thursday, according to an announcement made last week. The meetings consist of a story hour followed by a movie. The programs are scheduled to continue until about the middle of August.

ELMHURST COMMERCE BODY HEARS TALKS ON HIGHWAYS TOMORROW

Highways will be the principal topic of discussion at a meeting of the Elmhurst chamber of commerce to be held tomorrow evening. The chief speakers will be Robert Kingery, secretary of the Chicago Regional Planning association, and E. L. Gates of the highways department of Du Page county. Meetings of the chamber are held only once a month during the summer, the regular weekly meetings having ben discontinued on account of the warm weather. Much interest is reported among members of the chamber concerning the subject of highways.

OAK PARK TRADE LEADERS PREPARE FOR DOLLAR DAY

Plans for the next Dollar day in Oak Park on Aug. 13 will be discussed at a meeting of the retail affairs committee of the Oak Park chamber of commerce tomorrow. The rules and policies to be followed in preparation for the event will be adopted at this meeting.

Dollars days in Oak Park are restricted to two a year. This policy was put into effect at a meeting of the retail affairs committee some time ago.

See Success in New Plan.

Members of the committee believe that the new council organization plan, recently adopted by the chamber will aid to a considerable extent in assuring greater success for coöperative sales days. In each district of the village the council of the chamber is in charge of the event for that particular neighborhood, thus effecting a greater degree of unity than would otherwise be the case.

The chamber announced last week that merchants have been occupied with obtaining especially attractive bargains in preparation for Dollar day.

More Details Coming Soon.

Detailed information concerning the handling of the event will be announced at an early date.

The headquarters of the chamber is in the Oak Park Arms hotel. O. C. Braese is president.

St. Ignatius High School Enrolls Its New Students

Enrollment for next year's scholastic term at St. Ignatius High school, 1076 West Roosevelt road, has been in progress all summer, the school office announced yesterday. The fall term will begin on Sept. 3. The Rev. John F. Quinn, S. J., is principal of the school.

Spends Summer in Europe.

Maywood residents who are in Europe this summer include John Trauensteiner, 1305 South 7th avenue Maywood. He expects to be gone about six months.

Merry Spinach, Sportive Bean Cavort in Fete

Musical vegetables and gaily tripping calories with here and there a dancing ray of sunshine will be woven into a pageant glorifying good health Thursday afternoon at Garfield park by more than 200 west side children under the direction of the west park playground instructors.

Against a background of flowers and ferns, the youngsters will sing of the joys of health and of the breakfast, luncheon, and supper dishes favored by the gods who bestow good health upon children who obey their commands. And while one group of children is singing, others will dance as the "Spirits of play," demonstrating how happiness and gayety result automatically from good health.

Butter Balls Frolic.

Other children representing rollicking butter balls, milk fairies, vegetables, rabbits, elf men carrying the staff of life, dancing proteans, water nymphs, balanced diettes, and rays of sunshine will take part in this garden pageant which promises to be at once amusing, entertaining, pleasing to the eye, and educational.

West side business men and the west park recreation department, under the direction of W. J. H. Schultz, are coöperating with the national food bureau in arranging the pageant which several thousand residents are expected to witness.

The first performance will be held at 3 o'clock in the afternoon at the Garfield park bandstand, directly east of Hamlin avenue on Madison street, and the second will be held at 7:30 o'clock in the evening. Following the afternoon show, a parade of floats, decorated by the business men's clubs, will be held. The line of march will be from the park to Ashland and Washington boulevards and back.

Boys to Provide Music.

Music will be provided by an orchestra of boys of the Eckhart playground, directed by William Hofman and trained by Mrs. H. M. Lewis.

The following playground directors are coaching the children in preparation for the event: Mrs. Jennie Van Keuren, Miss Sadie Cohen, Miss Lorraine McCormick, Miss Lillian Shoemaker, Miss Harriet Hemstreet, Miss Sophia Sabriaj, Miss Florence Keifer, Miss Erna Claas, Miss Genevieve Guerino, Miss Rose Braverman, Miss Sadie Fleming, Miss Helen Brooks, Miss Harriet Gross, Miss Mary Spring, Mrs. Mary Fajut, Miss Gertrude Trace, Miss Anna Delaney, Miss Magda Nissen, Miss Mary Hammer, and Miss Avis Overfield.

76 Will Receive Diplomas at Harrison Summer High

Seventy-six students will be graduated at the end of the summer course at Harrison Technical High school, 285 West 24th street. The registration for the summer classes this year reached a total of about 900 students. The principal of the school is Frank L. Morse.

School Band Gives Concert.

A concert was presented by the Naperville High school band at Central park, Naperville, on July 13. The Parent-Teacher association of the school assisted.

Paragraphs About Some Folks You Know.

BY FRED PASLEY.

JOHN McSWEENEY, the popular Irish tenor and state representative from the west side, has practically recovered from the last session of the legislature. John is glad the bill introduced by a downstater to make the cardinal the official bird of Illinois wasn't passed, as the K. K. K. would have run all the cardinals out of the state, he says.

MR. AND MRS. EDWARD DEAN JR. of our northwest side are now believed to be far on their way to Los Angeles. They left a week ago Thursday, starting at 10:30 in the morning from Madison and Crawford on roller skates, as they are traveling that way as a result of a wager they can complete the trip in 45 days. The last word from Ed was a postcard mailed somewhere west of Joliet and stating: "It sure was a tough grind, especially for the wife, but she is a game kid and will never say die."

THE Bensenville Business Men's association is having put up a large number of metal signs on the various highways which tell the tourist, "Bensenville, Ill., the City of Opportunity." The signs are in the shape of a forearm and hand with pointing finger directing the way. The background of the sign is white, while the lettering is in red and easily seen from the passing auto.

Let us introduce Mr. and Mrs. Albert L. Gauthier of 6715 Oliphant avenue, who have just celebrated their fiftieth wedding anniversary by again pledging their vows. They have six sons William, the eldest, served in the Spanish-American war; Otto, Albert Floyd, and George all saw active service in France during the world war, and James, the youngest, is now a member of the 122d field artillery. And one of their two daughters, Mrs Edith Mattocks, is president of the Ida McKinley auxiliary No. 5, United Spanish War Veterans and also organizer of the Lincoln Park Unit No. 481, American Legion auxiliary.

FERD MARZUTTE of the Chicago, Milwaukee, St. Paul and Pacific switch yards, has been located in Mont Clare. Ferd was mysteriously missing for three weeks. Rumor had it he was in Wisconsin. He returned as mysteriously as he had gone. Investigation by the boys disclosed that Ferd had taken unto himself a wife, and not only that, but for many weeks prior to his disappearance had been furnishing a home in Mont Clare. So when the Marzuttes had finished their honeymoon they moved into the love nest, where they are now at home to their friends, who wish them a long and happy married life.

Elmhurst Lawyer Leaves on Trip Through Europe

Michael Kross, assessment commissioner and Elmhurst attorney, left last Tuesday with a group of colleagues who named their party "The Midwest Lawyers Club" on a trip to Europe. Sailing from Montreal on the S. S. Megantic, they will spend a week in England. Mr. Kross will then leave the party, going first to Vienna, then by boat to Budapest and to Svedler, Czecho-Slovakia, his boyhood home which he has not visited for more than twenty years.

Mrs. James Farmer, chairman of the ways and means committee of the Mothers' club, is making arrangements for a Plunkett luncheon to be held at the school in early fall.

Former Altar Boy Now Heads Church Order

This is the story of a boy born and raised on the west side who chose religion for his work in life and went forward with such success that early this month he was selected to head all the Servite houses in the United States. It is the story of the Very Rev. Jerome Mulherin, O. S. M., until recently pastor of Our Lady of Sorrows church, Albany avenue and Jackson boulevard, and now provincial of the Servite order in this country.

THE VERY REV. JEROME MULHERIN.

At the election held July 9, 10, and 11 at Our Lady of Sorrows, which is the mother house of the order, Father Mulherin was chosen provincial or head of the Servites in the United States for a term of three years. Father Mulherin was born and raised in Our Lady of Sorrows parish and there he spent the greater part of his career as a priest.

Attended School There.

In the old house still standing at 2637 Jackson boulevard, Father Mulherin was born and raised. He attended the parochial school, served mass with the other altar boys of the parish in the old church, which was situated in an environment of prairies, corn fields and mud roads, and spent his early youth in this west side neighborhood.

Following his education at Mount St. Philip's college, Granville, Wis., which is conducted by the Servite order, he was ordained to the priesthood on Feb. 3, 1901. Before coming to Our Lady of Sorrows in 1902 he was stationed at the novitiate of the order at Granville and also at Assumption church, Illinois and Franklin streets, Chicago. Since the fall of 1902 he has been at Our Lady of Sorrows. On Dec. 4, 1927, he was installed as pastor of the church, a position he held until his recent election as provincial.

In commenting last week upon his election, Father Mulherin called attention to the fact that all large religious orders of the Catholic church are divided into provinces. The head of each province is the provincial. The Servites have only one province in the United States, and since the mother house is located at Our Lady of Sorrows, Father Mulherin will continue to reside there. About a dozen houses make up the American province, each of which has as its head a prior. The retiring provincial of the order, the Rev. Patrick Brosnahan, O. S. M., was chosen at the recent election to be prior of Our Lady of Sorrows.

The new pastor of the church is the Very Rev. P. M. Condon, O. S. M., who like Father Mulherin, attended the parish school of Our Lady of Sorrows as a boy. Father Condon is a native of Tipperary, Ireland.

Founded in 1233.

The Servite order was founded in 1233 to foster devotion to the Sorrowful Mother. The founders were seven Florentine patricians, Bonfilius Monaldi, Bonagiunta Manetti, Amideus de Amidei, Manettus dell' Antella, Sostene Sostegni, Hugh Uguccioni and Alexius Falconieri. One of the best known members of the order was St. Philip Benizi.

Houses of the order are located in practically all European countries. In 1870 members of the community came to the United States and established themselves first in Menasha, Wis. From there they came to Chicago.

NEW, GROWING, THRIFTY, CLEAN —THAT'S CICERO

Named for Village in N. Y. State.

This is the sixth of a series of articles on the naming of suburbs and streets of the west side.

BY ONEY FRED SWEET.

Cicero, Chicago's swift growing suburb, did not take its name directly from the Roman advocate, orator and writer, but its classical appellation was suggested by Augustus Porter, an early settler from the east who had formerly lived in the town of Cicero, Onondaga county, New York.

J. Sterling Morton High school and junior college, with its 5,000 students from Cicero, Berwyn, Lyons, and Stickney, took its name from the Nebraskan who was secretary of agriculture in the cabinet of President Cleveland.

The community of Morton Park, absorbed by Cicero, was founded by P. B. Weare in the long ago days. Weare, as may be gleaned from such historical data as have been preserved, was a great admirer of Morton and, when he went into the country to establish a subdivision, honored Morton with its name.

Weare, we are told, sought a spot for his rural estate where he would have an unobstructed view of the prairie sunrise and sunset. Also he liked the landscape filled with wild flowers.

Charm Remains Despite Growth.

Miles and miles of paved streets and alleys and blocks upon blocks of tile roofed, brick bungalows and apartments, as well as some hundred industries have crowded out the original species of plant life, but Weare, could he return to the setting, would find that the lawns and curbs in front of the modern dwellings are beautifully landscaped and decorated with carefully tended shrubs. Also, 22d street stretches across the flat prairie at a width that has robbed the sunset of little of its glow. Nor are the skies above Cicero clouded with smoke. It is primarily a home town, inhabited by home loving and home owning people—probably as modern a suburb close to a big city as America has yet produced.

There is a still older community—Clyde—that has lost its identity in the development of Cicero. This station on the Chicago, Burlington and Quincy railroad at the western edge of the present boundaries of Cicero was named, we are told, by a Scotchman. Although in the minority, there are still Scotchmen, who make their way directly to Cicero on migrating to the United States.

Four Nationalities Dominate.

Predominating in Cicero, however, are persons of Bohemian, Polish, Lithuanian and Italian nativity or descent. They are a people eager that their children have greater advantages than they have known. They believe in hard work, in thrift, in churches, the best of schools and in recreational centers.

Scattered at intervals among the brick residences, these recreational centers are particularly popular during these summer months. Recently there was a formal opening of the new Cicero park district swimming pool in 56th avenue, between 15th and 16th streets. Taking part in the exercises were Charles J. Baker, secretary of the Cicero park district; Gus Vavrinec, park commissioner; Joseph E. Hlinka, president of the park board; and V. W. J. Chvala, safety commissioner.

Swimming hours here are from 9 a. m. to 9 p. m., girls and boys alternating every two hours. The same hours are maintained at the other Cicero park district pool at the Cicero community house, 51st avenue, between 18th and 19th streets. Two life guards are on duty at each pool.

Thus Cicero, close to the country, gives its youngsters as well as adults advantages similar to those found on the lake front.

A band concert is held every second and fourth Wednesday evening at the tennis grounds of the Cicero community house. These concerts are such as those enjoyed in the various Chicago parks. The Morton orchestra and the Cicero Boys' band, two local organizations, are scheduled to entertain frequently throughout the summer.

"Big Town Atmosphere."

Made up of a number of communities as is Chicago, itself, Cicero, despite its youth, has what Colin M. Higgins, vice president and cashier of the Pinkert State bank, terms "a big town atmosphere."

It is in no sense a loafing place.

"Somehow," says Mr. Higgins, "the spirit of activity is in the air. Our people have a pride in the job for the job's sake."

From the gates of the Western Electric company pour 38,000 employés at the day's end. In the newly developed industrial district, where many plants are busy night and day, property values are said to have quadrupled within the last three years.

Attesting to the thrift of the residents of Cicero, deposits in the seven banks increased $2,349,178.77 during the last year.

Among the thriving business associations are the Twenty-second Street Business Men's association, Joseph Kral, president; the Rotary club, Joseph House, president; and the Kiwanis club, Dr. Milo R. Lunak, president.

Population Estimated at 75,000

Cicero, with an estimated population of 75,000, has made up in numbers what it has lost in the territory that the name defined back in 1857. From that wide territory there have been various annexations to Chicago, the secession of Oak Park and Berwyn, as well as the cession of the Hawthorne race track to Stickney.

LEAKING TRUNK PUTS SPOTLIGHT ON MICHAELSON

Gives Dry Congressman Lots of Publicity.

In the election that November, Michaelson won by 8,300 plurality over Padden out of 130,000 votes cast, which was regarded as a small margin for the Seventh, which is strongly Republican. Michaelson had the indorsement of the Anti-Saloon league in its preëlection report.

In that same 1922 election, in voting on the referendum on beer and light wines, the 7th district went wet by 80,000.

In the 1924 campaign, Michaelson was criticized by his opponent for activities in blocking Chicago waterway legislation. That year he had got permission to print in the Congressional Record an undelivered speech attacking Senator Medill McCormick of Illinois and THE TRIBUNE in connection with the battle in Washington over water diversion from Lake Michigan for the sanitary district. Representative Nicholas Longworth, now speaker, demanded the speech be expunged as a violation of a congressional rule, and the congressman withdrew his address for revision.

Accused of Trickery.

The 1926 campaign in the 7th district was embittered by political trickery. John S. Hall, the Democratic candidate, charged that his withdrawal from the race was a forgery and the result of a conspiracy to throw Lundin Republican votes to Democrats on the county ticket. Secretary of State Emmerson, now governor, who had accepted the withdrawal as bona fide, heard the complaint, and ordered Hall's name to be included in the list of candidates certified.

Hall charged that Michaelson and the Lundinites had entered a deal to throw the Lundin vote in the district to Harry A. Kohl, Democratic candidate against County Reviewer Charles V. Barrett, who was to be knifed by the Lundin crowd if the Democratic bosses succeeded in getting Hall off the ticket. Michaelson denied he had made any such deal, and the Democrats said Hall had withdrawn himself and then reneged. In the November election Michaelson beat Hall by 24,000.

Remains with Lundin.

After the split between Lundin and Thompson Michaelson remained with Lundin. Little was heard of Michaelson for quite a period until last spring, when the episode of the leaking trunk and the indictment was made public.

Scott McBride, head of the Anti-Saloon league, hastened into print with denials that the league had indorsed Michaelson, who in February had voted for the Jones 5 and 10. Judge Padden, who ran against Michaelson in 1922, and Emil Seiten, Democrat, who ran against him last year, at once brought out rebuttals against Mr. McBride. Padden declared the league report in 1922 carried Michaelson as "indorsed," while Seiten declared the league befriended Michaelson last year and the lack of open indorsements at that time was most largely due to the distaste of candidates to carry the league's banner, regarding it as a political burden. Only one Cook county congressman bore the league's public indorsement last fall and that was Elliott W. Sproul of the Third.

URGE SOUTHWEST SECTION ACT TO BOOST BUSINESS

[Gibson Photo.]

The first of a series of bulletins to merchants on 26th street in the neighborhood of Crawford avenue suggesting ways to improve business in the district was issued last week by Joseph Klicka, president of the Southwest Chamber of Commerce.

Seven suggestions for improving the 26th street shopping district were contained in the bulletin. They are as follows:

1. Keep the lights burning in your windows until at least 11 o'clock every evening, even on the days when you close your store at 6 o'clock.

2. Do not park your cars in front of your stores.

3. Support the widening of 26th street by taking off 24 feet from the north side of the street at Albany avenue to eliminate the jog; at Sacramento avenue, and further east.

4. The windows need many improvements. It is our opinion that in planning an effective window trim, we should follow the example of the chain stores.

5. The bus service bringing shoppers into the district from the western suburbs at the expense of the merchants has already carried more than 15,000 passengers from Cicero, Berwyn, Stickley, Riverside, and Lyons since last spring. The business men must support these buses, or they will be discontinued.

6. Advertise.

7. To the landlords: clean, wash, paint, sandblast, tuck-point, or remodel your buildings.

West Side Dollar Sale Ad Manager Appointed

T. J. Prodie of Baer Brothers & Prodie clothing store at Madison street and Crawford avenue, was named last week as advertising manager of the Madison-Crawford merchants' three cooperative dollar day sales to be held Aug. 15, 16 and 17. Louis Marshak and Thomas R. Heaney are members of the advertising committee. More than 100 merchants are expected to participate in the sale.

THEY'RE HOP SCOTCH CHAMPIONS OF FOURTEEN WEST PARKS

NEW BUILDING OF RESURRECTION HIGH COMPLETED

Will Be Opened for the Fall Term.

The new Resurrection High school building, 7432 Talcott avenue, Norwood Park, will be opened for the fall term on Sept. 9. Although completed last month the new building has not as yet been used for class purposes. The old school has been in existence for the last fifteen years, the high school department being added to the elementary grades six years ago.

There are fifteen classrooms in the new building together with laboratories for science work, music rooms, domestic science quarters, a large study hall, a spacious library and both private rooms and dormitories. In addition there is an auditorium, accommodating about 500 people. This is also to be used as a gymnasium.

Construction is of red brick with limestone trim on all sides of the building, the color idea being in harmony with the old building near by.

Provides Recreation Facilities.

Surrounding the school are several acres of land, providing an ideal situation for study. Students have tennis, basketball, hockey and roller skating to occupy their spare hours. One of the beauty spots of the place is a pond, which in the cold months becomes the center of winter sports.

The school is under the direction of the Sisters of the Resurrection, whose mother house is also located at Norwood Park. They have missions not only in Chicago but also in New York, Albany, Omaha and Fargo, N. D., as well as in foreign countries. The community was established in Rome.

Dedication of the new school took place last month. Cardinal Mundelein presided, assisted by various members of the clergy of the Chicago archdiocese. The sermon was preached by the Rev. T. Ligman, C. R.

Expect 150 Enrollment.

Registration for the entire school last year was about 100 students. This year an enrolment of at least 150 is expected. The enrollment is made up of both day and boarding students. The school has been accredited to the University of Illinois for the last three years.

The alumnae of Resurrection High school, 7432 Talcott avenue, Norwood Park, held their annual card party last Thursday evening at Mertes' hall 6150 Northwest highway. Proceeds were turned over to the new high school, which is to be formally opened this fall. Arrangements for the party were handled by Miss Marguerite Ellwanger, chairman; Miss Marjorie Stretcher, Miss Clara Tykala, Miss Helen Hulka, Miss Marie Jarecki, Miss Jeanette Blaszegyk and Miss Theodosia Reinert. The high school is composed of academic, commercial and elementary departments.

Entertains St. Charles Club.

Women of the St. Charles Country club will be entertained at the Aurora Country club on July 23. The members of the Aurora club are to be guests at the Kenosha Country club on Aug. 20.

DUNNING POSTAL BRANCH TO HAVE NEW QUARTERS

West Portage Park is to have a new $40,000 postoffice building to house the Dunning station. The Bluhm department store, lessor of postoffice quarters since the Dunning station was established thirty-five years ago, is the builder.

The expansion of postoffice facilities in this comparatively young section is necessary to meet the needs of the growing population, officials report. The new structure will afford five times the space now available and will permit the expansion of the force of carriers alone from fifteen to fifty.

The building, to be located at 6441-43 Irving Park boulevard, will be of brick and stone, a one and two story structure, 50 by 130 feet. It is expected to be ready for occupancy Nov. 1. The entire space will be used for postoffice activities.

The territory served by the Dunning station is bounded by Central avenue on the east, the city limits on the west, Diversey on the south, and Lawrence on the north.

Plan to Remodel Old Aurora Postoffice

Because of the great increase in business done at the Aurora postoffice the building will be remodeled to relieve the rush until a new building is erected. Although plans are being made for removal of the various departments from the old building the alterations are essential, according to Postmaster J. E. Harley. Also, he said, the improvements will make the building more desirable for the next tenant.

Oak Park Playground Board Gives Street Dance

The fourth annual street dance given under the auspices of the playground board of Oak Park took place last night at Eugene Field recreation center, Woodbine avenue and Division street, Oak Park. Music was provided by the "Melodeons," directed by Harry Vierow. The director of the Field playground is Joseph Hubata.

140 COMPETE IN WEST PARKS HOP SCOTCH CONTEST

14 Playgrounds Send Entries to Tourney.

A hop scotch contest sponsored by the recreation department of the west park commissioners was held Friday, July 12, at Humboldt park. About 140 children representing fourteen of the west parks participated. There were three sections, one for boys under 11 years of age, another for girls under 11 years, and a third for girls under 15 years. Inasmuch as boys over 11 years are not interested in the game no competition was held for them.

Winners in Three Classes.

Winners in the boys' contest were as follows: First, Eddie Matrijek of Holstein park, 29 points; second, Stanley Tlotroski of Holstein park, 28; third, Walter Cikowski of Eckhart park, 25; fourth, Sidney Linick of Humboldt park, 22; and fifth, Walter Nojciechowska of Holstein park, 21.

The competition for girls under 11 years ended with the following results: First, Bernice Gracer of Holstein park, 26 points; second, Hattie Trendota of Eckhart park, 25; third, Mary Maluchnik of Pulaski park, 22; fourth, Marcella Hildebrandt of Holstein park, 21, and fifth, Frances Michalski of Eckhart park, 19.

The victors in the contest for girls under 15 years of age were: First, J. Jenkowski of Pulaski park, 33 points; second, A. Kieszkiewiz of Pulaski park, 31; third, L. Bolke of Pulaski park, 29; fourth, B. Majcin of Dvorak park, 28, and fifth, L. Friedl of Shedd park and R. Springer of Franklin park, each 27.

All Are Champions.

All the children competing were the individual champions of their repective parks, chosen by previous competitions. The points awarded to the winners are compiled at the end of the season to determine which of the children win the various awards given.

PARK VIEW WINS FIGHT OVER NEW HIGH SCHOOL SITE

Vacant Property to Be Used; Save $150,000.

JOHN KLIER.

Park View residents have virtually won their fight to prevent the board of education from condemning a 100 per cent improved block to erect a junior high school. This was indicated by action of board officials last week.

Superintendent of Schools Bogan sent an order to President Caldwell providing for condemnation proceedings on a vacant piece of property for the new school and rescinding the previous order to condemn the block bounded by Addison street, Waveland, Central Park, and Monticello avenues.

Follow Residents' Proposal.

The property recommended for condemnation is the southeast corner of Addison street and Kimball avenue, extending 450 feet on Kimball avenue and 600 feet on Addison street. The board is expected to take the matter up at a meeting this week, and pass the order after reference to a committee. Selection of the vacant property was made at the recommendation of Don C. Rogers, director of the bureau of building survey, and is a site which residents of the district asked to have condemned instead of the board's original selection.

Change in the plans is made possible, according to the order submitted by Supt. Bogan, because of revision of plans for the proposed Lane High school at Addison street and Western avenue. Originally Lane was to have accommodated 3,600 pupils in their last two years at high school, but plans have since been changed to provide for 5,200 pupils of all four years. That being the case, selection of the new junior high school site was possible since there will be no overlapping of junior high school facilities in the district.

Will Save $150,000.

An estimated saving of $150,000 will be made by using the vacant property for the school site instead of the improved property, according to officials of the board. The former has a bluebook value of $50 a front foot and the latter is valued at $125.

A massmeeting was held recently at the John B. Murphy school by more than 500 residents of the district to protest the board's original selection. Speakers at the meeting, which was the culmination of a year's fight to keep the board from condemning the improved property, were O. W. Holmes, president of the Northwest Federation of Improvement clubs; Richard Wuerst, Edward J. Novak, and John Klier of the Park View association; Maj. Harry Pollard of the Independence Improvement association; Sheldon W. Haddock, Montrose District association; M. J. Lakofka, East Park View association; Harry Schwank, Avondale Property Owners' association, and John Mueller, Thirty-ninth Ward Social and Improvement club.

Removes Factory Site.

Residents of the district brought out at the meeting the fact that condemnation of improved property would be an unnecessary waste of money when vacant property was available in the immediate district. They also charged that the board had instituted condemnation proceedings on the improved property under cover, and had kept residents in the dark as to the status of the proceedings.

Another reason given for purchasing the corner of Addison street and Kimball avenue, is that it is zoned for industrial use, and unless a school is built, it will be used as a factory site, destroying the character of the district as a residence center.

The property which the board would purchase under the new order is owned by the Commonwealth Edison company, and has been used for some years as a ball park under the jurisdiction of the Park View association.

Northwest Playgrounds Rehearse Minstrel Show

About 30 children representing the various playgrounds of the Northwest parks are rehearsing for a minstrel show to be presented at nine community halls on the northwest side in September. The definite dates of presentation will be announced later.

NORWOOD PARK BAPTISTS HEAR CONCERT GROUP

Members of the Metropolitan Concert company presented a concert under the auspices of the Norwood Park Baptist church in Norwood Park field house, Ardmore and Natoma avenues, last Tuesday evening.

The company, which includes William Davies, tenor soloist and manager, Winifred C. Goodman, soprano, Adele Brandt, contralto, William Pfeifer, bass, and Marie Adolph, accompanist, was assisted by Paul Goodman, pianist. Numbers on the program included secular music, cathedral choir selections, duets, solos, and the second act of the opera "Martha" in costume.

Hold Picnic Today.

The West End Portage Park Improvement and Welfare association is holding its annual picnic today at the forest preserve at River road north of Lawrence avenue. Members and their families are attending the all day affair.

Kimball Avenue Widening to Be Finished Next Week

The work of widening and paving Kimball avenue betwen Grace street and Lawrence avenue is being rushed and will be completed next week, Ald. Joseph C. Ross [40th] announced last week. When the section is completed Albany park will have a 40 foot thoroughfare from Diversey parkway to Foster avenue.

Plan Putting Contest.

Portage Park and Jefferson Park business men will stage a putting contest on the green in Wilson park in August. The competition will not be restricted to any one business or improvement group but will be open to all business men golfers. Jack Boyle, athletic director at Wilson Park, is in charge.

WEST SIDE GIRLS ATTEND Y. W. C. A. MICHIGAN CAMP

Three Summer Outing Places Provided.

As the summer season advances increased activity is noticeable in the headquarters of the Central branch of the Young Women's Christian association at 59 East Monroe street. A continuous stream of young women and girls may be seen at practically any hour of the day going in and out of the offices where they register for one of the Y. W. C. A. summer camps which are operated in wooded districts not far from Chicago.

On the shores of the Fox river near Plano, Ill., stands an old vine covered mill. A relic of a picturesque past, it was abandoned some years ago by its owner and purchased in 1920 by the Y. W. C. A., which founded a camp for younger girls now called Millhurst. Rowing and swimming in the Fox river, tennis, baseball, volley ball, and hikes are included in the outdoor activities available for every girl at the camp in addition to a library filled with books and a large fireplace over which marshmallows may be toasted on rainy days when the campers prefer a cosy fireside to the drenched ground and trees.

One Camp in Michigan.

The other two camps operated by the Y. W. C. A. are Forest Beach at New Buffalo, Mich., for business and professional girls and the Forest Preserve camp for industrial girls at Glenview, Ill. The camp in the forest preserve is an old farmhouse which has been remodeled into a recreation spot.

Forest Beach is located on a high dune overlooking a wide beach and Lake Michigan. Here Hooyer Hall, the recreation house with its open fireplace, bookshelves, piano, and wide, inviting porches, is surrounded by a group of 25 cottages. One hundred and fifty-two girls may be accommodated at this camp, and, while many spend only a week in these surroundings, others live the camp life for four and five weeks, providing there is no waiting list of other girls begging for entrance to the camp.

Thus Chicago business girls are provided with a delightful and healthful vacation at a minimum cost, probably less than their living expenses in Chicago. The three camps were opened June 26 and will close early in September. Large numbers have already spent their vacation at camp.

West Side Girls Register.

Business girls residing on the west side of metropolitan Chicago who have registered for Forest Beach for the next two weeks include the following:

Miss Lillian Feingold, 1266 South St. Louis avenue; Miss Esther Frackt, 3112 Lexington street; Miss Hilda Gebhart, 4039 North Lavergne avenue; Miss Maude Gunther, 4358 Jackson boulevard; Miss Henrietta Hruby, Riverside; Miss Helen Jantac, Cicero; Miss Ruth Jindram, Berwyn; Miss Edith Johnson, 3547 Hirsch street; Miss Rosa Kanter, 4229 Grenshaw street; Miss Tess Kaplan, 4842 Bernard street; Miss Anna Klein, 1358 South Avers avenue; Miss Helen Koblin, Cicero; Miss Marie Koblin, Cicero; Miss Rose Koblin, Cicero; Miss Clara Martini, Berwyn; Miss Marie Masac, Cicero; Miss Tessie Meyers, 1806 South St. Louis avenue; Miss Sarah Palm, 1450 North Menard avenue; Miss Gertrude Peters, 1911 North Karlov avenue; Miss Josephine Pudil, Cicero; Miss Anna Sasek, 4217 West 21st street, and Miss Rose Scheck, 5040 Wellington avenue.

Women's Federation Holds Meeting at Elmhurst

The annual all-day meeting of the summer session of the Chicago Women's federation, a church club consisting of twenty Chicago churches of the Evangelical Synod of North America, was held Tuesday at Elmhurst college. The membership is composed of more than 500 women. Mrs. Jacob Pister of Chicago is president. More than 250 attended the meeting.

Trinity High School's Summer Classes Close

Summer classes for high school girls at Trinity High school, Lathrop avenue and Division street, River Forest, closed Saturday, July 13. A large enrollment took the six weeks' course of study. Latin, Greek, history, English, French and mathematics were offered. Classes were held five days a week from 9 to 12 o'clock.

PLAYGROUND SUPERVISORS PLAN PAGEANT

HONEYMOON OVER

MRS. DONALD J. LA FLAUR.

Following a honeymoon at Long Beach, Ind., Mr. and Mrs. Donald J. La Flaur are now at home at 5253 Lake street. Mrs. La Flaur was Miss Eileen Finnegan, daughter of Michael Finnegan of Oak Park. The wedding took place at Holy Name cathedral on June 29, with a breakfast at the Stevens hotel.

NEW CLUB LAYS PLANS TO BOOST NORTH AUSTIN

Removal of Rail Yards Is One of Aims.

Judge John P. McGoorty of the Criminal court addressed a meeting of the Community Booster club at the Swedish cafe, 745 North Cicero avenue, last Wednesday noon. In his talk Judge McGoorty stressed the greatness of Chicago and its comparative youth. He also talked of the crime problem in the city. The speech lasted about half an hour. Preceding the judge's talk luncheon was served.

One of the features of the day was a huge loaf of rye bread prepared through the courtesy of J. Pfannes, a member of the club.

The meeting began with the singing of "America" and "Illinois." Piano music was furnished by Miss Ruth Persky.

Vision Busy Business Area.

The club was organized about two months ago to boost and improve the commercial and residential section radiating from the crossing of Chicago and Cicero avenues. Members of the club believe that the district is particularly well situated for development into a great commercial center. The membership includes manufacturers, professional men, jobbers, retailers and property owners, totalling about 200.

Luncheons of the organization are held every Wednesday with the object of fostering better acquaintance, education and good fellowship.

At present the club is negotiating with Walter Wright, secretary of the bureau of parks and playgrounds, for a recreation center for children west of Cicero avenue and south of Chicago avenue.

Seek Removal of Rail Yards.

Other activities of the organization include an attempt now being made to procure the removal of the Chicago & Northwestern railroad yards from the property bounded by Chicago avenue on the north, by the main line tracks on the south, by Crawford avenue on the east and by the line tracks on the west. Petitions have been circulated and some 200 names have been signed thus far. The club contends that the yards are a disturbing element to the peace of the community and a detriment to the residential and business property nearby.

Studying in Paris.

Miss Lydia Raymond, a member of the faculty of the West High school, Aurora, is now in Paris studying at the Sorbonne. Miss Raymond sailed on June 15. Her course of studies will extend over six weeks.

FORM GROUP TO SPEED TRAFFIC ON WEST SIDE

Aims Include Defeat of Superhighway.

The West Side Through Streets association was formed Tuesday by a small group of west side merchants and property holders who declare themselves to be seeking further development of the district by establishing a comprehensive system of traffic arteries.

According to a member of the executive committee, one of the main objectives of the new association will be the defeat of the west park commissioners' plan to construct on elevated highway from the Chicago river to Austin boulevard.

Three Other Objectives.

In addition to opposing the superhighway, the association will attempt to obtain the following:

1. Establishment of more north and south and east and west through streets on the west side.
2. Establishment of a series of one way streets running from the city limits on the west to the loop.
3. Bringing pressure to bear on city officials to keep west side streets in repair.

The association will be supported by men who recently opposed the bill for referendum on the project at Springfield, the committee members indicated. The measure was approved almost unanimously by both houses of the state legislature, however.

Mark Shanks Heads Group.

Mark Shanks, director of the West Town Chamber of Commerce and former president of the Midwest Athletic club, was elected president of the new organization. John Usher Smyth, also a director of the chamber and a real estate dealer, is vice president. Walter P. Powers, restaurant proprietor, 3950 West Madison street, is secretary and treasurer.

The executive committee includes the officers and W. A. Lewis, R. H. Buckland, M. J. Flynn, and G. P. Madigan. More members are to be added after the next meeting, the date of which has not yet been announced.

The Through Streets association plans to establish a permanent office in the neighborhood of Madison street and Crawford avenue, according to the officers, and soon will begin work. Manuel Goldberger, editor of the Northwest Ledger, has been named executive secretary of the association.

CHURCHES BEGIN NOVENA IN HONOR OF SAINT ANNE

Novenas in honor of St. Anne began last week in several churches throughout the city. At Our Lady of Sorrows church, Jackson boulevard and Albany avenue, the devotions commenced Wednesday. Blessing of the sick with a relic of the saint takes place each afternoon during the novena at 3 o'clock.

The services at Notre Dame church, 1335 West Harrison street, also began on Wednesday and will end next Friday. The church is conducted by the Fathers of the Blessed Sacrament. Another west side church where the novena is in progress is Holy Ghost church, Kildare avenue and Adams street. The services here started on Thursday. Two devotions are held each day, the first immediately following the 8 o'clock mass each morning, and the second at 7:45 o'clock each evening.

A novena in honor of the same saint is being held at Mary Queen of Heaven church, 53d avenue and West 24th place, Cicero. The first services were held Wednesday.

Portage Park Junior Club Members Take Boat Trip

The junior members of the Portage Park Woman's club made plans for three social affairs at a recent meeting. Miss Lavina Glander as vice president was chairman of the boat trip to Michigan City yesterday and will also take charge of a beach party, Aug. 25, and a dance to be given Oct. 5. Assisting her in preparations for the dance are Miss Dorothy Lowry and Miss Jean Turkington.

LOGAN SQUARE LIONS PREPARE PICNIC FOR 500

Arrangements are being completed for the picnic of the Logan Square Lions club to be held next Thursday at Gage's lake, near Libertyville. About 500 persons are expected to attend. Officers of the club are: President, Milton F. Darr; secretary, A. W. Jarchow, and financial secretary, C. H. Nygren.

Efforts are being made by the club to attain a 100 per cent enrollment among its members in the Chicago World's Fair of 1933. The members were requested recently to make the $5 contribution to the Fair, or if they had already done so, to give the numbers of their certificates to the club in order that the Lions might achieve a 100 per cent enrollment.

The club has announced the enrollment among its members of Carl Lather, 1532 Cleveland avenue.

Gregory Club Plans Picnic Aug. 4 in Forest Preserve

Plans for a picnic to be held Sunday, Aug. 4, in the forest preserves at Palatine are now being formulated by the entertainment committee of the Gregory club, according to Miss Margaret Dasse, secretary of the organization. The committee in charge is composed of Ed Steinbach, chairman; Johannah Faber, Gertrude Holm, and Herman Gall. The officers, who were elected recently, are Peter Knapp, president; Betty Faetz, vice president; Margaret Dasse, secretary; Joe Knapp, treasurer, and Nick Fleming, bailiff.

Albany Parkers to Make Boat Trip to Milwaukee

Members of the Albany Park Community center will make their annual excursion today to Milwaukee on the S. S. Christopher Columbus. Alexander H. Glick is chairman of the committee in charge of the outing.

SOLDIERS' ANGEL OF '60S PASSES 87TH BIRTHDAY

Remembers City Limit at Harrison Street.

Miss Ruth Chessman Eggleston celebrated her 87th birthday Thursday at Itasca, Du Page county, where she makes her home with her daughter, Mrs. T. P. Woodworth.

Mrs. Eggleston's home when she first came to Chicago with her parents, May 10, 1852, was at Harrison street and the river. There was, she recalls, nothing south of Harrison street at that time but hazel brush and no houses west of Halsted street. After a short stay in the city the family settled on a farm twenty miles westward.

Gave Joy to Sick Soldiers.

When she was 17 Mrs. Eggleston taught schools near Bensenville. When the civil war came she was sent to Philadelphia by the Addison township sanitary commission to visit the hospitals and buy "extras" for the invalid soldiers—items which lent to their comfort and which otherwise they would be without.

In the group of wounded soldiers that came to the hospital following the battle of Gettysburg Mrs. Eggleston came across her own brother—George P. Chessman. On Jan. 9, 1864, she married one of the men to whom she was bringing cheer—S. G. Eggleston, a member of the 8th Illinois cavalry, who had been wounded on the day before the battle of Antietam.

Husband on Early Mail Train.

When Mr. Eggleston received his honorable discharge from the army the young couple returned to Illinois, where the bridegroom obtained a position in the Chicago postoffice. He was one of the employés who rode the first railway mail train to Freeport, Ill., over the Galena division of the Chicago and North Western railroad.

The Egglestons made their home for many years at 742 Hubbard street [now Austin avenue, near Hoyne avenue]. Mr. Eggleston died in 1889.

Mrs. Eggleston was a charter member of the Eighth Presbyterian church, which was located at Washington boulevard and Robey street.

Her health is still faily good, she says, and her unfailing eyesight enables her to read THE TRIBUNE every morning.

1,520 Pupils Take Summer Courses at Schurz High

There are 53 possible candidates for graduation in the summer course being conducted at Schurz High school, 3601 Milwaukee avenue. The total enrollment for the course is 1,520. The faculty is made up principally of teachers of the school during the regular term, in addition to whom there are representatives of the Schurz branch schools. Walter F. Slocum is principal.

FULLERTON AVE. ASKS ADEQUATE TROLLEY SERVICE

Business Men Make Plea for Larger Cars.

Fullerton avenue business men this week are making a final appeal to the Chicago Surface lines for adequate street car service on the line, Alfred E. Mueller, president of the Fullerton Avenue Business Men's association, announced yesterday.

Merchants on the street are demanding restoration of regular sized cars instead of the small, old type which have been in use on Fullerton avenue since last winter. The larger cars were taken off at that time by the surface lines to be repaired and put back in service May 1, but the small cars are still carrying passengers.

Now Due on Aug. 1.

Investigation by the business men recently disclosed the fact that the cars have already been repaired, but have been put in service elsewhere. The car company then made another promise to the effect that large cars would be in use July 1, according to Mr. Mueller, but July 1 came and the cars did not. The latest promise, he said, is that they will be in service August 1, and the appeal is being made in an effort to make the company keep its word.

"There are a good many passengers on Fullerton avenue cars, especially during the rush hours," Mr. Mueller said, "and every one of them will testify that the cars now in service are inadequate. They have fewer seats than the regular cars, and have such narrow aisles that few passengers can stand in them. A good deal of time is lost by car-riders because they cannot get on the cars and must wait for one not so crowded."

Claim Cars Tie Up Traffic.

In answer to the argument of the car company that more cars have been put in service since the large cars were taken off, Milton F. Darr, secretary of the association, said the increased number of cars serves only to tie up traffic and cause further delays.

"There may be more cars on the street," he said, "but their total capacity is not equal to that of a much smaller number of large cars. Tie-ups are bound to occur at times on any car line street, but with the large numbers of cars running, the congestion is increased, and traffic is slowed down considerably."

Other officers of the association are: Vice president, Thomas McKean, and treasurer, E. C. Pollard.

SCOUTS INSTALL KOSHER KITCHEN IN SUMMER CAMP

No longer will the orthodox Jewish parents of Chicago forbid their sons to attend the Boy Scout camps at Owasippe, Mich., because the religious duties of the youngsters will be overlooked. Directors of scouting in Chicago recently inaugurated at Owasippe the only kosher kitchen at any scout camp west of New York, and thereby made it possible for Jewish boys to carry out the 12th scout law, namely, "A scout is reverent."

More than fifty boys have been eating in the kosher dining room regularly this summer, and even a larger attendance is expected to eat at the table as the camping season progresses.

The food is prepared and served under the direction of a Jewish religious adviser, who also conducts services for Jewish youngsters at the various Owasippe camps.

600 Summer Pupils Con Books at Oak Park High

The summer registration at the Oak Park and River Forest High school, Oak Park, is about 600 students, according to a statement given out at the office of the school last week. Of this number about sixteen will be graduated at the conclusion of the course. The principal is R. N. Ketcham.

BUSINESS MEN PLAN FESTIVAL IN ALBANY PARK

Six Day Exposition to Be Held in September.

Preliminary plans for the first annual summer festival for Albany Park were discussed at the first meeting of the festival committee recently appointed by the Albany Park club, an organization composed of business men in the district. The celebration, which the committee expects will exceed anything ever before held in Albany Park, will be staged on Lawrence avenue and adjacent streets for six nights, from Sept. 9 to 14.

Has Wide Appeal.

J. Arthur Levy, president of the Albany Park club, yesterday said that "the time is right for such a festival. Other business centers throughout Chicago have sponsored trade expositions successfully, and with the cooperation of all business men of the community our celebration will attract visitors from the entire city. There will be entertainment and programs that will interest every resident on the north and northwest sides, and both the residents and merchants will benefit."

A popularity contest will be one of the features of the festival. Elaborate street and store front decorations will be erected and numerous contests with prizes and other entertainments are planned by the committee. Headquarters of the committee have been established at 4753 North Kedzie avenue. Mr. Levy will be general chairman of the celebration, assisted by Herman Elenbogen, treasurer, and W. L. Johnson, in charge of publicity. J. C. Eggoe has been engaged as business manager.

Organized Last March.

The Albany Park club was organized in March of this year with a charter membership of 30 business men. The purpose of the club is to furnish a medium whereby business men and professional men of the district may become better acquainted and have an opportunity to discuss together the problems of the community. Meetings are held at the Albany Park Masonic temple.

In addition to Mr. Levy, the president, other officers of the club are: Vice president, Martin Nielsen; treasurer, A. H. Hollander, and secretary, Mr. Johnson.

MISS MAE MARTY MADE QUEEN OF JOB'S DAUGHTERS

Bethel No. 16 of the Daughters of Job recently installed the following officers in a rose installation: Miss Mae Marty, honored queen; Miss Florence Jensen, senior princess; Miss Elva Smith, junior princess; Miss Phyllis Webb, guide; Miss Harriet Maske, marshal; Miss Lois Schassert, recorder; Miss Norma Yvonne Werder, treasurer; Miss Florabeth Hooper, chaplain; Miss Ruth Leash, librarian; Miss Dorothy Lyman, pianist; Miss Margaret Boos, first messenger; Miss Marguerite Brinkman, second messenger; Miss Helen Henderson, third messenger; Miss Eleanor Grasch, fourth messenger; Miss Helen Baker, fifth messenger; Miss Blanche Swanson, senior custodian; Miss Emily Raph, junior custodian; Miss Eleanor Eisemann, inner guard; Miss Margaret Stahm, outer guard; Miss Janet Grubb, soloist, and Mrs. Pearl Smith, guardian.

Mrs. W. E. Schwind Heads Irving Park Opera Club

Mrs. Walter E. Schwind was recently elected president of the newly formed Irving Park Civic Opera club which includes more than 75 women of the Irving Park district. Mrs. Schwind is also president of the Irving Park Women's club. Other officers of the opera club are: Vice president, Mrs. Edward A. Fairbrother; secretary, Mrs. Clarence W. Lampe; treasurer, Mrs. H. L. Howard; Mrs. Charles W. Stigman is chairman of the program committee.

Portage Park Picnic.

The Sunday school of Our Saviour's English Lutheran church held its annual picnic last Sunday in the forest preserve at Oakton street and the Des Plaines river. This church serves the Portage Park territory. The program included games and a picnic dinner as well as an outdoor vesper service.

traditions. It is of the present generation. As late of 1910 there were few buildings west of 48th avenue save the old landmarks of Morton Park, Warren Park, Grant Works and Clyde. A few restaurants and confectionaries at the corner of 48th catered to Western Electric employés.

Cicero well might be compared today with a nineteen year old youth looking only into the future—alert, up-to-the-minute, confident.

There are no old buildings to be torn down. There is no handicap of precedent. It is said that the community has no centering of great wealth; it is in the hands of the mass of toilers.

In 1914 a truck farm sold for $2,500 an acre. In the forty-acre tract was the corner at 64th avenue and 22nd street. Today, the corner, alone, is said to be worth more than the price paid for the entire tract.

Always there has been the C. B. & Q. Later came the extensions of the elevated and the continuance of the surface lines to Lyons and La Grange.

It's Town of Newcomers.

Cicero is made up of newcomers. The business houses along 22d street reflect their tastes. The window displays show the last word in furniture, the latest make in cars, the final creations in dress. Loud speakers lend music from radio shop doorways. Green enameled kitchen ware, electric refrigeration—all the contrivances of the modern era greet the eye. The store buildings are new. And close by many of these new age inventions are being manufactured—everything from electric washing machines to instruments devised at the Western Electric that are used for "the talkies."

Yesterday, prairie; today, fifth in population of the towns of the state.

Cicero, N. Y.—the town which furnished the inspiration for the Chicago suburb's name? Well, the latest census gave the number of its inhabitants as fewer than 500.

West End Portage Park Group Will Picnic Today

The West End Portage Park Improvement and Welfare association will hold a picnic today in the forest preserve at River road and Lawrence avenue, according to Herbert C. Dahlman, president. Members will meet this morning in automobiles at Marmora and Berteau avenues, and will proceed to the picnic grounds in a body.

Commonwealth Edison Co. Will Open Branch Store

A new northwest side branch store will be opened this fall by the Commonwealth Edison company at 4835 Irving Park boulevard, according to an announcement by officials of the company yesterday. The store is now being remodeled, and will be similar to other Edison appliance and service stations throughout the city.

Northwest Side Merchants!

Are You Getting Your Share of the Half Billion DOLLARS Spent by People on the Northwest Side?

WELL over half a billion dollars!—that's the annual retail expenditure of the 201,295 families who live on the prosperous Northwest Side of metropolitan Chicago—as much as is spent in Pittsburgh or San Francisco!

These prosperous families spend 106 millions for food alone every year—and another million for stoves and ranges to cook it on—more than the value of all the gold and silver coined in the United States mints in 1926.

They spend 28 millions a year for automobiles and 14 millions for gas and oil to keep them rolling. Tires and accessories increase the bill another 6 millions. Furniture and house furnishing merchants take in 29 million dollars a year. Clothing stores selling to the Northwest Side divide 64 millions. Drug store cash registers ring up 19 millions more. These are just typical items in the golden harvest waiting to be reaped on the prosperous, bustling Northwest Side!

PIONEER RADIO STATIONS WILL MOVE THEIR SETS

KDKA and KYW Granted Construction Permits.

Final approval was given by the federal radio commission recently for the removal of the transmitter of the world's oldest broadcasting station, KDKA, from East Pittsburgh, where it was first opened in November, 1920, to Saxonburg, in Butler county, 22 miles northeast of Pittsburgh.

At the same time authorization was granted to move the transmitter of station KYW from Congress hotel in the downtown section of Chicago to [illegible], Ill., 23 miles west of the city. Both stations are owned by the Westinghouse company. Like KDKA, station KYW is a pioneer, having opened on Armistice day, 1921, and is the [illegible] oldest station in the United States.

According to Walter C. Evans, superintendent of radio operations of the Westinghouse company at Pittsburgh, both stations will have brand new equipment designed especially for the stations, which should mean a good deal in the way of general reception to the listeners of the country.

Giant Tubes in Use.

A newly designed 100,000 watt tube, about 7 feet in height will supply the power for KDKA, while a 50,000 watt tube will be used for KYW. This will mean that though KDKA will use 50,000 watts, the highest power authorized by the radio commission, it will be necessary to operate the great new tube at half power. At present 5 smaller tubes are doing the work at KDKA. Station KYW has been granted a construction permit for 50,000 which explains the large tube for that transmitter.

The transmitters are being removed from East Pittsburgh and downtown Chicago for entirely different reasons. In the case of the former, it is the hope that the element of fading may be reduced. This condition is believed to be caused by the semi-mountainous country in which KDKA is now located.

Out of Steel Area.

The transmitter of KYW is being moved primarily to get away from the steel area of the congested portion of the city, where the steel in the tall buildings absorbs the strength of the radio waves.

The removal of such a historic station as KDKA marks another era of broadcasting in this country. Although a temporary experimental license was granted the station Oct. 22, 1920, the first issued by the United States government, it was not until Nov. 2 that the Westinghouse company inaugurated the first general broadcasting from station KDKA, when it broadcast the returns of the Harding-Cox presidential election.

Its short wave achievements have been particularly notable. As early as 1923 it succeeded in transmitting a program to Great Britain and early in the next year one of its programs was relayed from London and heard clearly in Calcutta, India.

Inside the Loud Speaker

BY QUIN RYAN.

Conditions are pretty tough at present among the musicians. Of the theater musicians in the Chicago branch of the union, approximately 60 per cent are cut of work, due to the talking pictures. Of the whole brotherhood in Chicago—dance hall musicians, café instrumentalists, brass band players and small jobbers—there are about 2,000 out of employment.

A YOUNG MAN, Bill Carlson, a native of Ironwood, Mich., and a student at the University of Michigan, has just returned from a sojourn of fourteen months with the Hobbs geological expedition in Greenland. He writes to us about radio reception up there:

"Dear Mr. Ryan—When we went into the hinterland, a hundred miles over mountains from our nearest neighbors, a small colony of Eskimos, we were left entirely without any means of communication aside from our radio apparatus. We were entirely dependent upon our radio equipment for any emergency call we might have to make, and we relied solely upon our receiver for our entertainment.

"I must tell you that we had a wonderful news service by tuning you in at one in the morning, or ten o'clock, your time. Throughout the months preceding the presidential election last fall we were able to follow the activities of the contending parties.

"I remember election night especially, when we could hear you giving the election returns from THE TRIBUNE office. We listened to you all night that night, and we could hear the applause when the results were announced in the Chicago hotel between dance numbers.

"On Christmas day we sat down to a meal of real stuffed ptarmigan, mashed potatoes, cranberry sauce, pumpkin pie, peas, cheese, cigars and coffee, with a real program from W-G-N that made us feel as though we were at home. And on New Year's eve, imagine the contrast between our surroundings and the revelry we could hear down there where Coon Sanders' orchestra was playing. We became so enthused over the W-G-N program that we forgot all about the time, and the new year was a half hour old in Chicago before we realized it!

"Being a Michigan man and extremely interested in football—I was a track man at Ann Arbor—I followed you every Saturday in your football games from the different places in the Big Ten. Boy, how we used to yell, as we could hear the crowds whooping during those tense moments in the big games. . . . . The long Arctic night, the monotony of the silences and the raging blizzards, those bugbears of the older days no longer hold the northern explorer in their grip. Radio has changed all this, and today the well-equipped expeditioner keeps in touch with the outer world."

JUST TO COOL OFF this morning, let's have another radio horse race. Ho, here's the bugle call already, paging the two horses in our race. Say, there's a thrill in that "Boots and Saddles" call, isn't there? Nice looking hosses in this race—Mr. Pickwick and Jasper B. Here they come now.

Mr. Pickwick is going to have the rail, with Jockey Jimmy Corcoran up. Jockey Pete Sampson is riding Jasper B. . . . Good day today, and a fast track. The fine weather has brought out a big crowd; the boxes in the club house are well filled today. . . . There's a stiff wind blowing from the left, which means the steeds will have it at their backs on the home stretch. . . . Out in the parade ground the flags are whipped by the wind until they stand straight out. . . . Look down the front of the brandstand here . . . that's quite a crowd! There doesn't seem to be a favorite, between these two—Mr. Pickwick and Jasper B. . . . Well, the horses are leaving the paddock now, and the fans, too. Here they come, out on the track, the lead horse and Mr. Pickwick and Jasper B.—the silken red shirt of Corcoran and the white and green shirt of Sampson billow away from their backs . . . their feet perched high and their knees crowded up to their chins.

THEY'RE OFF!

Jasper B. was standing in the middle of the track and leaped into a good start—and he's loping down here a length ahead of Pickwick, on the rail. . . . He's stepping faster ahead, and here they come toward us, flying with the wind. . . . They're clumping past us, and Jasper's a length and a half in the lead. . . . There they go rocking around the first turn. . . . Jasper has crept over to the rail on the curve and the jockies are beating them on. of Pickwick. . . . They're sliding along the fence, making the semi-circle and they look like rocking horses. . . . JASPER LEADING BY MORE THAN A LENGTH AT THE QUARTER POST! . . . Now they're swerving into the back stretch and they run headlong into the stiff wind. . . . They're slowing up a little, and the jockies are beating them on. . . . Pickwick is inching up now, plowing into the wind—closer—and closer—and closer—Jasper is only a length ahead. They're sweeping along the back stretch. . . . Jasper B. is leading Mr. Pickwick by a full length at the half distance. . . . Jockeys' heads are ducked behind the horses' heads. . . . They're coming to the turn now, and Jasper looks to be tiring. . . . Pickwick is gaining as they hit the bend. . . .

Here they come around the curve. . . . Pickwick is picking up and he's a half length behind as they steer into the home alley. . . . Gee, now watch this finish!

At three quarters, Pickwick is a neck behind Jasper. . . . The folks on the lawn are jumping into the air. . . . Both horses have the wind with them now, and they're a neck apart. . . . Jasper has had the lead since the start and he's fighting madly to keep a neck ahead. . . . Look at them come! . . . Here they are, right out here! . . . The jockeys seem to be riding in the air. . . . Jasper a neck ahead. . . . They're coming to the line. . . . OOOP, Jesper B. beats Mr. Pickwick by a neck:

VICTOR YOUNG, VIOLIN VIRTUOSO, COMES TO W-G-N

Victor Young, violin virtuoso and conductor, has come to W-G-N, THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE station on the Drake hotel, to join the forces of Jean Goldkette's dance orchestra. He comes to radio from the position of assistant musical director of Balaban & Katz movie theaters.

Young is among the foremost American orchestrators, transcribers and paraphrasers and his work is expected to open an entirely new realm of possibilities for Goldkette and his orchestra.

There is a striking similarity between the life of Victor Young and the biography of Leon Kantor, the little music master in the movie "Humoresque." There is that same triumph of genius over poverty and discouragement. At the age of 10, Young left the impoverished home of his family on Chicago's near west side. The boy's grandfather, a tailor of Warsaw, invited him to Europe. He studied and his talent was discovered. Yarsembsky, Lotto, Barcevicz, and Statkovsky—all the master musicians of Poland—became interested in him.

During the war, Young was caught in the midst of the Russian revolution, and, being a musician, was thrown into prison. The boy spent years in one prison or another. Not until after the war did he finally escape to American shores.

Four Recreation Centers Opened in Oak Pk. in Year

The annual report of the playground board of Oak Park was made public last week. It contains an account of the completion of the four recreational centers during the year 1928 and the various activities under the supervision of the board. Dr. Harry J. Stewart is chairman of the board and the other members are: Commissioners, James J. Maloney and William J. Watts; secretary, Dudley C. Meyers; and director of playgrounds, Miss Josephine Blackstock.

THIS SHOWS WHY RADIO ENGINEERS GET GRAY HAIR

CINCINNATI, O.—Lightning struck the 50,000 watt transmitter of WLW seven times in one hour during a recent electrical storm.

The station was off the air only one and three-fifths minutes because of the hits. Quick action on the part of the transmitter engineers kept it from losing more time.

One man stood by the main contactor to close it when it went out. Another stood by the time delay relays to force them into position each time the lightning discharge knocked the transmitter off the air. Since the rotating machinery was not allowed to come to a stop, no damage was done by "rushing" the time delay relays.

U. S. Signal Corps' Station Is Farthest North in N. A.

The signal corps radio station at Point Barrow, Alaska, is the farthest north radio station on the North American continent. In June, 1928, the secretary of war directed the signal corps to connect Point Barrow, a remote settlement on the Bering sea, with "the outside." In just 51 hours after the order was given a radio station was functioning at Point Barrow and communication established with Seward, 800 miles distant. Private Richard Heyser, radio operator, and his station equipment were flown by commercial plane 500 miles from Fairbanks to Point Barrow.

JEFFERSON PARK CHURCH TO BE READY IN FALL

The new Jefferson Park Congregational church, Giddings street and London avenue, will be completed in September and dedication will be held late that month or early in October, according to Ray Webster, chairman of the building committee.

Of colonial architecture, the new building is of brick with Bedford stone trim and has a seating capacity of more than 500 in its main auditorium. Work on the exterior has been completed and plastering within finished. Woodwork is now being put in.

550 Golfers Christen New Riis Park Course

Residents of the northwest side are making extensive use of the new golf course recently opened in Riis park, the northwest parks commissioners office announced last week. Last week-end about 550 people played. E. T. Brekke is superintendent of the park and Oscar C. Johnson designed the course.

Four New Buildings Rising in the Northwest Parks

The four buildings being put up by the northwest park commissioners are now nearing completion, according to an announcement made yesterday. They are located in Riis park, Kelvyn park, Simons park and Blackhawk park.

WORLD PROGRAMS SOON WILL BE REBROADCAST

Special Events Only Will Go on Air.

Citing the successful transmission of the king's thanksgiving services from London to Australia and the United States as an example of progress, C. W. Horn, newly appointed general engineer of the N. B. C., declared that the day was in sight when we would be rebroadcasting programs all around the world. Mr. Horn, who has just made a trip to Europe, said that our introduction to this era would be through the broadcasting of special events, rather than by the regular exchange of programs.

Taking the case of England, for example, he pointed out an obstacle to the exchange is the five-hour difference in time between here and there. For instance, they would be interested in our sporting events, notably prize fights. If we broadcast a fight at 10 or 11 o'clock at night, as is usually done, it would be received in England between 3 and 4 o'clock in the morning, which would naturally prove quite a drawback. As things stand now it is mechanically possible to rebroadcast a great European event in this country.

Must Pay License Fee.

As for the routine programs, after the novelty wore off, there would be the question of how much the English, or those of another nation, might care for our programs, or we for theirs.

Mr. Horn said the European broadcasting systems, as compared with ours, represented a difference between rigidly controlled government ownership there and a highly competitive system here. There the public is given what the government thinks it should have and here the listening audience receives what it demands. There they must pay a license fee but here no charge is made for listening and it is altogether a good will proposition.

"Monotony is the enemy of radio," Mr. Horn said, "and if I made any criticism of European programs, I would say it is their monotony. They will have solid hours of heavy musical programs, heavy lectures or educational talks. However, they have their hours for dance and lighter music.

Different Temperaments.

"It is not fair to them or to ourselves to say which countries have the best programs because that would involve a difference in the temperaments of the nations. But here I will say that the European transmission is good, but their receiving sets are not up to our standards. This is due to the low purchasing power of some of the countries. New sets are not purchased as frequently as they are here and many litseners still use earphones.

"Another disadvantage is the variation of the wave bands. They have about what we have here but they go as high as 1,600 meters, with a commercial band in between. Thus it really requires two sets to cover this wide range."

Exam for Teachers Held.

Examinations for teachers of country schools in Kane county were held in Geneva, Ill., last Thursday and Friday. The county superintendent of schools is E. M. Harris.

JEAN GOLDKETTE . . . .

Jean Goldkette is the big man in American music. He has molded the crisp spirit of American life into music. He held to no tradition; not even to the tradition that "jazz" must be raucous and discordant. New standards have been set, and Goldkette is the only dance music master able to play up to them. Jean Goldkette and his W-G-N Dance Orchestra have startled the world with the new music. When programs end, listeners wire impatiently for more. Victor Young's orchestrations are modern to the highest degree. Each man is skilled and enthusiastic. That's what makes this big band with the big name. 1:30, 2:25, 11:15.

PATRICIA ANNE . . .

It's gonna be a swell party. Patricia Anne Manners, the little soprano you heard in the Student Prince will be in the middle of it. She'll put over this show the same way she floored the dial twirlers in Los Angeles. Not that she needs assistance, but the Symphony Orchestra, a hot harmony trio and a violin choir all offer Mlle. Manners their best for a big background. The Symphony Orchestra livens and quickens to a new wiggle of Gaston du Moulin's baton. The trio is so hot it's dangerous on anything but the Therm-O-Proof program. The violin choir consists of four real fiddlers. They're the Therm-O-Proof Entertainers, 7:45.

MARINE POST TO HONOR CHAPLAIN DARCHE JULY 28

Members Will Visit Him at Bradley, Ill.

Marine post, No. 273, of the American Legion has completed final details of the plans for its annual visit to Bradley, Ill., on Sunday, July 28, to honor the wartime chaplain of the marines, the Rev. H. A. Darche.

Father Darche served with the marines overseas until he was wounded while assisting the injured in the battle of Soissons, July 19, 1918. He returned to the troops in Germany after the armistice.

Several Times Decorated.

The marines' padre may wear the ribbon of the Navy Cross, the Distinguished Service Cross, and the ribbon of the highest decoration France bestows, the Legion of Honor, not to mention the Croix de Guerre, but he seldom does. These decorations were bestowed on him for his service in the front lines in succoring the wounded.

Father Darche was early the chaplain of Marine post and since his pastorate at Bradley has remained its honorary chaplain.

Plenty of Transportation.

Chairman John Spizak of Marine post announces there will be plenty of transportation for marines if they will be at Randolph and Wells streets at 9 a. m. [Chicago time] on July 28, or at 74th and Western at 10 a. m. Any marine in Chicago is invited to join the party with or without his car in the drive to Bradley. Cement road all the way and a chicken dinner at the end!

The next regular meeting of Van Buren post, No. 401, will be held Tuesday night in Hotel Atlantic. Commander Leon M. Hanna announces that the post's drum and bugle corps will perform next Sunday at the Arthur C. Lueder baseball and field day at the Logan Square ball park. The post's annual basket picnic will be held Sunday, Aug. 4, at Mueller's grove.

A shoot fest is something that can't be explained, announces Chipilly Chips, the publication devoted to the interests of Chipilly post, No. 310. "You have to go on one to find out what it's all about. All that can be said is that shoot fests were originated by "Borgy"—good old Capt. Borgmeier—who was for many years the leading spirit of company A of the old First infantry. Now, on Aug. 17 and 18, Chipilly post will hold its first shoot fest. Mike Hickey is the executive committeeman in charge of putting on the show which will be held at the rifle range at Camp Logan, just north of Zion City."

Auto hikes or picnics are held every other Sunday at some nearby forest preserve by Square post, No. 232. Today's hike will be held near the 85th street entrance of Fairmount cemetery.

Sunday, Aug. 4, is the date Chipilly day falls upon this year. "Save this date," urges Chipilly Chips, publication of Chipilly post, No. 310, "and get set now to join in the picnic and celebrate in Chipilly Ridge forest preserve—on the Dundee road, two miles west of Glencoe. Harry Cheney is the executive committeeman who is boss of the show, and for his committee he has picked the same trio of expert picnic managers who made last year's picnic such a howling success—namely: George Mundt, Herman Meyers and Frank Martin. It is a little early for details, but we are privileged to state that the annual ball game between the north and south sides will be held as usual and that the north side will be captained by Eddie Quinn, while the south will be led by Jim Epperson. Coffee will be furnished on the picnic grounds, but you must bring your own cups or other containers."

A big meeting is scheduled for Tuesday, July 30, at 8:15 p. m., when the membership of La Societe des Forty Hommes et Eight Chevaux gathers in the Hotel La Salle to elect delegates to the state and national Forty and Eight promenades. Other business to be transacted by the voiture at this session will be the balloting on candidates seeking admission into the order. Applications must be in the hands of the investigating committee prior to July 25. "The Two Plumbers," a humorous Legion skit put on by Charles Kamp and Fred L. Boissy, members of the Forty and Eight, will headline the entertainment program.

A meeting of Proviso post, No. 500, is scheduled for next Tuesday evening at the Eureka clubhouse, Maywood. Plans for the picnic of the post are now being made.

Tribute to the late Thomas H. Byrne has been paid by Logan Square post, No. 405, in a resolution which called attention to the loss of one of the post's staunchest supporters. A paragraph read: "By his untiring industry and intense devotion to duty, by the high quality of his work and example, and the quiet dignity and gentility with which it was done, Thomas H. Byrne endeared himself to each member of the post. His many unsolicited acts such as providing us first with a beautiful silken banner and later with a complete set of drums and bugles for our corps, proved him a faithful friend whose services we exalt and whose memory we would revere." The resolution was signed by Commander Arthur E. Neilsen, Adjt. William H. Schwenk, Past Commander Stanley P. Baldwin, L. J. Fenlon, J. W. Skogstrom, A. S. Hyldahl, Charles V. Falkenberg, T. H. Fleming and Leo S. Miller, and by George A. Rohde, commander of the drum and bugle corps.

Tarbo-DeVere post No. 469 is making preparations for the dedicatory exercises in the near future of the Jewish War Veterans' section in Oak Ridge Jewish cemetery, Mannheim and Roosevelt roads. Among those who will make up the general committee of arrangements are: David L. Shillinglaw, state Legion commander; S. C. Maixner, state Legion senior vice commander; George M. Kellogg Jr., Cook county Legion commander; Capt. James C. Russell, Edward Clamage, Harold R. Schradski, C. E. Taylor, chef de gare of the Forty and Eight society, and Gen. John J. Garrity, past national commander of the Spanish War Veterans, Col. Howard P. Savage, past national commander, and Laurence E. McGann Jr., national vice commander.

10 CENT LAMP SHADE OF PARCHMENT STIRS ENVY OF NEIGHBORS

The Tribune will pay $2 for each story of the best bargain obtained in a neighborhood store, printed in the Metropolitan section. Address Bargains, Metropolitan Section, The Tribune. Make them short and snappy, writing on only one side of the paper, and print your name and address plainly.

Maywood, July 15.—I purchased a $1.89 parchment lamp shade for 10 cents in a west side department store. I had to carry it home, of course, because it was a special sale, but it was worth it. My neighbors say it's the best bargain they have ever seen as it is in perfect condition.

MRS. A. K. WEIDEMMAN,

PRIZES 75 CENT CLOCK.

Chicago, July 14. — A seven day alarm clock for 75 cents is the best bargain I ever got. It was at the opening of a new west side department store and, believe me, I'm glad I went to it. The clock has kept perfect time ever since I bought it.

MRS. S. L. GAVIN,
1115 South Albany avenue.

REFUSES BIG PROFIT ON HAT.

Berwyn, July 12. — Last summer when I was looking around for a hat for my youngster, I went to the basement of one of our mercantile houses and there I found a rose and gray velvet hat that had been marked down to 25 cents. My little girl looked so nice in it and it was such a bargain that I bought it right away. This winter when we were visiting some friends they were so much in love with the hat that they wanted to buy it from me for $2.50.

MRS. E. C. STAVA,
2143 South Cuyler avenue.

BARGAIN IN PHONOGRAPH.

Chicago, July 14.—A child's phonograph which retails for $25 that I bought for $2.95 was my best bargain. The dealer said it would not play and that he used it for an ornament in his toy department. When I got it home and adjusted a couple of bolts it played fine and my two children have been having a world of pleasure out of it ever since.

MRS. M. MOSTON,
1049 North Waller avenue.

ASK NEW TRAFFIC SIGN AT LARAMIE AND NORTH AVS.

Danger to motorists and pedestrians at the intersection of Laramie and North avenues resulting from the absence of adequate warning signals shortly will be eliminated if efforts on the part of the North Austin Social and Betterment club to obtain immediate action by the city are successful.

Henry A. Kindt, vice president of the club, recently appealed to Ald. J. H. Taylor [37th] for a through-street sign at the northeast corner of the intersection, and the alderman said yesterday the matter has been placed in the hands of the department of gas and electricity. The department has promised to install the light as soon as funds are available, Ald. Taylor said, and installation is expected within a few weeks.

An unusual condition is presented at this corner, Mr. Kindt pointed out. Laramie avenue is a through street south of North avenue, but since it extends only one block north in that district, it is not a through street north of the car line. There is a through street warning only at the southwest corner and none at the northeast corner to stop west bound traffic. The one light does not serve to stop traffic going either way, Mr. Kindt said.

Northwest Side Church Tennis Tourney to Open

The third annual tennis tournament of the Northwest Side Church Athletic association will begin next Saturday at the Irving Park district tennis courts, Drake avenue and Addison street. Entries are being made with George DeBlois, 2104 Sunnyside avenue, and close next Thursday. Albany Park M. E. church, 3100 Wilson avenue, has won two previous tournaments, and is said to have a strong team again this year.

Increase Seating Capacity of Proposed Volta School

Plans for the new Volta school, to be erected at Argyle street and Springfield avenue, have been changed to increase the seating capacity from 900 to 1,200, according to an announcement recently received by Ald. Joseph C. Ross [40th] from the board of education. Ald. Ross and a committee of the Volta Parent-Teacher association, recently organized, has been promoting a larger school for the district.

YOUNG CICERO HAVING ITS HOT WEATHER FUN

LEAKING TRUNK PUTS SPOTLIGHT ON MICHAELSON

His Moist Baggage Still a Mystery.

BY ARTHUR EVANS.

The leaking trunk mystery, the cracked bottle of Scotch that shed its peatsmoke fragrance on the desert air of the Jacksonville, Fla., trainshed when a merry congressional party returned from a West Indies cruise with wet souvenirs, made a front page headliner for a time this year of Congressman M. Alfred Michaelson of the Seventh district. It was the most publicity he has had since Fred Lundin first took him by the hand and led him into the primrose paths of politics.

In May a Florida jury at Key West found Michaelson not guilty of importing and possessing liquor from Havana. The jurors reached a verdict after being out four hours and taking ten polls. The congressman's brother-in-law, Walter Gramm, described by the federal lawyers as "the fall guy," stepped up and claimed ownership of the trunk which leaked. He told the jury Michaelson had brought the trunk in for him under his "congressional free entry" without knowing of its contents. Stark ignorance was claimed of the thirteen quarts of assorted whiskies and the ten gallons of rum which the federal authorities alleged were inside.

It's Still a Mystery.

Brother-in-law Gramm stood on his "constitutional rights" whenever the matter of wet goods in the trunk was mentioned, and he at no time admitted ownership of the beverages. Failing memories were a feature of the defense end of the trial, nobody remembering anything about liquor anywhere, anytime.

So as to how the liquor concealed itself in the luggage of the Michaelson sight seeing party it is still a mystery. After giving his demonstration of brotherly-in-law love, Mr. Gramm himself was indicted by a federal grand jury in Jacksonville.

What gave the whole episode its greatest savor was the fact that Michaelson is a dry voting congressman who has had the benison of the Anti-Saloon league. He voted for the Jones 5 and 10 law while he was under indictment by the Florida federal grand jury and before his trial and acquittal.

His District Largest.

Congressman Michaelson is a product of the old Lundin-Thompson machine. He represents the 7th district, the largest in Illinois, which last year cast 316,500 votes on governor. This was more than were cast in the 8th [Kunz], 5th [Sabath], 1st [De Priest], 4th [Doyle], and 9th [Britten] districts combined.

Michaelson was born in Kristiansand, Norway, in 1878 and was brought to the United States at the age of 7. He was a teacher in the Chicago public schools from 1898 to 1914. He became alderman of the old 33d ward in 1914, serving to 1918.

Michaelson, as a protégé of Fred Lundin, who, in those days, was calling himself "the poor Swede," became Mayor Thompson's floor leader, preceding Louis B. Anderson, Negro alderman from the 2d ward, in that important position. He was noisy on the floor. One of his favorite words was "sinister," which had a high rating in those days in the Lundin-Thompson lexicon. He had a sequence of three phrases which he used as a sort of refrain for his speeches—"It isn't right, it isn't fair, and it's illegal."

What M. V. L. Thinks of Him.

At the end of his first term the Municipal Voters' league said Ald. Michaelson had made "a miserable record; alderman of the 'spoils politician' type." Continuing, the M. V. L. said: "Michaelson is the alderman who went about on the evening of the October 'dry spell' lining up alderman to make the Argonautic trip to the golden gate; fought against fundamental rights of council."

The "Argonautic trip" referred to was the expedition of the Lundin-Thompson crowd to San Francisco immediately after Mayor Thompson's promulgation of the famous Sunday closing order in October, 1915, when they started booming Thompson for the presidential nomination.

The M. V. L., among other criticisms, said: "Michaelson's effort in behalf of Mesce, the real estate and political expert, is still fresh in the council's memory." Frank H. Mesce was one of the city hall building experts and he had been a boarder with Michaelson.

Beaten in First Race.

In 1917 a boom was started for Michaelson for congress by the Lundin-Thompson outfit, the lead being taken by George Hitzman, committeeman from the old 33d ward, and Charles J. Peters, committeeman of the old 35th. Michaelson was unsuccessful. Congressman Niels Juul beat him in the September, 1918, primaries by 1,400 votes.

Two years later, in 1920, Michaelson beat Juul in the primaries by 15,000, and was elected to congress. In 1922 the issue of Thompsonism was raised by Frank M. Padden, Democratic opponent of Michaelson. Padden pledged himself to make every effort to compel the city hall real estate experts to pay income tax on some $6,000,000 collected from the taxpayers through the machine.

"Two years ago," said Padden, "Michaelson was supported by the wets and at his first opportunity in congress he voted dry. Now the Anti-Saloon league is backing him.

"Michaelson is the sentinel of the city hall crowd in Washington, an errand boy for Lundin and Thompson."

Made Plea for Small.

Michaelson, during the campaign that year, in a speech in Wicker park hall made an appeal for a legislature which would refuse to impeach Gov.

MAYWOOD JUNIOR DRAMATIC CLUB REHEARSES PLAY

The junior dramatic club of the Maywood playgrounds department is rehearsing for a play, "In Little Folks' Town," to be presented the first week in August. About 200 children are taking part.

The playgrounds department announced last week that 85 boys will be escorted to the Cubs game Tuesday and that 85 women would be taken to the game on Friday.

Under the supervision of the Maywood playground board children of the village are taken to the program for youngsters given at the Field museum every Thursday, according to an announcement made last week. The meetings consist of a story hour followed by a movie. The programs are scheduled to continue until about the middle of August.

ELMHURST COMMERCE BODY HEARS TALKS ON HIGHWAYS TOMORROW

Highways will be the principal topic of discussion at a meeting of the Elmhurst chamber of commerce to be held tomorrow evening. The chief speakers will be Robert Kingery, secretary of the Chicago Regional Planning association, and E. L. Gates of the highways department of Du Page county. Meetings of the chamber are held only once a month during the summer, the regular weekly meetings having ben discontinued on account of the warm weather. Much interest is reported among members of the chamber concerning the subject of highways.

OAK PARK TRADE LEADERS PREPARE FOR DOLLAR DAY

Plans for the next Dollar day in Oak Park on Aug. 13 will be discussed at a meeting of the retail affairs committee of the Oak Park chamber of commerce tomorrow. The rules and policies to be followed in preparation for the event will be adopted at this meeting.

Dollars days in Oak Park are restricted to two a year. This policy was put into effect at a meeting of the retail affairs committee some time ago.

See Success in New Plan.

Members of the committee believe that the new council organization plan, recently adopted by the chamber will aid to a considerable extent in assuring greater success for coöperative sales days. In each district of the village the council of the chamber is in charge of the event for that particular neighborhood, thus effecting a greater degree of unity than would otherwise be the case.

The chamber announced last week that merchants have been occupied with obtaining especially attractive bargains in preparation for Dollar day.

More Details Coming Soon.

Detailed information concerning the handling of the event will be announced at an early date.

The headquarters of the chamber is in the Oak Park Arms hotel. O. C. Braese is president.

St. Ignatius High School Enrolls Its New Students

Enrollment for next year's scholastic term at St. Ignatius High school, 1076 West Roosevelt road, has been in progress all summer, the school office announced yesterday. The fall term will begin on Sept. 3. The Rev. John F. Quinn, S. J., is principal of the school.

Spends Summer in Europe.

Maywood residents who are in Europe this summer include John Trauensteiner, 1305 South 7th avenue Maywood. He expects to be gone about six months.

Musical vegetables and gaily tripping calories with here and there a dancing ray of sunshine will be woven into a pageant glorifying good health Thursday afternoon at Garfield park by more than 200 west side children under the direction of the west park playground instructors.

Against a background of flowers and ferns, the youngsters will sing of the joys of health and of the breakfast, luncheon, and supper dishes favored by the gods who bestow good health upon children who obey their commands. And while one group of children is singing, others will dance as the "Spirits of play," demonstrating how happiness and gayety result automatically from good health.

Butter Balls Frolic.

Other children representing rollicking butter balls, milk fairies, vegetables, rabbits, elf men carrying the staff of life, dancing proteans, water nymphs, balanced diettes, and rays of sunshine will take part in this garden pageant which promises to be at once amusing, entertaining, pleasing to the eye, and educational.

West side business men and the west park recreation department, under the direction of W. J. H. Schultz, are coöperating with the national food bureau in arranging the pageant which several thousand residents are expected to witness.

The first performance will be held at 3 o'clock in the afternoon at the Garfield park bandstand, directly east of Hamlin avenue on Madison street, and the second will be held at 7:30 o'clock in the evening. Following the afternoon show, a parade of floats, decorated by the business men's clubs, will be held. The line of march will be from the park to Ashland and Washington boulevards and back.

Boys to Provide Music.

Music will be provided by an orchestra of boys of the Eckhart playground, directed by William Hofman and trained by Mrs. H. M. Lewis.

The following playground directors are coaching the children in preparation for the event: Mrs. Jennie Van Keuren, Miss Sadie Cohen, Miss Lorraine McCormick, Miss Lillian Shoemaker, Miss Harriet Hemstreet, Miss Sophia Sabriaj, Miss Florence Keifer, Miss Erna Claas, Miss Genevieve Guerino, Miss Rose Braverman, Miss Sadie Fleming, Miss Helen Brooks, Miss Harriet Gross, Miss Mary Spring, Mrs. Mary Fajut, Miss Gertrude Trace, Miss Anna Delaney, Miss Magda Nissen, Miss Mary Hammer, and Miss Avis Overfield.

76 Will Receive Diplomas at Harrison Summer High

Seventy-six students will be graduated at the end of the summer course at Harrison Technical High school, 285 West 24th street. The registration for the summer classes this year reached a total of about 900 students. The principal of the school is Frank L. Morse.

School Band Gives Concert.

A concert was presented by the Naperville High school band at Central park, Naperville, on July 13. The Parent-Teacher association of the school assisted.

FERD MARZUTTE of the Chicago, Milwaukee, St. Paul and Pacific switch yards, has been located in Mont Clare. Ferd was mysteriously missing for three weeks. Rumor had it he was in Wisconsin. He returned as mysteriously as he had gone. Investigation by the boys disclosed that Ferd had taken unto himself a wife, and not only that, but for many weeks prior to his disappearance had been furnishing a home in Mont Clare. So when the Marzuttes had finished their honeymoon they moved into the love nest, where they are now at home to their friends, who wish them a long and happy married life.

Elmhurst Lawyer Leaves on Trip Through Europe

Michael Kross, assessment commissioner and Elmhurst attorney, left last Tuesday with a group of colleagues who named their party "The Midwest Lawyers Club" on a trip to Europe. Sailing from Montreal on the S. S. Megantic, they will spend a week in England. Mr. Kross will then leave the party, going first to Vienna, then by boat to Budapest and to Svedler, Czecho-Slovakia, his boyhood home which he has not visited for more than twenty years.

HOSTESS TO CLUB

MRS. MICHAEL A. M'GRATH.

Officers and board members of the Trinity High School Mothers' club were guests at a luncheon and card party July 12 in the Crystal room of Marshall Field's given by Mrs. Michael A. McGrath, 725 South East avenue, Oak Park, president of the club. The occasion commemorated the seventeenth wedding anniversary of the hostess. The guests were: Mrs. Roger S. Gorman, Mrs. Edward McCracken, Mrs. John J. Scanlon, Mrs. Herbert A. Clark, Mrs. George Schindler, Mrs. W. J. Herr, Mrs. W. Bromann, Mrs. B. A. Schneider, Mrs. J. O'Shaughnessey, Mrs. F. J. Mrs. James Farmer, chairman of the ways and means committee of the Mothers' club, is making arrangements for a Plunkett luncheon to be held at the school in early fall.

Former Altar BoyNowHeads Church Order

This is the story of a boy born and raised on the west side who chose religion for his work in life and went forward with such success that early this month he was selected to head all the Servite houses in the United States. It is the story of the Very Rev. Jerome Mulherin, O. S. M., until recently pastor of Our Lady of Sorrows church, Albany avenue and Jackson boulevard, and now provincial of the Servite order in this country.

THE VERY REV. JEROME MULHERIN.

At the election held July 9, 10, and 11 at Our Lady of Sorrows, which is the mother house of the order, Father Mulherin was chosen provincial or head of the Servites in the United States for a term of three years. Father Mulherin was born and raised in Our Lady of Sorrows parish and there he spent the greater part of his career as a priest.

Attended School There.

In the old house still standing at 2637 Jackson boulevard, Father Mulherin was born and raised. He attended the parochial school, served mass with the other altar boys of the parish in the old church, which was situated in an environment of prairies, corn fields and mud roads, and spent his early youth in this west side neighborhood.

Following his education at Mount St. Philip's college, Granville, Wis., which is conducted by the Servite order, he was ordained to the priesthood on Feb. 3, 1901. Before coming to Our Lady of Sorrows in 1902 he was stationed at the novitiate of the order at Granville and also at Assumption church, Illinois and Franklin streets, Chicago. Since the fall of 1902 he has been at Our Lady of Sorrows. On Dec. 4, 1927, he was installed as pastor of the church, a position he held until his recent election as provincial.

In commenting last week upon his election, Father Mulherin called attention to the fact that all large religious orders of the Catholic church are divided into provinces. The head of each province is the provincial. The Servites have only one province in the United States, and since the mother house is located at Our Lady of Sorrows, Father Mulherin will continue to reside there. About a dozen houses make up the American province, each of which has as its head a prior. The retiring provincial of the order, the Rev. Patrick Brosnahan, O. S. M., was chosen at the recent election to be prior of Our Lady of Sorrows.

The new pastor of the church is the Very Rev. P. M. Condon, O. S. M., who like Father Mulherin, attended the parish school of Our Lady of Sorrows as a boy. Father Condon is a native of Tipperary, Ireland.

Founded in 1233.

The Servite order was founded in 1233 to foster devotion to the Sorrowful Mother. The founders were seven Florentine patricians, Bonfilius Monaldi, Bonagiunta Manetti, Amideus de Amidei, Manettus dell' Antella, Sostene Sostegni, Hugh Uguccioni and Alexius Falconieri. One of the best known members of the order was St. Philip Benizi.

Houses of the order are located in practically all European countries. In 1870 members of the community came to the United States and established themselves first in Menasha, Wis. From there they came to Chicago.

NEW, GROWING, THRIFTY, CLEAN —THAT'S CICERO

Named for Village in N. Y. State.

This is the sixth of a series of articles on the naming of suburbs and streets of the west side.

BY ONEY FRED SWEET.

Cicero, Chicago's swift growing suburb, did not take its name directly from the Roman advocate, orator and writer, but its classical appellation was suggested by Augustus Porter, an early settler from the east who had formerly lived in the town of Cicero, Onondaga county, New York.

J. Sterling Morton High school and junior college, with its 5,000 students from Cicero, Berwyn, Lyons, and Stickney, took its name from the Nebraskan who was secretary of agriculture in the cabinet of President Cleveland.

The community of Morton Park, absorbed by Cicero, was founded by P. B. Weare in the long ago days. Weare, as may be gleaned from such historical data as have been preserved, was a great admirer of Morton and, when he went into the country to establish a subdivision, honored Morton with its name.

Weare, we are told, sought a spot for his rural estate where he would have an unobstructed view of the prairie sunrise and sunset. Also he liked the landscape filled with wild flowers.

Charm Remains Despite Growth.

Miles and miles of paved streets and alleys and blocks upon blocks of tile roofed, brick bungalows and apartments, as well as some hundred industries have crowded out the original species of plant life, but Weare, could he return to the setting, would find that the lawns and curbs in front of the modern dwellings are beautifully landscaped and decorated with carefully tended shrubs. Also, 22d street stretches across the flat prairie at a width that has robbed the sunset of little of its glow. Nor are the skies above Cicero clouded with smoke. It is primarily a home town, inhabited by home loving and home owning people—probably as modern a suburb close to a big city as America has yet produced.

There is a still older community—Clyde—that has lost its identity in the development of Cicero. This station on the Chicago, Burlington and Quincy railroad at the western edge of the present boundaries of Cicero was named, we are told, by a Scotchman. Although in the minority, there are still Scotchmen, who make their way directly to Cicero on migrating to the United States.

Four Nationalities Dominate.

Predominating in Cicero, however, are persons of Bohemian, Polish, Lithuanian and Italian nativity or descent. They are a people eager that their children have greater advantages than they have known. They believe in hard work, in thrift, in churches, the best of schools and in recreational centers.

Scattered at intervals among the brick residences, these recreational centers are particularly popular during these summer months. Recently there was a formal opening of the new Cicero park district swimming pool in 56th avenue, between 15th and 16th streets. Taking part in the exercises were Charles J. Baker, secretary of the Cicera park district; Gus Vavrinec, park commissioner; Joseph E. Hlinka, president of the park board; and V. W. J. Chvala, safety commissioner.

Swimming hours here are from 9 a. m. to 9 p. m., girls and boys alternating every two hours. The same hours are maintained at the other Cicero park district pool at the Cicero community house, 51st avenue, between 18th and 19th streets. Two life guards are on duty at each pool.

Thus Cicero, close to the country, gives its youngsters as well as adults advantages similar to those found on the lake front.

A band concert is held every second and fourth Wednesday evening at the tennis grounds of the Cicero community house. These concerts are such as those enjoyed in the various Chicago parks. The Morton orchestra and the Cicero Boys' band, two local organizations, are scheduled to entertain frequently throughout the summer.

"Big Town Atmosphere."

Made up of a number of communities as is Chicago, itself, Cicero, despite its youth, has what Colin M. Higgins, vice president and cashier of the Pinkert State bank, terms "a big town atmosphere."

It is in no sense a loafing place.

"Somehow," says Mr. Higgins, "the spirit of activity is in the air. Our people have a pride in the job for the job's sake."

From the gates of the Western Electric company pour 38,000 employés at the day's end. In the newly developed industrial district, where many plants are busy night and day, property values are said to have quadrupled within the last three years.

Attesting to the thrift of the residents of Cicero, deposits in the seven banks increased $2,349,178.77 during the last year.

Among the thriving business associations are the Twenty-second Street Business Men's association, Joseph Kral, president; the Rotary club, Joseph House, president; and the Kiwanis club, Dr. Milo R. Lunak, president.

Population Estimated at 75,000.

Cicero, with an estimated population of 75,000, has made up in numbers what it has lost in the territory that the name defined back in 1857. From that wide territory there have been various annexations to Chicago, the secession of Oak Park and Berwyn, as well as the cession of the Hawthorne race track to Stickney.

The down of today dwells little on

LEAKING TRUNK PUTS SPOTLIGHT ON MICHAELSON

Gives Dry Congressman Lots of Publicity.

In the election that November, Michaelson won by 8,300 plurality over Padden out of 130,000 votes cast, which was regarded as a small margin for the Seventh, which is strongly Republican. Michaelson had the indorsement of the Anti-Saloon league in its preelection report.

In that same 1922 election, in voting on the referendum on beer and light wine, the 7th district went wet by 80,000.

In the 1924 campaign, Michaelson was criticized by his opponent for activities in blocking Chicago waterway legislation. That year he had got permission to print in the Congressional Record an undelivered speech attacking Senator Medill McCormick of Illinois and THE TRIBUNE in connection with the battle in Washington over water diversion from Lake Michigan for the sanitary district. Representative Nicholas Longworth, now speaker, demanded the speech be expunged as a violation of a congressional rule, and the congressman withdrew his address for revision.

Accused of Trickery.

The 1926 campaign in the 7th district was embittered by political trickery. John S. Hall, the Democratic candidate, charged that his withdrawal from the race was a forgery and the result of a conspiracy to throw Lundin Republican votes to Democrats on the county ticket. Secretary of State Emmerson, now governor, who had accepted the withdrawal as bona fide, heard the complaint, and ordered Hall's name to be included in the list of candidates certified.

Hall charged that Michaelson and the Lundinites had entered a deal to throw the Lundin vote in the district to Harry A. Kohl, Democratic candidate against County Reviewer Charles V. Barrett, who was to be knifed by the Lundin crowd if the Democratic bosses succeeded in getting Hall off the ticket. Michaelson denied he had made any such deal, and the Democrats said Hall had withdrawn himself and then reneged. In the November election Michaelson beat Hall by 24,000.

Remains with Lundin.

After the split between Lundin and Thompson Michaelson remained with Lundin. Little was heard of Michaelson for quite a period until last spring, when the episode of the leaking trunk and the indictment was made public.

Scott McBride, head of the Anti-Saloon league, hastened into print with denials that the league had indorsed Michaelson, who in February had voted for the Jones 5 and 10. Judge Padden, who ran against Michaelson in 1922, and Emil Selten, Democrat, who ran against him last year, at once brought out rebuttals against Mr. McBride. Padden declared the league report in 1922 carried Michaelson as "indorsed," while Selten declared the league befriended Michaelson last year and the lack of open indorsements at that time was most largely due to the distaste of candidates to carry the league's banner, regarding it as a political burden. Only one Cook county congressman bore the league's public indorsement last fall and that was Elliott W. Sproul of the Third.

10 CENT LAMP SHADE OF PARCHMENT STIRS ENVY OF NEIGHBORS

The Tribune will pay $2 for each story of the best bargain obtained in a neighborhood store, printed in the Metropolitan section. Address Bargains, Metropolitan Section, The Tribune. Make them short and snappy, writing on only one side of the paper, and print your name and address plainly.

Maywood, July 15.—I purchased a $1.35 parchment lamp shade for 10 cents in a west side department store. I had to carry it home, of course, because it was a special sale, but it was worth it. My neighbors say it's the best bargain they have ever seen as it is in perfect condition.

PRIZES 75 CENT CLOCK.

Chicago, July 14. — A seven day alarm clock for 75 cents is the best bargain I ever got. It was at the opening of a new west side department store and, believe me, I'm glad I went to it. The clock has kept perfect time ever since I bought it.

MRS. S. L. GAVIN,
1115 South Albany avenue.

REFUSES BIG PROFIT ON HAT.

Berwyn, July 12. — Last summer when I was looking around for a hat for my youngster, I went to the basement of one of our mercantile houses and there I found a rose and gray velvet hat that had been marked down to 25 cents. My little girl looked so nice in it and it was such a bargain that I bought it right away. This winter when we were visiting some friends they were so much in love with the hat that they wanted to buy it from me for $2.50.

BARGAIN IN PHONOGRAPH.

Chicago, July 14.—A child's phonograph which retails for $25 that I bought for $2.95 was my best bargain. The dealer said it would not play and that he used it for an ornament in his toy department. When I got it home and adjusted a couple of bolts it played fine and my two children have been having a world of pleasure out of it ever since.

Children Give Show for Algonquin

Northwest Side Church Tennis Tourney to Open

The third annual tennis tournament of the Northwest Side Church Athletic association will begin next Saturday at the Irving Park district tennis courts, Drake avenue and Addison street. Entries are being made with George DeBlois, 2104 Sunnyside avenue, and close next Thursday. Albany Park M. E. church, 3100 Wilson avenue, has won two previous tournament, and is said to have a strong team again this year.

Increase Seating Capacity of Proposed Volta School

Plans for the new Volta school, to be erected at Argyle street and Springfield avenue, have been changed to increase the seating capacity from 900 to 1,200, according to an announcement recently received by Ald. Joseph C. Ross [40th] from the board of education. Ald. Ross and a committee of the Volta Parent-Teacher association, recently organized, has been promoting a larger school for the district.

BOY SCOUTS OFF TOMORROW FOR 2 WEEKS' CAMP

Seventy-four west side Boy Scouts are leaving tomorrow morning for two Chicago Boy Scout camps at Owasippe, Mich. Fifty-four boys, members of troop 345, which meets at Our Lady of Christian Help church, Leamington avenue and Iowa street, will stay at Camp Blackhawk for two weeks; and twenty boys of troop 115, meeting at St. Luke's church, 2610 North Francisco avenue, will attend Camp Checaugau.

Scoutmaster Le Roy G. Tabbert will accompany troop 115, and Scoutmaster Morris P. Jones, Assistant Scoutmaster Glenn Motschman, and J. W. McNichols, chairman of the troop committee, will be in charge of troop 345. The group of troop 345 is probably the largest that will attend camp from any one troop this summer, according to scout officials.

These Boys of Troop 115 Named.

THE CHUCKLE COLUMN

The bride—I'm looking for an apartment.

A friend—What style?

PAUL STEDMAN,
3813 West Van Buren street.

Frosh—You can't flunk me, professor.

Prof.—And why not?

Frosh [ready with new alibi]—Because I'm insane.

ISADORE KOMENETSKY,
3937 West 16th street.

Gary—Look at the headlines on this paper, "Bandit Robs Store of $10,000 and Flees."

Percy—I say, what do you suppose he intends to do with those bally little beasts?

WILLIAM BREIDING,
4033 School street.

"You kept the car out rather late last night, son. What delayed you?"

"I had a blowout, dad."

"Hum. Tire or roadhouse?"

RUTH GURALSKI,
2844 South Throop street.

ROUT MOSQUITO FROM OAK PARK, 4 OTHER TOWNS

Abatement Workers Warn Realty Subdividers.

The practice of building in mosquito incubators in all newly subdivided property must cease or suburban property will depreciate in value. Such is the warning given by J. Lyell Clarke, sanitary engineer for the Des Plaines valley mosquito abatement district with headquarters at Riverside. In a recent report, Mr. Clarke said the real estate subdivider does not know that the grassy areas which he surrounds with elevated sidewalks are infested with millions of mosquito eggs, and that when he fails to drain block interiors in the corner sewer outlets he creates an ideal mosquito hatchery. It is virtually, the engineer asserted, a "built incubartor."

"Inspection of the shallow grassy areas flooded by the three inches of rainfall which occurred in June disclosed," said Mr. Clarke, "that millions of mosquito eggs, deposited there last year, had hatched within one hour after flooding. The waters were teeming with tiny wrigglers.

Several Suburbs Safe.

"All efforts are bent on oiling wet lots in Oak Park, River Forest and Forest Park and flooded subdivisions north of Oak Park; also wet lots in Maywood and Melrose Park, including the large flooded areas in Thatcher woods. The above mentioned towns will suffer very little annoyance.

"Owing to the large overflow along Addison creek and flooded areas in Bellwood, Hillside and Berkley, it will be impossible to maintain effective control of this species of mosquito by oiling this season.

"The large drainage canal along Addison creek and the new storm sewer now under construction will remedy this south of the Aurora and Elgin tracks, but the area along Addison creek north of this point will continue to suffer from this species following excessive rainfall until a storm flow channel shall have been constructed across St. Charles and Lake streets to North avenue.

"Oiling of wet lots in North Riverside, Riverside, Lyons, Summit, Brookfield, La Grange and Western Springs will be completed before mosquitoes can emerge. The killing off of small broods scattered here and there on wet lots throughout these towns will reduce mosquito annoyance noticeably, but not abate the nuisance entirely. The large breeding grounds in the subdivisions of Broadview, south of the Hines' hospital and in the Komarek subdivision are so scattered that a very expensive and painstaking oiling program would be necessary to ferret out all small water holes. The same condition prevails in subdivisions north of La Grange park and south of 47th street in La Grange.

Oiling Big Area in Lyons.

"A very large breeding area in Lyons south of the Ogden Kennel club is now being oiled. This area has furnished yearly crops to annoy Lyons, Riverside and Brookfield for many years. This subdivision has been sewered recently, but as yet the flooded block interiors have not been connected with the sewers.

"The sewage silted channel of Flagg creek is inadequate to carry off storm flow, causing the inundation of bottom lands, resulting in heavy mosquito production of aedes vexans during wet spells and polluted water breeders during dry periods.

"Time will permit of oiling as far south as Plainfield road to protect La Grange and Western Springs on the south, but it is certain that some annoyance will be caused by mosquito flight from the drainage area between Plainfield and Joliet roads.

"The house entering mosquitoes which breed in polluted streams and marshes were eliminated last year and can be controlled in the future, but this little band-legged, B-backed marsh mosquito will continue to give annoyance in certain parts of our district until our drainage program is further advanced. Twenty-five per cent of the marsh areas were drained last year, and even a larger percentage is looked forward to this year through cooperation of the villages, subdividers, railroads, the highway departments, the forest preserve district, and the work of our own forces."

DUNNING POSTAL BRANCH TO HAVE NEW QUARTERS

West Portage Park is to have a new $40,000 postoffice building to house the Dunning station. The [illegible] department store, lessor of postoffice quarters since the Dunning station was established thirty-five years ago, is the builder.

The expansion of postoffice facilities in this comparatively young section is necessary to meet the needs of the growing population, officials report. The new structure will afford five times the space now available and will permit the expansion of the force of carriers alone from fifteen to fifty.

The building, to be located at 6441-[illegible] Irving Park boulevard, will be of brick and stone, a one and two story structure, 50 by 130 feet. It is expected to be ready for occupancy Nov. 1. The entire space will be used for postoffice activities.

The territory served by the Dunning station is bounded by Central avenue on the east, the city limits on the west, Diversey on the south, and Lawrence on the north.

Elmhurst C. of C. Seeks Playground Director

The Elmhurst chamber of commerce announced last week that there is widespread sentiment in the town in favor of the establishment of an office of playground director. A committee of the chamber is expected to begin work in the near future to bring about action on the proposal.

Drainage Body to Meet.

A meeting of the drainage committee of Oak Park will be held at the municipal building of the village on July 25. Residents of neighboring villages interested in drainage relief will be invited to attend.

Members of the group who have been named as directors are: Mrs. William H. Cade, Mrs. George Gambrill, Mrs. James H. Jackson, Mrs. A. C. Durbin, Mrs. Thomas H. Byrne, Mrs. G. A. Kornig, Mrs. Nicholas Schaack and Mrs. Walter Lyman.

SOLDIERS' ANGEL OF '60S PASSES 87TH BIRTHDAY

Remembers City Limit at Harrison Street.

Miss Ruth Chessman Eggleston celebrated her 87th birthday Thursday at Itasca, Du Page county, where she makes her home with her daughter, Mrs. T. P. Woodworth.

Mrs. Eggleston's home when she first came to Chicago with her parents, May 10, 1852, was at Harrison street and the river. There was, she recalls, nothing south of Harrison street at that time but hazel brush and no houses west of Halsted street. After a short stay in the city the family settled on a farm twenty miles westward.

Gave Joy to Sick Soldiers.

When she was 1[illegible] Mrs. Eggleston taught schools near Bensenville. When the civil war came she was sent to Philadelphia by the Addison township sanitary commission to visit the hospitals and buy "extras" for the invalid soldiers—items which lent to their comfort and which otherwise they would be without.

In the group of wounded soldiers that came to the hospital following the battle of Gettysburg Mrs. Eggleston came across her own brother—George P. Chessman. On Jan. 9, 1864, she married one of the men to whom she was bringing cheer—S. G. Eggleston, a member of the 8th Illinois cavalry, who had been wounded on the day before the battle of Antietam.

Husband on Early Mail Train.

When Mr. Eggleston received his honorable discharge from the army the young couple returned to Illinois, where the bridegroom obtained a position in the Chicago postoffice. He was one of the employés who rode the first railway mail train to Freeport, Ill., over the Galena division of the Chicago and North Western railroad.

The Egglestons made their home for many years at 742 Hubbard street [now Austin avenue, near Hoyne avenue]. Mr. Eggleston died in 1889.

Mrs. Eggleston was a charter member of the Eighth Presbyterian church, which was located at Washington boulevard and Robey street.

Her health is still faily good, she says, and her unfailing eyesight enables her to read THE TRIBUNE every morning.

Hold Bridge Luncheon.

Yesterday's bridge luncheon of the Oak Park Country club was under the direction of the following women: Mrs. David M. Yates, Mrs. J. Fred Butler, Mrs. John Ingram, Mrs. A. H. Mulford, Mrs. W. G. Oliver, and Mrs. W. H. Rattenbury.

140 COMPETE IN WEST PARKS HOP SCOTCH CONTEST

14 Playgrounds Send Entries to Tourney.

A hop scotch contest sponsored by the recreation department of the west park commissioners was held Friday, July 12, at Humboldt park. About 140 children representing fourteen of the west parks participated. There were three sections, one for boys under 11 years of age, another for girls under 11 years, and a third for girls under 15 years. Inasmuch as boys over 11 years are not interested in the game no competition was held for them.

Winners in Three Classes.

Winners in the boys' contest were as follows: First, Eddie Matrijek of Holstein park, 29 points; second, Stanley Tlotroski of Holstein park, 28; third, Walter Cikowski of Eckhart park, 25; fourth, Sidney Linick of Humboldt park, 22; and fifth, Walter Nojciechowska of Holstein park, 21.

The competition for girls under 11 years ended with the following results: First, Bernice Gracer of Holstein park, 26 points; second, Hattie Trendota of Eckhart park, 25; third, Mary Maluchnik of Pulaski park, 22; fourth, Marcella Hildebrandt of Holstein park, 21, and fifth, Frances Michalski of Eckhart park, 19.

The victors in the contest for girls under 15 years of age were: First, J. Jenkowski of Pulaski park, 33 points; second, A. Kieszkiewiz of Pulaski park, 31; third, L. Bolke of Pulaski park, 29; fourth, B. Majcin of Dvorak park, 28, and fifth, L. Friedl of Shedd park and R. Springer of Franklin park, each 27.

All Are Champions.

All the children competing were the individual champions of their repective parks, chosen by previous competitions. The points awarded to the winners are compiled at the end of the season to determine which of the children win the various awards given.

MARINE POST TO HONOR CHAPLAIN DARCHE JULY 28

Members Will Visit Him at Bradley, Ill.

Marine post, No. 273, of the American Legion has completed final details of the plans for its annual visit to Bradley, Ill., on Sunday, July 28, to honor the wartime chaplain of the marines, the Rev. H. A. Darche.

Father Darche served with the marines overseas until he was wounded while assisting the injured in the battle of Soissons, July 19, 1918. He returned to the troops in Germany after the armistice.

Several Times Decorated.

The marines' padre may wear the ribbon of the Navy Cross, the Distinguished Service Cross, and the ribbon of the highest decoration France bestows, the Legion of Honor, not to mention the Croix de Guerre, but he seldom does. These decorations were bestowed on him for his service in the front lines in succoring the wounded.

Father Darche was early the chaplain of Marine post and since his pastorate at Bradley has remained its honorary chaplain.

Plenty of Transportation.

Chairman John Spizak of Marine post announces there will be plenty of transportation for marines if they will be at Randolph and Wells streets at 9 a. m. [Chicago time] on July 28, or at 74th and Western at 10 a. m. Any marine in Chicago is invited to join the party with or without his car in the drive to Bradley. Cement road all the way and a chicken dinner at the end!

With a "Howdy, folks!" the first issue of the Breeze introduces itself to the members and friends of Jackson Park post, No. 555, all ex-service men and to its community. The staff comprises Commander Charles N. May, William H. Powell, and Carl A. Peterson. Jackson Park post meets the first and third Fridays of each month at the Southmoor hotel.

Auto hikes or picnics are held every other Sunday at some nearby forest preserve by Square post, No. 232. Today's hike will be held near the [illegible]5th street entrance of Fairmount cemetery. A sign will be placed at the entrance that will direct to the spot for the picnic. Those interested are asked to call Iris Brown, Radcliffe 6951, for further information on these events. The meeting place for the hike on Aug. 4 will be 79th street and South Park avenue. Meeting time, 9 a. m.; time for shoving off, 9:30 a. m.

The next regular meeting of Van Buren post, No. 401, will be held Tuesday night in Hotel Atlantic. Commander Leon M. Hanna announces that the post's drum and bugle corps will perform next Sunday at the Arthur C. Lueder baseball and field day at the Logan Square ball park. The post's annual basket picnic will be held Sunday, Aug. 4, at Mueller's grove.

Woodlawn post, No. 175, boasts of having four brothers enrolled in its organization, Lester, Charles, Frank and Joseph Robinson, all of whom have been members of the post for the last six years and take a prominent part in its many activities. Members of the post are curious to learn what other post can equal this record.

Sunday, Aug. 4, is the date Chipilly day falls upon this year. "Save this date," urges Chipilly Chips, publication of Chipilly post, No. 310, "and get set now to join in the picnic and celebrate in Chipilly Ridge forest preserve—on the Dundee road, two miles west of Glencoe. Harry Cheney is the executive committeeman who is boss of the show, and for his committee he has picked the same trio of expert picnic managers who made last year's picnic such a howling success—namely: George Mundt, Herman Meyers and Frank Martin. It is a little early for details, but we are privileged to state that the annual ball game between the north and south sides will be held as usual and that the north side will be captained by Eddie Quinn, while the south will be led by Jim Epperson. Coffee will be furnished on the picnic grounds, but you must bring your own cups or other containers."

A big meeting is scheduled for Tuesday, July 30, at 8:15 p. m., when the membership of La Societe des Forty Hommes et Eight Chevaux gathers in the Hotel La Salle to elect delegates to the state and national Forty and Eight promenades. Other business to be transacted by the voiture at this session will be the balloting on candidates seeking admission into the order. Applications must be in the hands of the investigating committee prior to July 25. "The Two Plumbers," a humorous Legion skit put on by Charles Kamp and Fred L. Boissy, members of the Forty and Eight, will headline the entertainment program. Further Forty and Eight forthcoming activities include a picnic on Aug. 11, at the Forty and Eight chalet, when Voiture 220 will be hosts to all Legion posts in Cook county, and the annual Forty and Eight golf tourney which is scheduled to take place some time in August. This is but part of the social program which Chef de Gare Elmer Taylor is outlining for the year to come.

A shoot fest is something that can't be explained, announces Chipilly Chips, the publication devoted to the interests of Chipilly post, No. 310. "You have to go on one to find out what it's all about. All that can be said is that shoot fests were originated by "Borgy"—good old Capt. Borgmeier—who was for many years the leading spirit of company A of the old First infantry. Now, on Aug. 17 and 18, Chipilly post will hold its first shoot fest. Mike Hickey is the executive committeeman in charge of putting on the show which will be held at the rifle range at Camp Logan, just north of Zion City."

A meeting of Proviso post, No. 500, is scheduled for next Tuesday evening at the Eureka clubhouse, Maywood. Plans for the picnic of the post are now being made.

PLAYGROUND SUPERVISORS PLAN PAGEANT

traditions. It is of the present generation. As late of 1910 there were few buildings west of 48th avenue save the old landmarks of Morton Park, Warren Park, Grant Works and Clyde. A few restaurants and confectionaries at the corner of 48th catered to Western Electric employés.

Cicero well might be compared today with a nineteen year old youth looking only into the future—alert, up-to-the-minute, confident.

There are no old buildings to be torn down. There is no handicap of precedent. It is said that the community has no centering of great wealth; it is in the hands of the mass of toilers.

In 1914 a truck farm sold for $2,500 an acre. In the forty-acre tract was the corner at 64th avenue and 22nd street. Today, the corner, alone, is said to be worth more than the price paid for the entire tract.

Always there has been the C. B. & Q. Later came the extensions of the elevated and the continuance of the surface lines to Lyons and La Grange.

It's Town of Newcomers.

Cicero is made up of newcomers. The business houses along 22d street reflect their tastes. The window displays show the last word in furniture, the latest make in cars, the final creations in dress. Loud speakers lend music from radio shop doorways. Green enameled kitchen ware, electric refrigeration—all the contrivances of the modern era greet the eye. The store buildings are new. And close by many of these new age inventions are being manufactured—everything from electric washing machines to instruments devised at the Western Electric that are used for "the talkies."

Yesterday, prairie; today, fifth in population of the towns of the state.

Cicero, N. Y.—the town which furnished the inspiration for the Chicago suburb's name? Well, the latest census gave the number of its inhabitants as fewer than 500.

West Side Dollar Sale Ad Manager Appointed

T. J. Prodie of Baer Brothers & Prodie clothing store at Madison street and Crawford avenue, was named last week as advertising manager of the Madison-Crawford merchants' three cooperative dollar day sales to be held Aug. 15, 16 and 17. Louis Marshak and Thomas R. Heaney are members of the advertising committee. More than 100 merchants are expected to participate in the sale.

URGE SOUTHWEST SECTION ACT TO BOOST BUSINESS

C. of C. Gives Advice to 26th St. Merchants.

JOSEPH KLICKA.
[Gibson Photo.]

The first of a series of bulletins to merchants on 26th street in the neighborhood of Crawford avenue suggesting ways to improve business in the district was issued last week by Joseph Klicka, president of the Southwest Chamber of Commerce.

Seven suggestions for improving the 26th street shopping district were contained in the bulletin. They are as follows:

1. Keep the lights burning in your windows until at least 11 o'clock every evening, even on the days when you close your store at 6 o'clock.

2. Do not park your cars in front of your stores. This includes the professional men who have offices on the street. Park your cars on the side streets or in the alleys where there is plenty of room. Leave the space open in front of your stores for your customers.

Would Widen Street.

3. Support the widening of 26th street by taking off 34 feet from the north side of the street at Albany avenue to eliminate the jog; at Sacramento avenue, and further east. (The proposed improvement is out of the business district, but, if completed, would make the shopping section more accessible, according to officials of the chamber.)

4. The windows need many improvements. It is our opinion that in planning an effective window trim, we should follow the example of the chain stores. Much can be learned from their methods, since they employ experts to do the work.

5. The bus service bringing shoppers into the district from the western suburbs at the expense of the merchants has already carried more than 15,000 passengers from Cicero, Berwyn, Stickley, Riverside, and Lyons since last spring. The business men must support these buses, or they will be discontinued.

Urges Advertising and Cleaning.

6. Advertise. We believe that circulars, newspaper advertising, and electric signs are the best forms of advertising for most businesses in this community.

7. To the landlords: clean, wash, paint, sandblast, tuck-point, or remodel your buildings. If you want to rent them, keep your buildings in good repair and in good appearance.

Other officers of the chamber are: vice-presidents, Norbert F. Kochka, James F. Klicka, Charles Klicka, Edward R. Novak, and Roderick A. Ginsberg; secretary, Jack L. Frank; and treasurer, Joseph J. Janda.

Club Gives Garden Party.

Oak Park Playground Board Gives Street Dance

The fourth annual street dance given under the auspices of the playground board of Oak Park took place last night at Eugene Field recreation center, Woodbine avenue and Division street, Oak Park. Music was provided by the "Melodeons," directed by Harry Vierow. The director of the Field playground is Joseph Hubata.

Austin Summer School Will Give 46 Diplomas

Forty-six students attending the summer classes at Austin High school will be graduated at the end of the course, the office of the school announced yesterday. There are 1,100 students enrolled this summer. The principal of the school is Wilbur H. Wright.

Church Society to Hold Picnic at Riverside

The fourth annual picnic given by the Holy Name society of Our Lady Help of Christians church is to be held at Bergman's grove, Riverside, on Sunday, Aug. 4. There will be accommodations for about 2,000 people. All arrangements for the event have already been made.

OPEN FINAL DRIVE TO RAISE TRACKS ACROSS 26TH ST.

Crawford Group Will Ask Police to Halt Trains.

A final drive to obtain elevation of the Chicago and Western Indiana tracks across 26th street at Kanton avenue will be launched this week by the Crawford Business Men's league. The organization, which has been fighting for elevation of the tracks for more than a year, will adopt a resolution next Friday night to seek a support of other west side civic groups in behalf of the improvement. This announcement was made yesterday by Edward F. Toepper, secretary of the Crawford league, and head of the civic committee.

When the city council reconvenes in September, the Crawford business men plan to send a committee of west side civic leaders to the city hall to demand immediate action on the matter. The committee, which will be headed by Ald. John Toman [23d], will ask that the council committee on track elevation force the railroad to elevate its tracks by employing the city's police power to halt train service until the work is begun.

Ask Civic Groups' Aid.

The business men will seek the active support of the West Town Chamber of Commerce, an organization including civic groups from all parts of the west side, and the Crawford Civic league which includes 1,500 property owners in the district immediately affected by the track elevation. Frank P. Taubeler, president of the civic league, has indicated that his organization, representing a large group of taxpayers will help in obtaining the improvement, according to Mr. Toepper. Officials of the chamber of commerce, already on record favoring the elevation, will be prepared to engage in an active campaign for its completion in fall, Mr. Toepper said.

Ald. John Toman recently expressed the opinion that the city would be justified in holding up train service on the tracks on the ground that a grade crossing on 26th street, a busy thoroughfare, is a public nuisance.

Long Traffic Delays.

"Traffic is often delayed more than half an hour while trains of more than 75 freight cars are temporarily parked on the tracks," Mr. Toepper said. "Twenty-sixth street is an extremely busy artery leading into the city from the west and traffic should not be held up for such long periods. It would be much more desirable as a gateway to Chicago if the grade crossing were removed and traffic were not delayed.

Want Car Line Extension.

Another reason business men in the neighborhood of Crawford avenue and 26th street are anxious to obtain the improvement is that they have long wanted an extension of the 26th street car line west to Cicero avenue. The extension, looked upon as a boon to business, cannot be made until the railroad crossing is removed, according to Mr. Toepper.

The Chicago, Burlington and Quincy railroad operates trains on a grade crossing immediately west of the Chicago and Western Indiana tracks, but has indicated that it will elevate its tracks as soon as the latter railroad eliminates its crossing, Ald. Toman said yesterday.

The Chicago and Western Indiana has been asked to elevate the tracks repeatedly during the last few years, but each time has offered the excuse that no funds are available, according to the alderman.

Plan to Remodel Old Aurora Postoffice

Because of the great increase in business done at the Aurora postoffice the building will be remodeled to relieve the rush until a new building is erected. Although plans are being made for removal of the various departments from the old building the alterations are essential, according to Postmaster J. E. Harley. Also, he said, the improvements will make the building more desirable for the next tenant.

Irving Playground Children Hold Parade

Children of the Irving playground, 35th street and Kenilworth avenue, Berwyn, staged a parade last Friday night through the thoroughfares adjacent to their recreation center. About 40 youngsters participated. Similar events are being held from time to time at other playgrounds in Berwyn.

CHURCHES BEGIN NOVENA IN HONOR OF SAINT ANNE

Novenas in honor of St. Anne began last week in several churches throughout the city. At Our Lady of Sorrows church, Jackson boulevard and Albany avenue, the devotions commenced Wednesday. Blessing of the sick with a relic of the saint takes place each afternoon during the novena at 3 o'clock.

The services at Notre Dame church, 1335 West Harrison street, also began on Wednesday and will end next Friday. The church is conducted by the Fathers of the Blessed Sacrament. Another west side church where the novena is in progress is Holy Ghost church, Kildare avenue, and Adams street. The services here started on Thursday. Two devotions are held each day, the first immediately following the 8 o'clock mass each morning, and the second at 7:45 o'clock each evening.

A novena in honor of the same saint is being held at Mary Queen of Heaven church, 53d avenue and West 24th place, Cicero. The first services were held Wednesday.

MERCHANTS OPEN ATTACK AGAINST NEW TAXI STAND

Ask Council to Ban Cabs at Cicero and Madison.

Merchants at Madison street and Cicero avenue who are objecting to the presence of a Checker cab stand recently opened at 3 North Cicero avenue this week will appeal to Ald. John S. Clark [30th] to prevail on the city council to defeat an ordinance legalizing the station. The ordinance was recently favorably voted out of the finance committee and will be taken up by the council when it reconvenes in the fall.

Business men and women of the district object to the cab stand on the ground that cabs parked along the east side of Cicero avenue in front of their stores interfere with business. As many as seven and eight cabs are parked there at various hours during the day, they charge, leaving no place for customers.

Says Business Injured.

E. M. Yount, a dry goods merchant at 11 North Cicero avenue, said yesterday that his business has been injured by the presence of cabs in front of his store.

"Rent payers should have the parking facilities for customers in front of their stores," he said, "and the cab company is taking that privilege away from them. There are almost always some cabs parked in front of stores along the street, leaving no space for shoppers."

"The Checker cabs must stay away from my place," said Miss Betty Pyne, confectioner at 19 North Cicero avenue. "They must not be permitted to injure my trade by taking up all the parking space."

Miss Pyne was recently successful in forcing a cab driver who was cleaning his car in front of her store to move and leave the curb unoccupied. The driver moved away only after an argument, she said, and she intends to seek help from the police if other drivers insist on parking in front of her shop.

The Becker cleaning establishment at 1 North Cicero avenue has complained that often its truck has been forced to park elsewhere because cabs occupied the entire space in front of the store.

Lessens Burglary Hazards.

"Business men on the street pay high rent and are entitled to use of the curb," said Willis O. Bliss of G. W. Drollinger, real estate concern, at 4753 West Madison street.

"The cabs have a right to park only in front of the one store rented by the Checker cab company," he said, "but they are parked all along the street and are interfering with other people's rights."

Harold Kahn, proprietor of a dress shop at 7 North Cicero avenue, said, however, that he has no complaint to make, principally because the presence of cabs in front of his store lessens the burglary hazard. The drivers move when asked to do so, he said.

The proprietor of the Washington restaurant, 3 North Cicero avenue, said his business is not injured by the presence of cabs.

GIRL SCOUTS OF ELMHURST HOLD FIRST FIELD DAY

At the call of the bugle more than one hundred Girl Scouts of Elmhurst marched in review before a delegation of American Legion men at their first field meet recently. It was the first time the five troops of Elmhurst had assembled together. The most touching moment came when the girls sang for Mrs. John Marshall, their commissioner, and gave her a Thanks pin in token of their appreciation for all she has made possible for them.

Then came the games. There was much happy rivalry and enthusiasm among the girls. The chariot race won by far the most applause. Then followed knot tying events and balloon races. Supper was next, and all over Wilder park the Girl Scouts were seated, enjoying their box lunches.

From 6:30 to 7 o'clock the American Legion band gave a fine concert.

At 7 o'clock the Scouts presented three plays. The last play, that of the Sunflower troop, was an inspiration for the girls to keep on with scouting.

Mrs. Marshall then presented the Luessenhop trophy to the winning troop, the Cardinals, troop 1 of South Elmhurst, which had piled up 45 points during the day's events.

BUSINESS HEAD OF ELMHURST COLLEGE WEDS

The Rev. Robert G. Leonhardt of Elmhurst college, Elmhurst, and Miss Hildegard Buege, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gustav Buege of Milwaukee, were married Saturday.

The ceremony was performed at Friedens Evangelical parsonage, Milwaukee, at 5 o'clock, the Rev. William Schlink, pastor, officiating.

The bride was an instructress at Milwaukee-Downer college, Milwaukee, prior to her marriage. Mr. Leonhardt, a graduate of Elmhurst college, is business manager of that institution, having held that position for eight years.

Mr. and Mrs. Leonhardt will make their home at 146 Hawthorne avenue, Elmhurst.

Philip Burke, O. S. M., who is now stationed at Our Lady of Sorrows. The pastor of St. Domitilla's church is the Rev. Ambrose Griffin, O. S. M.

Aims Include Defeat of Superhighway.

The West Side Through Streets association was formed Tuesday by a small group of west side merchants and property holders who declare themselves to be seeking further development of the district by establishing a comprehensive system of traffic arteries.

According to a member of the executive committee, one of the main objectives of the new association will be the defeat of the west park commissioners' plan to construct an elevated highway from the Chicago river to Austin boulevard.

Three Other Objectives.

In addition to opposing the superhighway, the association will attempt to obtain the following:

1. Establishment of more north and south and east and west through streets on the west side.

2. Establishment of a series of one way streets running from the city limits on the west to the loop.

3. Bringing pressure to bear on city officials to keep west side streets in repair.

The association will be supported by men who recently opposed the bill for referendum on the project at Springfield, the committee members indicated. The measure was approved almost unanimously by both houses of the state legislature, however.

Mark Shanks Heads Group.

Mark Shanks, director of the West Town Chamber of Commerce and former president of the Midwest Athletic club, was elected president of the new organization. John Usher Smyth, also a director of the chamber and a real estate dealer, is vice president. Walter P. Powers, restaurant proprietor, 3950 West Madison street, is secretary and treasurer.

The executive committee includes the officers and W. A. Lewis, R. H. Buckland, M. J. Flynn, and G. P. Madigan. More members are to be added after the next meeting, the date of which has not yet been announced.

The Through Streets association plans to establish a permanent office in the neighborhood of Madison street and Crawford avenue, according to the officers, and soon will begin work. Manuel Goldberger, editor of the Northwest Ledger, has been named executive secretary of the association.

Aurora Officials to Talk Over Play Center Plans

The city council of Aurora will meet with the members of the playground commission of the city next Wednesday to talk over plans for sites for new recreation centers. The meeting was decided upon last week.

ASK SIGN AT LARAMIE AND NORTH AVENUES TO CUT TRAFFIC PERIL

Danger to motorists and pedestrians at the intersection of Laramie and North avenues resulting from the absence of adequate warning signals shortly will be eliminated if efforts on the part of the North Austin Social and Betterment club to obtain immediate action by the city are successful.

Henry A. Kindt, vice president of the club, recently appealed to Ald. J. H. Taylor [37th] for a through-street sign at the northeast corner of the intersection, and the alderman said yesterday the matter has been placed in the hands of the department of gas and electricity. The department has promised to install the light as soon as funds are available, Ald. Taylor said, and installation is expected within a few weeks.

An unusual condition is presented at this corner, Mr. Kindt pointed out. Laramie avenue is a through street south of North avenue, but since it extends only one block north in that district, it is not a through street north of the car line. There is a through street warning only at the southwest corner and none at the northeast corner to stop west bound traffic. The one light does not serve to stop traffic going either way, Mr. Kindt said.

THREE "FELLOW" MEMBERS TO BE NAMED TO C. OF C.

The directors of the Elmhurst Chamber of Commerce Monday made arrangements for the addition of three "fellow members" taken from the non-business group. Six candidates will be presented and voted on by mail, the three highest winning office.

The monthly evening meeting at which fellow members will be honored, will be held tomorrow. Robert E. Kingery, secretary of the committee of 37 in charge of planning metropolitan roads, and E. L. Gates, county engineer of Du Page county, will speak.

A committee on highways was appointed at the last meeting of the board, with Mayor Balgemann as chairman and Martin Hammerschmidt and William J. Reinhold, members.

OAK PARK, CICERO, BERWYN, FOREST PARK AND VILLAGE SUBURBS HAVE FREE PHONE SERVICE TO CHICAGO AVE. ORDER DEPT.

A new service for Chicago's great West Side—

CHICAGO TRIBUNE ADVERTISING and PUBLIC SERVICE OFFICE

4152 West Madison Street

Open daily and Sunday 8 A. M. to Midnight

INVITATION is extended to the merchants and people of Chicago's great West Side to make full use of the Tribune's new Advertising and Public Service Office. Here you will find a staff trained in advertising and public service.

The Tribune in 1923 established its first Public Service Office. Success was marked. Thousands of requests are made daily in person and thousands by mail. Last year alone over a million items of service were handled.

Requests for Tribune service have increased heavily each year. Several times quarters have been enlarged. Now in answer to the need for even greater service the Tribune has opened a second Advertising and Public Service Office at 4152 West Madison Street. Here in modern, comfortable surroundings an experienced, courteous staff stands ready to help you.

In this conveniently located new office you may secure help in planning tours, in locating the right school for your children, in obtaining maps, directories, and hunting or fishing licenses.

Want ads and answers to them can be placed here. Items of news interest are accepted at this office and forwarded to the editorial departments of the Tribune for publication. Merchants planning to use the Metropolitan Section of the Sunday Tribune will find counsel and data.

Other services available at this new office are ticket reservations, subscriptions to the Tribune and Liberty Weekly, back files of the Tribune, street guides, time tables and Tribune booklets. Be sure to take advantage of the convenient service of this new office.

THE WORLD'S GREATEST NEWSPAPER

PIONEER RADIO STATIONS WILL MOVE THEIR SETS

KDKA and KYW Granted Construction Permits.

Final approval was given by the federal radio commisison recently for the removal of the transmitter of the world's oldest broadcasting station, KDKA, from East Pittsburgh, where it was first opened in November, 1920, to Saxonburg, in Butler county, 22 miles northeast of Pittsburgh.

At the same time authorization was granted to move the transmitter of station KYW from Congress hotel in the downtown section of Chicago to Addison, Ill., 23 miles west of the city. Both stations are owned by the Westinghouse company. Like KDKA, station KYW is a pioneer, having opened on Armistice day, 1921, and is the fifth oldest station in the United States.

According to Walter C. Evans, superintendent of radio operations of the Westinghouse company at Pittsburgh, both stations will have brand new equipment designed especially for these stations, which should mean a good deal in the way of general reception to the listeners of the country.

Giant Tubes in Use.

A newly designed 100,000 watt tube, about 7 feet in height will supply the power for KDKA, while a 50,000 watt tube will be used for KYW. This will mean that though KDKA will use 50,000 watts, the highest power authorized by the radio commission, it will be necessary to operate the great new tube at half power. At present 5 smaller tubes are doing the work at KDKA. Station KYW has been granted a construction permit for 50,000 which explains the large tube for that transmitter.

The transmitters are being removed from East Pittsburgh and downtown Chicago for entirely different reasons. In the case of the former, it is the hope that the element of fading may be reduced. This condition is believed to be caused by the semi-mountainous country in which KDKA is now located.

Out of Steel Area.

The transmitter of KYW is being moved primarily to get away from the steel area of the congested portion of the city, where the steel in the tall buildings absorbs the strength of the radio waves.

The removal of such a historic station as KDKA marks another era of broadcasting in this country. Although a temporary experimental license was granted the station Oct. 22, 1920, the first issued by the United States government, it was not until Nov. 2 that the Westinghouse company inaugurated the first general broadcasting from station KDKA, when it broadcast the returns of the Harding-Cox presidential election.

Its short wave achievements have been particularly notable. As early as [illegible] it succeeded in transmitting a program to Great Britain and early in the next year one of its programs was relayed from London and heard clearly in Calcutta, India.

Inside the Loud Speaker

BY QUIN RYAN.

Conditions are pretty tough at present among the musicians. Of the theater musicians in the Chicago branch of the union, approximately 60 per cent are cut of work, due to the talking pictures. Of the whole brotherhood in Chicago—dance hall musicians, café instrumentalists, brass band players and small jobbers—there are about 2,000 out of employment.

A YOUNG MAN, Bill Carlson, a native of Ironwood, Mich., and a student at the University of Michigan, has just returned from a sojourn of fourteen months with the Hobbs geological expedition in Greenland. He writes to us about radio reception up there:

"Dear Mr. Ryan—When we went into the hinterland, a hundred miles over mountains from our nearest neighbors, a small colony of Eskimos, we were left entirely without any means of communication aside from our radio apparatus. We were entirely dependent upon our radio equipment for any emergency call we might have to make, and we relied solely upon our receiver for our entertainment.

"I must tell you that we had a wonderful news service by tuning you in at one in the morning, or ten o'clock, your time. Throughout the months preceding the presidential election last fall we were able to follow the activities of the contending parties.

"I remember election night especially, when we could hear you giving the election returns from THE TRIBUNE office. We listened to you all night that night, and we could hear the applause when the results were announced in the Chicago hotel between dance numbers.

"On Christmas day we sat down to a meal of real stuffed ptarmigan, mashed potatoes, cranberry sauce, pumpkin pie, peas, cheese, cigars and coffee, with a real program from W-G-N that made us feel as though we were at home. And on New Year's eve, imagine the contrast between our surroundings and the revelry we could hear down there where Coon Sanders' orchestra was playing. We became so enthused over the W-G-N program that we forgot all about the time, and the new year was a half hour old in Chicago before we realized it!

"Being a Michigan man and extremely interested in football—I was a track man at Ann Arbor—I followed you every Saturday in your football games from the different places in the Big Ten. Boy, how we used to yell, as we could hear the crowds whooping during those tense moments in the big games. . . . The long Arctic night, the monotony of the silences and the raging blizzards, those bugbears of the older days no longer hold the northern explorer in their grip. Radio has changed all this, and today the well-equipped expeditioner keeps in touch with the outer world."

JUST TO COOL OFF this morning, let's have another radio horse race. Ho, here's the bugle call already, paging the two horses in our race. Say, there's a thrill in that "Boots and Saddles" call, isn't there? Nice looking hosses in this race—Mr. Pickwick and Jasper B. Here they come now.

Mr. Pickwick is going to have the rail, with Jockey Jimmy Corcoran up. Jockey Pete Sampson is riding Jasper B. . . . Good day today, and a fast track. The fine weather has brought out a big crowd; the boxes in the club house are well filled today. . . . There's a stiff wind blowing from the left, which means the steeds will have it at their backs on the home stretch. . . . Out in the parade ground the flags are whipped by the wind until they stand straight out. . . . Look down the front of the brandstand here . . . that's quite a crowd! There doesn't seem to be a favorite, between these two—Mr. Pickwick and Jasper B. . . . Well, the horses are leaving the paddock now, and the fans, too. Here they come, out on the track, the lead horse and Mr. Pickwick and Jasper B.—the silken red shirt of Corcoran and the white and green shirt of Sampson billow away from their backs . . . their feet perched high and their knees crowded up to their chins.

THEY'RE OFF!

Jasper B. was standing in the middle of the track and leaped into a good start—and he's loping down here a length ahead of Pickwick, on the rail. . . . He's stepping faster ahead, and here they come toward us, flying with the wind. . . . They're clumping past us, and Jasper's a length and a half in the lead. . . . There they go rocking around the first turn. . . . Jasper has crept over to the rail on the curve and the jockies are beating them on. of Pickwick. . . . They're sliding along the fence, making the semi-circle and they look like rocking horses. . . . JASPER LEADING BY MORE THAN A LENGTH AT THE QUARTER POST! . . . Now they're swerving into the back stretch and tney run headlong into the stiff wind. . . . They're slowing up a little, and the jockies are beating them on. . . . Pickwick is inching up now, plowing into the wind—closer—and closer—and closer—Jasper is only a length ahead. They're sweeping along the back stretch. . . . Jasper B. is leading Mr. Pickwick by a full length at the half distance. . . . Jockeys' heads are ducked behind the horses' heads. . . . They're coming to the turn now, and Jasper looks to be tiring. . . . Pickwick is gaining as they hit the bend. . . .

Here they come around the curve. . . . Pickwick is picking up and he's a half length behind as they steer into the home alley. . . . Gee, now watch this finish!

At three quarters, Pickwick is a neck behind Jasper. . . . The folks on the lawn are jumping into the air. . . . Both horses have the wind with them now, and they're a neck apart. . . . Jasper has had the lead since the start and he's fighting madly to keep a neck ahead. . . . Look at them come! . . . Here they are, right out here! . . . The jockeys seem to be riding in the air. . . . Jasper a neck ahead. . . . They're coming to the line. . . . OOOP, Jesper B. beats Mr. Pickwick by a neck!

VICTOR YOUNG, VIOLIN VIRTUOSO, COMES TO W-G-N

Victor Young, violin virtuoso and conductor, has come to W-G-N, THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE station on the Drake hotel, to join the forces of Jean Goldkette's dance orchestra. He comes to radio from the position of assistant musical director of Balaban & Katz movie theaters.

Young is among the foremost American orchestrators, transcribers and paraphrasers and his work is expected to open an entirely new realm of possibilities for Goldkette and his orchestra.

There is a striking similarity between the life of Victor Young and the biography of Leon Kantor, the little music master in the movie "Humoresque." There is that same triumph of genius over poverty and discouragement. At the age of 10, Young left the impoverished home of his family on Chicago's near west side. The boy's grandfather, a tailor of Warsaw, invited him to Europe. He studied and his talent was discovered. Yarsembsky, Lotto, Barcevicz, and Statkovsky—all the master musicians of Poland—became interested in him.

During the war, Young was caught in the midst of the Russian revolution, and, being a musician, was thrown into prison. The boy spent years in one prison or another. Not until after the war did he finally escape to American shores.

Four Recreation Centers Opened in Oak Pk. in Year

The annual report of the playground board of Oak Park was made public last week. It contains an account of the completion of the four recreational centers during the year 1928 and the various activities under the supervision of the board. Dr. Harry J. Stewart is chairman of the board and the other members are: Commissioners, James J. Maloney and William J. Watts; secretary, Dudley G. Meyers; and director of playgrounds, Miss Josephine Blackstock.

THIS SHOWS WHY RADIO ENGINEERS GET GRAY HAIR

CINCINNATI, O.—Lightning struck the 50,000 watt transmitter of WLW seven times in one hour during a recent electrical storm.

The station was off the air only one and three-fifths minutes because of the hits. Quick action on the part of the transmitter engineers kept it from losing more time.

One man stood by the main contactor to close it when it went out. Another stood by the time delay relays to force them into position each time the lightning discharge knocked the transmitter off the air. Since the rotating machinery was not allowed to come to a stop, no damage was done by "rushing" the time delay relays.

Exam for Teachers Held.

Examinations for teachers of country schools in Kane county were held in Geneva, Ill., last Thursday and Friday. The county superintendent of schools is E. M. Harris.

WORLD PROGRAMS SOON WILL BE REBROADCAST

Special Events Only Will Go on Air.

Citing the successful transmission of the king's thanksgiving services from London to Australia and the United States as an example of progress, C. W. Horn, newly appointed general engineer of the N. B. C., declared that the day was in sight when we would be rebroadcasting programs all around the world. Mr. Horn, who has just made a trip to Europe, said that our introduction to this era would be through the broadcasting of special events, rather than by the regular exchange of programs.

Taking the case of England, for example, he pointed out an obstacle to the exchange is the five-hour difference in time between here and there. For instance, they would be interested in our sporting events, notably prize fights. If we broadcast a fight at 10 or 11 o'clock at night, as is usually done, it would be received in England between 3 and 4 o'clock in the morning, which would naturally prove quite a drawback. As things stand now it is mechanically possible to rebroadcast a great European event in this country.

Must Pay License Fee.

As for the routine programs, after the novelty wore off, there would be the question of how much the English, or those of another nation, might care for our programs, or we for theirs.

Mr. Horn said the European broadcasting systems, as compared with ours, represented a difference between rigidly controlled government ownership there and a highly competitive system here. There the public is given what the government thinks it should have and here the listening audience receives what it demands. There they must pay a license fee but here no charge is made for listening and it is altogether a good will proposition.

"Monotony is the enemy of radio," Mr. Horn said, "and if I made any criticism of European programs, I would say it is their monotony. They will have solid hours of heavy musical programs, heavy lectures or educational talks. However, they have their hours for dance and lighter music.

Different Temperaments.

"It is not fair to them or to ourselves to say which countries have the best programs because that would involve a difference in the temperaments of the nations. But here I will say that the European transmission is good, but their receiving sets are not up to our standards. This is due to the low purchasing power of some of the countries. New sets are not purchased as frequently as they are here and many litseners still use earphones.

"Another disadvantage is the variation of the wave bands. They have about what we have here but they go as high as 1,600 meters, with a commercial band in between. Thus it really requires two sets to cover this wide range."

U. S. Signal Corps' Station Is Farthest North in N. A.

The signal corps radio station at Point Barrow, Alaska, is the farthest north radio station on the North American continent. In June, 1928, the secretary of war directed the signal corps to connect Point Barrow, a remote settlement on the Bering sea, with "the outside." In just 51 hours after the order was given a radio station was functioning at Point Barrow and communication established with Seward, 800 miles distant. Private Richard Heyser, radio operator, and his station equipment were flown by commercial plane 500 miles from Fairbanks to Point Barrow.

JEAN GOLDKETTE . . . .

Jean Goldkette is the big man in American music. He has molded the crisp spirit of American life into music. He held to no tradition; not even to the tradition that "jazz" must be raucous and discordant. New standards have been set, and Goldkette is the only dance music master able to play up to them. Jean Goldkette and his W-G-N Dance Orchestra have startled the world with the new music. When programs end, listeners wire impatiently for more. Victor Young's orchestrations are modern to the highest degree. Each man is skilled and enthusiastic. That's what makes this big band with the big name. 1:30, 2:25, 11:15.

PATRICIA ANNE . . .

It's gonna be a swell party. Patricia Anne Manners, the little soprano you heard in the Student Prince will be in the middle of it. She'll put over this show the same way she floored the dial twirlers in Los Angeles. Not that she needs assistance, but the Symphony Orchestra, a hot harmony trio and a violin choir all offer Mlle. Manners their best for a big background. The Symphony Orchestra livens and quickens to a new wiggle of Gaston du Moulin's baton. The trio is so hot it's dangerous on anything but the Therm-O-Proof program. The violin choir consists of four real fiddlers. They're the Therm-O-Proof Entertainers, 7:45.

WEST SIDE GIRLS ATTEND Y. W. C. A. MICHIGAN CAMP

Three Summer Outing Places Provided.

As the summer season advances increased activity is noticeable in the headquarters of the Central branch of the Young Women's Christian association at 59 East Monroe street. A continuous stream of young women and girls may be seen at practically any hour of the day going in and out of the offices where they register for one of the Y. W. C. A. summer camps which are operated in wooded districts not far from Chicago.

On the shores of the Fox river near Plano, Ill., stands an old vine covered mill. A relic of a picturesque past, it was abandoned some years ago by its owner and purchased in 1920 by the Y. W. C. A., which founded a camp for younger girls now called Millhurst. Rowing and swimming in the Fox river, tennis, baseball, volley ball, and hikes are included in the outdoor activities available for every girl at the camp in addition to a library filled with books and a large fireplace over which marshmallows may be toasted on rainy days when the campers prefer a cozy fireside to the drenched ground and trees.

One Camp in Michigan.

The other two camps operated by the Y. W. C. A. are Forest Beach at New Buffalo, Mich., for business and professional girls and the Forest Preserve camp for industrial girls at Glenview, Ill. The camp in the forest preserve is an old farmhouse which has been remodeled into a recreation spot.

Forest Beach is located on a high dune overlooking a wide beach and Lake Michigan. Here Hoover Hall, the recreation house with its open fireplace, bookshelves, piano, and wide, inviting porches, is surrounded by a group of 25 cottages. One hundred and fifty-two girls may be accommodated at this camp, and, while many spend only a week in these surroundings, others live the camp life for four and five weeks, providing there is no waiting list of other girls begging for entrance to the camp.

Thus Chicago business girls are provided with a delightful and healthful vacation at a minimum cost, probably less than their living expenses in Chicago. The three camps were opened June 26 and will close early in September. Large numbers have already spent their vacation at camp.

West Side Girls Register.

Business girls residing on the west side of metropolitan Chicago who have registered for Forest Beach for the next two weeks include the following:

Miss Beatrice Terpercer, Cicero; Miss Julia Lichten, 3950 Jackson boulevard; Miss Marge Artabasy, Downers Grove; Miss Florence Baldwin, 4211 Wilcox street; Miss Tybe Browdy, 3702 Division street; Miss Clara Buckley, 3059 North Kolmar avenue; Miss Bessie Celeda, 5339 West 24th street; Miss Viola E. Women's Federation Holds Meeting at Elmhurst

The annual all-day meeting of the summer session of the Chicago Women's federation, a church club consisting of twenty Chicago churches of the Evangelical Synod of North America, was held Tuesday at Elmhurst college. The membership is composed of more than 500 women. Mrs. Jacob Pister of Chicago is president. More than 250 attended the meeting.

Trinity High School's Summer Classes Close

Summer classes for high school girls at Trinity High school, Lathrop avenue and Division street, River Forest, closed Saturday, July 13. A large enrollment took the six weeks' course of study. Latin, Greek, history, English, French and mathematics were offered. Classes were held six days a week from 9 to 12 o'clock.

"Pals," by Bert Kruell, 4142 North Avers avenue, this week won the first prize of $5 in The Tribune's play picture contest for amateur photographers of the west side. The picture (upper left) shows Betty and Lou. Mrs. Lee Dahl, 642 South 20th avenue, Maywood, won the second prize of $3 with a picture of Dick and Lee Jr. in their bathing suits. The third prize of $2 went to Mildred C. Frye, 225 North Plum Grove avenue, Palatine. Her picture shows Raymond and Charles Cook, twins, and Junior Herrman enjoying an automobile tire swing.

NEW CLUB LAYS PLANS TO BOOST NORTH AUSTIN

Judge John P. McGoorty of the Criminal court addressed a meeting of the Community Booster club at the Swedish cafe, 745 North Cicero avenue, last Wednesday noon. In his talk Judge McGoorty stressed the greatness of Chicago and its comparative youth. He also talked of the crime problem in the city. The speech lasted about half an hour. Preceding the judge's talk luncheon was served.

One of the features of the day was a huge loaf of rye bread prepared through the courtesy of J. Pfannes, a member of the club.

The meeting began with the singing of "America" and "Illinois." Piano music was furnished by Miss Ruth Persky.

Vision Busy Business Area.

The club was organized about two months ago to boost and improve the commercial and residential section radiating from the crossing of Chicago and Cicero avenues. Members of the club believe that the district is particularly well situated for development into a great commercial center. The membership includes manufacturers, professional men, jobbers, retailers and property owners, totalling about 200.

Luncheons of the organization are held every Wednesday with the object of fostering better acquaintance, education and good fellowship.

At present the club is negotiating with Walter Wright, secretary of the bureau of parks and playgrounds, for a recreation center for children west of Cicero avenue and south of Chicago avenue.

Seek Removal of Rail Yards.

Other activities of the organization include an attempt now being made to procure the removal of the Chicago & Northwestern railroad yards from the property bounded by Chicago avenue on the north, by the main line tracks on the south, by Crawford avenue on the east and by the line tracks on the west. Petitions have been circulated and some 200 names have been signed thus far. The club contends that the yards are a disturbing element to the peace of the community and a detriment to the residential and business property nearby.

ELMHURST PILOT FLIES 6,200 FT. IN ALTITUDE FLIGHT

Wednesday morning in spite of adverse weather conditions, Jack Stafford of Elmhurst, piloting his Eagle Rock ship and accompanied by Frank Fisher, attempted an altitude flight of 12,000 feet, intending to remain in the air until the gas supply was exhausted.

Taking off in the rain at 11:17 a. m., the ship reached an altitude of 1,000 feet over Elmhurst. At 12:14 at an altitude of 6,200 feet, the flyers hit dead air with strong down currents and for the next quarter of an hour were unable to gain altitude.

The landing was made at 12:38 o'clock at the Elmhurst airport.

600 Summer Pupils Con Books at Oak Park High

The summer registration at the Oak Park and River Forest High school, Oak Park, is about 600 students, according to a statement given out at the office of the school last week. Of this number about sixteen will be graduated at the conclusion of the course. The principal is R. N. Ketcham.

Jolly Twelve to Meet.

The next meeting of the Jolly Twelve club of Maywood will be held at the home of Mrs. J. Straus, 10 South 15th avenue. At the last meeting the bunco awards were won by Mrs. P. Peterson, Mrs. William Orr, Mrs. C. Cramer, and Mrs. I. Thies.

SCOUTS INSTALL KOSHER KITCHEN IN SUMMER CAMP

No longer will the orthodox Jewish parents of Chicago forbid their sons to attend the Boy Scout camps at Owasippe, Mich., because the religious duties of the youngsters will be overlooked. Directors of scouting in Chicago recently inaugurated at Owasippe the only kosher kitchen at any scout camp west of New York, and thereby made it possible for Jewish boys to carry out the 12th scout law, namely, "A scout is reverent."

More than fifty boys have been eating in the kosher dining room regularly this summer, and even a larger attendance is expected to eat at the table as the camping season progresses.

The food is prepared and served under the direction of a Jewish religious adviser, who also conducts services for Jewish youngsters at the various Owasippe camps.

2,500 CHILDREN MAKE MOST DF NEW PLAY SPOT

Children for blocks around Lake street and Kostner avenue, who last year did not have a playground in which to play, have already come to regard Tilton playground as the center of the neighborhood. At all hours of the day and evening, apparatus is in use, while the first ball game begins shortly after breakfast and the last one ends at nightfall.

Director C. A. Scott estimated a total attendance of 2,500 for a week, and included in that number about 2,000 boys and girls, some 300 older boys from the nearby factories who hurried to Tilton for a game of ball during their lunch hour, and the remainder watchful mothers who were on hand to see that their offspring enjoyed themselves with a minimum of mischief.

This is the first summer schedule of activities at Tilton, a playground recently taken over by the city's bureau of small parks and which has not been officially dedicated as yet. The ground, a 200 foot square, was at one time the site of the old Tilton school, condemned a few years ago, and since used informally as a play spot.

DRIVE ON SLUMS CALLED AID TO BETTER LIVING

Plan to Rout Near South Side Hovels.

That it is not necessary for slums to have any part in the life of a great city is the contention of Dr. Arnold H. Kegel, commissionor of health, who proposes to prove his theory by tearing down some four thousand condemned structures, including one room shacks as well as six and seven story flat buildings, the majority of which are situated on the south side of Chicago.

Dr. Kegel has spent the last three months making a survey of doubtful buildings together with a committee from the department of public welfare, fire department, board of survey and the Urban league, a south side social organization, which are cooperating with Dr. Kegel.

Avoid Previous Mistakes.

This new project has been based upon a study of former attempts to remedy the housing situation throughout the city, none of which have been successful. According to Dr. Kegel the previous failures have been due largely to a too complicated program.

"Formerly health commissioners have called in the landlords, the tenants, politicians, well-meaning social agencies and engineers, and have attempted to please them all," Dr. Kegel said. "This cannot be done. We are making our program as simple as possible. When the cooperating agencies working with me indicate that the house is a fire-trap, so poorly constructed that accidents frequently happen, such as a stair or ceiling caving in, and that it is a breeding place for disease, that is all we need to know. We prefer to do away with such a habitation before it does away with the lives of its inhabitants."

Many Suggest Own Building.

In many instances the tenants and landlords themselves suggest their buildings to Dr. Kegel for his approval or disapproval. Otherwise, the landlord and tenants must look out for themselves, the commissioner indicated. No individual has a moral right to rent such a hovel to others or to rent it for the use of himself and his family, he said.

Previously social agencies have insisted that better homes be provided for the persons who are put out of a condemned structure, saying that it is better to have only a hovel for a home than nothing, according to Dr. Kegel. Dr. Kegel has indicaed that such complications are not necessary to his project to improve housing conditions.

"All achievements have depended upon necessity," Dr. Kegel said, "and if there are no slums to live in, residents of the slums will exercise their ingenuity and ability to obtain an income necessary to pay for living quarters of a higher class. It is not necessary for the city or for social agencies to provide suitable living quarters. We will not take away their income or their household belongings. We will merely knock down their unsuitable home, making it necessary for them to search elsewhere for safer and more sanitary longings."

Program to Continue for Years.

Dr. Kegel does not plan to do away with the 4,000 condemned buildings in a day, a week, or a month. It will take years, according to his plans, and will probably continue indefinitely, since the process of deterioration will continue in the future as it has in the past, making it necessary to condemn certain structures in twenty-five years which today are entirely satisfactory as living quarters.

At present a second survey of all buildings condemned as unfit for human habitation is being made to determine the possibility of rehabilitation of any of the structures. Modern plumbing and adequitely thick floors and walls have already been installed where it was believed logical to do so. As soon as this survey is complete and any possible structures have been rebuilt or made safe and sanitary, those which it is impossible to save will be torn down. The work of tearing down these slum buildings will probably be started in the fall, Dr. Kegel said.

Although some of these condemned structures are situated on the near north and northwest sides of the city and around the tracks on the west side, the majority of them are in the near south side, extending out to 37th street, where foreign born residents are crowded in close quarters, in the stockyards and Maxwell street district, and many factories and intrict where many factories and industries have their headquarters.

SO. TOWN OPERA CLUB ORGANIZED; SEEK ROLL OF 500

The Civic Opera club of Southtown, the third such organization to be formed on the south side of Chicago, was formally organized on Monday night at a meeting in the home of Mrs. Charles S. Clark, 7130 Princeton avenue. William McDonnell was elected president.

Although only 160 persons signed up for membership in the club at this meeting, it is believed that by fall the club's quota of 500 members will be filled. Clubs already have been formed in Woodlawn and Beverly Hills. The Southtown club includes the districts of Englewood, Morgan Park, Auburn Park, Gresham, Clearing, Marquette Park, Chicago Lawn and Park Manor.

Miss Dema Harshbarger, president of the Civic Concert Service, Inc., which is sponsoring the opera clubs, was present at the meeting and explained the purpose of the club, which is to enable people to understand and enjoy opera. This club is one of a group throughout the city under the name of the Associated Civic Opera clubs.

W-G-N Stars to Open Trib's S. Side Office

The new TRIBUNE advertising and public service office at 1101 East 63d street will be formally opened to the public tomorrow morning. The occasion will be celebrated with radio stars from W-G-N, THE TRIBUNE station on the Drake hotel, furnishing entertainment between 3 and 9:30 p. m. Carnations will be given to visitors. A big get acquainted opportunity will be offered.

Offers Service at Loop Office.

All the facilities of THE TRIBUNE's downtown public service office, which last year answered more than a million inquiries, will be found at the new south side branch.

It may be that visitors are planning a vacation and desire road maps or travel data. They may be interested in selecting a hotel in which to reside or a school for their children. There may be a desire to insert an advertisement. Some one may wish to peruse back files of THE TRIBUNE. The south side office represents a desire on the part of THE TRIBUNE to bring its service closer to the people of Chicago.

These Radio Stars to Appear.

TRIANGLE BODY HEARS EXPERT ON RESTRICTION

Plans for restricting the South Woodlawn residential district were outlined by William G. Donne, restriction specialist who guided the restriction programs of Chatham Fields and Englewood, at a meeting of the Triangle Improvement association held recently at 7115 South Chicago avenue.

Mr. Donne suggested that a man be appointed to canvass each block in the district and advised that each canvasser accept signatures to the contracts under any conditions, although he said he felt sure that few persons would refuse to pay the $5 restriction fee.

Another speaker at the meeting was Adolph Kirbach, who spoke of the city's neglect of the south side, mentioning the sanitary district, which he said had spent millions of dollars for the north and west sides while neglecting the south side entirely. He suggested that all nonpolitical organizations interested in the development of the south side should form one large and strong organization which could adequately represent the needs of these individual groups.

Lawrence Ter Maat, president of the association, proposed that a large community dance and entertainment be sponsored in the vicinity of 71st street and Cottage Grove avenue by the Triangle Improvement association, and predicted that this corner will develop into a great business section. Members of the organization approved the community dance, which will be held in the fall.

Paragraphs About Some Folks You Know.

BY FRED PASLEY.

REGARDING the yearning of George Dignan Chase, Swift's popular transportation expert, for awnings, which we noted last week, W. P. Watson of 1514 West 72d place writes that "George didn't need to go to California to look for awnings, as all he would have had to do was to call on his friend, Ralph Latto, Armour's popular traffic man. Ralph having just had awnings put on his home in Beverly Hills, which are the last adjective in such. Ralph says so himself." That's what Zimmie said George said about his. We have assigned THE TRIBUNE's awning editor to investigate this matter.

Up and coming Hyde Parkers who like the radiant friendliness at the new I. C. Bank and Trust company have noticed lately the worried look on the face of the genial cashier, Samuel J. Aurelius. Sam is taking charge of the remodeling of the corner drug store, which space is being added to the bank's quarters, and says it is some job. Sam's kiddies have been taught to sing, "Oh, Father, Dear Father, Come Home to Us Now," and many a cold supper does he get at the Aurelius mansion, 74th street and Luella avenue.

Quiet reigns supreme in John Bain's king-pin bank, the Stony Island State Savings. George Dillon, assistant cashier, with James Ryan, chief payer, have departed from its busy activities for a two weeks' sojourn up in Montreal, where the percentages are figured in beverages, instead of notes and bonds. George resides at 1511 East 69th place and Jimmie at 7411 Indiana avenue.

RUTH BEHRENS of 7202 South Shore drive was the lucky ticket holder in the Jackson Park National bank's contest which closed a few days ago. Miss Behrens won a ticket for a seven day lake trip. And we are informed by a fellow townsman in whose word we put implicit faith that he was the guy that was blindfolded by the cashier and drew from many thousands the pasteboard that brought Miss Behrens joy.

Any woman who wants to hear the real news about how good a husband can be should call on Mrs. F. W. Steen at 3164 Lake Park avenue. During Mr. Steen's spare hours this summer he has completely decorated the house, from top to bottom and has done a job any professional would envy. F. W. can splash varnish and white lead with the best of 'em and has made his home a thing of beauty and a joy forever. But, of course, every tenant hasn't the landlord F. W.'s got. We understand he's the best landlord on the south side.

H. W. SMITH, who resides out in Blue Island, believes he has solved the toy problem for his little daughter, Betty. Horace went over to the Yards and bought a little woolly lamb for his girlie and such delight was never before witnessed in the Smith household. Horace is smart, too, for the sheep will keep the lawn trimmed and perhaps next fall will furnish some lamb chops when the Smiths have one of their periodical gatherings of the clan.

WE'VE been dreaming again of the Saint Joe Y, due to E. C. Zimmerman's poignant description in verse of the snacks served there. We published the first stanza last Sunday. Here are a couple more to whet your appetites:

The tourists gather there in crowds,
They drift down stairs in smiling clouds,
Edging on, with outstretched trays,
With eager hands the food to praise;
For rich nut bread, or even rye,
A patient line, within the Y.

To me there ain't no better dish,
Then gettin' there their sweet fried fish;
Some folks, true, would just as lief,
Shove out their trays for rich roast beef,
But one sure thing there'll none deny—
The food is great—at Saint Joe's Y.

Yes, we'll have to refuel at Saint Joe on the vacation trip.

THE REDEEMER EVOLVING INTO STUDENT PARISH

Church's Influence Strong at U. of C.

BY ONEY FRED SWEET.

[illegible] S. WHITE.

The Church of the Redeemer, 56th street and Blackstone avenue, more and more, has become a student parish. Two years ago, the diocese of Chicago which, previously, had maintained a student pastor on the campus of the University of Chicago, officially turned this work over to the Church of the Redeemer. Several faculty members belong to the congregation. The Anderson society —named after Bishop Anderson—is made up entirely of students from the university, four blocks away.

In the Rev. Edward S. White who took up his duties as rector the first of this month, the church has a leader who has had wide contact with college students and who is deeply interested in their religious, moral and ethical problems. The Rev. Mr. White has been teaching sociology and social work in summer schools for the last eight years. He is a member of the American Association of Social workers. He has returned to the city where he was himself a student.

Finds Faith as Student.

The influence of the Church of the Redeemer as a student parish was particularly emphasized recently when Dr. Bernard Iddings Bell, now warden of St. Stephen's church at Columbia College, N. Y., brought out in the first chapter of his book, Beyond Agnosticism, [religious book of the month club] that, as a University of Chicago student, it was at this south side parish that he first found his faith.

The Rev. Mr. White comes from a different field of endeavor—that of the Episcopal Church of the Holy Communion, St. Louis, where he spent the last ten years. Commenting on his departure, the St. Louis press said that, without ostentation, the young rector had performed unselfish labor that would long endure. To quote:

"In a neighborhood made up largely of tenements, he showed generous and helpful interest in the problems of the poor. He lived much of the time among them. Through his efforts a playground appeared, and then a community house. An outing camp in the country was obtained, and hundreds of mothers and children annually breathed the only fresh air they got during the year. There was milk and ice for the ailing, and other welfare work. A splendid chime of bells now rings from the church tower in a neighborhood where there is no other music."

Finds New Type of Parish.

A new type of parish confronts the Rev. Mr. White. It is of a sort which for him has great appeal. He succeeds Dr. John Henry Hopkins, who was rector of the Church of the Redeemer for nineteen years. Dr. Hopkins has retired to his old home in Vermont where his grandfather was a bishop in the church.

During the term of Dr. Hopkins, the Redeemer became commonly known as the "Men's church" of the diocese, because of the large interest and activity of the men of the parish. While he was rector, the splendid parish house was built. It contains accomodations for all of the parish organizations and a beautiful chapel, which is a memorial to Henry Stephen Hawley, for a long period a senior warden of the Redeemer. Dr. Hopkins was an accomplished musician before he was ordained, and his church, with three choirs, became famous for its music.

The parish choir of male voices is heard on Sunday mornings. Robert R. Birch is organist and choirmaster;

Mail Veteran Quits; to Keep Touch on Beat

A. Sidney Hayward, 71 years old, a postman for more than 52 years and the oldest carrier in the government service, sat eating his noonday lunch, as was his custom, at a restaurant just off 63d street on Cottage Grove avenue. He was musing over the fact that on July 30 he would make his last delivery out of the Jackson Park substation. Aug. 1 he would take his annual vacation, and his resignation would take effect on the 17th.

All this meant that shortly it would not be necessary to go back to the substation after lunch, nor show up there of a morning. He would be lifting the leather mail bag off his shoulders forever. He would have his hours to use as he saw fit. Years back, Mr. Hayward had been entitled to a pension, but he had chosen otherwise. Thrice he had been granted extensions. Now, he was going to leave the service.

What would he do? He didn't know. The south side, whose pavements he had pounded since a youth, held more ulre than any distant scene.

Felt Lure of Black Hills.

Once, back in the '70s, he had wanted to go and dig for gold in the Black hills. On leaving school—his family had lived in the neighborhood of 14th and State streets—he had worked for a time for the silk firm of Belden brothers. The establishment had been burned out in the great Chicago fire, and he had turned his attention to the plumbing trade. But plumbers, then, were only getting $2 a day and working twelve to fourteen hours a day.

His father had frowned upon the western adventure. Of stern Revolutionary stock, he had hunted gold himself and he felt that a job in the postoffice was far more practical for his son. So Sidney, on March 26, 1877, had started carrying mail from the station at 32d and State streets.

Downtown a While in '80s.

First he had carried other people's bills and love letters—whatever it was they wrote about—in the district between 31st and 35th streets and South Park avenue and the lake. During Cleveland's first administration he had been transferred down town. Then from Bowen avenue to 47th street and from Drexel boulevard to the lake. Since 1904, he had covered four blocks—the 1400 block on Marquette road, the 1400 block on 66th place, the 6600 block on Blackstone avenue, and the 6600 block on Dorchester avenue.

Always on the south side. There were folk who took the south side as it appeared today for granted.

The patrons on this last route he had held so long? He'd rather miss some of the faces. Maybe he'd take a trip occasionally, just on his own hook, to see how they were getting along. He took from his pocket a prized letter that had been written to him by some one on Blackstone avenue—one of the letters he had received among the millions adddressed to others.

"At our house we think you richly deserve the opportunity to take a rest. You have been most kind and accommodating under all conditions. Your letters have sometimes brought sadness, but it would be impossible to total the pleasure that you have delivered on your route."

Dreads Lack of a Task.

That was worth something—a letter like that. After all, it was the job and the way it was done that counted. He felt this fact strongly in looking back over the years and in facing the future.

Well, when he delivered those last letters on the last day, he would go to his room in the hotel at 1550 East 64th street and think over his plans.

He felt fine. He gave credit to the outdoors for that. Maybe if he'd worked in an office, he'd have "kicked off" long ago, or grown gray haired and really seemed like a man of 71.

No, he'd never had any trouble with people during his more than half century as a mail carrier. Nor had his tasks ever grown monotonous.

"Strange," he laughed. "I remember there was a fellow in the postoffice where I first went to work who remarked that he'd been there for five years. I hadn't the slightest idea I'd ever pass that record. Fifty-two years!"

SPROUL, WITH DRY SEAL, WINS IN WET DISTRICT

Canadian Product with League Label.

BY ARTHUR EVANS.

Congressman Elliott Wilford Sproul, who for the last nine years has represented the Third, or Englewood, district, is a native of Canada. But, unlike certain other Canadian products, he carries the blessing of the anti-Saloon league.

The congressman was born 73 years ago in Apohaqui, or Mouth of the Mill Stream, in King's county, New Brunswick, a hamlet 36 miles north of St. John. As a youth of 22 he came to the United States in 1878, and in 1884 became a naturalized citizen. He entered business as a building contractor in Chicago in 1880 and was president of a concern bearing his name until succeeded by his son some fifteen years ago. Mr. Sproul is rated as a man of considerable wealth—as the lads in politics phrase it, "well up in the bucks"—and he was a great friend and crony of the late Congressman Martin B. Madden, who at the time of his death, was accounted the most prominent member of the Illinois delegation in congress.

Began Career in Council.

Mr. Sproul derived his first political experience in the Chicago city council.

Some thirty years ago he was alderman from the old 31st ward, serving from 1897 to 1899, when he was succeeded by Ald. Henry F. Eidmann. Mr. Sproul was with the old Lorimer wing in the Town of Lake away back in the days before the Deneen-West group broke with the Lorimer organization. The old crowd, powerful in those days but now almost forgotten, had such leaders as Edwin J. Noble, who was an alderman and chief grain inspector under Gov. Tanner.

After William Hale Thompson became mayor in 1915, Mr. Sproul gravitated towards the Thompson organization. In 1920 he ran for delegate to the Republican national convention in Chicago with the backing of the late James Rea, former alderman and city purchasing agent, Charles A. Williams and Dr. William H. Reid, smoke inspector, who a few years before had beaten Mr. Deneen for Republican county committeeman from the old 31st ward. There was hostility between Gov. Lowden and the Thompson administration.

Beats Lowden Candidate.

In the April primaries in 1920, Mr. Sproul and Anton T. Zeman, who ran as "no choice" candidates beat Congressman William W. Wilson and William H. Weber, who were running as avowed Lowden delegates candidates, by some 5,000.

In the following September the Thompson leaders ran Mr. Sproul in the congressional primaries against Congressman William W. Wilson, a Deneen warhorse, who had been at Washington for sixteen years. It was a terrific battle, and Sproul won by 218 votes out of 42,000 cast. It was equivalent to election in November.

Mr. Sproul has been in congress ever since. At each primary his plurality has shown an increase. In the primaries in 1922 he defeated Frank P. Sadler by 6,393. In 1924 he beat Sadler by 8,245. In 1926, he defeated ex-Congressman Wilson by 8,840. In 1928 he beat C. J. Tietzel by 40,000. In the election itself last November, he was given a hard run by Henry P. Bergen, Democrat, who lost by 5,385 out of a total vote of 197,000. Two years before, in 1926, Sproul beat Edward J. Glackin, Democrat, by 6,102.

Dry in Wet Territory.

Congressman Sproul is a dry. The Third district itself at the time of the referendum on the beer and light wines question in 1922, voted wet by a majority of 48,272, and in the same election it returned Mr. Sproul, an avowed dry, to congress by 1,151 plurality. Last year in the October report of the anti-Saloon league, Congressman Sproul was the only Chicago congressman indorsed. Some of the other drys at that time were steering clear of an indorsement, deeming it a political incumbrance.

Mr. Sproul is a member of the Building Employers' association, the Associated Builders and Master Masons association.

OPEN CAMPAIGN FOR $200,000 TO FINISH HOSPITAL

A financial drive with $200,000 as its goal has been started in Beverly Hills by the Little Company of Mary, in order to complete the hospital now in process of construction at 95th street and California avenue.

The new hospital ultimately will have three units, the first of which is now being built. It will be equipped with every modern improvement in construction and furnishing known and approved by hospital planners, according to Mother Superior M. Stanislaus of the Little Company of Mary.

For more than thirty years members of this company have nursed the sick of Chicago in their homes, regardless of creed and circumstances, and their sisters, all of whom are graduate nurses, will assume charge of nursing in the new hospital.

Eugene J. Mooney Heads South Woodlawn C. of C.

Eugene J. Mooney was chosen president of the South Woodlawn Chamber of Commerce, formerly known as the Eighth Ward Business Men's association, at the annual election held recently. Other officers are: Milford F. Hankle, vice president; George Thorp, secretary; N. P. Miller, treasurer; and Carl J. Adams, P. J. Bassett, D. T. Cropp and W. W. Horcher, directors.

Mixed Choir in Evening.

The St. Cecelia choir of mixed voices sings Sunday evenings. Mr. Birch is director and organist; Miss Gertrude Pinkerton, crucifer; Mrs. C. H. Schoff, choirmother; Mrs. Charles H. Piatt, assistant.

The children's chorus is heard at the children's service. All three organizations are massed on special occasions.

The Brotherhood of St. Andrew, devoted to religious work among men and boys, is a most active organization. Among its members is Courtenay Barber, vice president of the national brotherhood. Malcolm Campbell Jr. is director of the Redeemer brotherhood; Paul T. Bruyere, vice director; William F. Raymond, secretary and treasurer; John W. Ashenhurst, representative on diocesan council.

Built in 1894.

Historically, the Church of the Redeemer, organized as a mission in 1890, has been self supporting from the start. The old parish house was the first building constructed and for five years it served as the church. During the world's fair, the Redeemer served as the place of worship for several hundred churchmen who were temporarily in Chicago. About 1894, the present church structure was completed.

The Rev. Dr. Simon B. Blunt became rector in 1903 and served for seven years. He was succeeded by Dr. Hopkins. The Rev. Mr. White, who follows Dr. Hopkins, is a graduate of the Western Theological seminary. After graduation in 1913, he took charge of St. Lawrence's church, Libertyville; St. Andrew's church, Grayslake; and St. Ignatius' church, Antioch. In 1917, he was appointed priest in charge of the Church of the Holy Apostles, Chicago, where he remained until his election to the St. Louis parish in 1919.

Church Officials Elected.

Louvian Simmons is president of the Anderson Society of the University of Chicago; Miss Marion White is vice president; Miss Jean Laird is secretary and treasurer. The diocesan student secretary is Mrs. Roberta K. Darr.

The lay readers are: Franz R. Wagner, Thomas K. Rogers and John C. Dinsmore Jr.

The vestrymen are Arthur Wyman, Col. Alexander M. Davis, Maurice N. Lovewell, Dr. E. F. Kenyon, Lawrence H. Kellogg, Irwin N. Walker, Charles H. True, Hiram A. Lewis, Malcolm Campbell Jr., Paul T. Bruyere, Carl H. Ruether and Guy Willard.

N. N. Lovewell is treasurer of the parish. Ernest David Steen is sexton.

The Junior Brotherhood of St. Andrews is officered by Thomas K. Rogers, councillor; John C. Sutphen Jr., director; Paul Klings, vice director; Robert Klings, secretary and treasurer.

Miss Helen L. Dille is president of the Daughters of the King; Mrs. William Bardens, vice president; Miss Mary Storey, corresponding secretary; Miss Carrie Putman, recording secretary and treasurer. Miss Nellie Gorgas is president of the Daughters of the King, Florence chapter; and Miss May Burumjik, secretary and treasurer.

Miss Eva Griswold is honorary directress of the church school; Miss Emma E. Ohde, secretary; John A. Storey, treasurer.

Form Junior Council.

Recently there has been formed at the church a group of Sunday school pupils called the Junior council. Each class of the senior department elects a representative who is to bring before the council any ideas or suggestions from the class which have a direct bearing on the Sunday school or church. Also, an orchestra has been formed which accompanies the Sunday school in hymns at the close of the Sunday service.

The church sponsors Boy Scouts, troop 511, and Girl Scouts, troop 189. Everett Lewy is scoutmaster of troop 511, and Morton Barnard assistant scoutmaster. Miss Mary E. Houston is captain of troop 189, and Miss Nellie Gorgas, lieutenant.

111TH ST. Y. M. C. A. BOYS GUESTS AT WHITE SOX GAME

Approximately 100 boys from the far south community saw the White Sox game Thursday afternoon. Arrangements with the ball park owners make it possible for the boys, who are members of the 111th street Y. M. C. A., to see a dozen of the big league ball games free this summer.

The younger boys are accompanied by young men, so that their parents need not fear about their safety. The next game they will see is on Monday, July 29, when the Cubs play Philadelphia.

A visit to the stockyards was made last Wednesday. Next Wednesday they will have a beach party in Jackson park.

Seventh Ward Democrats to Hold Picnic Next Sunday

The Seventh Ward Democratic organization, through its ward committeeman, James W. Ryan, has extended an invitation to all residents of the South Shore to attend the annual basket picnic to be held next Sunday at Oaks grove, 119th street and Archer avenue. Those attending the picnic will meet at the clubhouse, at 7526 Yates avenue, at 11 o'clock in the morning, from which point those not driving automobiles will be transported by bus to the picnic grounds.

INSTRUCTOR

Norman Ross, Olympic swimmer, will instruct life guards of the south park swimming pools in methods of teaching swimming to beginners.

PARKS TRAINING LIFE GUARDS TO TEACH SWIMMING

Lessons to Be Offered After Four Weeks.

Life guards of the south park swimming pools are taking lessons every Wednesday night at Ogden park from Norman Ross, world famous swimmer and winner of trophies in the Olympics. Mr. Ross is teaching them methods of teaching others to swim.

The first class was held last Wednesday night, and following a four weeks' course under Mr. Ross swimming instruction will be offered to beginners of all ages in the pools of the south parks.

Train for Water Carnival.

These pools are about as popular as beaches on the south side in the present season. Particularly at Ogden park are the girls and boys active during the swimming hours, practicing strokes and attempting fancy dives, for O. C. Rose, director of the park, is planning a water carnival to be held Aug. 1, for which the 100 best swimmers of the park, including 50 girls and 50 boys, will be chosen to take part.

The program for the carnival, as outlined by Mr. Rose, will include stunts by the boys and girls as well as exhibition swimming and diving by Olympic stars whom he hopes to engage for the event. A bathing beauty revue will open the program, and he who wins the most applause will be crowned "queen" of the carnival. The world "he" is used correctly, since those participating in the revue will be boys dressed in bathing suits worn twenty and twenty-five years ago, when mother and Aunt Emma were girls and appeared shyly on the beach.

Plan a Nightgown Race.

The stunts will include dives and races, a tug-of-war between the girls and the boys, an attempt to walk on a greased pole extending out over the water, and a nightgown relay race, in which one boy will swim across the pool in a nightgown, remove it, and give it to the next boy, who must put it on over his suit, swim back across the pool, give it to another swimmer, and so on. There will also be a spectacular high dive through fire, which will be lighted after gasoline is poured on the surface of the pool, and a race for a greased watermelon thrown into the pool.

Chatham Young People's Club Plans Beach Party

The Chatham Young People's club, which inaugurated its summer activities with an all-day outing at the dunes last Sunday is planning a beach party in the city for members only to be held this evening. Miss Pauline Weintraub, 8223 Ingleside avenue, and Harry Seltzer, 7951 Eberhard avenue, are co-chairmen of the entertainment committee in charge of arrangements.

LAST OBSTACLE TO 71ST STREET PAVING REMOVED

After a delay of more than two months, actual work of paving and widening 71st street, from Cottage Grove avenue to Stony Island avenue, was started Monday.

According to William J. Hubrich, president of the Stony Island Business Men's association, which is sponsoring the paving and widening project, the delay was caused by the failure of the Illinois Central railroad to wreck its old station at 71st street and Stony Island avenue.

Old Station Blocks Paving.

In accordance with the plans for widening the thoroughfare, the Illinois Central railroad officials had consented to erect a new platform and station at the 71st street and Stony Island avenue to replace the old one, which was to be torn down. The new platform and station have been completed and passengers are already using them. However, the old station was holding up the work of the paving contractor, who could not pave the street until it was removed.

With no further cause for delay, paving will continue rapidly, Mr. Hubrich declared, and the work is expected to be completed between Aug. 15 and Sept. 1.

Plan Big Celebration.

Mr. Hubrich pointed out that as soon as a definite date for the completion of the thoroughfare becomes known members of his organization and other civic bodies in the district will make final preparations for a celebration, which will mark the successful close of a three year battle to obtain the improvement for that territory.

Richard W. Wolfe, commissioner of public works, and who is credited by Stony Island business men with having done a great deal to get the project through, will cut the tape that will officially open the thoroughfare. Speeches will be made by Mr. Wolfe, Mr. Hubrich, Ald. William D. Meyering [8th], Andrew C. Metzger, county commissioner, and officials of the Illinois Central railroad.

In the evening a banquet will be given for the members of the civic organizations who have aided in bringing about the completion of the project. H. H. Haylett, managing vice president of the Greater South Side chamber of commerce, will be the principal speaker at this banquet.

Gives Cross City Highway.

The completion of the project will give cross town motorists an open road from the lake to the western limits of the city. Mr. Hubrich pointed out that it will relieve congested traffic conditions on Marquette road, which is the nearest street used for cross town travel, and will also relieve traffic on 73d and 75th streets, both of which have car lines and are the only other streets in that section open from Cottage Grove avenue to Stony Island avenue.

Mr. Hubrich pointed out that when repairs are made in the pavement, which is broken in spots further west, 71st street will be the finest cross town thoroughfare on the south side.

HIGH SCHOOLS OF SOUTH SIDE HAVE BIG ENROLLMENT

Englewood Leads, 1,779, at Summer Session.

Summer heat doesn't seem to hinder the scholastic ability of students attending the three south side high school summer sessions, according to instructors in the schools. The eight-week term which opened July 1 and will close Aug. 23 is now well underway, with Englewood leading in enrollment with 1,779 students. Hyde Park High school is second with an enrollment of 1,479 and Lindblom is third with 956 summer students. Englewood has the second largest summer enrollment of any high school in the city.

The summer enrollment includes ambitious students who desire to be graduated from high school in less than four years; failing students who are making up their failures in order to continue with their class in September; students who have almost completed their high school course and who can meet the requirements of graduation by taking one or more subjects during the summer term and who will be awarded their diplomas in August; elementary school graduates who wish to begin their high school courses immediately; junior high school students also making up failed courses or taking advanced work; and prevocational students who desire to shorten the time to reach high school.

F. C. Lucas Principal.

Frederick C. Lucas is acting as principal during the summer session at Englewood with Miss Mildred Wheelock as assistant principal and the following instructors, the majority of whom taught at Englewood or other south side schools during the winter and all of whom taught in some school of the city system last winter:

Loomis Heads Hyde Park.

Hyde Park's regular principal, Hiram D. Loomis, is also directing the summer term, with Theodore L. Harley as assistant principal and the following instructors:

Miss Frances E. Andrews, Miss Augusta Baumgardner, Miss Clara L. Brandt, Walter H. Brill, Bernard W. Broek, Ernest E. Bryen, Lewis A. Carnahan, Miss Beulah Chamberlain, W. H. Collins, Robert H. Leavitt, Miss Mary L. Leitsch, Miss Agnes B. MacNeish, Miss Mary A. McAdams, William McLain, Miss Lucy P. Matthews, Miss Mary H. O'Brien, Miss Eda D. Ohrenstein, Miss Stella Peide, J. Spurgin, Miss Mabel B. Swanstrom, Miss Margaret A. Walker, Miss Katherine Wrightman, Ralph Williams, Frank Williamson, and Miss Anna Wolssner.

BUILDER OF PARK DRAMATIC WORK GIVES UP POST

Miss Henrietta Fetzer, for five years director of dramatic activities in the south parks, severed her connection with the parks yesterday when her resignation, handed in some time ago, took effect. Following a week's vacation in Michigan, Miss Fetzer will take up her new work at a college of expression.

No announcement has been made of a successor to Miss Fetzer. However, members of Beta Alpha Pi, the south park dramatic organization with six senior chapters and eight groups of children, will continue their work next year under Miss Fetzer.

Although there was no definite dramatic organization whatever when Miss Fetzer began her work in the parks, she has built up a firmly organized group in her five years of endeavor. Each year more than seventy-five individual productions have been given, and for the last three years the senior groups have made all their own scenery, costumes and properties. It has also been the policy of Miss Fetzer and her various groups of players to visit institutions over the city to present their plays before shut-ins.

Miss Fetzer closed her park activities Wednesday night when the Palmer park chapter of Beta Alpha Pi presented "All on Account of Violet" at the Y. M. C. A. hotel.

Wins Scholarship

WILBUR K. BUSH.

Wilbur K. Bush, 636 West 60th street, has been appointed one of the ten F. C. Austin scholars at Northwestern universiy. Courses of the scholars are intended to develop them into business executives. A graduate of Englewood High school, young Bush is a son of Edward H. Bush, cashier of the Union State bank of South Chicago. In accepting the Austin scholarship, young Bush gave up a two year honor scholarship in the University of Chicago and a Julius Rosenwald scholarship, both of which he had won.

ACT TOMORROW ON NEW BUILDING FOR YALE SCHOOL

Board Group Promises Promp Decision.

Definite action toward the construction of a new Yale school in place of the present structure at 7010 Yale avenue, is expected to be taken tomorrow at a meeting of the board of education buildings and grounds committee.

The recommendation for a new structure which was read by President Caldwell of the board at a board meeting last week, was referred to the committee by a unanimous vote. President Caldwell's recommendation followed a community massmeeting held early last week in Englewood Masonic temple, 6734 Wentworth avenue.

A new Yale school will be available within a year, according to President Caldwell, if it can be included in the 1929 building program. Mrs. C. H. Brinkerhoff, president of the Yale Parent-Teacher association, accompanied by six other proponents of the new building, attended the board meeting at which their campaign reached its climax. In the group were Mrs. W. E. Boynton, Mrs. Frank Carson, Mrs. E. G. Dalheim, Mrs. J. A. Stolp, F. C. Moore, and Capt. William Enright.

President Caldwell's written recommendation said that construction of the new Yale school should be placed on the program as an emergency measure and stated that the condition of the present structure is such as to make the immediate building of a new school a necessity.

The group of south siders attending the meeting was assured by Theophilus Schmid, chairman of the buildings and grounds committee, that the recommendation would receive prompt attention by his committee.

Beverly University Club Plays Golf, Dines, Dances

A golf tournament and dinner dance were held Wednesday at the Glen Eagles Country club by the Beverly Hills University club. The men's tournament continued throughout the day and a tournament for women was held in the afternoon. Harold Doerr was chairman of the event. Women not interested in golf spent the afternoon at the clubhouse playing bridge.

PUPPET SHOWS TO WIN PRIZES IN SOUTH PARKS

Contest Planned for 1st Week of October.

Plans for the remainder of the summer season and the fall were discussed on Tuesday afternoon at the semi-annual meeting of south park instructors held at Ogden park with H. G. Reynolds, assistant superintendent of playgrounds and sports, presiding.

The plans include the annual puppet show which will be held during the first week of October. Until then those interested in puppets at each park will prepare their show, selecting first the plot and characters, after which costumes and setting will be designed and made. Then the puppeteers must learn to pull the strings which cause their puppets to move, and to speak the puppets' lines at the same time.

Judges to View Shows.

The puppet show will be in the form of a contest, with judges who will select the best puppet performance given during the week. The shows will probably be given at the individual park field houses, since it is easier for the judges to travel around than for the puppets and all that goes with them to be carried to one central place.

A doll show will be held the last week in August at the Grand Crossing park field house. Each park will arrange its own display, and it has been decided to place no restrictions on the type of dolls displayed or the age and ability of those making the dolls. The only stipulation is that the doll must be made and dressed by an individual connected with or residing in the neighborhood of one of the south parks.

Booths will line the corridors of the Grand Crossing park field house and each park will have the privilege of decorating and arranging its own display. Judges will select the prize winners, both among individual dolls and the park groups.

Reynolds Directs Events.

Mr. Reynolds manages all the events proposed in the park administration headquarters in his capacity of assistant superintendent of playgrounds. He is also in charge of all activities of the individual parks such as swimming pools, athletics of all kinds, hand-craft and art classes, and dramatics.

This is Mr. Reynolds' twenty-fifth year as an employé of the south park board. He began as an athletic supervisor at Davis Square park, 45th street and Marshfield avenue, in 1905. Since that time he has supervised athletics at Armour Square park and McKinley park and has been park director at Sherman and Fuller parks. He has held his present position for the last ten years.

Mr. Reynolds has watched and assisted the department of playgrounds to grow from nothing to its present intricate organization. The idea of organized athletics and supervised play was new, but the growth of the city made development of this new idea a necessity, he says. Previous to his connection with the parks Mr. Reynolds coached basketball at Armour Institute of Technology. He is at present a member of the national joint committee on basketball rules and a member of the Athletic Officials' association of Chicago.

Women's Ideal Club Holds Party at Medinah Club

Chicago Women's Ideal club held a summer party Tuesday at the Medinah Country club. Golf in the morning, luncheon and bridge made up the day's program. Mrs. Frank M. Fulton, 317 West Marquette road, president, was chairman of the committee in charge of the party.

Y. W. REGISTERS SO. SIDE GIRLS FOR CAMP LIFE

Three Play Spots Operate Until September.

As the summer season advances increased activity is noticeable in the headquarters of the central branch of the Young Women's Christian association, 59 East Monroe street. A continuous stream of young women and girls may be seen at practically any time of the day, going into and out of the offices where they register for one of the Y. W. C. A. summer camps which are operated in wooded districts not far from Chicago.

On the shores of the Fox river near Plano, Ill., stands an old vine covered mill. A relic of a picturesque past, it was abandoned some years ago by its owner and purchased in 1920 by the Y. W. C. A., which founded a camp for younger girls now called Millhurst. Rowing and swimming in the Fox river, tennis, baseball, volley ball, and hikes are included in the outdoor activities available for every girl at the camp, in addition to a library and a large fireplace over which marshmallows may be toasted on rainy days when the campers prefer a cozy fireside to the drenched ground and trees.

Camps for Industrial Girls.

The two other camps operated by the Y. W. C. A. are Forest Beach at New Buffalo, Mich., for business and professional girls and the forest preserve camp for industrial girls at Glenview, Ill. The camp in the forest preserve is an old farmhouse which has been remodeled into a recreation spot. Forest Beach is located on a high dune overlooking a wide beach and Lake Michigan. Here, Hoover hall, the recreation house with its open fireplace, bookshelves, piano and wide, inviting porches, is surrounded by twenty-five cottages. One hundred fifty-two girls may be accommodated at this camp, and while many spend only a week in these surroundings, others live the camp life for four and five weeks, providing there is no waiting list of other girls begging for entrance to the camp.

Enroll for Next Two Weeks.

South side business girls who have registered for Forest Beach for the next two weeks include the following: Miss Anita Eglow, 5316 Dorchester avenue; Miss Ethel Jacobson, 1116 East 54th place; Miss Verona Janka, 2542 South Trumbull avenue; Miss Anna Klein, 1358 South Avers avenue; Miss Caroline Kochan, 2702 Hillock avenue; Miss Pearl Kodz, 1930 South Turner avenue; Miss Ruth Judd, 3721 Lake Park avenue; Miss Elizabeth LeBlanc, 2502 South Kilpatrick avenue; Miss Rebecca Main, 8053 Dobson avenue; Miss Dorothy McArdle, 6320 Ellis avenue; Miss Lillian Rudoy, 6030 Eberhart avenue.

Miss Lillian Zaloudek, 1631 West 61st street; Miss Reba Yager, 1509 South Avers avenue; Miss Eunice Andrews, 7748 Evans avenue; Miss Estelle Aushra, 4517 South Marshfield avenue; Miss Bertha Bass, 44 West 112th place; Miss Bernice Becker, 6028 South Sacramento avenue; Miss Isabelle Bennett, 7117 South Rockwell street; Miss Ida Block, 849 East 82d street; Miss Mildred Brickman, Southmoor hotel; Miss Louise Brown, 10654 Prairie avenue; Miss Blanche Bernstein, 6852 South Peoria street; Miss Frieda Cohen, 6107 Kimbark avenue; Miss Gertrude Fagenholz, 5471 Greenwood avenue, and Miss Gertrude Galloway, 6742 Calumet avenue.

ISABELLA GROUP OFF TO DENVER FOR CONVENTION

A number of south side women are included in the group of sixty-four delegates who left last week for Denver to attend the national convention of the Daughters of Isabella.

Mrs. M. T. McNamara, 6935 Aberdeen street, is representing La Radiba circle of the Daughters of Isabella; the Auburn circle is represented by Mrs. W. H. Lemm, 7802 May street, national director of the organization, and Mrs. Mary Martin of 7925 Loomis street; Mrs. John O'Malia, 7946 Bishop street, is representing Isabella circle; and Mrs. H. P. Sullivan, 2349 West 63d street is delegate from the St. Rita circle.

From the south shore circle is Mrs. M. K. Blanchfield, 7816 Colfax avenue; San Salvador circle, Miss Margaret Cullinan, 7732 Chappel avenue; Queen of Rosary circle, Miss Mary Sullivan, 3887 West 60th street; Santa Maria circle, Miss Margaret Holland, 9023 Exchange avenue, and Miss Margaret Neville, 9123 Exchange avenue, and St. Brendan circle, Mrs. Thomas McInerny, 6935 Laflin street.

Mrs. G. C. Weathered, 8210 Champlain avenue, is representing St. Dorothy circle; Mrs. A. T. Duffy, 9155 South Marshfield avenue, St. Ethelreda circle; Mrs. J. M. SNAP 'EM AT PLAY AND WIN CASH PRIZE IN TRIBUNE CONTEST

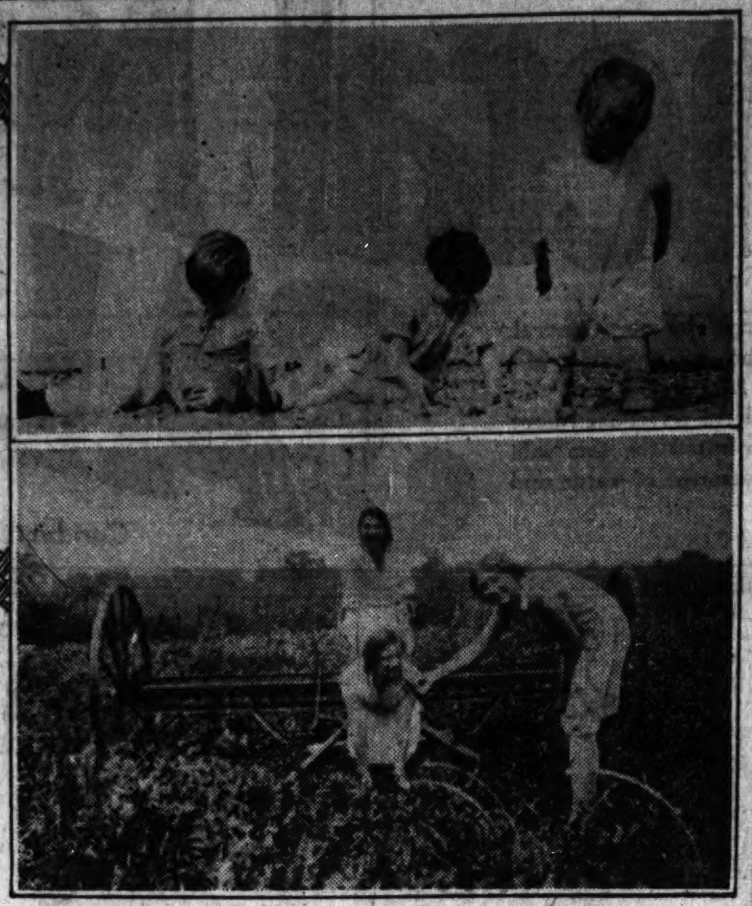
Try your hand at a playtime picture and win a prize in The Tribune's photo contest. Playtime for Sally Ann under the hose, or playtime for father with a fishing rod, Jane and John playing cowboy and Indian, or baby sister finding out that grass is ticklish for the first time—catch them with a camera and send them in.

The Tribune will pay $5 for the best playtime picture taken by an amateur. It will pay $3 for the second best and $2 for the third. All pictures must be taken in the Chicago area.

Address entries to Photo Contest, Metropolitan section of The Tribune. The name and address of the photographer should be printed plainly on the back of the print as well as the names of all persons in the picture.

The contest is open only to amateurs and the editor will be final judge. Theme, treatment, and clearness of the print will be taken into consideration. No pictures will be returned.

Eloise Gets Her Ultra-Violet Rays



The charming miss in the sunback suit is Eloise Shaw, 10517 South Racine avenue. She won for Mrs. Frank L. Shaw of the same address the first prize of $5 in The Tribune's play picture contest for amateur photographers of the south side. The second prize of $3 was won by Mrs. Elsie B. McCrary, 6750 Normal boulevard, with a picture of tiny tots on Jackson Park beach. Left to right in the picture: Dolores Glee, Betty Maxine Tindall, and Joan Lee Tindall. A picture of a romp in the country of three Chicago girl won the third prize of $2 for Miss Alice Doyle, 5053 South Winchester avenue. Miss Mary Capek, 2034 James street, is the driver; Miss Anne Doyle, 5053 South Winchester avenue, is hitched to the hay rake, and Miss Marie Shoup, 5032 South Lincoln street, is feeding "horsie."

RAINBOW BEACH REPAIRS LIKELY TO WAIT A YEAR

It appears that Rainbow beach, between 75th and 79th streets, must continue in its state of disrepair for at least another year, since the south park commissioners indicated Wednesday that the state of their finances would not permit them to add the beach to the south park system of small parks. The Seventh Ward division of the Illinois Republican Service Men's league has been sponsoring an attempt to have the beach improved.

A petition asking the city council for $50,000 for the immediate rehabilitation of the beach and signed by residents of the seventh and neighboring wards was presented to the council late in June by Richard C. Day, 1733 East 67th street, president of the league, after which Ald. Clement A. Nance [7th] introduced an ordinance in the city council asking for $100,000 for dressing rooms and bath houses on the beach.

Mr. Day reminded members of the council that Rainbow beach is the only beach south of 63d street and is used by residents of both South Chicago and the south shore, and urged that it be placed in the hands of an organization capable of keeping it in repair. At this time it was suggested that the south park board might take over the beach.

However, Mr. Day said no enthusiasm greeted the project Wednesday when he presented his petition to the south park commissioners, who also gave a lack of finances as their reason for not taking over Rainbow beach.

PIPE OF PEACE GAVE CALUMET DISTRICT A NAME

Sag Derived from Indian Word for Swamp.

This is the sixth of a series of articles concerning the naming of districts, suburbs, and streets of the south side.

BY ELEANORE GRAFF.

The story of the Calumet district runs a scale of rising and falling hopes, of repeated attempts and failures, closing with a resounding peal of eventual and inevitable success. For although its early settlers failed to build a great industrial city, the region watered by the Lake Calumet and Calumet rivers has become the great industrial area adjacent to another great city, Chicago.

The early city of Calumet began as a more or less permanent Indian camp which later attracted the pioneer settlers. It was first subdivided in 1836 by Elijah C. Hubbard and in 1837 an addition was platted by Thomas Caughan which made the boundaries of the city Lake Michigan, the Calumet river, and the present 87th and 93d streets.

Paradise for Sportsmen.

Until 1840 Calumet was a paradise for hunters, fishermen and gentlemen sportsmen. About this time a political struggle arose over the situation of a proposed harbor and canal which would link the great lakes with the Mississippi river. Surveys were made of the relative advantages of the Calumet and Chicago rivers, and although all reports gave preference to the Calumet river, largely because of its greater width and depth and Lake Calumet which would provide an excellent inland harbor, through some whim of fate the Chicago river was chosen, which decision sounded the knell of doom for the young city of Calumet.

It was in the year 1856 that exuberant young real estate men stepped in, purchased land from the downhearted Calumet business men who were rapidly moving to Chicago, and called their district South Chicago. When the town of Hyde Park was given its charter in 1863 South Chicago was included within its boundaries, and consequently became part of Chicago in 1889 when Hyde Park lost its identity and became one with Chicago.

Clings to Old Name.

Although the original city of Calumet is known today as the district of South Chicago, the name of Calumet has not been lost. The greater Calumet district refers to the territory adjacent to Lake Michigan and extending on both sides of the Illinois-Indiana line which is watered by Lake Calumet, the Calumet rivers, and the Sag canal, and includes the Greater Pullman district, South Chicago, Grand Crossing, Morgan Park, Blue Island, Harvey, and the following Indiana town; Robey, Gary, Hammond, Osborne, and Gibson.

The Sag canal was constructed in the late 1840s to connect the main branch of the Illinois-Michigan canal with the Calumet river. The name Sag is a colloquial derivation of the Indian name for the district through which the canal was built, which was Saganaskee, meaning swamp. It is one of the few names given by early pioneers which is in current use today. Various historians have given different interpretations of the spelling of this old Indian word, including Ausaganaskee, Sagunaski, Sauganask, and Saganaskee. It is believed that the names of Saginaw, Mich., and of the Saguenay river, in Quebec, may have been derived from this word or another related to it.

Calumet a Pipe or Lake.

The word, Calumet, is of French deviation, and was used by some Indian tribes to refer to a body of deep, still water, while other redmen used it as a name for a type of reed pipe commonly called by white men a peace pipe. Which original definition belonged to the word when the Indian camp was built where lake and river meet, has not been definitely ascertained.

Although it appears that the reference to a body of water might more logically be a reason for choosing Calumet as a name for the camp, most historians favor the definition of peace pipe. Such pipes were often employed in early days as a passport across doubtful borderlines guarded by Indian tribes, and were used in ceremonies to conciliate foreign hostile Indian nations.

Various Indian contractions of the word were Calomick, Killomick and Kenoumic. In addition to the Calumet lake and rivers and the general term of the Calumet district, the name is retained in a Chicago street, Calumet avenue, which extends south from East 26th street to 63d street, running parallel to and one block west of South Park way.

In Strategic Position.

In spite of political prestige, fate, or whatever influence caused Chicago to become the great middle western city rather than Calumet, it was inevitable that the Calumet district should rise above its blasted hopes. Geographic features of the region made it a strategic position for industrial development. It is at the end of the great lakes deep water navigation and the beginning of the lakes to gulf waterway; within a short distance of the center of the population of the United States; in the heart of the farm, mine, and factory districts, and as a part of Chicago has all the advantages of the world's greatest railroad center.

These features have combined to bring many large industrial plants, scores of factories with their attendant enterprises, commercial activities, neighborhood centers, and home-making facilities, into the greater Calumet district, and point toward continued growth and importance in the future.

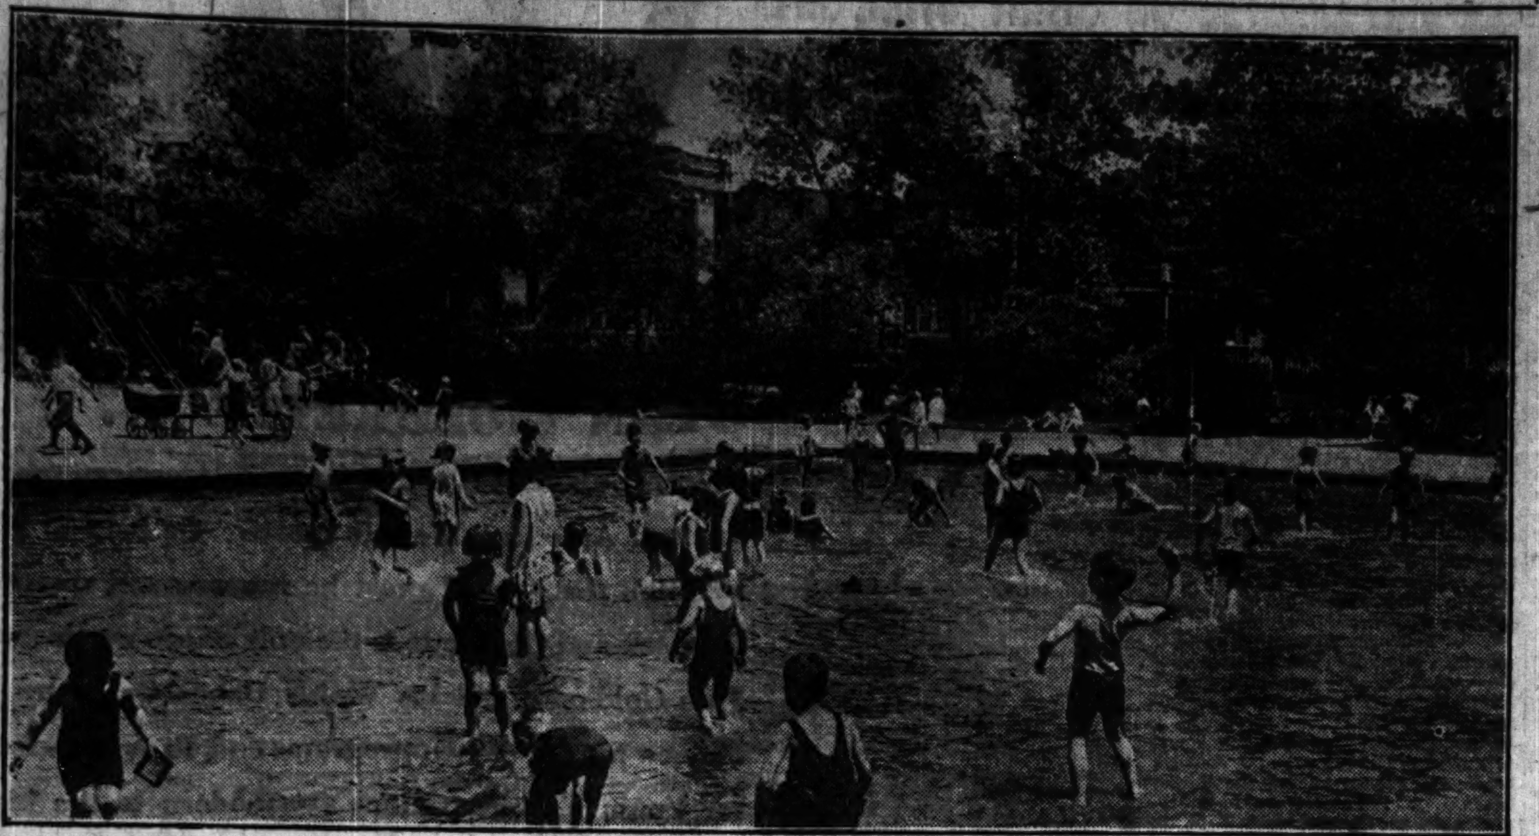
Little Children Splash in Hamilton Park Wading Pool



The wading pool at Hamilton park, 72d street and Normal boulevard, has proved a popular spot for children of the neighborhood on hot days. They may be too little to plunge in the park swimming pool, but they can splash about in the wading pool to their hearts' content.

FOURTH DISTRICT LEGION POSTS TO MEET THURSDAY

Clearing, Summit Hosts at Festivities.

A record breaking session is planned for next Thursday by Clearing post, No. 600. and Summit post, No. 735, of the American Legion, hosts at the monthly meeting of the fourth district, to be held in St. Symphorosa's auditorium, 62d street and Mason avenue, Clearing. Lawrence McGann, national vice commander; David L. Shillinglaw, state commander, and other Legion notables are among the speakers.

Assembling at the Clearing town hall, 63d and Major avenue at 8 o'clock a parade, headed by a band and four drum corps and the massed colors of the 24 posts in the district, will march south to 63d place, east to Central avenue, north to 63d street, west to Major avenue, north to 62d street and then to the hall on Mason avenue.

The Argo-Summit Boy Scout drum and bugle corps, Lemont band and bugle corps, Stanley Sullivan post, Lawndale Crawford post and Harvey post corps will be in the march.

A. P. Madsen, commander of Argo-Summit post, and Edson Scott, commander of Clearing post, are in general charge; Joseph P. Learning of Argo-Summit is managing the entertainment, and Arthur Critten, Clearing, and E. H. Cheeseman, Argo-Summit, the parade. Refreshments will be in the hands of Harry Eisenburg and Charles McKinney of Clearing and John T. Collins of Argo-Summit. Publicity is directed by J. G. Piecarsky, Argo-Summit.

Invited guests include Ald. T. F. Byrne of the 15th ward, of which Clearing is a part; Mayor E. H. Wilson of Summit; Timothy Mahoney, township clerk of Stickney, and the Rev. J. L. Sharp, who offered the hall for the meeting.

With a "Howdy, folks!" the first issue of the Breeze introduces itself to the members and friends of Jackson Park post, No. 555, all ex-service men and to its community. The staff comprises Commander Charles N. May, William H. Powell, and Carl A. Peterson. Jackson Park post meets the first and third Fridays of each month at the Southmoor hotel.

Auto hikes or picnics are held every other Sunday at some nearby forest preserve by Square post, No. 232. Today's hike will be held near the 95th street entrance of Fairmount cemetery. A sign will be placed at the entrance that will direct to the spot for the picnic. Those interested are asked to call Iris Brown, Radcliffe 0951, for further information on these events. The meeting place for the hike on Aug. 4 will be 79th street and South Park avenue. Meeting time, 9 a. m.; time for shoving off, 9:30 a. m.

The next regular meeting of Van Buren post, No. 401, will be held Tuesday night in Hotel Atlantic. Commander Leon M. Hanna announces that the post's drum and bugle corps will perform next Sunday at the Arthur C. Lueder baseball and field day at the Logan Square ball park. The post's annual basket picnic will be held Sunday, Aug. 4, at Mueller's grove.

Woodlawn post, No. 175, boasts of having four brothers enrolled in its organization, Lester, Charles, Frank and Joseph Robinson, all of whom have been members of the post for the last six years and take a prominent part in its many activities. Members of the post are curious to learn what other post can equal this record.

S. SIDE TO GIVE PARK EMPLOYES A DAY TO PLAY

1,850 Families to Have Picnic Wednesday.

The south park commissioners will be hosts at an all-day picnic which will be held Wednesday at Calumet park, 98th street and Lake Michigan, with the 1,850 south park employes and their families as the guests. Park buildings will be closed and classes and activities will be dismissed in order that everybody employed by the parks may attend.

The affair is scheduled to continue from dawn until midnight with every possible entertainment provided for the enjoyment of the guests.

Ralph V. Pierce is Boss.

Ralph V. Pierce, activities director in the south parks office at 57th street and Cottage Grove avenue, is general chairman in charge of the picnic, with the following committees: E. S. Johnson, director of Gage park, chairman of the committee on inside arrangements and the dance, assisted by H. Roy and R. Russell, director of Davis Square park; J. A. Stinson, director of Palmer park, chairman of the committee on program, assisted by D. K. Penny, director of McKinlay park, and O. C. Rose, director of Ogden park; J. J. Hefferan, chairman of refreshments, assisted by Art Plum; Larry Freeberg, chairman of the prize committee; K. Morrison, chairman of accounting, assisted by Steve Forst; W. Albrecht, chairman of the properties committee; Dan Flaherty, chairman of golf; Harry Wagoner, chairman of distribution of tickets, assisted by John Costello.

Golf and Target Matches.

A blind bogey golf tournament will start the day's activities Wednesday morning, followed by a policemen's target shooting contest.

The South Park Police Department team and the South Park All-Stars will play a baseball game in the afternoon for the championship of the south parks.

However, the climax of the program will come in the evening when a motion picture and vaudeville act, both of which have been secured from booking agents downtown, will be given. This will be followed by dancing in the assembly hall. Pop and ice cream will be served free all day.

Scotch-Irish Church Club Picnics Today in Ryan Wood

The first annual picnic of the Scotch-Irish club of Drexel Park Presbyterian church, 64th street and Marshfield avenue, was held yesterday at the Daniel Ryan Woods, 87th street and Western avenue. The program consisted of games and athletic contests. Members of the Men's class of the Drexel Park church will hold a reception today in the church parlors for their president, George M. Bly, who has recently returned from a visit to Scotland.

PIONEER RADIO STATIONS WILL MOVE THEIR SETS

KDKA and KYW Granted Construction Permits.

Final approval was given by the federal radio commission recently for the removal of the transmitter of the world's oldest broadcasting station, KDKA, from East Pittsburgh, where it was first opened in November, 1920, to Saxonburg, in Butler county, 22 miles northeast of Pittsburgh.

At the same time authorization was granted to move the transmitter of station KYW from Congress hotel in the downtown section of Chicago to Addison, Ill., 23 miles west of the city. Both stations are owned by the Westinghouse company. Like KDKA, station KYW is a pioneer, having opened on Armistice day, 1921, and is the fifth oldest station in the United States.

According to Walter C. Evans, superintendent of radio operations of the Westinghouse company at Pittsburgh, both stations will have brand new equipment designed especially for these stations, which should mean a good deal in the way of general reception to the listeners of the country.

Giant Tubes in Use.

A newly designed 100,000 watt tube, about 7 feet in height will supply the power for KDKA, while a 50,000 watt tube will be used for KYW. This will mean that though KDKA will use 50,000 watts, the highest power authorized by the radio commission, it will be necessary to operate the great new tube at half power. At present 5 smaller tubes are doing the work at KDKA. Station KYW has been granted a construction permit for 50,000 which explains the large tube for that transmitter.

The transmitters are being removed from East Pittsburgh and downtown Chicago for entirely different reasons. In the case of the former, it is the hope that the element of fading may be reduced. This condition is believed to be caused by the semi-mountainous country in which KDKA is now located.

Out of Steel Area.

The transmitter of KYW is being moved primarily to get away from the steel area of the congested portion of the city, where the steel in the tall buildings absorbs the strength of the radio waves.

The removal of such a historic station as KDKA marks another era of broadcasting in this country. Although a temporary experimental license was granted the station Oct. 22, 1920, the first issued by the United States government, it was not until Nov. 2 that the Westinghouse company inaugurated the first general broadcasting from station KDKA, when it broadcast the returns of the Harding-Cox presidential election.

Its short wave achievements have been particularly notable. As early as 1923 it succeeded in transmitting a program to Great Britain and early in the next year one of its programs was relayed from London and heard clearly in Calcutta, India.

The book circle of the Hamilton Park Woman's club met Friday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Albert Stevens, 6946 Yale avenue. The program consisted of a review of "Scarlet Sister Mary," by Mrs. L. C. Lauritsen, 7236 Lafayette avenue; talks of "Books I've Enjoyed Most," by Mrs. John S. Banks, 6720 Parnell avenue, Mrs. E. Ernest Farlow, 7242 Harvard avenue, and Mrs. John C. Gustafson, 6943 Eggleston avenue, and announcement of new publications by Mrs. Robert G. Scharm, 7940 Green street.

STILL USING BARGAIN CURTAINS 17 YEARS AFTER HER PURCHASE

The Tribune will pay $2 for each story of the best bargain obtained in a neighborhood store, printed in the Metropolitan section. Address Bargain, Metropolitan Section, The Tribune. Make them short an snappy, writing on only one side of the paper, and print your name and address plainly.

Chicago, July 14.—At a mill-end sale in a south side department store I purchased remnants of beautiful silky etamine for 14 cents a yard which when hemstiched and trimmed with very durable German lace made two pairs of handsome curtains. That was in 1912 and today after seventeen years of continuous service I am not ashamed of the curtains at my bedroom windows. The lace and hemstitching have been outworn but the curtains are still neat and goodlooking. I am now living six miles from this store but I continue to search its advertisements in the Metropolitan section and feel warranted in spending the time and carfare to secure other bargains.

A $8.50 HAT FOR $1.

Chicago, July 14.—A millinery shop in our neighborhood had a one hour sale on hats. Looking over the ones piled on the table I happened to find one that had sold for $8.50, now marked at $1. It was the only bargain that good in the group and I think I was pretty lucky.

A Bargain in Hosiery.

Whiting, Ind., July 15.—Our store had all brands of hosiery on sale at $1 a pair. Some had been priced as high as $2.50. I found four pair of this class that were perfect, not a flaw in them and I've worn them all year without a run yet. Isn't that some bargain?

Inside the Loud Speaker

BY QUIN RYAN.

Conditions are pretty tough at present among the musicians. Of the theater musicians in the Chicago branch of the union, approximately 60 per cent are out of work, due to the talking pictures. Of the whole brotherhood in Chicago—dance hall musicians, café instrumentalists, brass band players and small jobbers—there are about 2,000 out of employment.

A YOUNG MAN, Bill Carlson, a native of Ironwood, Mich., and a student at the University of Michigan, has just returned from a sojourn of fourteen months with the Hobbs geological expedition in Greenland. He writes to us about radio reception up there:

"Dear Mr. Ryan—When we went into the hinterland, a hundred miles over mountains from our nearest neighbors, a small colony of Eskimos, we were left entirely without any means of communication aside from our radio apparatus. We were entirely dependent upon our radio equipment for any emergency call we might have to make, and we relied solely upon our receiver for our entertainment.

"I must tell you that we had a wonderful news service by tuning you in at one in the morning, or ten o'clock, your time. Throughout the months preceding the presidential election last fall we were able to follow the activities of the contending parties.

"I remember election night especially, when we could hear you giving the election returns from THE TRIBUNE office. We listened to you all night that night, and we could hear the applause when the results were announced in the Chicago hotel between dance numbers.

"On Christmas day we sat down to a meal of real stuffed ptarmigan, mashed potatoes, cranberry sauce, pumpkin pie, peas, cheese, cigars and coffee, with a real program from W-G-N that made us feel as though we were at home. And on New Year's eve, imagine the contrast between our surroundings and the revelry we could hear down there where Coon Sanders' orchestra was playing. We became so enthused over the W-G-N program that we forgot all about the time, and the new year was a half hour old in Chicago before we realized it!

"Being a Michigan man and extremely interested in football—I was a track man at Ann Arbor—I followed you every Saturday in your football games from the different places in the Big Ten. Boy, how we used to yell, as we could hear the crowds whooping during those tense moments in the big games. . . . The long Arctic night, the monotony of the silences and the raging blizzards, those bugbears of the older days no longer hold the northern explorer in their grip. Radio has changed all this, and today the well-equipped expeditioner keeps in touch with the outer world."

Ho, here's the bugle call already, paging the two horses in our race. Say, there's a thrill in that "Boots and Saddles" call, isn't there? Nice looking hosses in this race—Mr. Pickwick and Jasper B. Here they come now.

Mr. Pickwick is going to have the rail, with Jockey Jimmy Corcoran up. Jockey Pete Sampson is riding Jasper B. . . . Good day today, and a fast track. The fine weather has brought out a big crowd; the boxes in the club house are well filled today. . . . There's a stiff wind blowing from the left, which means the steeds will have it at their backs on the home stretch. . . . Out in the parade ground the flags are whipped by the wind until they stand straight out. . . . Look down the front of the brandstand here . . . that's quite a crowd! There doesn't seem to be a favorite, between these two—Mr. Pickwick and Jasper B. . . . Well, the horses are leaving the paddock now, and the fans, too.

Here they come, out on the track, the lead horse and Mr. Pickwick and Jasper B.—the silken red shirt of Corcoran and the white and green shirt of Sampson billow away from their backs . . . their feet perched high and their knees crowded up to their chins.

THEY'RE OFF!

Jasper B. was standing in the middle of the track and leaped into a good start—and he's loping down here a length ahead of Pickwick, on the rail. . . . He's stepping faster ahead, and here they come toward us, flying with the wind. . . . They're clumping past us, and Jasper's a length and a half in the lead. . . . There they go rocking around the first turn. . . . Jasper has crept over to the rail on the curve and the jockies are beating them on. of Pickwick. . . . They're sliding along the fence, making the semi-circle and they look like rocking horses. . . . JASPER LEADING BY MORE THAN A LENGTH AT THE QUARTER POST! . . . Now they're swerving into the back stretch and tney run headlong into the stiff wind. . . . They're slowing up a little, and the jockies are beating them on. . . . Pickwick is inching up now, plowing into the wind—closer—and closer—and closer—Jasper is only a length ahead. They're sweeping along the back stretch. . . . Jasper B. is leading Mr. Pickwick by a full length at the half distance. . . . Jockeys' heads are ducked behind the horses' heads. . . . They're coming to the turn now, and Jasper looks to be tiring. . . . Pickwick is gaining as they hit the bend. . . .

Here they come around the curve. . . . Pickwick is picking up and he's a half length behind as they steer into the home alley. . . . Gee, now watch this finish!

At three quarters, Pickwick is a neck behind Jasper. . . . The folks on the lawn are jumping into the air. . . . Both horses have the wind with them now, and they're a neck apart. . . . Jasper has had the lead since the start and he's fighting madly to keep a neck ahead. . . . Look at them come! . . . Here they are, right out here! . . . The jockeys seem to be riding in the air. . . . Jasper a neck ahead. . . . They're coming to the line. . . . OOOP, Jesper B. beats Mr. Pickwick by a neck!

VICTOR YOUNG, VIOLIN VIRTUOSO, COMES TO W-G-N

Victor Young, violin virtuoso and conductor, has come to W-G-N, THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE station on the Drake hotel, to join the forces of Jean Goldkette's dance orchestra. He comes to radio from the position of assistant musical director of Balaban & Katz movie theaters.

Young is among the foremost American orchestrators, transcribers and paraphrasers and his work is expected to open an entirely new realm of possibilities for Goldkette and his orchestra.

There is a striking similarity between the life of Victor Young and the biography of Leon Kantor, the little music master in the movie "Humoresque." There is that same triumph of genius over poverty and discouragement. At the age of 10, Young left the impoverished home of his family on Chicago's near west side. The boy's grandfather, a tailor of Warsaw, invited him to Europe. He studied and his talent was discovered. Yarsembsky, Lotto, Barcevicz, and Statkovsky—all the master musicians of Poland—became interested in him.

During the war, Young was caught in the midst of the Russian revolution, and, being a musician, was thrown into prison. The boy spent years in one prison or another. Not until after the war did he finally escape to American shores.

Auburn Park Lions Have Outing at Michigan City

Auburn Park Lions and their families drove to Michigan City Wednesday and were guests for the day of Cidney Hill at his summer home, Duck Inn. According to David Nelson, 7806 Halsted street, president of the Auburn Park Lions club, this outing was the third trip made by the club to Mr. Hill's summer home.

U. S. Signal Corps' Station Is Farthest North in N. A.

The signal corps radio station at Point Barrow, Alaska, is the farthest north radio station on the North American continent. In June, 1928, the secretary of war directed the signal corps to connect Point Barrow, a remote settlement on the Bering sea, with "the outside." In just 51 hours after the order was given a radio station was functioning at Point Barrow and communication established with Seward, 800 miles distant. Private Richard Heyser, radio operator, and his station equipment were flown by commercial plane 500 miles from Fairbanks to Point Barrow.

WORLD PROGRAMS SOON WILL BE REBROADCAST

Special Events Only Will Go on Air.

Citing the successful transmission of the king's thanksgiving services from London to Australia and the United States as an example of progress, C. W. Horn, newly appointed general engineer of the N. B. C., declared that the day was in sight when we would be rebroadcasting programs all around the world. Mr. Horn, who has just made a trip to Europe, said that our introduction to this era would be through the broadcasting of special events, rather than by the regular exchange of programs.

Taking the case of England, for example, he pointed out an obstacle to the exchange is the five-hour difference in time between here and there. For instance, they would be interested in our sporting events, notably prize fights. If we broadcast a fight at 10 or 11 o'clock at night, as is usually done, it would be received in England between 3 and 4 o'clock in the morning, which would naturally prove quite a drawback. As things stand now it is mechanically possible to rebroadcast a great European event in this country.

Must Pay License Fee.

As for the routine programs, after the novelty wore off, there would be the question of how much the English, or those of another nation, might care for our programs, or we for theirs.

Mr. Horn said the European broadcasting systems, as compared with ours, represented a difference between rigidly controlled government ownership there and a highly competitive system here. There the public is given what the government thinks it should have and here the listening audience receives what it demands. There they must pay a license fee but here no charge is made for listening and it is altogether a good will proposition.

"Monotony is the enemy of radio," Mr. Horn said, "and if I made any criticism of European programs, I would say it is their monotony. They will have solid hours of heavy musical programs, heavy lectures or educational talks. However, they have their hours for dance and lighter music.

Different Temperaments.

"It is not fair to them or to ourselves to say which countries have the best programs because that would involve a difference in the temperaments of the nations. But here I will say that the European transmission is good, but their receiving sets are not up to our standards. This is due to the low purchasing power of some of the countries. New sets are not purchased as frequently as they are here and many litseners still use earphones.

"Another disadvantage is the variation of the wave bands. They have about what we have here but they go as high as 1,600 meters, with a commercial band in between. Thus it really requires two sets to cover this wide range."

Ogden Park Women's Club Picnics in Forest Preserve

The Ogden Park Woman's club held a picnic last week in Beverly forest preserve, 87th street and Western avenue. Mrs. W. E. Fribley, 2043 East 72d place, state chairman of the American home department of the Illinois Federation of Woman's clubs, was a special guest. Mrs. John Dore, 6742 Throop street, was chairman of arrangements.

JEAN GOLDKETTE . . . .

Jean Goldkette is the big man in American music. He has molded the crisp spirit of American life into music. He held to no tradition; not even to the tradition that "jazz" must be raucous and discordant. New standards have been set, and Goldkette is the only dance music master able to play up to them. Jean Goldkette and his W-G-N Dance Orchestra have startled the world with the new music. When programs end, listeners wire impatiently for more. Victor Young's orchestrations are modern to the highest degree. Each man is skilled and enthusiastic. That's what makes this big band with the big name. 1:30, 2:25, 11:15.

PATRICIA ANNE . . .

It's gonna be a swell party. Patricia Anne Manners, the little soprano you heard in the Student Prince will be in the middle of it. She'll put over this show the same way she floored the dial twirlers in Los Angeles. Not that she needs assistance, but the Symphony Orchestra, a hot harmony trio and a violin choir all offer Mlle. Manners their best for a big background. The Symphony Orchestra lives and quickens to a new wiggle of Gaston du Moulin's baton. The trio is so hot it's dangerous on anything but the Therm-O-Proof program. The violin choir consists of four real fiddlers. They're the Therm-O-Proof Entertainers, 7:45.

John Stamford, the announcer-tenor, well known as master of ceremonies around town, does his own bit at 2:15.

(S. E. Corner 63rd St. and Greenwood Ave.)

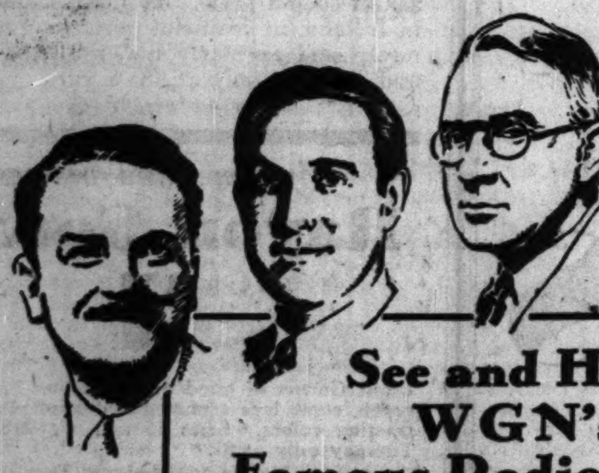
8 A. M. to Midnight

Open daily and Sunday

SIX years ago the Chicago Tribune opened its Advertising and Public Service Office at One South Dearborn Street. It was a new note in the Tribune's effort to serve Chicago. Millions turned to it for the unique help offered. Last year alone over a million items of service were rendered.

Now Tribune service moves to the great south side! So successful has been the main office on Dearborn Street and so essential to the convenience of the people of Chicago has it become that the Tribune has opened this new branch office. Tomorrow is the formal opening. The new office is located at 1101 E. 63rd St. (S. E. corner of 63rd and Greenwood). This modern bureau with its specially trained staff invites your call. Be sure to visit it.

Here at your elbow are comfortable quarters where you will find expert ability to help you secure maximum results in writing and placing want ads. Here you will find detailed auto and road maps and advice about hotels and scenic points enroute. Dress patterns, tax service, public phones, license blanks, booklets about home building and home management are a few of the many aids which the new Chicago Tribune Advertising and Public Service Office in its south side quarters offers to you.



See and Hear WGN's Famous Radio Artists

Featuring the formal opening, WGN radio stars in person will be at the new south side Advertising and Public Service Office in a medley performance of songs and music.

See Quin Ryan in person. Enjoy Pat Barnes' quips. Both these famous announcers will be at the new south side office. Other artists to be present are Henry Selinger, Walter Pontius, Muriel K. Pontius, Harry Spingold, East and Dumke, Delos Owen, Ashley Sisters, John Stamford, Mark Love, Tom, Dick and Harry, and Louie's Hungry Five.

Performances from 3 to 6:30 in the afternoon and from 9 to 9:30 in the evening. Don't fail to attend.

SPECIAL: For those who cannot attend the performance in the evening, tune in on WGN. The 9 o'clock program will be broadcast by special wire direct from the new office*

FAIR VETERAN, BRIDE OF 1880 TO HONEYMOON

James Hunt to Show Wife Native Ireland.

James Hunt, 76 years old, a resident of the south side for 50 years, leaves tomorrow with Mrs. Hunt for a two months' vacation in Ireland. The trip to Mr. Hunt's native Dublin, which he left some 60 years ago to become a sailor, is a preliminary to a celebration of the couple's 50th wedding anniversary next year.

JAMES HUNT.

MRS. JAMES HUNT.

The skipper, as he is called, lives at 6622 Aberdeen street, where tonight will be gathered six children and twenty-five grandchildren to give the departing couple a sendoff.

Mr. Hunt was a life long friend of the late Daniel H. Burnham and Francis D. Millett, directors of design and decoration at the world's fair in 1892, and was general foreman of painting and flag display at the fair. So intimate was he with Mr. Millet that two years ago he was called to Boston to deliver an address on Mr. Millet's life at the unveiling of a bust of the latter by his classmates at Harvard university.

Retires from Retirement.

Having led an extremely active life, he retired a few years ago to write a biography of Mr. Millet. But in a short time he found the indoor life did not agree with him and he decided to work again. He now is night superintendent of the Burnham building.

Mr. Hunt's career in and about Chicago has been long and varied. He came here from the east as a sailor on the great lakes in 1879. His first impression of Chicago was that it was the busiest place in the world, he says. He was married shortly after his arrival here, and continued sailing the lakes until 1887.

In that year he got a job as a structural iron worker on the 16th street bridge, then the largest swing bridge in the world.

The skipper worked directly under Mr. Millett throughout the fair as chief painter, foreman of the flag gangs, and captain of the emergency life guard crew on both land and water.

Unfurled 700 Fair Flags.

He was at the side of President Cleveland when the latter gave the signal for opening the celebration, and it was on his order that 700 flags were unfurled within a few seconds. As master flagman, he pulled the string that unveiled the statue of the Republic, still standing in Jackson park.

Mr. Hunt was the chief source of information for Chicago newspaper men covering the fair, and it was he who gave to John T. McCucheon the honor of pulling down the last flag at the close of the celebration.

In 1894 he became foreman of painters for the south parks, a position he held for twenty years, and then entered business for himself in Evanston as an interior decorator.

His children are: James Jr., 7737 Fielding avenue; John, 536 West 43d street; Mrs. James Conroy, 6456 South May street; Thomas, and Miss Ann Hunt, and Mrs. Elizabeth, who reside at the Aberdeen street address.

NOTABLES WILL ADDRESS RIDGE CENTER FORUM

Knute Rackne, football coach of Notre Dame university, will be the first of the speakers who will make up the program of the lecture forum of the Ridge Community center at the Morgan Park High school, 110th street and Hermosa avenue, next season. The program was announced last week by J. R. Wilson, chairman of the program committee of the center.

Mr. Wilson said that in an effort to present a series of talks that would appeal to every resident in the Ridge district, the committee has selected speakers with greater care this year, both with respect to the subject matter and their method of presentation.

He declared that although the expense of obtaining the next season's speakers will be greater than that of last year, the quality of the program is such that no difficulty is expected in filling the auditorium on the night of each engagement.

Mr. Rockne will open the series of talks on Oct. 18. He will speak on his experiences in coaching championship football teams and interesting sidelights of his career. Inasmuch as this date is in the midst of the football season, Mr. Wilson expects that the Rockne talk will be popular with the younger set in the Ridge district.

Paul V. McNutt, national commander of the American Legion, will speak on Nov. 5.

On Dec. 10 Donald B. MacMillan, arctic explorer, will tell of his experiences in the frozen north. This lecture, Mr. Wilson said, would probably be illustrated by pictures taken by Mr. MacMillan and members of his expedition.

"Mussolini" will be the subject of an address by Thomas Skeyhill, well known lecturer on foreign politics, on Jan. 14.

On Feb. 14 Lowell Thomas will lecture before the center on Arabia and Palestine. On Feb. 25, Admiral Gordon Campbell, the man who is credited with directing the British blockade against the German submarines in the world war, will tell of his wartime experiences.

The lecture series will be closed by Charles Brown, dean of Yale university, when he speaks at the center on April 1.

MISS VIRGINIA HALL.
[Paul Stone-Raymor Photo.]

Miss Virginia Hall, daughter of Dr. O. C. Hall of the Cambridge club, was an entertainer at a dancing party Friday evening on the roof of the club, at 1725 East 53d street. After starring several seasons in the South Shore Follies, Miss Hall appeared in "Hit the Deck."

ENGLEWOOD Y. M. C. A. CAMPER SETS RECORD IN CATCHING BIG FISH

Hans Foisne, 110 West 111th place, holds the 1929 record for big fish at Camp Nawakwa, the Chicago Y. M. C. A. Men's Camp on the Chippewa Indian Reservation at Lac Du Flambeau, Wis. During the week of July 1, Mr. Foisne landed six muskies averaging over 30 inches each. His last catch Saturday evening was a 40 inch muskalonge which is large even for the Wisconsin lakes.

Severel men from the Englewood 'Y' are now enjoying their vacation at Nawakwa. The story of Mr. Foisne's prowess as a fisherman comes from Fred Engler, 6547 South Union avenue, who has just returned from his two weeks vacation at Nawakwa. Other men returning Saturday are George Herrschner, 6630 South Ashland avenue, and Cleon Sparks, 4718 South Albany avenue. The men who are now at Nawakwa from Englewood 'Y' are E. W. McChesney, 449 West 64th street; Paul Peterson, 6547 South Union avenue; Art Kotel, 6547 South Union Avenue; J. Burgin, 6940 Wabash avenue.

MOUNT VERNON P.-T. ASSOCIATION NAMES OFFICERS

Officers and members of the recently formed Parent-Teacher association of the new Mount Vernon school, 105th and Morgan streets, will meet Aug. 8, in Washington Heights Methodist Episcopal church, 104th street and Racine avenue, to discuss plans for a membership drive.

The board of education has announced that the new school will be ready for occupancy by Sept. 1, although no principal has been announced.

The following officers of the Mount Vernon Parent-Teacher association were elected last week: Mrs. Herbert Siddall, 1119 West 103d place, president; Mrs. John S. Brantner, 1152 West 103d place, vice president; Mrs. Frederick Troughton, 1207 West 104th place, second vice president; Mrs. L. A. Miller, 10551 May street, recording secretary; Mrs. Davis C. Lewis, 10521 Racine avenue, corresponding secretary; Mrs. James C. Groundwater, 10449 Racine avenue, treasurer; Mrs. R. A. Doyle, 10550 Racine avenue, membership chairman, and Mrs. Charles E. Arthur, 1015 East 103d place, social chairman.

ETHEL BARTOW AGAIN IS HEAD OF SORORITY

New officers of the Lambda Phi Kappa sorority were installed last week at the home of the president, Miss Ethel Bartow, 6156 Vernon avenue. Miss Miriam Levin, 6704 Halsted street, was the installing officer.

The new officers, in addition to Miss Bartow, who has already served as president for one term, are Miss Frances Braidman, 6142 Champlain avenue, vice president; Miss Helen Hesselberg, 6545 Green street, secretary; Miss Dorothy Mann, 6044 Eberhart avenue, treasurer; and Miss Dolly Levin, 6704 Halsted street, social chairman.

Plans were made for a beach party to be held in August in Jackson park.

DRIVE ON SLUMS CALLED AID TO BETTER LIVING

Plan to Rout Near South Side Hovels.

That it is not necessary for slums to have any part in the life of a great city is the contention of Dr. Arnold H. Kegel, commissionor of health, who proposes to prove his theory by tearing down some four thousand condemned structures, including one room shacks as well as six and seven story flat buildings, the majority of which are situated on the south side of Chicago.

Dr. Kegel has spent the last three months making a survey of doubtful buildings together with a committee from the department of public welfare, fire department, board of survey and the Urban league, a south side social organization, which are cooperating with Dr. Kegel.

Avoid Previous Mistakes.

This new project has been based upon a study of former attempts to remedy the housing situation throughout the city, none of which have been successful. According to Dr. Kegel the previous failures have been due largely to a too complicated program.

"Formerly health commissioners have called in the landlords, the tenants, politicians, well-meaning social agencies and engineers, and have attempted to please them all," Dr. Kegel said. "This cannot be done. We are making our program as simple as possible. When the cooperating agencies working with me indicate that the house is a fire-trap, so poorly constructed that accidents frequently happen, such as a stair or ceiling caving in, and that it is a breeding place for disease, that is all we need to know. We prefer to do away with such a habitation before it does away with the lives of its inhabitants."

Many Suggest Own Building.

In many instances the tenants and landlords themselves suggest their buildings to Dr. Kegel for his approval or disapproval. Otherwise, the landlord and tenants must look out for themselves, the commissioner indicated. No individual has a moral right to rent such a hovel to others or to rent it for the use of himself and his family, he said.

Previously social agencies have insisted that better homes be provided for the persons who are put out of a condemned structure, saying that it is better to have only a hovel for a home than nothing, according to Dr. Kegel. Dr. Kegel has indicaed that such complications are not necessary to his project to improve housing conditions.

"All achievements have depended upon necessity," Dr. Kegel said, "and if there are no slums to live in, residents of the slums will exercise their ingenuity and ability to obtain an income necessary to pay for living quarters of a higher class. It is not necessary for the city or for social agencies to provide suitable living quarters. We will not take away their income or their household belongings. We will merely knock down their unsuitable home, making it necessary for them to search elsewhere for safer and more sanitary longings."

Program to Continue for Years.

Dr. Kegel does not plan to do away with the 4,000 condemned buildings in a day, a week, or a month. It will take years, according to his plans, and will probably continue indefinitely, since the process of deterioration will continue in the future as it has in the past, making it necessary to condemn certain structures in twenty-five years which today are entirely satisfactory as living quarters.

At present a second survey of all buildings condemned as unfit for human habitation is being made to determine the possibility of rehabilitation of any of the structures. Modern plumbing and adequitely thick floors and walls have already been installed where it was believed logical to do so. As soon as this survey is complete and any possible structures have been rebuilt or made safe and sanitary, those which it is impossible to save will be torn down. The work of tearing down these slum buildings will probably be started in the fall, Dr. Kegel said.

Although some of these condemned structures are situated on the near north and northwest sides of the city and around the tracks on the west side, the majority of them are in the near south side, extending out to 37th street, where foreign born residents are crowded in close quarters, in the stockyards and Maxwell street district, and many factories and intrict where many factories and industries have their headquarters.

SO. TOWN OPERA CLUB ORGANIZED; SEEK ROLL OF 500

The Civic Opera club of Southtown, the third such organization to be formed on the south side of Chicago, was formally organized on Monday night at a meeting in the home of Mrs. Charles S. Clark, 7130 Princeton avenue. William McDonnell was elected president.

Although only 160 persons signed up for membership in the club at this meeting, it is believed that by fall the club's quota of 500 members will be filled. Clubs already have been formed in Woodlawn and Beverly Hills. The Southtown club includes the districts of Englewood, Morgan Park, Auburn Park, Gresham, Clearing, Marquette Park, Chicago Lawn and Park Manor.

Miss Dema Harshbarger, president of the Civic Concert Service, Inc., which is sponsoring the opera clubs, was present at the meeting and explained the purpose of the club, which is to enable people to understand and enjoy opera. This club is one of a group throughout the city under the name of the Associated Civic Opera

CHILDREN STAGE FANTASY AT OGDEN PARK

W-G-N Stars to Open Trib's S. Side Office

The new TRIBUNE advertising and public service office at 1101 East 63d street will be formally opened to the public tomorrow morning. The occasion will be celebrated with radio stars from W-G-N, THE TRIBUNE station on the Drake hotel, furnishing entertainment between 3 and 9:30 p. m. Carnations will be given to visitors. A big get acquainted opportunity will be offered.

Offers Service at Loop Office.

All the facilities of THE TRIBUNE'S downtown public service office, which last year answered more than a million inquiries, will be found at the new south side branch.

It may be that visitors are planning a vacation and desire road maps or travel data. They may be interested in selecting a hotel in which to reside or a school for their children. There may be a desire to insert an advertisement. Some one may wish to peruse back files of THE TRIBUNE. The south side office represents a desire on the part of THE TRIBUNE to bring its service closer to the people of Chicago.

These Radio Stars to Appear.

TRIANGLE BODY HEARS EXPERT ON RESTRICTION

Plans for restricting the South Woodlawn residential district were outlined by William G. Donne, restriction specialist who guided the restriction programs of Chatham Fields and Englewood, at a meeting of the Triangle Improvement association held recently at 7115 South Chicago avenue.

Mr. Donne suggested that a man be appointed to canvass each block in the district and advised that each canvasser accept signatures to the contracts under any conditions, although he said he felt sure that few persons would refuse to pay the $5 restriction fee.

Another speaker at the meeting was Adolph Kirbach, who spoke of the city's neglect of the south side, mentioning the sanitary district, which he said had spent millions of dollars for the north and west sides while neglecting the south side entirely. He suggested that all nonpolitical organizations interested in the development of the south side should form one large and strong organization which could adequately represent the needs of these individual groups.

Lawrence Ter Maat, president of the association, propsed that a large community dance and entertainment be sponsored in the vicinity of 71st street and Cottage Grove avenue by the Triangle Improvement association, and predicted that this corner will develop into a great business section. Members of the organization approved the community dance, which will be held in the fall.

OUR TOWN

Paragraphs About Some Folks You Know.

BY FRED PASLEY.

REGARDING the yearning of George Dignan Chase, Swift's popular transportation expert, for awnings, which we noted last week, W. P. Watson of 1514 West 72d place writes that "George didn't need to go to California to look for awnings, as all he would have had to do was to call on his friend, Ralph Latto, Armour's popular traffic man. Ralph having just had awnings put on his home in Beverly Hills, which are the last adjective in such. Ralph says so himself." That's what Zimmie said George said about his. We have assigned THE TRIBUNE'S awning editor to investigate this matter.

Up and coming Hyde Parkers who like the radiant friendliness at the new I. C. Bank and Trust company have noticed lately the worried look on the face of the genial cashier, Samuel J. Aurelius. Sam is taking charge of the remodeling of the corner drug store, which space is being added to the bank's quarters, and says it is some job. Sam's kiddies have been taught to sing, "Oh, Father, Dear Father, Come Home to Us Now," and many a cold supper does he get at the Aurelius mansion, 74th street and Luella avenue.

Quiet reigns supreme in John Bain's king-pin bank, the Stony Island State Savings. George Dillon, assistant cashier, with James Ryan, chief payer, have departed from its busy activities for a two weeks' sojourn up in Montreal, where the percentages are figured in beverages, instead of notes and bonds. George resides at 1511 East 69th place and Jimmie at 7411 Indiana avenue.

RUTH BEHRENS of 7202 South Shore drive was the lucky ticket holder in the Jackson Park National bank's contest which closed a few days ago. Miss Behrens won a ticket for a seven day lake trip. And we are informed by a fellow townsman in whose word we put implicit faith that he was the guy that was blindfolded by the cashier and drew from many thousands the pasteboard that brought Miss Behrens joy.

Any woman who wants to hear the real news about how good a husband can be should call on Mrs. F. W. Steen at 3164 Lake Park avenue. During Mr. Steen's spare hours this summer he has completely decorated the house, from top to bottom and has done a job any professional would envy. F. W. can splash varnish and white lead with the best of 'em and has made his home a thing of beauty and a joy forever. But, of course, every tenant hasn't the landlord F. W.'s got. We understand he's the best landlord on the south side.

H. W. SMITH, who resides out in Blue Island, believes he has solved the toy problem for his little daughter, Betty. Horace went over to the Yards and bought a little woolly lamb for his girlie and such delight was never before witnessed in the Smith household. Horace is smart, too, for the sheep will keep the lawn trimmed and perhaps next fall will furnish some lamb chops when the Smiths have one of their periodical gatherings of the clan.

WE'VE been dreaming again of of the Saint Joe Y. due to E. C. Zimmerman's poignant description in verse of the snacks served there. We published the first stanza last Sunday. Here are a couple more to whet your appetites:

The tourists gather there in crowds,
They drift down stairs in smiling clouds,
Edging on, with outstretched trays,
With eager hands the food to praise;
For rich nut bread, or even rye,
A patient line, within the Y.

To me there ain't no better dish,
Then gettin' there their sweet fried fish;
Some folks, true, would just as lief,
Shove out their trays for rich roast beef,
But one sure thing there'll none deny—
The food is great—at Saint Joe's Y.

Yes, we'll have to refuel at Saint Joe on the vacation trip.

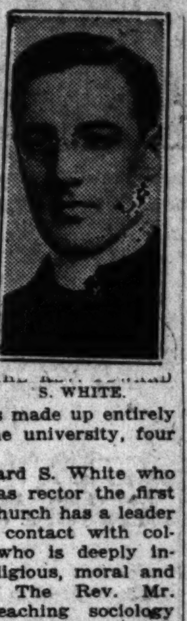
THE REDEEMER EVOLVING INTO STUDENT PARISH

Church's Influence Strong at U. of C.

BY ONEY FRED SWEET.



THE REV. EDWARD S. WHITE.

The Church of the Redeemer, 56th street and Blackstone avenue, more and more, has become a student parish. Two years ago, the diocese of Chicago which, previously, had maintained a student pastor on the campus of the University of Chicago, officially, turned this work over to the Church of the Redeemer. Several faculty members belong to the congregation. The Anderson society—named after Bishop Anderson—is made up entirely of students from the university, four blocks away.

In the Rev. Edward S. White who took up his duties as rector the first of this month, the church has a leader who has had wide contact with college students and who is deeply interested in their religious, moral and ethical problems. The Rev. Mr. White has been teaching sociology and social work in summer schools for the last eight years. He is a member of the American Association of Social workers. He has returned to the city where he was himself a student.

Finds Faith as Student.

The influence of the Church of the Redeemer as a student parish was particularly emphasized recently when Dr. Bernard Iddings Bell, now warden of St. Stephen's church at Columbia College, N. Y., brought out in the first chapter of his book, Beyond Agnosticism, [religious book of the month club] that, as a University of Chicago student, it was at this south side parish that he first found his faith.

The Rev. Mr. White comes from a different field of endeavor—that of the Episcopal Church of the Holy Communion, St. Louis, where he spent the last ten years. Commenting on his departure, the St. Louis press said that, without ostentation, the young rector had performed unselfish labor that would long endure. To quote:

"In a neighborhood made up largely of tenements, he showed generous and helpful interest in the problems of the poor. He lived much of the time among them. Through his efforts a playground appeared, and then a community house. An outing camp in the country was obtained, and hundreds of mothers and children annually breathed the only fresh air they got during the year. There was milk and ice for the ailing, and other welfare work. A splendid chime of bells now rings from the church tower in a neighborhood where there is no other music."

Finds New Type of Parish.

A new type of parish confronts the Rev. Mr. White. It is of a sort which for him has great appeal. He succeeds Dr. John Henry Hopkins, who was rector of the Church of the Redeemer for nineteen years. Dr. Hopkins has retired to his old home in Vermont where his grandfather was a bishop in the church.

During the term of Dr. Hopkins, the Redeemer became commonly known as the "Men's church" of the diocese, because of the large interest and activity of the men of the parish. While he was rector, the splendid parish house was built. It contains accomodations for all of the parish organizations and a beautiful chapel, which is a memorial to Henry Stephen Hawley, for a long period a senior warden of the Redeemer. Dr. Hopkins was an accomplished musician before he was ordained, and his church, with three choirs, became famous for its music.

The parish choir of male voices is heard on Sunday mornings. Robert R. Birch is organist and choirmaster;

Mail Veteran Quits; to Keep Touch on Beat

A. Sidney Hayward, 71 years old, a postman for more than 52 years and the oldest carrier in the government service, sat eating his noonday lunch, as was his custom, at a restaurant just off 63d street on Cottage Grove avenue. He was musing over the fact that on July 30 he would make his last delivery out of the Jackson Park substation. Aug. 1 he would take his annual vacation, and his resignation would take effect on the 17th.

All this meant that shortly it would not be necessary to go back to the substation after lunch, nor show up there of a morning. He would be lifting the leather mail bag off his shoulders forever. He would have his hours to use as he saw fit. Years back, Mr. Hayward had been entitled to a pension, but he had chosen otherwise. Thrice he had been granted extensions. Now, he was going to leave the service.

What would he do? He didn't know. The south side, whose pavements he had pounded since a youth, held more ulre than any distant scene.

Felt Lure of Black Hills.

Once, back in the '70s, he had wanted to go and dig for gold in the Black hills. On leaving school—his family had lived in the neighborhood of 14th and State streets—he had worked for a time for the silk firm of Belden brothers. The establishment had been burned out in the great Chicago fire, and he had turned his attention to the plumbing trade. But plumbers, then, were only getting $2 a day and working twelve to fourteen hours a day.

His father had frowned upon the western adventure. Of stern Revolutionary stock, he had hunted gold himself and he felt that a job in the postoffice was far more practical for his son. So Sidney, on March 26, 1877, had started carrying mail from the station at 32d and State streets.

Downtown a While in '80s.

First he had carried other people's bills and love letters—whatever it was they wrote about—in the district between 31st and 35th streets and South Park avenue and the lake. During Cleveland's first administration he had been transferred down town. Then from Bowen avenue to 47th street and from Drexel boulevard to the lake. Since 1904, he had covered four blocks—the 1400 block on Marquette road, the 1400 block on 66th place, the 6600 block on Blackstone avenue, and the 6600 block on Dorchester avenue.

Always on the south side. There were folk who took the south side as it appeared today for granted.

The patrons on this last route he had held so long? He'd rather miss some of the faces. Maybe he'd take a trip occasionally, just on his own hook, to see how they were getting along. He took from his pocket a prized letter that had been written to him by some one on Blackstone avenue—one of the letters he had received among the millions adddressed to others.

"At our house we think you richly deserve the opportunity to take a rest. You have been most kind and accommodating under all conditions. Your letters have sometimes brought sadness, but it would be impossible to total the pleasure that you have delivered on your route."

Dreads Lack of a Task.

That was worth something—a letter like that. After all, it was the job and the way it was done that counted. He felt this fact strongly in looking back over the years and in facing the future.

Well, when he delivered those last letters on the last day, he would go to his room in the hotel at 1550 East 64th street and think over his plans. He felt fine. He gave credit to the outdoors for that. Maybe if he'd worked in an office, he'd have "kicked off" long ago, or grown gray haired and really seemed like a man of 71.

No, he'd never had any trouble with people during his more than half century as a mail carrier. Nor had his tasks ever grown monotonous.

"Strange," he laughed. "I remember there was a fellow in the postoffice where I first went to work who remarked that he'd been there for five years. I hadn't the slightest idea I'd ever pass that record. Fifty-two years!"

SPROUL, WITH DRY SEAL, WINS IN WET DISTRICT

Canadian Product with League Label.

BY ARTHUR EVANS.

Congressman Elliott Wilford Sproul, who for the last nine years has represented the Third, or Englewood, district, is a native of Canada. But, unlike certain other Canadian products, he carries the blessing of the anti-Saloon league.

The congressman was born 73 years ago in Apohaqui, or Mouth of the Mill Stream, in King's county, New Brunswick, a hamlet 36 miles north of St. John. As a youth of 22 he came to the United States in 1878, and in 1886 became a naturalized citizen. He entered business as a building contractor in Chicago in 1880 and was president of a concern bearing his name until succeeded by his son some fifteen years ago. Mr. Sproul is rated as a man of considerable wealth—as the lads in politics phrase it, "well up in the bucks"—and he was a great friend and crony of the late Congressman Martin B. Madden, who at the time of his death, was accounted the most prominent member of the Illinois delegation in congress.

Began Career in Council.

Some thirty years ago he was alderman from the old 31st ward, serving from 1897 to 1899, when he was succeeded by Ald. Henry F. Eidmann. Mr. Sproul was with the old Lorimer wing in the Town of Lake away back in the days before the Deneen-West group broke with the Lorimer organization. The old crowd, powerful in those days but now almost forgotten, had such leaders as Edwin J. Noble, who was an alderman and chief grain inspector under Gov. Tanner.

After William Hale Thompson became mayor in 1915, Mr. Sproul gravitated towards the Thompson organization. In 1920 he ran for delegate to the Republican national convention in Chicago with the backing of the late James Rea, former alderman and city purchasing agent, Charles A. Williams and Dr. William H. Reid, smoke inspector, who a few years before had beaten Mr. Deneen for Republican county committeeman from the old 31st ward. There was hostility between Gov. Lowden and the Thompson administration.

Beats Lowden Candidate.

In the April primaries in 1920, Mr. Sproul and Anton T. Zeman, who ran as "no choice" candidates beat Congressman William W. Wilson and William H. Weber, who were running as avowed Lowden delegates candidates, by some 5,000.

In the following September the Thompson leaders ran Mr. Sproul in the congressional primaries against Congressman William W. Wilson, a Deneen warhorse, who had been at Washington for sixteen years. It was a terrific battle, and Sproul won by 218 votes out of 42,000 cast. It was equivalent to election in November.

Mr. Sproul has been in congress ever since. At each primary his plurality has shown an increase. In the primaries in 1922 he defeated Frank P. Sadler by 6,393. In 1924 he beat Sadler by 8,245. In 1926, he defeated ex-Congressman Wilson by 8,840. In 1928 he beat C. J. Tietzel by 40,000. In the election itself last November, he was given a hard run by Henry P. Bergen, Democrat, who lost by 5,385 out of a total vote of 197,000. Two years before, in 1926, Sproul beat Edward J. Glackin, Democrat, by 6,102.

Dry in Wet Territory.

Congressman Sproul is a dry. The Third district itself at the time of the referendum on the beer and light wines question in 1922, voted wet by a majority of 48,372, and in the same election it returned Mr. Sproul, an avowed dry, to congress by 1,151 plurality. Last year in the October report of the anti-Saloon league, Congressman Sproul was the only Chicago congressman indorsed. Some of the other drys at that time were steering clear of an indorsement, deeming it a political incumbrance.

Mr. Sproul is a member of the Building Employers' association, the Associated Builders and Master Masons association.

A financial drive with $200,000 as its goal has been started in Beverly Hills by the Little Company of Mary, in order to complete the hospital now in process of construction at 95th street and California avenue.

The new hospital ultimately will have three units, the first of which is now being built. It will be equipped with every modern improvement in construction and furnishing known and approved by hospital planners, according to Mother Superior M. Stanislaus of the Little Company of Mary.

For more than thirty years members of this company have nursed the sick of Chicago in their homes, regardless of creed and circumstances, and their sisters, all of whom are graduate nurses, will assume charge of nursing in the new hospital.

Eugene J. Mooney Heads South Woodlawn C. of C.

Eugene J. Mooney was chosen president of the South Woodlawn Chamber of Commerce, formerly known as the Eighth Ward Business Men's association, at the annual election held recently. Other officers are: Milford F. Henkle, vice president; George Thorp, secretary; N. P. Miller, treasurer; and Carl J. Adams, J. Bassett, D. T. Cropp and W. W. Horcher, directors.

PIPE OF PEACE GAVE CALUMET DISTRICT A NAME

Sag Derived from Indian Word for Swamp.

This is the sixth of a series of articles concerning the naming of districts, suburbs, and streets of the south side.

BY ELEANORE GRAFF.

The story of the Calumet district runs a scale of rising and falling hopes, of repeated attempts and failures, closing with a resounding peal of eventual and inevitable success. For although its early settlers failed to build a great industrial city, the region watered by the Lake Calumet and Calumet rivers has become the great industrial area adjacent to another great city, Chicago.

The early city of Calumet began as a more or less permanent Indian camp which later attracted the pioneer settlers. It was first subdivided in 1836 by Elijah C. Hubbard and in 1837 an addition was platted by Thomas Caughan which made the boundaries of the city Lake Michigan, the Calumet river, and the present 87th and 93d streets.

Paradise for Sportsmen.

Until 1840 Calumet was a paradise for hunters, fishermen and gentlemen sportsmen. About this time a political struggle arose over the situation of a proposed harbor and canal which would link the great lakes with the Mississippi river. Surveys were made of the relative advantages of the Calumet and Chicago rivers, and although all reports gave preference to the Calumet river, largely because of its greater width and depth and Lake Calumet which would provide an excellent inland harbor, through some whim of fate the Chicago river was chosen, which decision sounded the knell of doom for the young city of Calumet.

It was in the year 1856 that exuberant young real estate men stepped in, purchased land from the downhearted Calumet business men who were rapidly moving to Chicago, and called their district South Chicago. When the town of Hyde Park was given its charter in 1863 South Chicago was included within its boundaries, and consequently became part of Chicago in 1889 when Hyde Park lost its identity and became one with Chicago.

Clings to Old Name.

Although the original city of Calumet is known today as the district of South Chicago, the name of Calumet has not been lost. The greater Calumet district refers to the territory adjacent to Lake Michigan and extending on both sides of the Illinois-Indiana line which is watered by Lake Calumet, the Calumet rivers, and the Sag canal, and includes the Greater Pullman district, South Chicago, Grand Crossing, Morgan Park, Blue Island, Harvey, and the following Indiana town: Robey, Gary, Hammond, Osborne, and Gibson.

The Sag canal was constructed in the late 1840s to connect the main branch of the Illinois-Michigan canal with the Calumet river. The name Sag is a colloquial derivation of the Indian name for the district through which the canal was built, which was Saganaskee, meaning swamp. It is one of the few names given by early pioneers which is in current use today. Various historians have given different interpretations of the spelling of this old Indian word, including Ausaganaskee, Sagunaski, Sauganask, and Saganaskee. It is believed that the names of Saginaw, Mich., and of the Saguenay river, in Quebec, may have been derived from this word or another related to it.

Calumet a Pipe or Lake.

The word, Calumet, is of French deviation, and was used by some Indian tribes to refer to a body of deep, still water, while other redmen used it as a name for a type of reed pipe commonly called by white men a peace pipe. Which original definition belonged to the word when the Indian camp was built where lake and river meet, has not been definitely ascertained.

Although it appears that the reference to a body of water might more logically be a reason for choosing Calumet as a name for the camp, most historians favor the definition of peace pipe. Such pipes were often employed in early days as a passport across doubtful borderlines guarded by Indian tribes, and were used in cerdmonies to conciliate foreign hostile Indian nations.

Various Indian contractions of the word were Calomick, Killomick and Kenoumic. In addition to the Calumet lake and rivers and the general term of the Calumet district, the name is retained in a Chicago street, Calumet avenue, which extends south from East 26th street to 63d street, running parallel to and one block west of South Park way.

In Strategic Position.

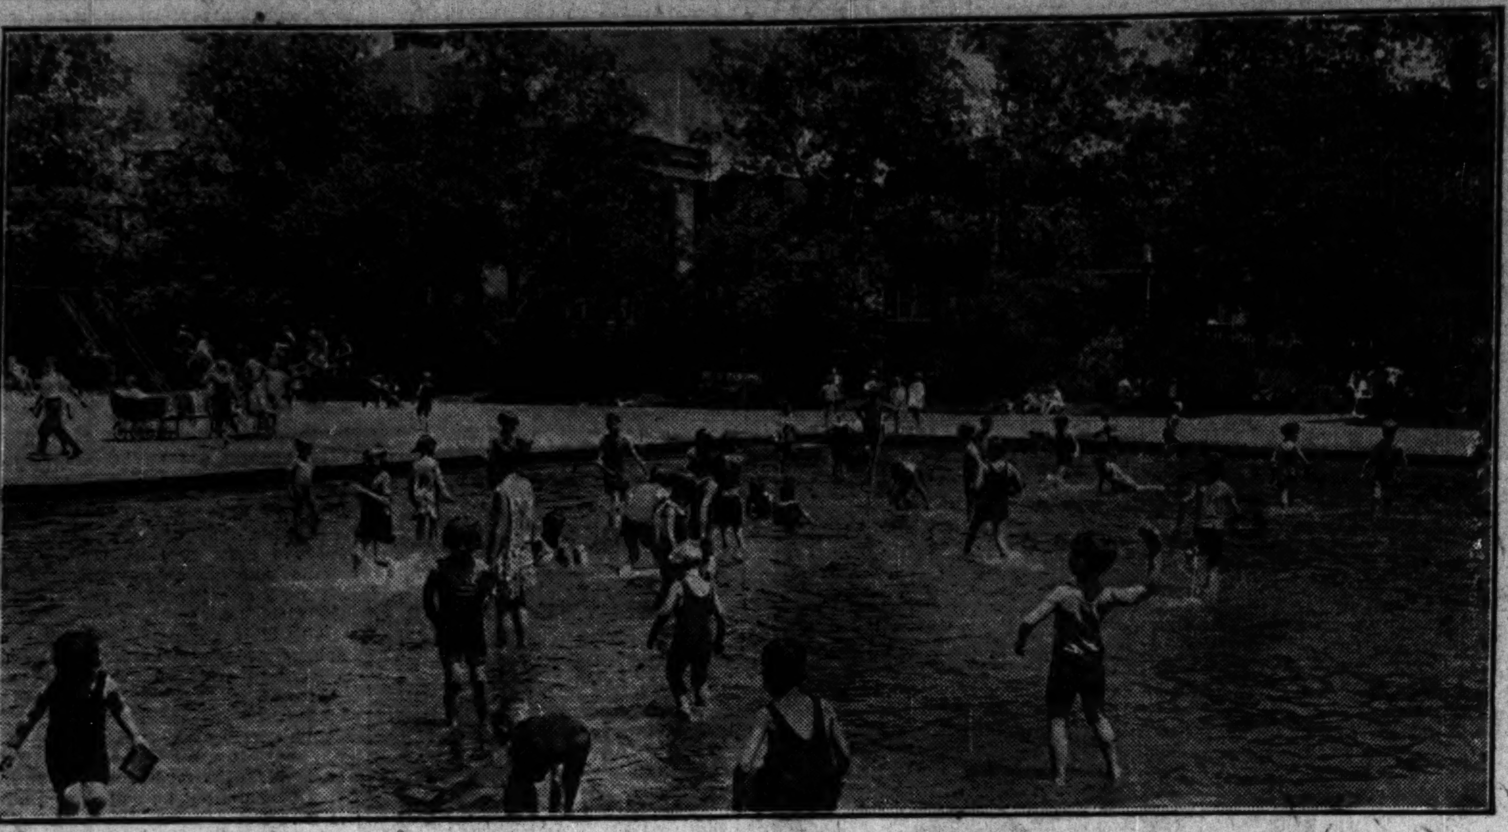
In spite of political prestige, fate, or whatever influence caused Chicago to become the great middle western city rather than Calumet, it was inevitable that the Calumet district should rise above its blasted hopes. Geographic features of the region made it a strategic position for industrial development. It is at the end of the great lakes deep water navigation and the beginning of the lakes to gulf waterway; within a short distance of the center of the population of the United States: in the heart of the farm, mine, and factory districts, and as a part of Chicago has all the advantages of the world's greatest railroad center.

These features have combined to bring many large industrial plants, scores of factories with their attendant enterprises, commercial activities, neighborhood centers, and homemaking facilities, into the greater Calumet district, and point toward continued growth and importance in the future.

West Englewood Business Group to Hold Golf Tourney

Members of the West Englewood Business District association will hold their annual golf tournament Wednesday at the Southmoor Country club. Marshall Bergstrom is chairman of the committee in charge, and Victor Soltz, professional at the Southmoor Country club, will have charge of the tournament play.

Little Children Splash in Hamilton Park Wading Pool



The wading pool at Hamilton park, 72d street and Normal boulevard, has proved a popular spot for children of the neighborhood on hot days. They may be too little to plunge in the park swimming pool, but they can splash about in the wading pool to their hearts' content. [TRIBUNE Photo.]

THE REDEEMER EVOLVING INTO STUDENT PARISH

Church's Influence at U. of C. Strong.

Mixed Choir in Evening.

The St. Cecelia choir of mixed voices sings Sunday evenings. Mr. Birch is director and organist; Miss Gertrude Pinkerton, crucifer; Mrs. C. H. Schoff, choirmother; Mrs. Charles H. Piatt, assistant.

The children's chorus is heard at the children's service. All three organizations are massed on special occasions.

The Brotherhood of St. Andrew, devoted to religious work among men and boys, is a most active organization. Among its members is Courtenay Barber, vice president of the national brotherhood. Malcolm Campbell Jr. is director of the Redeemer brotherhood; Paul T. Bruyere, vice director; William F. Raymond, secretary and treasurer; John W. Ashenhurst, representative on diocesan council.

Built in 1894.

Historically, the Church of the Redeemer, organized as a mission in 1890, has been self supporting from the start. The old parish house was the first building constructed and for five years it served as the church. During the world's fair, the Redeemer served as the place of worship for several hundred churchmen who were temporarily in Chicago. About 1894, the present church structure was completed.

The Rev. Dr. Simon B. Blunt became rector in 1903 and served for seven years. He was succeeded by Dr. Hopkins. The Rev. Mr. White, who follows Dr. Hopkins, is a graduate of the Western Theological seminary. After graduation in 1913, he took charge of St. Lawrence's church, Libertyville; St. Andrew's church, Grayslake; and St. Ignatius' church, Antioch. In 1917, he was appointed priest in charge of the Church of the Holy Apostles, Chicago, where he remained until his election to the St Louis parish in 1919.

Church Officials Elected.

Louvian Simmons is president of the Anderson Society of the University of Chicago; Miss Marion White is vice president; Miss Jean Laird is secretary and treasurer. The diocesan student secretary is Mrs. Roberta K. Darr.

The lay readers are: Franz R. Wagner, Thomas K. Rogers and John C. Dinsmore Jr.

N. N. Lovewell is treasurer of the parish. Ernest David Steen is sexton.

Miss Helen L. Dille is president of the Daughters of the King; Mrs. William Bardens, vice president; Miss Mary Storey, corresponding secretary; Miss Carrie Putman, recording secretary and treasurer. Miss Nellie Gorgas is president of the Daughters of the King, Florence chapter; and Miss May Burunjik, secretary and treasurer.

Miss Eva Griswold is honorary directress of the church school; Miss Emma E. Ohde, secretary; John A. Storey, treasurer.

Form Junior Council.

Recently there has been formed at the church a group of Sunday school pupils called the Junior council. Each class of the senior department elects a representative who is to bring before the council any ideas or suggestions from the class which have a direct bearing on the Sunday school or church. Also, an orchestra has been formed which accompanies the Sunday school in hymns at the close of the Sunday service.

The church sponsors Boy Scouts, troop 511, and Girl Scouts, troop 189. Everett Lewy is scoutmaster of troop 511, and Merton Barnard assistant scoutmaster. Miss Mary E. Houston is captain of troop 189, and Miss Nellie Gorgas, lieutenant.

SALEM GOSPEL CHURCH TO BUILD AT 72D-RACINE

Members of Salem Gospel church, meetings of which are now held at Chicago Christian High school, 71st and May streets, are planning to build a church at 72d street and Racine avenue, according to the Rev. Amos Oyer, pastor.

The site of the building, definite plans for which have not yet been drawn, has a 75 foot frontage on the south side of 72d street near Racine avenue, the pastor said.

Prior to June 1, when services of the Salem Gospel church first were held at the high school, the congregation had met for several years at 6538 Ashland avenue.

SPEEDBOATS ZIP TODAY AT OUTING OF EAST SIDERS

Track Carnival Program Includes Marathon.

Speed boat races and a track carnival will be features of the third annual outing sponsored by the East Side chamber of commerce to be held at Calumet park today, starting at 1 o'clock this afternoon and continuing throughout the afternoon and evening. Thousands of the east side community are expected to participate in this annual event.

According to Axel Uddman, chairman of the boat races, this probably will be the first time any small park in the south park system has ever staged an outboard motor boat race, and from the list of entries the fifteen and twenty-five mile races shold prove spectacular. Boats have been entered from many boating clubs in Chicago, Indiana and Michigan. A course has been laid out in such a manner as to give a good view to the spectators.

Plan Five Mile Marathon.

There have been more than two hundred entries of track stars in Chicago for the track program. The feature of the track carnival will be a five mile marathon to be run over east side territory. F. G. Roach is in charge of the athletic program, with the following assistants: R. P. Bantz and Sol Sylvester, announcers; R. U. Nelson and C. Holloway, clerks of course; Kirk Stevenson, H. Duncansen and Roy Bork, number clerks; R. E. Smart, W. Bork, B. Todd, E. Lindberg, H. Erickson, and J. Erickson, field judges; H. Canty, H. Matz, H. Dunham, B. R. McNabb, and R. E. Pickell, finish judges; D. Bluet, E. Fedosky, E. Peach, and W. J. Dempsey, timers; O. Miraldi, J. Dimarco, S. Colarelli, A. Menze, R. Wills, T. Matz, and Ray Bork, pages.

Children's races, tennis matches, baseball, and bathing have been provided for, and the twenty-five piece band of the South Chicago post of the American Legion will furnish music during the day. George Brunner is director of the band.

A. C. Koepke Heads Committee.

W. J. Dempsey is director of Calumet park, which is located at 98th street and Lake Michigan, and A. C. Koepke of the East Side chamber of commerce is chairman of the committee managing today's outing.

The committee also includes Frank Bielenberg, William E. Bissert, Richard Boegelsack, Nicholas J. Bohling Jacob Bremer, Elmer A. Brown, W. J. Dempsey, Charles W. Frey, H. W. Graef, Joseph Grill, George Hansen, E. J. Hardtke, William J. Hastings, George A. Helbing, Charles Hirschfield, Charles J. Johnson, Herman Kerber, Frank Koening, Val Kosak, Andy Lawson, Dr. A. W. Wooley, Roger J. Powers, William F. Martz, Anton H. Mausen, Hans Petersen, R. V. Pierce, William A. Rowan, John Schoeph, Frank M. Stanley, Axel Uddman, Oscar Wolff, and Herman Zimmerman.

HAMILTON PARK CLUBWOMEN TO PLAY IN DUNES

Members of the Hamilton Park Woman's club will hold their monthly card party under the direction of the ways and means committee next Tuesday for the benefit of the philanthropy fund of the organization.

The scene of the all day outing will be the summer home of Mrs. L. C. Lauritson, 7256 Lafayette avenue, and Mrs. Otto J. Sjostrom, 6204 Maplewood avenue, which is located in the Dunes near Miller, Ind. Mrs. Jesse D. Worden, 6620 Stewart avenue, will assist the hostesses.

Swimming and games will feature the morning's entertainment, after which luncheon will be served, followed by cards in the afternoon. The group will go to the cottage in automobiles. Mrs. Lauritson and Mrs. J. R. Newton, 7240 Princeton avenue, are in charge of transportation.

7 ENGLEWOOD COPS TRAINING FOR FIELD MEET

Seven patrolmen from the Englewood police station are in training for the eighth annual police field meet which will be held at Soldiers' field Aug. 24 and 25.

Under the direction of Detective Sergeant McNamara of the deputy commissioner's office the seven are getting in trim at Ogden park, devoting two hours every Monday, Wednesday and Friday to their training.

Contest Planned for 1st Week of October.

Plans for the remainder of the summer season and the fall were discussed on Tuesday afternoon at the semi-annual meeting of south park instructors held at Ogden park with E. G. Reynolds, assistant superintendent of playgrounds and sports, presiding.

The plans include the annual puppet show which will be held during the first week of October. Until then those interested in puppets at each park will prepare their show, selecting first the plot and characters, after which costumes and setting will be designed and made. Then the puppeteers must learn to pull the strings which cause their puppets to move, and to speak the puppets' lines at the same time.

Judges to View Shows.

The puppet show will be in the form of a contest, with judges who will select the best puppet performance given during the week. The shows will probably be given at the individual park field houses, since it is easier for the judges to travel around than for the puppets and all that goes with them to be carried to one central place.

A doll show will be held the last week in August at the Grand Crossing park field house. Each park will arrange its own display, and it has been decided to place no restrictions on the type of dolls displayed or the age and ability of those making the dolls. The only stipulation is that the doll must be made and dressed by an individual connected with or residing in the neighborhood of one of the south parks.

Booths will line the corridors of the Grand Crossing park field house and each park will have the privilege of decorating and arranging its own display. Judges will select the prize winners, both among individual dolls and the park groups.

Reynolds Directs Events.

Mr. Reynolds manages all the events proposed in the park administration headquarters in his capacity of assistant superintendent of playgrounds. He is also in charge of all activities of the individual parks such as swimming pools, athletics of all kinds, hand-craft and art classes, and dramatics.

This is Mr. Reynolds' twenty-fifth year as an employé of the south park board. He began as an athletic supervisor at Davis Square park, 45th street and Marshfield avenue, in 1905. Since that time he has supervised athletics at Armour Square park and McKinley park and has been park director at Sherman and Fuller parks. He has held his present position for the last ten years.

Mr. Reynolds has watched and assisted the department of playgrounds to grow from nothing to its present intricate organization. The idea of organized athletics and supervised play was new, but the growth of the city made development of this new idea a necessity, he says. Previous to his connection with the parks Mr. Reynolds coached basketball at Armour Institute of Technology. He is at present a member of the national joint committee on basketball rules and a member of the Athletic Officials' association of Chicago.

Englewood Young Women Hold Swimming Party

Members of the Young Women's auxiliary of the Englewood Women's club held a swimming and bridge party Monday at Club Casa Del Mar, 74th street and South Shore drive. The committee in charge of arrangements was composed of Mrs. William Bishop, 7656 Eggleston avenue; Mrs. Charles E. Smith, 8004 Paulina street; Mrs. Bruce Tidholm, 7056 Perry avenue; Mrs. Harry Aldrich, 7520 Stewart avenue; Mrs. Cedric Shamtz, 8240 Drexel avenue, and Miss Virginia Tandy, 7048 Perry avenue.

BEACH FROLICKERS LEAP IN UNISON

Seldom do participants in a game of leap-frog all go over in unison, but, then, one would expect an unusual performance from so unusual a group as appears in this picture, made at the foot of 75th street. The group includes: Miss Betty Judd, Miss Ruth Ward, Miss Betty Ames, Miss Ruth Jackson, Miss Marjorie Becker, Miss Rosemary Becker, Miss Lucille Satkoff, Miss Estelle Baum, Miss Ruth Fellinger, Miss Marion Walraven, Miss Helen Lehr, Miss Sylvia Michell, Miss Lucille Benoit, and Miss Alice Redig.

S. Side to Give Park Workers a Day to Play

The south park commissioners will be hosts at an all-day picnic which will be held Wednesday at Calumet park, 98th street and Lake Michigan, with the 1,850 south park employes and their families as the guests. Park buildings will be closed and classes and activities will be dismissed in order that everybody employed by the parks may attend.

The affair is scheduled to continue from dawn until midnight with every possible entertainment provided for the enjoyment of the guests.

Ralph V. Pierce Is Boss.

Ralph V. Pierce, activities director in the south parks office at 57th street and Cottage Grove avenue, is general chairman in charge of the picnic, with the following committees: E. S. Johnson, director of Gage park, chairman of the committee on inside arrangements and the dance, assisted by H. Roy and R. Russell, director of Davis Square park; J. A. Stinson, director of Palmer park, chairman of the committee on program, assisted by D. K. Penny, director of McKinlay park, and O. C. Rose, director of Ogden park; J. J. Hefferan, chairman of refreshments, assisted by Art Plum; Larry Freeberg, chairman of the prize committee; K. Morrison, chairman of accounting, assisted by Steve Forst; W. Albrecht, chairman of the properties committee; Dan Flaherty, chairman of golf; Harry Wagoner, chairman of distribution of tickets, assisted by John Costello.

Golf and Target Matches.

A blind bogey golf tournament will start the day's activities Wednesday morning, followed by a policemen's target shooting contest.

The South Park Police Department team and the South Park All-Stars will play a baseball game in the afternoon for the championship of the south parks.

However, the climax of the program will come in the evening when a motion picture and vaudeville act, both of which have been secured from booking agents downtown, will be given. This will be followed by dancing in the assembly hall. Pop and ice cream will be served free all day.

NOTABLES WILL ADDRESS RIDGE CENTER FORUM

Rockne, MacMillan on Next Season's List.

Knute Rackne, football coach of Notre Dame university, will be the first of the speakers who will make up the program of the lecture forum of the Ridge Community center at the Morgan Park High school, 110th street and Hermosa avenue, next season. The program was announced last week by J. R. Wilson, chairman of the program committee of the center.

Mr. Wilson said that in an effort to present a series of talks that would appeal to every resident in the Ridge district, the committee has selected speakers with greater care this year, both with respect to the subject matter and their method of presentation.

He declared that although the expense of obtaining the next season's speakers will be greater than that of last year, the quality of the program is such that no difficulty is expected in filling the auditorium on the night of each engagement.

Mr. Rockne will open the series of talks on Oct. 18. He will speak on his experiences in coaching championship football teams and interesting sidelights of his career. Inasmuch as this date is in the midst of the football season, Mr. Wilson expects that the Rockne talk will be popular with the younger set in the Ridge district.

Paul V. McNutt, national commander of the American Legion, will speak on Nov. 5.

On Dec. 10 Donald B. MacMillan, arctic explorer, will tell of his experiences in the frozen north. This lecture, Mr. Wilson said, would probably be illustrated by pictures taken by Mr. MacMillan and members of his expedition.

"Mussolini" will be the subject of an address by Thomas Skeyhill, well known lecturer on foreign politics, on Jan. 14.

On Feb. 14 Lowell Thomas will lecture before the center on Arabia and Palestine. On Feb. 25, Admiral Gordon Campbell, the man who is credited with directing the British blockade against the German submarines in the world war, will tell of his wartime experiences.

The lecture series will be closed by Charles Brown, dean of Yale university, when he speaks at the center on April 1.

Hold Card Party.

Members of the South Side Ladies' Aid society held a card party Monday evening at Prospect hall, 64th street and Ashland avenue. Mrs. Paul Klinkhammer, 7304 May street, was in charge of the affair.

HARMONY CLUB BOYS LEAVE ON OVERNIGHT HIKE

The Harmony Adventurers, a club of a dozen 111th street Y. M. C. A. boys, which during the winter season spends its spare time learning how to play the harmonica, started yesterday afternoon on an overnight hike. The boys making the trip are Edward Boege, 39 West 110th place; Harry Biehle, 8006 Langley avenue; Art Eisele, 16 West 110th street; Ted and Joe Eenigenburg, 11213 Edbrooke avenue; Jack Hiatt, 10406 Ericsson avenue, and Edward Dean, 107 West 117th street. The boys cooked their own meals and slept out of doors for the night. They were accompanied by George Schmidt, club director.

South Shore Women Voters Complete Year's Program

At a meeting of the board of the South Shore League of Women Voters held last week at the home of Mrs. S. L. Katz, 6953 Constance avenue, the work on the year book was completed. The year's study, as outlined in the year book, will include Muscle Shoals, maternity and infancy hygiene bills, the "lame duck" amendment, the Root formula for the world court, the limitation of armament by international agreement, revision of election laws, and women on juries, in preparation for a referendum in November, 1930.

Members of the Retreat to Hear Talk on Transit

Prof. Paul Douglass of the University of Chicago will be the principal speaker today before members of the Retreat, 7351 South Shore drive. Prof. Douglass will discuss the Chicago transit problem. The Retreat is an organization composed of young college men and women.

AVIATION CLUB RUSHES PLANS FOR OWN FIELD

Members of the South End Aero club met Thursday evening at their headquarters in Palmer park, 111th street and South Park avenue, to discuss plans for the completion of their recently acquired airport.

The South End Aero club, which is composed of fifty aviation enthusiasts, recently received the gift of a large field at 103d street near the north end of Lake Calumet, to be used as an airport. This gift was made by Charles Dickinson, who has been active in aviation since 1910, according to James De Persia, 7023 Wentworth avenue, a member of the club. Mr. Dickinson is president of the Aero Club of America.

Work on the runways of the new Dickinson airport was started last week and it is expected that the field will be ready for use within a month. A class in general aviation instruction preceded the business meeting Thursday night.

Alpha Theta Chi Sorority Holds Election of Officers

Miss Julia Rowell, 7400 Paxton avenue, was elected president of the Alpha Theta Chi sorority at a meeting of the organization last week at the home of Miss Ruth Fletcher, 7616 Clyde avenue. Other officers elected were vice president, Miss Fletcher; secretary, Miss Ruth Lache, 8106 Blackstone avenue, and treasurer, Miss Lois Green, 8151 Dorchester avenue.

South Shore Circle to Meet.

Members of the South Shore circle, National Daughters of Isabella, will hold a social meeting tomorrow afternoon at the Southmoor hotel, 67th street and Stony Island avenue. Miss Margaret Blanchfield, 7816 Colfax avenue, regent of the circle, is chairman of the committee on arrangements.

A record breaking session is planned for next Thursday by Clearing post, No. 600, and Summit post, No. 735, of the American Legion, hosts at the monthly meeting of the fourth district, to be held in St. Symphorosa's auditorium, 62d street and Mason avenue, Clearing. Lawrence McGann, national vice commander; David L. Shillinglaw, state commander, and other Legion notables are among the speakers.

Assembling at the Clearing town hall, 63d and Major avenue at 8 o'clock a parade, headed by a band and four drum corps and the massed colors of the 24 posts in the district, will march south to 63d place, east to Central avenue, north to 63d street, west to Major avenue, north to 62d street and then to the hall on Mason avenue.

The Argo-Summit Boy Scout drum and bugle corps, Lemont band and bugle corps, Stanley Sullivan post, Lawndale Crawford post and Harvey post corps will be in the march.

A. P. Madsen, commander of Argo-Summit post, and Edson Scott, commander of Clearing post, are in general charge; Joseph P. Learning of Argo-Summit is managing the entertainment, and Arthur Critten, Clearing, and E. H. Cheeseman, Argo-Summit, the parade. Refreshments will be in the hands of Harry Eisenburg and Charles McKinney of Clearing and John T. Collins of Argo-Summit. Publicity is directed by J. G. Piecarsky, Argo-Summit.

Invited guests include Ald. T. F. Byrne of the 15th ward, of which Clearing is a part; Mayor E. H. Wilson of Summit; Timothy Mahoney, township clerk of Stickney, and the Rev. J. L. Sharp, who offered the hall for the meeting.

Auto hikes or picnics are held every other Sunday at some nearby forest preserve by Square post, No. 232. Today's hike will be held near the 95th street entrance of Fairmount cemetery. A sign will be placed at the entrance that will direct to the spot for the picnic. Those interested are asked to call Iris Brown, Radcliffe 0951, for further information on these events. The meeting place for the hike on Aug. 4 will be 79th street and South Park avenue. Meeting time, 9 a. m.; time for shoving off, 9:30 a. m.

The next regular meeting of Van Buren post, No. 401, will be held Tuesday night in Hotel Atlantic. Commander Leon M. Hanna announces that the post's drum and bugle corps will perform next Sunday at the Arthur C. Lueder baseball and field day at the Logan Square ball park. The post's annual basket picnic will be held Sunday, Aug. 4, at Mueller's grove.

Sunday, Aug. 4, is the date Chipilly day falls upon this year. "Save this date," urges Chipilly Chips, publication of Chipilly post, No. 310, "and get set now to join in the picnic and celebrate in Chipilly Ridge forest preserve—on the Dundee road, two miles west of Glencoe. Harry Cheney is the executive committeeman who is boss of the show, and for his committee he has picked the same trio of expert picnic managers who made last year's picnic such a howling success—namely: George Mundt, Herman Meyers and Frank Martin. It is a little early for details, but we are privileged to state that the annual ball game between the north and south sides will be held as usual and that the north side will be captained by Eddie Quinn, while the south will be led by Jim Epperson. Coffee will be furnished on the picnic grounds, but you must bring your own cups or other containers."

A big meeting is scheduled for Tuesday, July 30, at 8:15 p. m., when the membership of La Societe des Forty Hommes et Eight Chevaux gathers in the Hotel La Salle to elect delegates to the state and national Forty and Eight promenades. Other business to be transacted by the voiture at this session will be the balloting on candidates seeking admission into the order. Applications must be in the hands of the investigating committee prior to July 25. "The Two Plumbers," a humorous Legion skit put on by Charles Kamp and Fred L. Boissy, members of the Forty and Eight, will headline the entertainment program. Further Forty and Eight forthcoming activities include a picnic on Aug. 11, at the Forty and Eight chalet, when Voiture 220 will be hosts to all Legion posts in Cook county, and the annual Forty and Eight golf tourney which is scheduled to take place some time in August. This is but part of the social program which Chef de Gare Elmer Taylor is outlining for the year to come.

A shoot fest is something that can't be explained, announces Chipilly Chips, the publication devoted to the interests of Chipilly post, No. 310. "You have to go on one to find out what it's all about. All that can be said is that shoot fests were originated by "Borgy"—good old Capt. Borgmeier—who was for many years the leading spirit of company A of the old First infantry. Now, on Aug. 17 and 18, Chipilly post will hold its first shoot fest. Mike Hickey is the executive committeeman in charge of putting on the show which will be held at the rifle range at Camp Logan, just north of Zion City."

INSTRUCTOR

Norman Ross, Olympic swimmer, will instruct life guards of the south park swimming pools in methods of teaching swimming to beginners.

PARKS TRAINING LIFE GUARDS TO TEACH SWIMMING

Lessons to Be Offered After Four Weeks.

Life guards of the south park swimming pools are taking lessons every Wednesday night at Ogden park from Norman Ross, world famous swimmer and winner of trophies in the Olympics. Mr. Ross is teaching them methods of teaching others to swim.

The first class was held last Wednesday night, and following a four weeks' course under Mr. Ross swimming instruction will be offered to beginners of all ages in the pools of the south parks.

Train for Water Carnival.

These pools are about as popular as beaches on the south side in the present season. Particularly at Ogden park are the girls and boys active during the swimming hours, practicing strokes and attempting fancy dives, for O. C. Rose, director of the park, is planning a water carnival to be held Aug. 1, for which the 100 best swimmers of the park, including 50 girls and 50 boys, will be chosen to take part.

The program for the carnival, as outlined by Mr. Rose, will include stunts by the boys and girls as well as exhibition swimming and diving by Olympic stars whom he hopes to engage for the event. A bathing beauty revue will open the program, and he who wins the most applause will be crowned "queen" of the carnival. The world "he" is used correctly, since those participating in the revue will be boys dressed in bathing suits worn twenty and twenty-five years ago, when mother and Aunt Emma were girls and appeared shyly on the beach.

Plan a Nightgown Race.

The stunts will include dives and races, a tug-of-war between the girls and the boys, an attempt to walk on a greased pole extending out over the water, and a nightgown relay race, in which one boy will swim across the pool in a nightgown, remove it, and give it to the next boy, who must put it on over his suit, swim back across the pool, give it to another swimmer, and so on. There will also be a spectacular high dive through fire, which will be lighted after gasoline is poured on the surface of the pool, and a race for a greased watermelon thrown into the pool.

LAST OBSTACLE TO 71ST STREET PAVING REMOVED

Raze I. C. Station to Permit Widening.

After a delay of more than two months, actual work of paving and widening 71st street, from Cottage Grove avenue to Stony Island avenue, was started Monday.

According to William J. Hubrich, president of the Stony Island Business Men's association, which is sponsoring the paving and widening project, the delay was caused by the failure of the Illinois Central railroad to wreck its old station at 71st street and Stony Island avenue.

Old Station Blocks Paving.

In accordance with the plans for widening the thoroughfare, the Illinois Central railroad officials had consented to erect a new platform and station at the 71st street and Stony Island avenue to replace the old one, which was to be torn down. The new platform and station have been completed and passengers are already using them. However, the old station was holding up the work of the paving contractor, who could not pave the street until it was removed.

With no further cause for delay, paving will continue rapidly, Mr. Hubrich declared, and the work is expected to be completed between Aug. 15 and Sept. 1.

Plan Big Celebration.

Mr. Hubrich pointed out that as soon as a definite date for the completion of the thoroughfare becomes known members of his organization and other civic bodies in the district will make final preparations for a celebration, which will mark the successful close of a three year battle to obtain the improvement for that territory.

Richard W. Wolfe, commissioner of public works, and who is credited by Stony Island business men with having done a great deal to get the project through, will cut the tape that will officially open the thoroughfare. Speeches will be made by Mr. Wolfe, Mr. Hubrich, Ald. William D. Meyering [8th], Andrew C. Metzger, county commissioner, and officials of the Illinois Central railroad.

In the evening a banquet will be given for the members of the civic organizations who have aided in bringing about the completion of the project. H. H. Haylett, managing vice president of the Greater South Side chamber of commerce, will be the principal speaker at this banquet.

Gives Cross City Highway.

The completion of the project will give cross town motorists an open road from the lake to the western limits of the city. Mr. Hubrich pointed out that it will relieve congested traffic conditions on Marquette road, which is the nearest street used for cross town travel, and will also relieve traffic on 73d and 75th streets, both of which have car lines and are the only other streets in that section open from Cottage Grove avenue to Stony Island avenue.

Mr. Hubrich pointed out that when repairs are made in the pavement, which is broken in spots further west, 71st street will be the finest cross town thoroughfare on the south side. More than 80 feet wide, four lanes of traffic may be accommodated on the thoroughfare. Ald. Meyering has introduced an ordinance in the city council to make 71st street a through street and the passage of the ordinance will increase the speed by which motorists will be able to travel from east to west or from west to east on this street.

May Start Bus Line.

According to Mr. Hubrich, officials of the Motor Coach company are awaiting the completion of the paving and widening project before they take any action toward operating buses on the thoroughfare. Mr. Hubrich declared that more transportation facilities are needed in that section of the city and that residents of the district were compelled to walk to 69th street or 75th street to obtain street car transportation to reach points in the western part of the city.

Members of the organization are hopeful of obtaining buses for 71st street because of the survey made by the officials of the Motor Coach company a few months ago when they agreed that transportation facilities in that section of the city were inadequate to meet present needs, Mr. Hubrich said.

Wins Scholarship

WILBUR K. BUSH.

Wilbur K. Bush, 636 West 60th street, has been appointed one of the ten F. C. Austin scholars at Northwestern university. Courses of the scholars are intended to develop them into business executives. A graduate of Englewood High school, young Bush is a son of Edward H. Bush, cashier of the Union State bank of South Chicago. In accepting the Austin scholarship, young Bush gave up a two year honor scholarship in the University of Chicago and a Julius Rosenwald scholarship, both of which he had won.

111TH ST. Y. M. C. A. BOYS GUESTS AT WHITE SOX GAME

Approximately 100 boys from the far south community saw the White Sox game Thursday afternoon. Arrangements with the ball park owners make it possible for the boys, who are members of the 111th street Y. M. C. A., to see a dozen of the big league ball games free this summer.

The younger boys are accompanied by young men, so that their parents need not fear about their safety. The next game they will see is on Monday, July 29, when the Cubs play Philadelphia.

A visit to the stockyards was made last Wednesday. Next Wednesday they will have a beach party in Jackson park.

Avalon Birthday Club Elects New Officers

Mrs. John Shearer, 8225 Kenwood avenue, was elected president of the Birthday club of the Avalon Community church at a meeting of the organization last week in the assembly rooms of the church, 81st street and Dante avenue. Other officers elected were: Vice president, Mrs. F. R. Steele, 8129 Kimbark avenue; treasurer, Mrs. Wayne A. Johnston, 8221 Kenwood avenue; secretary, Mrs. William McKinney, 8121 Avalon avenue, and buyer, Mrs. Joyce Tomlinson, 8231 Kimbark avenue.

Chatham Young People's Club Plans Beach Party

The Chatham Young People's club, which inaugurated its summer activities with an all-day outing at the dunes last Sunday is planning a beach party in the city for members only to be held this evening. BUILDER OF PARK DRAMATIC WORK GIVES UP POST

Miss Fetzer Quits After 5 Years as Director.

Miss Henrietta Fetzer, for five years director of dramatic activities in the south parks, severed her connection with the parks yesterday when her resignation, handed in some time ago, took effect. Following a week's vacation in Michigan, Miss Fetzer will take up her new work at a college of expression.

No announcement has been made of a successor to Miss Fetzer. However, members of Beta Alpha Pi, the south park dramatic organization with six senior chapters and eight groups of children, will continue their work next year under Miss Fetzer.

75 Plays Given Yearly.

Although there was no definite dramatic organization whatever when Miss Fetzer began her work in the parks, she has built up a firmly organized group in her five years of endeavor. Each year more than seventy-five individual productions have been given, and for the last three years the senior groups have made all their own scenery, costumes and properties. It has also been the policy of Miss Fetzer and her various groups of players to visit institutions over the city to present their plays before shut-ins.

Miss Fetzer closed her park activities Wednesday night when the Palmer park chapter of Beta Alpha Pi presented "All on Account of Violet" at the Y. M. C. A. hotel.

Children Give Fantasy.

HARVEY KIWANIS CLUB OBSERVES 2D ANNIVERSARY

The Englewood Kiwanis club met with the Kiwanis club of Harvey on Thursday evening for a birthday dinner celebrating the second anniversary of the Harvey organization. The dinner was served in the Plaza ballroom in Harvey.

Ray Nelson of the Goes Lithographing company, 24 West 61st street, addressed members of the Englewood club at their regular Tuesday luncheon meeting last week on "Lithography." The meeting was held in the Alaskan room of the Englewood Y. M. C. A., 66th street and Union avenue.

Talks to Woodlawn Group About Law Enforcement

"The Enforcement of the Criminal Law" was the subject of an address by Senator Roy C. Wood at a meeting of the Woodlawn Business Men's association Tuesday at the Hayes hotel, 64th street and University avenue. The senator's address was one of a series of speeches in which members of the state legislature told members of the organization the story of how laws are made and enforced.

RAINBOW BEACH REPAIRS LIKELY TO WAIT A YEAR

So. Park Board and City Unable to Meet Cost.

It appears that Rainbow beach, between 75th and 79th streets, must continue in its state of disrepair for at least another year, since the south park commissioners indicated Wednesday that the state of their finances would not permit them to add the beach to the south park system of small parks. The Seventh Ward division of the Illinois Republican Service Men's league has been sponsoring an attempt to have the beach improved.

Petition Presented to Council.

A petition asking the city council for $50,000 for the immediate rehabilitation of the beach and signed by residents of the seventh and neighboring wards was presented to the council late in June by Richard C. Day, 1733 East 67th street, president of the league, after which Ald. Clement A. Nance [7th] introduced an ordinance in the city council asking for $100,000 for dressing rooms and bath houses on the beach. The ordinance was referred to the finance committee, which has taken no action because of a lack of money.

Mr. Day reminded members of the council that Rainbow beach is the only beach south of 63d street and is used by residents of both South Chicago and the south shore, and urged that it be placed in the hands of an organization capable of keeping it in repair. At this time it was suggested that the south park board might take over the beach.

Finds Board Lukewarm.

However, Mr. Day said no enthusiasm greeted the project Wednesday when he presented his petition to the south park commissioners, who also gave a lack of finances as their reason for not taking over Rainbow beach.

SCOUTS INSTALL KOSHER KITCHEN IN SUMMER CAMP

No longer will the orthodox Jewish parents of Chicago forbid their sons to attend the Boy Scout camps at Owasippe, Mich., because the religious duties of the youngsters will be overlooked. Directors of scouting in Chicago recently inaugurated at Owasippe the only kosher kitchen at any scout camp west of New York, and thereby made it possible for Jewish boys to carry out the 12th scout law, namely, "A scout is reverent."

More than fifty boys have been eating in the kosher dining room regularly this summer, and even a larger attendance is expected to eat at the table as the camping season progresses.

The food is prepared and served under the direction of a Jewish religious adviser, who also conducts services for Jewish youngsters at the various Owasippe camps.

MARQUETTE PARK RESIDENTS AGREE TO RESTRICTIONS

More than a hundred residents of Marquette Park have already agreed to restrict their property, according to Chester S. Patrick, executive secretary of the Marquette Park Property Owners' association. Canvassers from the association have been calling on property owners in the district to obtain their approval of the restriction plan.

The first two sections of the district are already largely restricted, according to Mr. Patrick, who expects that the third section, from Sacramento avenue to Kedzie avenue, will be ready for restriction within a week. The first two units include the area from Rockwell street to California avenue, and California to Sacramento avenue, between 63d and 67th streets.

Seventh Ward Democrats to Hold Picnic Next Sunday

The Seventh Ward Democratic organization, through its ward committeeman, James W. Ryan, has extended an invitation to all residents of the South Shore to attend the annual basket picnic to be held next Sunday at Oaks grove, 119th street and Archer avenue. Those attending the picnic will meet at the clubhouse, at 7526 Yates avenue, at 11 o'clock in the morning, from which point those not driving automobiles will be transported by bus to the picnic grounds.

Women's Ideal Club Holds Party at Medinah Club

Chicago Women's Ideal club held a summer party Tuesday at the Medinah Country club. Golf in the morning, luncheon and bridge made up the day's program. Mrs. Frank M. Fulton, 317 West Marquette road, president, was chairman of the committee in charge of the party.

ENGLEWOOD Y. M. C. A. CAMPER SETS RECORD IN CATCHING BIG FISH

Hans Foisne, 118 West 111th place, holds the 1929 record for big fish at Camp Nawakwa, the Chicago Y. M. C. A. Men's Camp on the Chippewa Indian Reservation at Lac Du Flambeau, Wis. During the week of July 1, Mr. Foisne landed six muskies averaging over 30 inches each. His last catch Saturday evening was a 40 inch muskalonge which is large even for the Wisconsin lakes.

Severel men from the Englewood 'Y' are now enjoying their vacation at Nawakwa. The story of Mr. Foisne's prowess as a fisherman comes from Fred Engler, 6547 South Union avenue, who has just returned from his two weeks vacation at Nawakwa. Other men returning Saturday are George Herrschner, 6630 South Ashland avenue, and Cleon Sparks, 4719 South Albany avenue. The men who are now at Nawakwa from Englewood 'Y' are E. W. McChesney, 449 West 64th street; Paul Peterson, 6547 South Union avenue; Art Kotel, 6547 South Union Avenue; J. Burgin, 6940 Wabash avenue.

ENGLEWOOD CLUB JUNIOR MEMBERS GUESTS AT PARTY

Young Woman's auxiliary members of the Englewood Woman's club were guests at a swimming, luncheon, and bridge party last Monday afternoon at the Club Casa Del Mar, 74th street and the lake.

The hostesses were Mrs. William Bishop, 7656 Eggleston avenue; Mrs. Bruce Tidholm, 7056 Perry avenue; Mrs. Charles Smith, 8004 South Paulina street; Mrs. Harry N. Aldrich, 7520 Stewart avenue; Mrs. Cedric A. Shantz, 8240 Drexel avenue, and Miss Virginia Tandy, 7048 Perry avenue.

At bridge the winners were Mrs. Belldon Gregg, 6739 Parnell avenue; Mrs. Donald G. Healey, 1006 East 80th street; Mrs. Carl W. Lang, 10837 Longwood drive; Mrs. Ellis Mitchell, 9243 South Hoyne avenue, a guest; Mrs. Charles Smith, 8004 South Paulina street, and Mrs. Louis Whelan, 8233 Ingleside avenue, a guest.

Members of the board of the auxiliary were guests at a house party Thursday and Friday of this week at the summer home of Mrs. Thomas D. Gibbons, 141 West 68th street, at Long Beach, Ind.

PRINCETON AVE. RESURFACING JOB IS BEGUN BY CITY

Work was started last week on the resurfacing of Princeton avenue between 55th and 61st streets. The street has been in poor condition for some time and unable to meet the demands of the increasing traffic in the vicinity, but it is believed that when finished it will serve as one of the chief arteries of travel on the south side.

The improvement will relieve the congestion on Wentworth avenue at this point, and was obtained chiefly through the efforts of Committeeman William J. Balmer of the 17th ward. The top layers of the old pavement are being removed in order to make possible a thorough resurfacing job. The expense will be borne by the city with no assesments made on the property owners.

Clearing Methodist Church Suspends Evening Service

Evening services have been discontinued during the remainder of July and August at Clearing Methodist church, 64th street and Major avenue, according to an announcement by the Rev. J. J. Rankin, pastor of the church. Parents may still enroll their children in the daily vacation Bible school if they desire, according to the Rev. Mr. Rankin.

BEVERLY HILLS SEEKS MEMBERS FOR OPERA CLUB

Leaders Hear Purposes of Federation.

G. W. French, vice president of the Associated Civic concerts, addressed a group of Beverly Hills residents last week at the Beverly Hills Country club on the question of organizing their local civic opera club.

At this time plans were made for a campaign for membership. Otto Reich was appointed general chairman and Mrs. L. C. Wiswell co-chairman for the campaign. Victor Rice will assist them as secretary and Miss Edna Leasey will be in charge of publicity.

Seek to Take Opera to People.

The Bevrly Hills Opera club is one of forty-two similar organizations in the city known collectively as the Associated Civic Opera clubs. Mr. Reich explained the organization of the clubs as an entirely new venture in Chicago, having as their purpose the bringing of cultural advantages to the communities which would not have them otherwise.

Ten programs will be given by each opera club in the fall. The officers of the local clubs will be allowed to select ten out of twenty programs arranged by the Chicago Civic Opera company. These programs will include dramatized talks on topics closely connected with the Chicago Civic Opera, such as the art of makeup and the construction of scenery.

Members to See New Building.

Another privilege which will be granted to members of the association is the opportunity of inspecting the new opera building, which is nearing completion and which will have as a unique feature a stage thirteen stories high.

H. R. Waxsteins on Tour.

In celebration of their twenty-fifth wedding anniversary, Mr. and Mrs. Harry R. Waxstein, 8226 South Morgan street, left yesterday for a six weeks' tour of Germany, France, and England. Mr. and Mrs. Waxstein will sail from Brooklyn, N. Y., July 26.

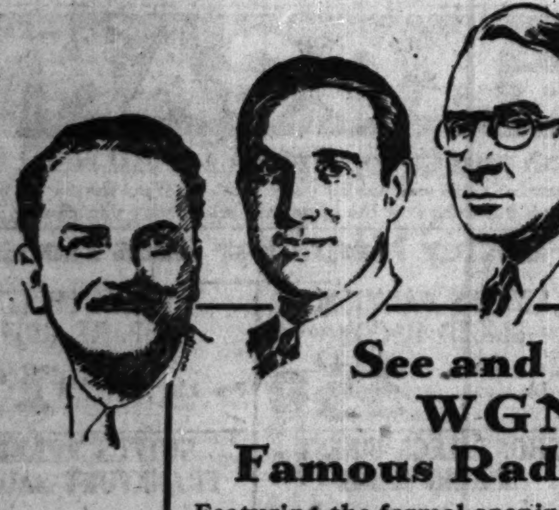
8 A. M. to Midnight

Open daily and Sunday

SIX years ago the Chicago Tribune opened its Advertising and Public Service Office at One South Dearborn Street. It was a new note in the Tribune's effort to serve Chicago. Millions turned to it for the unique help offered. Last year alone over a million items of service were rendered.

Now Tribune service moves to the great south side! So successful has been the main office on Dearborn Street and so essential to the convenience of the people of Chicago has it become that the Tribune has opened this new branch office. Tomorrow is the formal opening. The new office is located at 1101 E. 63rd St. (S. E. corner of 63rd and Greenwood). This modern bureau with its specially trained staff invites your call. Be sure to visit it.

Here at your elbow are comfortable quarters where you will find expert ability to help you secure maximum results in writing and placing want ads. Here you will find detailed auto and road maps and advice about hotels and scenic points enroute. Dress patterns, tax service, public phones, license blanks, booklets about home building and home management are a few of the many aids which the new Chicago Tribune Advertising and Public Service Office in its south side quarters offers to you.



See and Hear WGN's Famous Radio Artists

Featuring the formal opening, WGN radio stars in person will be at the new south side Advertising and Public Service Office in a medley performance of songs and music.

See Quin Ryan in person. Enjoy Pat Barnes' quips. Both these famous announcers will be at the new south side office. Other artists to be present are Henry Selinger, Walter Pontius, Muriel K. Pontius, Harry Spingold, East and Dumke, Delos Owen, Ashley Sisters, John Stamford, Mark Love, Tom, Dick and Harry, and Louie's Hungry Five.

Performances from 3 to 6:30 in the afternoon and from 9 to 9:30 in the evening. Don't fail to attend.

HIGH SCHOOLS OF SOUTH SIDE HAVE BIG ENROLLMENT

Englewood Leads, 1,779, at Summer Session.

Summer heat doesn't seem to hinder the scholastic ability of students attending the three south side high school summer sessions, according to instructors in the schools. The eight-week term which opened July 1 and will close Aug. 23 is now well underway, with Englewood leading in enrollment with 1,779 students. Hyde Park High school is second with an enrollment of 1,479 and Lindblom is third with 956 summer students. Englewood has the second largest summer enrollment of any high school in the city.

The summer enrollment includes ambitious students who desire to be graduated from high school in less than four years; failing students who are making up their failures in order to continue with their class in September; students who have almost completed their high school course and who can meet the requirements of graduation by taking one or more subjects during the summer term and who will be awarded their diplomas in August; elementary school graduates who wish to begin their high school courses immediately; junior high school students also making up failed courses or taking advanced work; and prevocational students who desire to shorten the time to reach high school.

F. C. Lucas Principal.

Frederick C. Lucas is acting as principal during the summer session at Englewood with Miss Mildred Wheelock as assistant principal and the following instructors, the majority of whom taught at Englewood or other south side schools during the winter and all of whom taught in some school of the city system last winter:

The charming miss in the sunback suit is Eloise Shaw, 10517 South Racine avenue. She won for Mrs. Frank L. Shaw of the same address the first prize of $5 in The Tribune's play picture contest for amateur photographers of the south side. The second prize of $3 was won by Mrs. Elsie B. McCrary, 6750 Normal boulevard, with a picture of tiny tots on Jackson Park beach. Left to right in the picture: Dolores Glee, Betty Maxine Tindall, and Joan Lee Tindall. A picture of a romp in the country of three Chicago girl won the third prize of $2 for Miss Alice Doyle, 5053 South Winchester avenue. Miss Mary Capek, 2034 James street, is the driver; Miss Anne Doyle, 5053 South Winchester avenue, is hitched to the hay rake, and Miss Marie Shoup, 5032 South Lincoln street, is feeding "horsie."

The Tribune will pay $2 for each story of the best bargain obtained in a neighborhood store, printed in the Metropolitan section. Address Bargain, Metropolitan Section, The Tribune. Make them short an snappy, writing on only one side of the paper, and print your name and address plainly.

Chicago, July 14.—At a mill-end sale in a south side department store I purchased remnants of beautiful silky etamine for 14 cents a yard which when hemstiched and trimmed with very durable German lace made two pairs of handsome curtains. That was in 1912 and today after seventeen years of continuous service I am not ashamed of the curtains at my bedroom windows. The lace and hemstitching have been outworn but the curtains are still neat and goodlooking. I am now living six miles from this store but I continue to search its advertisements in the Metropolitan section and feel warranted in spending the time and carfare to secure other bargains.

MRS. E. M. COLLINS,

A $8.50 HAT FOR $1.

Chicago, July 14.—A millinery shop in our neighborhood had a one hour sale on hats. Looking over the ones piled on the table I happened to find one that had sold for $8.50, now marked at $1. It was the only bargain that good in the group and I think I was pretty lucky.

G. A. GRANT,
7745 Marshfield avenue.

A Bargain in Hosiery.

Whiting, Ind., July 15.—Our store had all brands of hosiery on sale at $1 a pair. Some had been priced as high as $3.50. I found four pair of this class that were perfect, not a flaw in them and I've worn them all year without a run yet. Isn't that some bargain?

BEVERLY STORES TO BE CLOSED AT NOON THURSDAYS

Members of the Beverly Commercial association went on record at their latest meeting as approving universal closing of places of business on Thursday afternoons. President W. C. Waddell announced the desire of the three local banks to close at 1 o'clock on Thursday afternoons but to remain open until 2:30 o'clock Saturday afternoons and Saturday evenings. This was also approved by the members.

The possibility of closing business houses all day Saturday was also considered, but was deemed inadvisable at present.

Phi Beta Delegates Off to Los Angeles Convention

Two delegates of the Phi Beta fraternity, Miss Grace Maresh, 427 West 101st street, and Miss Mildred Timberlake, 10604 Drew street, left last week for Los Angeles, where the ninth annual convention will be held. Miss Maresh is grand secretary and treasurer of the organization and Miss Timberlake is president of Zeta chapter. They will return in August. Miss Katherine Martin, 12207 Eggleston avenue, and Miss Ruth Radkey, 12014 Eggelston avenue, also delegates to the convention, left earlier by automobile.

CHILDREN'S HOME SITE DEDICATION SET FOR JULY 28

More than 150 persons residing on the south side are expected to attend dedication services at the site of the National Protestant Children's Home and Training School in Illiana Heights, Ill., next Sunday.

Southtowners as well as others who own resort lots at Illiana Heights are donors of a five acre site on which will be located the first unit of an institution which is expected to be in operation by this time next year.

The plan of the institution will be unique in that dependent children will be taken and cared for until they have been trained sufficiently to be self-supporting. No single denomination will sponsor the institution, according to W. R. Jasper, 6400 Normal boulevard, secretary of the board of trustees. Protestant children of any denomination, he said, will be welcomed at the home and trained in the school.

The site of the proposed home has been obtained through the donations of every lot owner in the area.

Scotch-Irish Church Club Picnics Today in Ryan Wood

The first annual picnic of the Scotch-Irish club of Drexel Park Presbyterian church, 64th street and Marshfield avenue, was held yesterday at the Daniel Ryan Woods, 87th street and Western avenue. The program consisted of games and athletic contests. Members of the Men's class of the Drexel Park church will hold a reception today in the church parlors for their president, George M. Bly, who has recently returned from a visit to Scotland.

Y. W. REGISTERS SO. SIDE GIRLS FOR CAMP LIFE

Three Play Spots Operate Until September.

As the summer season advances increased activity is noticeable in the headquarters of the central branch of the Young Women's Christian association, 59 East Monroe street. A continuous stream of young women and girls may be seen at practically any time of the day, going into and out of the offices where they register for one of the Y. W. C. A. summer camps which are operated in wooded districts not far from Chicago.

On the shores of the Fox river near Plano, Ill., stands an old vine covered mill. A relic of a picturesque past, it was abandoned some years ago by its owner and purchased in 1920 by the Y. W. C. A., which founded a camp for younger girls now called Millhurst. Rowing and swimming in the Fox river, tennis, baseball, volley ball, and hikes are included in the outdoor activities available for every girl at the camp, in addition to a library and a large fireplace over which marshmallows may be toasted on rainy days when the campers prefer a cozy fireside to the drenched ground and trees.

Camps for Industrial Girls.

The two other camps operated by the Y. W. C. A. are Forest Beach at New Buffalo, Mich., for business and professional girls and the forest preserve camp for industrial girls at Glenview, Ill. The camp in the forest preserve is an old farmhouse which has been remodeled into a recreation spot. Forest Beach is located on a high dune overlooking a wide beach and Lake Michigan. Here, Hoover hall, the recreation house with its open fireplace, bookshelves, piano and wide, inviting porches, is surrounded by twenty-five cottages. One hundred fifty-two girls may be accommodated at this camp, and while many spend only a week in these surroundings, others live the camp life for four and five weeks, providing there is no waiting list of other girls begging for entrance to the camp.

Thus Chicago business girls are provided with a delightful and healthful vacation at a minimum cost, probably less than their living expenses in Chicago. The three camps were opened June 26 and will close early in September. Large numbers have already spent their vacations at camp while others are planning eagerly for the week or more when they can escape the city's heat and rush.

Enroll for Next Two Weeks.

South side business girls who have registered for Forest Beach for the next two weeks include the following: Miss Anita Eglow, 5316 Dorchester avenue; Miss Ethel Jacobson, 1116 East 54th place; Miss Verona Janka, 2542 South Trumbull avenue; Miss Anna Klein, 1358 South Avers avenue; Miss Caroline Kochan, 2702 Hillock avenue; Miss Pearl Kodz, 1930 South Turner avenue; Miss Ruth Judd, 3721 Lake Park avenue; Miss Elizabeth LeBlanc, 2502 South Kilpatrick avenue; Miss Rebecca Main, 8053 Dobson avenue; Miss Dorothy McArdle, 6320 Ellis avenue; Miss Lillian Rudoy, 6030 Eberhart avenue.

Bids Received on Building New Parker Junior High

Reports from the architectural office of the board of education indicate that work on the new Parker Junior High school will be under way by early fall. Acceptance of bids ended Tuesday. The bids for this school, which is first on the 1929 school program, were originally to have been received in May, but due to the shortage in the school building fund the letting of the contract was postponed.

PIONEER RADIO STATIONS WILL MOVE THEIR SETS

KDKA and KYW Granted Construction Permits.

Final approval was given by the federal radio commisison recently for the removal of the transmitter of the world's oldest broadcasting station, KDKA, from East Pittsburgh, where it was first opened in November, 1920, to Saxonburg, in Butler county, 22 miles northeast of Pittsburgh.

At the same time authorization was granted to move the transmitter of station KYW from Congress hotel in the downtown section of Chicago to Addison, Ill., 23 miles west of the city. Both stations are owned by the Westinghouse company. Like KDKA, station KYW is a pioneer, having opened on Armistice day, 1921, and is the fifth oldest station in the United States.

According to Walter C. Evans, superintendent of radio operations of the Westinghouse company at Pittsburgh, both stations will have brand new equipment designed especially for these stations, which should mean a good deal in the way of general reception to the listeners of the country.

Giant Tubes in Use.

A newly designed 100,000 watt tube, about 7 feet in height will supply the power for KDKA, while a 50,000 watt tube will be used for KYW. This will mean that though KDKA will use 50,000 watts, the highest power authorized by the radio commission, it will be necessary to operate the great new tube at half power. At present 5 smaller tubes are doing the work at KDKA. Station KYW has been granted a construction permit for 50,000 which explains the large tube for that transmitter.

The transmitters are being removed from East Pittsburgh and downtown Chicago for entirely different reasons. In the case of the former, it is the hope that the element of fading may be reduced. This condition is believed to be caused by the semi-mountainous country in which KDKA is now located.

Out of Steel Area.

The transmitter of KYW is being moved primarily to get away from the steel area of the congested portion of the city, where the steel in the tall buildings absorbs the strength of the radio waves.

The removal of such a historic station as KDKA marks another era of broadcasting in this country. Although a temporary experimental license was granted the station Oct. 22, 1920, the first issued by the United States government, it was not until Nov. 2 that the Westinghouse company inaugurated the first general broadcasting from station KDKA, when it broadcast the returns of the Harding-Cox presidential election.

Its short wave achievements have been particularly notable. As early as 1923 it succeeded in transmitting a program to Great Britain and early in the next year one of its programs was relayed from London and heard clearly in Calcutta, India.

Inside the Loud Speaker

BY QUIN RYAN.

Conditions are pretty tough at present among the musicians. Of the theater musicians in the Chicago branch of the union, approximately 60 per cent are cut of work, due to the talking pictures. Of the whole brotherhood in Chicago—dance hall musicians, café instrumentalists, brass band players and small jobbers—there are about 2,000 out of employment.

A YOUNG MAN, Bill Carlson, a native of Ironwood, Mich., and a student at the University of Michigan, has just returned from a sojourn of fourteen months with the Hobbs geological expedition in Greenland. He writes to us about radio reception up there:

"Dear Mr. Ryan—When we went into the hinterland, a hundred miles over mountains from our nearest neighbors, a small colony of Eskimos, we were left entirely without any means of communication aside from our radio apparatus. We were entirely dependent upon our radio equipment for any emergency call we might have to make, and we relied solely upon our receiver for our entertainment.

"I must tell you that we had a wonderful news service by tuning you in at one in the morning, or ten o'clock, your time. Throughout the months preceding the presidential election last fall we were able to follow the activities of the contending parties.

"I remember election night especially, when we could hear you giving the election returns from The Tribune office. We listened to you all night that night, and we could hear the applause when the results were announced in the Chicago hotel between dance numbers.

"On Christmas day we sat down to a meal of real stuffed ptarmigan, mashed potatoes, cranberry sauce, pumpkin pie, peas, cheese, cigars and coffee, with a real program from W-G-N that made us feel as though we were at home. And on New Year's eve, imagine the contrast between our surroundings and the revelry we could hear down there where Coon Sanders' orchestra was playing. We became so enthused over the W-G-N program that we forgot all about the time, and the new year was a half hour old in Chicago before we realized it!

"Being a Michigan man and extremely interested in football—I was a track man at Ann Arbor—I followed you every Saturday in your football games from the different places in the Big Ten. Boy, how we used to yell, as we could hear the crowds whooping during those tense moments in the big games. . . . The long Arctic night, the monotony of the silences and the raging blizzards, those bugbears of the older days no longer hold the northern explorer in their grip. Radio has changed all this, and today the well-equipped expeditioner keeps in touch with the outer world."

Ho, here's the bugle call already, paging the two horses in our race. Say, there's a thrill in that "Boots and Saddles" call, isn't there? Nice looking hosses in this race—Mr. Pickwick and Jasper B. Here they come now.

Mr. Pickwick is going to have the rail, with Jockey Jimmy Corcoran up. Jockey Pete Sampson is riding Jasper B. . . . Good day today, and a fast track. The fine weather has brought out a big crowd; the boxes in the club house are well filled today. . . . There's a stiff wind blowing from the left, which means the steeds will have it at their backs on the home stretch. . . . Out in the parade ground the flags are whipped by the wind until they stand straight out. . . . Look down the front of the brandstand here . . . that's quite a crowd! There doesn't seem to be a favorite, between these two—Mr. Pickwick and Jasper B. . . . Well, the horses are leaving the paddock now, and the fans, too.

Here they come, out on the track, the lead horse and Mr. Pickwick and Jasper B.—the silken red shirt of Corcoran and the white and green shirt of Sampson billow away from their backs . . . their feet perched high and their knees crowded up to their chins.

THEY'RE OFF!

Jasper B. was standing in the middle of the track and leaped into a good start—and he's loping down here a length ahead of Pickwick, on the rail. . . . He's stepping faster ahead, and here they come toward us, flying with the wind. . . . They're clumping past us, and Jasper's a length and a half in the lead. . . . There they go rocking around the first turn. . . . Jasper has crept over to the rail on the curve and the jockies are beating them on. . . . Pickwick. . . . They're sliding along the fence, making the semi-circle and they look like rocking horses. . . . JASPER LEADING BY MORE THAN A LENGTH AT THE QUARTER POST! . . . Now they're swerving into the back stretch and they run headlong into the stiff wind. . . . They're slowing up a little, and the jockies are beating them on. . . . Pickwick is inching up now, plowing into the wind—closer—and closer—and closer—Jasper is only a length ahead. They're sweeping along the back stretch. . . . Jasper B. is leading Mr. Pickwick by a full length at the half distance. . . . Jockeys' heads are ducked behind the horses' heads. . . . They're coming to the turn now, and Jasper looks to be tiring. . . . Pickwick is gaining as they hit the bend. . . .

Here they come around the curve. . . . Pickwick is picking up and he's a half length behind as they steer into the home alley. . . . Gee, now watch this finish!

At three quarters, Pickwick is a neck behind Jasper. . . . The folks on the lawn are jumping into the air. . . . Both horses have the wind with them now, and they're a neck apart. . . . Jasper has had the lead since the start and he's fighting madly to keep a neck ahead. . . . Look at them come! . . . Here they are, right out here! . . . The jockeys seem to be riding in the air. . . . Jasper a neck ahead. . . . They're coming to the line. . . . OOOP, Jesper B. beats Mr. Pickwick by a neck!

VICTOR YOUNG, VIOLIN VIRTUOSO, COMES TO W-G-N

Victor Young, violin virtuoso and conductor, has come to W-G-N, The Chicago Tribune station on the Drake hotel, to join the forces of Jean Goldkette's dance orchestra. He comes to radio from the position of assistant musical director of Balaban & Katz movie theaters.

Young is among the foremost American orchestrators, transcribers and paraphrasers and his work is expected to open an entirely new realm of possibilities for Goldkette and his orchestra.

There is a striking similarity between the life of Victor Young and the biography of Leon Kantor, the little music master in the movie "Humoresque." There is that same triumph of genius over poverty and discouragement. At the age of 10, Young left the impoverished home of his family on Chicago's near west side. The boy's grandfather, a tailor of Warsaw, invited him to Europe. He studied and his talant was discovered. Yarsembsky, Lotto, Barcevicz, and Statkovsky—all the master musicians of Poland—became interested in him.

During the war, Young was caught in the midst of the Russian revolution, and, being a musician, was thrown into prison. The boy spent years in one prison or another. Not until after the war did he finally escape to American shores.

U. S. Signal Corps' Station Is Farthest North in N. A.

The signal corps radio station at Point Barrow, Alaska, is the farthest north radio station on the North American continent. In June, 1928, the secretary of war directed the signal corps to connect Point Barrow, a remote settlement on the Bering sea, with "the outside." In just 51 hours after the order was given a radio station was functioning at Point Barrow and communication established with Seward, 800 miles distant. Private Richard Heyser, radio operator, and his station equipment were flown by commercial plane 500 miles from Fairbanks to Point Barrow.

WORLD PROGRAMS SOON WILL BE REBROADCAST

Special Events Only Will Go on Air.

Citing the successful transmission of the king's thanksgiving services from London to Australia and the United States as an example of progress, C. W. Horn, newly appointed general engineer of the N. B. C., declared that the day was in sight when we would be rebroadcasting programs all around the world. Mr. Horn, who has just made a trip to Europe, said that our introduction to this era would be through the broadcasting of special events, rather than by the regular exchange of programs.

Taking the case of England, for example, he pointed out an obstacle to the exchange is the five-hour difference in time between here and there. For instance, they would be interested in our sporting events, notably prize fights. If we broadcast a fight at 10 or 11 o'clock at night, as is usually done, it would be received in England between 3 and 4 o'clock in the morning, which would naturally prove quite a drawback. As things stand now it is mechanically possible to rebroadcast a great European event in this country.

Must Pay License Fee.

As for the routine programs, after the novelty wore off, there would be the question of how much the English, or those of another nation, might care for our programs, or we for theirs.

Mr. Horn said the European broadcasting systems, as compared with ours, represented a difference between rigidly controlled government ownership there and a highly competitive system here. There the public is given what the government thinks it should have and here the listening audience receives what it demands. There they must pay a license fee but here no charge is made for listening and it is altogether a good will proposition.

"Monotony is the enemy of radio," Mr. Horn said, "and if I made any criticism of European programs, I would say it is their monotony. They will have solid hours of heavy musical programs, heavy lectures or educational talks. However, they have their hours for dance and lighter music.

Different Temperaments.

"It is not fair to them or to ourselves to say which countries have the best programs because that would involve a difference in the temperaments of the nations. But here I will say that the European transmission is good, but their receiving sets are not up to our standards. This is due to the low purchasing power of some of the countries. New sets are not purchased as frequently as they are here and many litseners still use earphones.

"Another disadvantage is the variation of the wave bands. They have about what we have here but they go as high as 1,600 meters, with a commercial band in between. Thus it really requires two sets to cover this wide range."

JEAN GOLDKETTE . . . .

Jean Goldkette is the big man in American music. He has molded the crisp spirit of American life into music. He held to no tradition; not even to the tradition that "jazz" must be raucous and discordant. New standards have been set, and Goldkette is the only dance music master able to play up to them. Jean Goldkette and his W-G-N Dance Orchestra have startled the world with the new music. When programs end, listeners wire impatiently for more. Victor Young's orchestrations are modern to the highest degree. Each man is skilled and enthusiastic. That's what makes this big band with the big name. 1:30, 2:25, 11:15.

PATRICIA ANNE . . .

It's gonna be a swell party. Patricia Anne Manners, the little soprano you heard in the Student Prince will be in the middle of it. She'll put over this show the same way she floored the dial twirlers in Los Angeles. Not that she needs assistance, but the Symphony Orchestra, a hot harmony trio and a violin choir all offer Mlle. Manners their best for a big background. The Symphony Orchestra livens and quickens to a new wiggle of Gaston du Moulin's baton. The trio is so hot it's dangerous on anything but the Therm-O-Proof program. The violin choir consists of four real fiddlers. They're the Therm-O-Proof Entertainers, 7:45.

FAIR VETERAN, BRIDE OF 1880 TO HONEYMOON

James Hunt to Show Wife Native Ireland.

James Hunt, 76 years old, a resident of the south side for 50 years, leaves tomorrow with Mrs. Hunt for a two months' vacation in Ireland. The trip to Mr. Hunt's native Dublin, which he left some 60 years ago to become a sailor, is a preliminary to a celebration of the couple's 50th wedding anniversary next year.

JAMES HUNT.

MRS. JAMES HUNT.

The skipper, as he is called, lives at 6622 Aberdeen street, where tonight will be gathered six children and twenty-five grandchildren to give the departing couple a sendoff.

Mr. Hunt was a life long friend of the late Daniel H. Burnham and Francis D. Millett, directors of design and decoration at the world's fair in 1892, and was general foreman of painting and flag display at the fair. So intimate was he with Mr. Millet that two years ago he was called to Boston to deliver an address on Mr. Millet's life at the unveiling of a bust of the latter by his classmates at Harvard university.

Retires from Retirement.

Having led an extremely active life, he retired a few years ago to write a biography of Mr. Millet. But in a short time he found the indoor life did not agree with him and he decided to work again. He now is night superintendent of the Burnham building, 160 North La Salle street, which is operated by the sons of his friend, Mr. Burnham.

Mr. Hunt's career in and about Chicago has been long and varied. He came here from the east as a sailor on the great lakes in 1879. His first impression of Chicago was that it was the busiest place in the world, he says. He was married shortly after his arrival here, and continued sailing the lakes until 1887.

In that year he got a job as a structural iron worker on the 16th street bridge, then the largest swing bridge in the world, and continued in that trade until shortly before the fair when he became a painter.

The skipper worked directly under Mr. Millett throughout the fair as chief painter, foreman of the flag gangs, and captain of the emergency life guard crew on both land and water. He prides himself on the fact that he succeeded all during the fair in keeping several hundred men sober and at work.

Unfurled 700 Fair Flags.

He was at the side of President Cleveland when the latter gave the signal for opening the celebration, and it was on his order that 700 flags were unfurled within a few seconds. As master flagman, he pulled the string that unveiled the statue of the Republic, still standing in Jackson park. The skipper was called to action when a seaman was wanted to bring the Santa Maria, the vessel of Columbus, through the great lakes from Prince Edward Island off Nova Scotia.

Mr. Hunt was the chief source of information for Chicago newspaper men covering the fair, and it was he who gave to John T. McCucheon the honor of pulling down the last flag at the close of the celebration.

In 1894 he became foreman of painters for the south parks, a position he held for twenty years, and then entered business for himself in Evanston as an interior decorator. He did the work on many north shore homes during his years in business.

His children are: James Jr., 7737 Fielding avenue; John, 536 West 43d street; Mrs. James Conroy, 6456 South May street; Thomas, and Miss Ann Hunt, and Mrs. Elizabeth, who reside at the Aberdeen street address.

111TH ST. Y. M. C. A. GIVES 2D WEEKLY OUTDOOR MOVIE

An interesting program attracted 200 parents and children to the second outdoor community night program last evening at the 111th Street Y. M. C. A. The movie program included two short plays and a two-reel comedy. A slide lecture on the "Freedom of America" told what this freedom really is and how all Americans can keep it.

Every one in the community is invited to attend these weekly programs. Chairs are reserved for adults.

Kiwanians of Hyde Park Practice for Golf Tourney

The Kiwanis club of Hyde Park met Wednesday noon at the Windermere hotel, East, after which golfers in the club went to Glen Eagles for a practice tournament. The tournament for Kiwanians from all parts of Chicago will be held next Wednesday at Glen Eagles. An interclub meeting of Kiwanians, which members hope will be the largest interclub meeting ever held in the history of Kiwanis, will take place on Aug. 1 in Hotel Sherman.

Beverly University Club Plays Golf, Dines, Dances

A golf tournament and dinner dance were held Wednesday at the Glen Eagles Country club by the Beverly Hills University club. The men's tournament continued throughout the day and a tournament for women was held in the afternoon. Harold Doerr was chairman of the event. Women not interested in golf spent the afternoon at the clubhouse playing bridge.

MISS VIRGINIA HALL.

Miss Virginia Hall, daughter of Dr. O. C. Hall of the Cambridge club, was an entertainer at a dancing party Friday evening on the roof of the club, at 1725 East 53d street. After starring several seasons in the South Shore Follies, Miss Hall appeared in "Hit the Deck."

ACT TOMORROW ON NEW BUILDING FOR YALE SCHOOL

Board Group Promises Promp Decision.

Definite action toward the construction of a new Yale school in place of the present structure at 7010 Yale avenue, is expected to be taken tomorrow at a meeting of the board of education buildings and grounds committee.

The recommendation for a new structure which was read by President Caldwell of the board at a board meeting last week, was referred to the committee by a unanimous vote. President Caldwell's recommendation followed a community massmeeting held early last week in Englewood Masonic temple, 6734 Wentworth avenue.

A new Yale school will be available within a year, according to President Caldwell, if it can be included in the 1929 building program. Mrs. C. H. Brinkerhoff, president of the Yale Parent-Teacher association, accompanied by six other proponents of the new building, attended the board meeting at which their campaign reached its climax. In the group were Mrs. W. E. Boynton, Mrs. Frank Carson, Mrs. E. G. Dalheim, Mrs. J. A. Stolp, F. C. Moore, and Capt. William Enright.

President Caldwell's written recommendation said that construction of the new Yale school should be placed on the program as an emergency measure and stated that the condition of the present structure is such as to make the immediate building of a new school a necessity.

The group of south siders attending the meeting was assured by Theophilus Schmid, chairman of the buildings and grounds committee, that the recommendation would receive prompt attention by his committee.

Woodlawn Kiwanians Hear Armour Institute Teacher

Members of the Woodlawn Kiwanis club met for luncheon Wednesday at the Wedgewood hotel. Dr. Clyde B. Cooper, head of the department of literature at Armour institute, addressed the club on "Responsibilities in Citizenship." A golf tournament for members of the club was held Tuesday at the Cherry Hills Country club, Flossmoor, with Carl Rung in charge.

Languages by Conversation.

Outstanding among the reasons why the Berlitz School is the only School that develops REAL linguists is the fact that mastery is acquired by conversation—that is, talking the foreign language and hearing it spoken. Excessive book work has been eliminated—complicated rules of grammar discarded. You hear French, Spanish, German, Italian or English just as you learned your mother tongue. Our interesting Book of Facts gives you complete information. Won't you accept a free copy? Just write, call or telephone Harrison 0392 for your copy.

Beauty Culture OR BARBERING ARE THE BEST PAYING PROFESSIONS IN WHICH WOMEN AND MEN ENGAGE

Bigger Field of Operation Makes Better Pay
Greater Restrictions Make Less Competition

All the advantages of the so-called higher professions at one-tenth the cost and all within reach of you of ordinary ability and limited means.

The hundreds of positions coming to us this spring show greater activity under new state regulation and the first demand of the employer is

"SEND ME A MOLER GRADUATE who has had the course of personality and expression by your staff lecturer."

REMEMBER, THE MOLER SYSTEM not only teaches you how to do the work, but how best to sell your services.

MOLER STUDENTS

75% of the shop owners of the United States are graduates of some one of the 33 schools of the MOLER SYSTEM.

They Always Employ Moler Graduates

The Moler School is open every day and every evening, enabling you to put in the hours required in the shortest time possible.

Whatever you have in mind, mail the coupon and see how we can help you.

A LARGE CORPORATION offers an unusual opportunity for EXPERIENCED SPECIALTY SALESMEN to sell in CHICAGO and suburbs.

This is a growing business and offers unusual attractions for ambitious men.

Only married men between 25 and 40 years of age with successful sales records will be considered.

Give complete sales and business record, address, and phone number.

Address S G 116, Tribune.

A FINE OPPORTUNITY.

An advertising company rated highly, operating nationally, now finds itself in the unusual position of requiring three additional men to contact its present clients.

Its sales force consists of men each of whom has developed for himself certain retail, banking, and manufacturing accounts, serving them so satisfactorily that most all new business is now coming through present clients and our yearly renewals are becoming very high.

These three men selected, if hard workers, will have a very unusual future consisting of permanency and earnings considerably above the average, including highly remunerative yearly renewal advantages.

Each man must have successful selling experience, excellent character and willing to travel, being away two and three weeks at a time; also willing to work on commission basis with actual traveling expenses advanced.

Telephone Randolph 3806, North American Service Company, Monday and Tuesday for appointment.

A FIRST CLASS SALES POSITION

REAL SALESMEN.
A FEW
HIGH CALIBER MEN.
ALSO
MEN WITH CREWS.
A WONDERFUL SELLER.
A BIG MONEY MAKER.

O'Brien just sold 60 his first day. Casey, high man, sold 173 his best day. He usually sells 40 to 60 daily. Donahue took out 2 his first day, 20 next day. Phaender took out 6 first day, 28 next day. Mrs. W. sold 13 first half day. An order taker who canvasses can sell a dozen a day by plugging and showing. Real salesmen sell 25 to 100 daily.

We have 2 things for sale. One of these things is a package containing an assortment of 12 articles used by every woman. Wonderfully attractive. Has tremendous appeal. Each of the twelve articles is worth 50c to $5. The retail value of the assortment is $15. The assortment never sold before under $10.50. We sell it to you for $1.25. You resell at your own price. The other assortment contains 6 articles. It has a retail value of $11. We sell it to you for only 65c. You resell at your own price. Salesmen's net profits are $1.15 to $3.25 per sale. Each assortment comes in a beautiful colored box that is alone worth almost as much as our entire price to you.

We secured a stock of $185,000 worth of this merchandise from a big firm, rated AAA1, who had to give up the line because it conflicted with another one of their lines. We got this stock at a bargain—at a fraction of the actual cost—and pass the bargain on to you in order to get acquainted. In a short time we are putting a specialty on the market on which we expect to do a business running into many millions per year. The men who start with us now will have a wonderful opportunity for advancement as our business develops. We want only high caliber men who can make $25 to $100 a day or more or men with crews who can produce a volume of business.

If you are out of town write for literature or call Room 1488 Pure Oil Bldg., 35 E. Wacker-dr., Chicago.

SALESMEN! Here's Your Opportunity

H. W. Elmore's Greatest Offer to Salesmen

H. W. Elmore & Co. is opening the BIGGEST, the GREATEST, the LOWEST PRICED, the best LOCATED, and the fastest selling property that has been offered in years in Chicago.

We have room for YOUNG MEN and OLD MEN—for EXPERIENCED and INEXPERIENCED men. Every one will make money—every salesman in this organization will profit in this greatest Chicago real estate sale ever held since the war.

EXTRA! EXTRA!

NEW PROPERTY!! LOW PRICES!! WONDERFUL LOCATION!!! NEW SELLING FEATURES—different from those possessed by any other property in Chicago. ADVERTISING that will make you dizzy. TERMS that will allow every one who can save a few dollars out of his pay envelope to take advantage of this wonderful opportunity to make the same kind of money out of real estate that was made right after the war. It seems UNBELIEVABLE but it's TRUE.

MEN! MEN!

ATTEND THE GREAT MEETING WEDNESDAY, JULY 24, 8:15 P. M.

We do not employ women in this organization. This is a man's organization with a man's opportunity.

To enable every one who wants to get in on this big money making opportunity, we will keep our offices open until 8:30 o'clock on Monday night and Tuesday night, July 22 and 23. Hurry home from work, come down and get the details and register for the big Wednesday meeting. This property is big enough to make unusually large commissions for a sales force of 1,000. It's the biggest opportunity in real estate selling that has ever been offered in many years.

Chicago's Boom Spot

There's a boom spot in Chicago, a place where millions of dollars will be poured in this year, and next, where public improvements of a staggering nature will be made. It's a land in Greater Chicago that will ripen into such tremendous profits as to challenge all the rest of Chicago. We will dispose of in this great sale many hundreds of acres at this boom spot. This sale will mount into millions of dollars. Without the World's Fair this property would make tremendous profits for its buyers. With the World's Fair, "THE SKY IS THE LIMIT."

Do you want to get in on the greatest opportunity to make money you have ever had or possibly you ever WILL HAVE? If so, arrange to attend the big meeting next Wednesday night—if you have to break a leg to get there.

SALESMAN SALES MANAGERS

Go to Flint, Michigan Where Real Estate Is Selling

ROGER BABSON SAYS: "Flint represents the most fertile field in the United States today, and is classed the best city in America."

The happiest people of the country are living and enjoying the prosperity of Flint for the following reasons:

The General Motors Corporation, the largest and most successful concern in the world, has picked Flint for their industrial center.

The Buick, Chevrolet, Fisher Body, and a great many other useful products are being manufactured in Flint.

A city with a population of approximately 165,000, with a pay roll of about 60,000 steadily employed people.

The Chamber of Commerce and the Real Estate Board state that there is a shortage of several thousand homes at the present time, although thousands of newcomers are pouring into the City of Flint in spite of the shortage of homes.

Millions of dollars being spent on new construction. New hotels, churches, theaters, apartment houses and business blocks are being added to Flint daily.

We are on the eve of staging the biggest advertising campaign that Flint has ever known, followed by a tremendous building program.

We have an opening for one Assistant Sales Director having his own crew.

JUST THINK WHAT AN OPPORTUNITY THIS OFFERS!!!

We have the finest and fastest selling properties in the City of Flint! We pay the highest cash commission in full and none in deferred.

Barrington.

BARRINGTON ESTATES.

Are you one of those who, today, are showing a distinct trend towards the choosing of a small parcel of ground in the country as a site for your home? You can secure 5 acres in a fine neighborhood for less than $7,500. A prominent Barr. owner is dividing one of his choice holdings in the estate section in small parcels as homesites, to meet this demand. The property is extremely desirable, high, heavily timbered with great oaks, hickories and maples. Extremely rolling in terrain, overlooking Spring Lake valley; the view from an elevation of 150 ft. is unsurpassed. Many people recognizing the estate section of the Barrington Hills as the start of a really fine neighborhood have built their homes there. For detailed information address E O 509, Tribune.

MEXICO

Offers exceptional opportunities for investment of capital. My associates own in peaceful possession for over thirty years 167,000 acres land with perfect titles, free of mortgages, liens or indebtedness. These lands situated on Gulf Coast of Mexico are ideal for development work; property has been inactive or abandoned since 1910, nevertheless running expenses have been cleared from year to year. Improvements consist in several ranches or settlements with numerous warehouses, managers' headquarters, houses for laborers, all brick structures, motor boats, small wharf, etc.; property owns and operates 47 miles Decauville tramway properly equipped. 50 miles telephone lines crossing entire lands. Will sell outright at bargain price giving long time payments; partially developed conditions of land help efficiently to assure success of organization that acquires and operates property. Investigation invited. Will give and request references. Address Antonio G. Canaliso, Calle Gante 1, Mexico City.

REAL ESTATE LOANS.

SECOND MORTGAGE LOANS

This is a day when it seems to be the custom for everybody to advertise his service or product as the best or the cheapest or the biggest, or to apply some other super-superlative to the thing for sale. The public cannot help but be confused when every one makes the highest claims for the thing or service desired.

Some concerns, in order to give the customer a chance to prove for himself that the product is superior, may sell on free trial offers, "money refunded if satisfaction is not received." We wish it were possible for us to operate on such a basis; obviously it is not, for when a mortgage note is signed and a trust deed recorded the deal is closed.

All we can do and ask is that discriminating home owners who are in the market for second mortgage loans come in and find out exactly what the charges and other conditions are, and by inquiry to feel perfectly satisfied that when he makes a second mortgage loan at this institution he has received rates, terms and other conditions which are not an undue imposition, are not loaded with miscellaneous extras, and that our staff seems to be quite as much concerned with the best interests of the individual home owner as with the interests of the bank which they represent.

The public is pretty well informed as to our rates, but it is probably not out of place for us to repeat them. We charge 6% accruing interest. Commissions are $35 a thousand for one year, $65 a thousand for two years and $90 a thousand for three years. And these commissions apply regardless of whether the borrower chooses to pay back 2% of the principal each month or whether he chooses to make it a higher percentage.

We personally invite you to investigate the second mortgage plan which has been sponsored by the Personal Loan and Savings Bank as Agent.

CHICAGO NEVER SAW SUCH GREAT VALUES!

STUDEBAKER slashed all prices $150 to $400 per car a few days ago. Since then our showroom has been crowded by hundreds of buyers eager to take advantage of our unusual savings. Come early and get the benefit of our great clearance while it is still in progress! Over 150 dandy used cars to pick from. Every one is backed by the Studebaker Used Car Pledge that guarantees 5 days' free driving trial.

DODGE SEDAN. This is probably the best Dodge value in Chicago. It's a late model. Finished a beautiful blue. The mileage is very low, as this car was in storage for almost a year. Equipped with snubbers, bumpers, spare tire and other extras. The motor is excellent. This car will not remain long at $395.

CHEVROLET COUPE. Late model. An advertising executive used it for a short time and he gave it wonderful care. Bumpers, spare tire and many extras. In splendid condition. It's a rare bargain at $285.

BUICK COACH. This std. 6 is undoubtedly one of the best used car buys today. Was given very careful attention by the original owner and now it is in new car condition. 4 whl. brakes, snubbers, bumpers, spare tire, etc. The finish is bright and shiny and the expensive upholstery appears unused. Tires have little mileage. Motor has been carefull checked over and today it's in topnotch condition. At $495 this is an unusual buy. Also a 1928 Mast. 6 Buick Brougham at a big saving.

CADILLAC COACH. This car looks and runs better than many new cars selling for $1,500. It is a beauty. The finish, upholstery and tires appear in the original new condition. Has a sweet running motor. Equipped with 4 whl. brakes, snubbers, spare tire, etc. For today, only $650. Also a late model Cadillac, 7 pass. for $685.

CHRYSLER SEDAN. A stock broker who recently cleaned up on the market decided he wanted two new Studebakers, so he traded in this 1928 model 72, even though he had given it so little use that it looks and runs like new today. The tires appear unused. The upholstery is luxurious and there is not a mar on the beautiful lacquered finish. The equipment includes 4 whl. brakes, spare tire, bumpers, driving light, etc. It's a pick-up at our price of $895.

NASH SEDAN. 1927 Adv. 6. A famous actor owned this car and took care of it personally. He certainly kept it in topnotch condition, for today it appears like a new Nash and the tires have little mileage and the motor has a world of power and pep. The appearance will satisfy the most exacting buyer. Has 4 whl. brakes and a wealth of extra equipment. $585.

ESSEX SEDAN. A late Essex in such new condition that the tires are not even worn smooth. By acting quickly you can get a practically new Essex at a tremendous saving. Equipped with shutter front, bumpers, spare tire, etc. At $395 this cannot be duplicated any place else. Also a 1928 Essex coupe with rumble seat, like new for $585.

HUDSON SEDAN. 1927 with bumpers, shutter front, spare tire, etc. The owner of this Hudson drove it exactly 17 months and then he decided he wanted a Victoria, so he sacrificed this Hudson at a low figure. His loss is your gain, so you now have an opportunity to get a practically new Hudson at only $485.

STUDEBAKER LIMOUSINE. One of the very latest Str. 8 President models with wire wheels, fender wells and a wealth of extra equipment, including shock absorbers, driving light, 2 spare tires, etc. This car was only driven for a very short time and every feature is 100%. It's a wonderful buy at $1,385.

LINCOLN SEDAN. If you want to spend about $300 on a used car, do not pass up this Lincoln. It has fine performance and the appearance is attractive. The finish has not a mar on it. The extras are trunk, shutter front, spare tire, bumpers, etc. Only $250.

CHANDLER SEDAN. This car will satisfy the most exacting buyer. It's in wonderful all around condition and the equipment includes 4 whl. brakes, heater, spare tire, etc. Will be sold at once for $445.

WHIPPET COACH. You cannot duplicate this car any place else at anywhere near our price. It's exceptionally clean throughout and has a sweet running motor. 4 whl. brakes, snubbers and many extras. Only $275.

STUDEBAKER BROUGHAM. The famous Spl. 6 with expensive mohair upholstery. It's in excellent mechanical condition and has a wealth of extra equipment. Will not remain long at $395.

PIERCE-ARROW TOURING. Here is a 7 pass. that's an ideal car for the family. The motor is A1. The upholstery, tires and finish are in fine condition. Equipped with trunk, shock absorbers and many other extras. Special for $485.

PEERLESS SEDAN. 1929 7 pass. with very low mileage. This car is De Luxe in every respect. Has 6 wire wheels and tires, fender wells, shock absorbers and a wealth of extra equipment. It has a special job and luxurious upholstery. This car sold for $2,460 just a few weeks ago and can be had now at only a fraction of its original cost. Also, a late model Peerless Sedan, very fully equipped, for $645.

WILLYS-KNIGHT CABRIOLET. This late model 6 is priced hundreds of dollars under its real market price. This is a sporty car with a world of power and pep. Rumble seat. It's equipped with 4 whl. brakes, snubbers, bumpers, spare tire, etc. Finished a handsome color. The motor is just broken in. This is a sensational value at $885.

PACKARD SEDAN. This six is one of the most beautiful buys in Chicago. Was traded in by a wealthy attorney who gave it exceptional care. Has hundreds of dollars of extra equipment, including 4 whl. brakes, snubbers, bumpers, spare tire, etc. Has snappy performance and the appearance is unusually attractive. Special at $750.

STUTZ SEDAN. This was given to us to sell by a family leaving for Europe. They instructed us to dispose of it at a reasonable figure and apply this amount on the purchase of a new Studebaker President which they will take on their return. In order to sell this Stutz at once, we priced it at the very low figure of $545 and at this price it is a remarkable value. Finish is handsome, the motor certainly is in A1 condition. Also a very late Stutz 8 sedan, brand new in every respect, for $1,250.

STUDEBAKER VICTORIA. Late Dictator 4 pass. coupe that's one of the best used car buys in Chicago. The motor has been reconditioned by expert Studebaker mechanics and it carries a 30 day free service guarantee. The upholstery has not a worn spot and the finish is bright and shiny. Equipped with 4 whl. brakes, snubbers, bumpers, spare tire, etc. Only $585.

HUPMOBILE SEDAN. This Str. 8 was driven so little that today it is the last word for sparkling performance and beautiful appearance. Because of business reasons the former owner told us he wanted a bigger car and that's the only reason he traded in this 4 pass. coupe. If you examine it carefully, you'll be forced to admit that it's topnotch in every respect. Has 4 whl. brakes and very full equipment. Only $585.

PIERCE-ARROW MUST SELL OUT EVERY USED CAR IN ITS STOCK

WITHIN 4 DAYS!

Savings from $300 to $800, no matter what you buy! We are changing quarters and must liquidate every car we have!

PIERCE-ARROW ROADSTER. Actually driven only 13 mos.; now it is probably one of the snappiest looking open cars offered today; finish is a beautiful color with ivory striping and ivory colored wheels; has rumble seat, 4 whl. brakes, shock absorbers and many extras; priced at $1,600; for this removal sale $1,085.

NASH SEDAN. 1927 Adv. 6 with 4 whl. brakes, snubbers, bumpers, driving light, spare tire, etc. It's in splendid running condition and the appearance is unusually attractive; reduced for our removal sale to $585.

STUDEBAKER PRESIDENT SEDAN. 1928 str. 8 that your neighbors could not tell from a new car; equipped with 4 whl. brakes, driving light, shock absorbers, trunk, etc.; has a smooth, powerful motor; special for our removal sale at $1,285; also a 1927 Studebaker Commander 4 pass. coupe, finished a handsome tan, for only $645.

PIERCE-ARROW SEDAN. Model 80, just repainted a beautiful two tone gray. Equipped with 4 whl. brakes, Houdaille shock absorbers, driving light, etc. We priced it at $1,450; removal price, $985.

STUTZ 8 SEDAN. A late model with special Weymann body, nonshatterable glass and a wealth of extra equipment; like brand new today; actually cost over $5,000 a short time ago. We priced it at $2,250, but for this removal sale we marked it down to $1,385; also a Stutz 8 limousine, only used 10 mos.; cost $5,800; offered at only $1,485 for our removal.

AUBURN SEDAN. 1928 model convertible. This str. 8 was only driven 8,000 miles and will give new car satisfaction today; every feature is 100%. There are hundreds of dollars' worth of extra equipment; priced at $1,850, but marked down to $1,385 for our removal sale.

CADILLAC SEDAN. 7 pass. model 314 that looks and runs better than many new cars selling for over $2,500; 4 whl. brakes, shock absorbers, spare tire, driving light, shutter front, etc.; removal price $1,085.

LA SALLE CABRIOLET. Recent conv. model finished a two tone combination of black and maroon. This car is a beauty and the motor is exceptionally smooth; has rumble seat, 6 wire wheels and tires, fender wells, shock absorbers and many other extras; only run 4,000 miles; priced at $2,000; for our removal sale, $1,585.

PIERCE-ARROW PHAETON. 7 pass. model 33 with a handsome brown finish that glistens like a new dollar; mechanically excellent. It's very fully equipped; priced at $900; for our removal reduced to $585; has excellent glass sides, fender wells, seat covers, etc.

Liberal Payment Plan.

PIERCE-ARROW 80
$1,250

This "clean" 1927 series 80 5 pass. Brougham was formerly driven by a prominent stock yards official who has had it serviced consistently and used as sparingly as any car we have ever had. Upholstery has been under seat covers. Original Venetian gray lacquer. Perfect balloons. Houdaille shock absorbers, etc. This is a perfect piece of mechanism and one of the best "buys" we have ever had to offer.

"I have met with a curious gardener that will furnish anybody that sends to me for fruit trees, and floreal shrubs, and garden seeds. I have made him promise with all solemnity that whatever he sends shall be purely good, and I verily believe he may be depended on."

A "CURIOUS" Want Ad of 1692 . . . when "curious" meant fastidious. However, in this Want Ad of nearly 250 years ago is embodied the principle back of all Tribune advertising . . . of all Tribune Want Ads!

Truth . . . accuracy . . . reliability!

Today the Chicago Tribune maintains over its advertising . . . including Want Ads . . . censorship far stricter than the law requires!

The Tribune can do the job alone.

CHICAGO is buying

MORE THAN TWICE

as much Want Ad Space in the Chicago Tribune as in any other paper

DAILY AND SUNDAY

THE TRIBUNE'S GREAT CIRCULATIONS CAN DO YOUR WANT AD JOB ALONE!

Two decades of Tribune growth! of steady climbing in circulation! of finding new readers, new Want Ad prospects by the hundreds of thousands!

During the past winter the Tribune has taken giant strides to higher levels—to averages of 838,422 daily and 1,235,442 Sunday for the six months ending March 31. Now, with a daily circulation of 856,892, the Tribune offers a greater and more responsive market to the advertiser.

Today, with a circulation reaching 181,000 more families daily and 241,000 more on Sunday in metropolitan Chicago than any other newspaper—finding practically all good Want Ad prospects throughout the district—the Tribune can do your entire Want Ad job alone!

SUPERIOR 0100
—Adtaker!

IN LINES of Want advertising printed during 1928, the Tribune outstripped its closest competitor by 109 per cent. It brought the results advertisers were after. During the first six months of 1929 they bought 111.9 per cent more Want advertising in the Tribune than in the trailing second-place medium!

Experienced advertisers have found that the Tribune—called upon to sell used cars and radios, rent kitchenettes and factory buildings, employ clerks and sales managers—comes back with replies as no other Chicago paper can! So year after year they give the Tribune an overwhelming lead over all other papers in Chicago.

This is the testimonial of thousands of Want Ad users—the strongest one you could have. You'll find, as experienced Want Advertisers in Chicago have found, that the Tribune can do your Want Ad job better than any other Chicago newspaper. Buy, sell, rent, employ with Tribune Want Ads.
